O. 6, R. 18.—Under O. 6 failure to amend merely involves loss of right to amend and therefore not the determination of the suit as expressed in the original plaint. 164 I.C. 181=1936 Pesh. 155. The Court cannot reject a plaint or dismiss the suit under O. 6, R. 18 but must proceed to try the suit on the original plaint. 169 P.L.R. 1913=19 I.C. 472. Where a plaint was rejected on the ground that it was not amended within the time fixed by the Court a fresh suit on the same cause of action is maintainable. 99 I.C. 538=1927 L. 83.

O. 7.—See 35 O.W.N. 930=59 C. 150.

O. 7, R. 1: SCOPE OF.—See 1925 N. 113. Provisions of O. 7 by reason of section 141 of the Code, apply mutatis mutandis to memoranda of appeals as well as to plaints. I. L.R. (1939) Kar. 527=1939 Sind 221. See also 1939 Pat. 137. The plaint should contain the facts constituting the cause of action and the time when it arose. 42 C. 85; 39 I.C. 21=13 N.L.R. 16. Pleadings in the mofussil Courts are drawn up by lawyers who are not generally familiar with the precision of English pleadings and in such cases the Courts should look to the substance of the plaint rather than to the wording. 131 I.C. 529=1931 P. 179. One plaint is only one suit. Jurisdiction depends on amount or value of the aggregate subject-matters at the date of institution. 40 M. 1=32 M.L.J. 221. Description of suit in heading does not determine nature of suit. See 1927 S. 78. Defect in signature is not fatal to a suit and the merits are not affected. 1927 A. 514. Adverse possession should be expressly pleaded at least as alternative ground. 88 I.C. 249=1925 M. 1005. Plaintiff cannot be tied down to the date of the accrual of the cause of action. The Court is entitled to determine the date from the facts alleged and proved. 9 L. 428=1928 L. 516. In a redemption suit pleadings and proof must relate to the mortgage and plaintiff's right to redeem. 132 I.C. 793=1931 O. 378. Specific date of the cause of action should be given in the plaint. 131 I.C. 529=1931 P. 179; 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458, as also the place where it arose. 58 C. 418. In a suit for breach of conditions of a contract the conditions and the exact manner in which they have been violated should be stated. 1938 N.L.J. 392=1938 Nag. 530.

NAME.—A suit cannot be instituted against a dead man. 17 M.L.J. 551. If so instituted and a decree is obtained it is invalid. 9 Bom. L.R. 274. See 16 M. 319.

DESCRIPTION.—This term includes age, father's name, caste, etc. 7 M.L.J. 81. Where the Government has recognized a person as having a right to bear particular titles, a plaint in a suit against such person may contain them. 12 Beng.L.R. 443 (P.C.). A plaintiff cannot be compelled to insert every name and title to which the defendant may conceive himself entitled. 3 M.H.C.R. 31.

PLACE OF RESIDENCE.—To describe the plaintiff as residing in Chitpore Road in Calcutta is not a sufficient description of his residence. 4 C.L.R. 366; 14 W.R. 474. See also 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458. Facts constituting cause of action must be stated. See 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458; 18 A. 403; 15 M.L.J. 122; 13 W.R. 248; 10 Bom.H.C.R. 182; 11 A. 438; 15 C. 533 (P.C.); 10 Bom.H.C.R. 414; 7 M.H.C.R. 364; 7 C. 169; 9 A. 486; 13 W.R. 48; 13 C. 9.

SUIT BY CORPORATION.—O. 29, R. 1 only requires a pleading filed by a corporation to be verified by a principal officer of the company. But there is nothing to suggest that the heading of the plaint should contain any further particulars showing the name and description or place of residence of the person who represents such corporation. 26 S.L.R. 431.

INCONSISTENT CLAIMS.—A claim to set aside a deed as a forgery cannot be combined with a claim to set it aside on the ground of absence of consideration, fraud, misrepresentation, etc. 15 I.A. 86. A claim to set aside an adoption on the ground that it never took place cannot be joined with a claim that even if it took place it was conditional one. 14 M. 172. A stranger to a deed can aver that it is a forgery, and that if not a forgery, it is not supported by consideration. 16 M.L.J. 13 (Recent Cases).

RELIEF CLAIMED.—The Court should not give the plaintiff more relief than he prays for. 6 Bom.H.C.R. 9. An injunction could be granted on a general prayer. 6 C. 485. In a suit for partition no decree for redemption can be given. 10 M.L.J. 242; 5 A. 345; 27 B. at 603; 28 B. at 160. Plaint defective—Relief not claimed in proper form—Duty of Court. 93 I.C. 928=1926 L. 417.

VERIFICATION OF PLAINT.—Practice criticised. See 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458. O. 29, R. 1 only requires a pleading filed by a corporation to be verified by a principal officer of the company. But there is nothing to suggest that the heading of the plaint should contain any further particulars showing the name and description or place of residence of the person who represents such corporation. 26 S.L.R. 431=142 I.C. 361=1933 S. 102.

CLAUSE (e).—In a suit on a promissory note payable at a specified place, the plaint ought to contain a statement that the note had been presented for payment as that forms part of the cause of action. If there is no allegation of presentment in the plaint, the plaintiff cannot be given an opportunity of proving presentment. 158 I.C. 89=1935 Pesh. 132.

CLAUSE (f).—The value of a suit for purposes of Court-fees is not applicable for determining jurisdiction. Acts of a fiscal nature are not to be resorted to for determining questions of jurisdiction. 6 M.H.C.R. 151. Plaintiff in certain cases is free to fix his own valuation for purposes of jurisdiction. 18 C. 378. The general rule is that in all suits for account the valuation for purposes of Court-fees determines the question of jurisdiction. 22 C. 690; 92 I.C. 730=1926 M. 591. If in the course of preliminary enquiry in a suit for the value of the relief

- (g) the relief which the plaintiff claims ;
 (h) where the plaintiff has allowed a set-off or relinquished a portion of his claim, the amount so allowed or relinquished ; and
 (i) a statement of the value of the subject-matter of the suit for the purposes of jurisdiction and of court-fees, so far as the case admits.

In money suits.

2. Where the plaintiff seeks the recovery of money, the plaint shall state the precise amount claimed :

But where the plaintiff sues for mesne profits, or for an amount which will be found due to him on taking unsettled accounts between him and the defendant, the plaint shall state approximately the amount sued for.

LOC. AM.—[LAHORE.] In the second paragraph of r. 2 of O. 7, after the word "defendant" insert "or for movables in the possession of the defendant, or for debts the value of which he cannot, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, estimate" ; and after the word "amount" where it last occurs insert "or value."

3. Where the subject-matter of the suit is immovable property, the plaint shall contain a description of the property sufficient to identify it, and, in case such property can be identified by boundaries or numbers in a record of settlement of survey, the plaint shall specify such boundaries or numbers.

LOC. AM.—[CALCUTTA.] After r. 3, O. 7, add the words :—

"and where the area is mentioned, such description shall further state 'the area according to the notation used in the record of settlement or survey, with or without, at the option of the party the same area in terms of the local measures.'"

4. Where the plaintiff sues in a representative character the plaint shall show not only that he has an actual existing interest in the subject-matter, but that he has taken the steps (if any) necessary to enable him to institute a suit concerning it.

5. The plaint shall show that the defendant is or claims to be interested in the subject-matter, and that he is liable to be called upon to answer the plaintiff's demand.

6. Where the suit is instituted after the expiration of the period prescribed by the law of limitation, the plaint shall show the ground upon which exemption from such law is claimed.

NOTES.

claimed by the plaintiff whether that enquiry be instituted at the request of the defendant or of the plaintiff whatever be the reason assigned for the overvaluation of the reliefs it becomes clear to the Court that there has been gross under-valuation, it is the duty of the Court on the motion of either party or ex proprio motu to order that the plaint be returned for presentation in the proper Court if the value be held to be not higher than the figure up to which that Court has jurisdiction. 3 A.W.R. 405=1935 A. 157.

PROCEDURE.—See 35 C.W.N. 267.

O. 7, R. 2.—A claim for contribution should distinctly set forth the amounts due by each part. 14 W.R. 374. Plaintiff is only entitled to the sum specified in the plaint, even though on the evidence he is found to be entitled to more. 2 M.I.A. 113. See also 30 C. 406. Rr. 1 and 4 of O. 7 are mandatory. 82 I.C. 201. None of the rules under O. 7 require or allow documents which are part of the evidence in the suit to be annexed to the plaint. On the other hand, such a course is forbidden by O. 9, R. 2. Particulars which are too voluminous to be included in the plaint may be annexed thereto and may be delivered separately, and these facts should be stated in the plaint. 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458.

O. 7, R. 4.—Plaint is to state the representative nature of the suit. 1925 N. 183=82 I.C. 201. A plaintiff suing in a representative character must set it forth, and show that he is qualified to fill it. 7 B. at 470. In Bombay Presidency Mahomedan executors can sue without first taking out probate. 8 B. 241. In the case of Hindus, see 14 C. 37. When the original plaintiff dies, the suit may be continued by his legal representative, although the latter has not taken out letters of administration. 16 B. 519. Production of a succession certificate is not a condition precedent to institution of the suit. 16 M. 454=19 C. 482. See also 17 M. 14.

O. 7, R. 5.—Plaint must show how the various defendants are interested in the subject-matter of the suit and the cause of action against each. 1924 N. 191=79 I.C. 614.

O. 7, R. 6.—R. 6 should be construed liberally and reasonably. 60 I.C. 772=3 L. L.J. 22=2 L. 13; 46 I.C. 495=102 P.R. 1918.

7. Every plaintiff shall state specifically the relief which the plaintiff claims either simply or in the alternative, and it shall not be necessary to ask for general or other relief which may always be given as the Court may think just to the same extent as if it had been asked for. And the same rule shall apply to any relief claimed by the defendant in his written statement.

NOTES.

As a general principle, a plaintiff must show in his plaint how his suit is in time; for, the question whether the suit is in time must, if denied, be one of the issues in the case, and if the plaintiff does not explain how his suit is in time, it is impossible to the defendant to meet his case. 1937 Mad. 826. Where a plaint is presented on the re-opening date after Court holidays and the period of limitation has expired during the holidays, the fact that the ground of exemption under S. 4, Limitation Act, was not specifically mentioned in the plaint will not entail the dismissal of the suit inasmuch as the Court is bound to take judicial notice of the holidays. 168 I.C. 383=1937 Pesh. 41. R. 6 has no application when the plaint is not on its face time barred. 70 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 463; but is applicable to cases in which the suit as laid in the plaint is prima facie barred by limitation. 51 I.C. 956=1 L. 21. R. 6 is a rule of pleading. It makes no exception to the general rule that a plaintiff must plead the facts on which he relies for his case. If a party is advised that his pleadings are defective, the remedy is amendment by leave of the Court. There is no reason why a different consideration should apply to a plaintiff who wishes to throw over the ground of exemption from limitation pleaded and to put forward some other ground of exemption which he has not pleaded. If there is no application to amend the plaint, the suit ought to be dismissed as barred by limitation. 37 L.W. 370=1933 M. 395=64 M.L.J. 317. See also 20 N.L.J. 42. Where a suit is prima facie time barred the grounds on which exemption is claimed must be alleged in the plaint. 145 I.C. 343=1933 L. 491. Ground of exemption from limitation not set up in plaint cannot afterwards be set up and proved. 75 I.C. 1048=1924 L. 702. A ground to save limitation which has not been taken in the plaint cannot be taken unless the plaint is amended. 1933 M.W.N. 931=1933 M. 874. Failure to set up acknowledgment as saving limitation is a bar. 3 L. 233=1922 L. 39; 52 I.C. 243=9 L.W. 82. Grounds on which plaintiff relies for extending the period of limitation must be specifically alleged in the plaint. 27 I.C. 344=8 S.L.R. 69. It is obligatory as a matter of pleading to show the grounds upon which exemption from limitation is claimed. Consequently unless the plaint is amended, it will not be open to a party to rely on an exemption not pleaded in the plaint. 165 I.C. 737=1936 M.W.N. 411=1936 M. 545. When a plaintiff deliberately takes up a definite position as to when the cause of action arose, he cannot be allowed to shift his ground later on, when he finds that position untenable. Thus the plaintiff cannot be allowed to take up a new plea of limitation resting on certain acknowledgments at the stage of arguments, when he finds his original position untenable. To adopt such a course is unfair, as the defendant has no notice either of the plea or of the statements in certain documents on which reliance is sought to be placed and he cannot therefore be reasonably expected to meet the plea. 1934 L. 753. Plea of exemption for limitation—Inconsistent averments when may be allowed. 65 I.C. 279=17 N.L.R. 209. Where in the plaint returned for presentation to proper Court the ground of exemption is not stated the endorsement of the Court as to the date of receipt and return is substantial compliance with the provisions of R. 6. 9 I.C. 157=9 M.L.T. 374; 1923 L. 591. The plaintiff ought not to be allowed to put forward a new case inconsistent with the plaint to enable him to avoid limitation. 30 C. at 709.

O. 7, R. 7.—The intent and purpose of R. 7, is to take the place of the practice previously followed by Courts. A Court should not refuse to grant a relief not specifically claimed in the plaint, if such relief is obviously required by the nature of the case and is not inconsistent with the relief specifically claimed and raised by the pleadings, although the plaintiff does not ask for any general or other relief. Thus in a suit for rent under a lease, the Court may, even if the lease is not properly proved, pass a decree for use and occupation. The minor relief being inherent in the claim for the greater, it is incumbent on the Court to grant it when the facts require it. 13 L.L.T. 34. In a suit on a negotiable instrument, relief on the strength of the original consideration could be granted if prayed for in the alternative. 46 C. 663=29 C.L.J. 340=36 M.L.J. 429 (P.C.); 14 I.C. 399=8 N.L.R. 7. See also 27 N.L.R. 327. [17 N.L.R. 22, Ref.; 27 A. 325 (P.C.); 2 M.I.A. 353; 24 A. 456; 43 C. 743; 29 M. 491; 30 M.L.J. 302; 2 L. 256; 3 C. 314; 18 C.W.N. 617 (P.C.); 7 P. 845; 24 B. 360, Rel. on.] Where specific allegation is not proved, it is not open to the Court to arrive at a finding in his favour contrary to the allegation set up. 54 I.C. 797. A plaintiff is entitled to put his case in the alternative and his suit should not be dismissed as being for inconsistent relief. 36 A. 476; 7 A. 184; 12 A.L.J. 798. Where a suit for divorce or dissolution of marriage on the ground of the other party's unsoundness of mind or in the alternative for a declaration of nullity of the marriage is found to be not maintainable it is not open to the plaintiff

8. Where the plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of action founded upon separate and distinct grounds, they shall be stated as far as may be separately and distinctly.

9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint, or annex thereto, a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it; and, if the plaint is admitted, shall present as many copies on plain paper of the plaint as there are defendants, unless the Court by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of the defendants, or for any other sufficient reason, permits him to present a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claim made, or of the relief claimed in the suit, in which case he shall present such statements.

(2) Where the plaintiff sues, or the defendant or any of the defendants is sued, in a representative capacity, such statements shall show in what capacity the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued.

(3) The plaintiff may, by leave of the Court, amend such statements so as to make them correspond with the plaint.

(4) The chief ministerial officer of the Court shall sign such list and copies or statements if, on examination, he finds them to be correct.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] In r. 9 (a) for the semicolon after "it" in cl. (1) substitute a full stop and delete the rest of this clause as well as cls. (2) and (3); and (b) re-number cl. (4) as cl. (2) deleting the words "or statements" therein.

[CALCUTTA.] O. 7, r. 9.—For r. 9 (1) substitute:—

"9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint, or annex thereto a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it.

(1-A) The plaintiff shall present with his plaint:—

(i) as many copies on plain paper of the plaint as there are defendants, unless the Court by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of the defendants, or for any other sufficient reason, permits him to present a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claim made, or of the relief claimed in the suit, in which case he shall present such statements;

(ii) draft forms of summons and fees for service thereof.

NOTES.

to claim the relief of judicial separation, when that relief has not been prayed for in the plaint. Such a relief claiming judicial separation is not a general relief falling under such further and other relief within the meaning of O. 7, R. 7. No such relief can be granted without an amendment of the plaint. 1938 B. 65=39 Bom.L.R. 1146. The decree in a suit should conform with the rights of the parties as they stand at the date of its institution. 44 C. 47=20 C.W.N. 1099. A prayer "for any other relief" may cover any other relief arising out of the same cause of action but not one arising under a different cause of action. 13 I.C. 650=92 P. L.R. 1912. "General or other relief" which can be granted must be one consistent with the main reliefs claimed. Ownership and easement are not rights consistent with each other. 1933 L. 267. An exaggerated claim is no ground for refusing a person the rights which he is found entitled to. 46 I.C. 679=13 P.R. 1919; 33 M.L.J. 63. In a suit for ejectment, a decree for joint possession may be passed. 38 M. 1036=26 M.L.J. 532; 24 M.L.J. 271=21 I.C. 724. But a relief which goes beyond the scope of the suit or the facts proved cannot be granted. 10 L.L.J.

513=112 I.C. 485=1929 L. 126. See also 1937 O.W.N. 1131=1937 Oudh 484. Under R. 7, a prayer for general relief is unnecessary, and a Court may always give general or other relief, as it may think just to the same extent, as if it had been asked for. 76 I.C. 940=5 Pat.L.T. 330. On this section, see also 29 Bom.L.R. 147; 10 Pat.L.T. 630. Suit for possession—Power of Court to grant declaration. 118 I.C. 381=1929 A. 555. A claim as owner is quite distinct from a claim as manager though the plaintiff seeks possession on both grounds and the case falls under R. 8. 1929 N. 347=120 I.C. 404.

O. 7, R. 9.—A suit is instituted on the date when the plaint is filed and not on the date when it is ordered to be registered. 66 I.C. 923=34 C.L.J. 465.

ANNEXING DOCUMENTS TO PLAINT.—None of the rules under O. 7 require or allow documents which are part of the evidence in the suit to be annexed to the plaint. On the other hand, such a course is forbidden by Rr. 2 and 9. Particulars which are too voluminous to be included in the plaint may be annexed thereto and may be delivered separately and these facts should be stated in the plaint. 58 C. 418=1931 C. 458.

[MADRAS.] In r. 9 (1) of O. 7 after the word "and" occurring in the third line delete the comma and the five words following, viz., "if the plaint is admitted" and insert the expression "along with the plaint" after the words "shall present."

[NAGPUR] Substitute the following for r. 9 :—

"9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint or annex thereto, a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it.

(2) The chief ministerial officer of the Court shall sign such lists and the copies of the plaint presented under r. 1 of O. 4, if, on examination, he finds them to be correct."

[OUDH.] In r. 9 (1) for the words "and if the plaint is admitted, shall present," substitute the words "and shall, at the same time, present." Also delete the words "unless the Court. . . present such statements" as well as sub-rr. (2) and (3) and re-number sub-r. (4) as sub-r. (2) deleting the words "or statements."

[RANGOON.] In O. 7, r. 9 (1) add the words "on the day on which the plaint is admitted," after the word "present."

[SIND.] "9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint, or annex thereto, a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it, and shall present along with the plaint as many copies of it on plain paper as there are defendants; on application made the Court may by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of the defendants or for any other sufficient reason accept instead a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claim made, or of the relief claimed in the suit, presented along with the plaint."

10. (1) The plaint shall at any stage of the suit be returned to be presented to the Court in which the suit should have been instituted.

(2) On returning a plaint the Judge shall endorse thereon the date of its presentation and return, the name of the party presenting it, and a brief statement of the reasons for returning it.

NOTES.

O. 7, R. 10.—R. 10 applies only when it is found that the suit as originally framed was wrongly instituted; it does not apply when it is found at the trial on the evidence that the Court has no jurisdiction to grant the relief prayed for. 1932 S. 67; 1938 A. 39; 1937 Oudh 183. O. 7, R. 10 is not confined only to cases of return of plaint for want of territorial jurisdiction, but also for want of pecuniary jurisdiction. 175 I.C. 684=1938 Sind 124. In many cases, the plaintiff has the choice of forum, but once a plaintiff has selected to choose his forum, he cannot change it at his own pleasure. Having selected the Court in which he proposes to file his case, if that Court has jurisdiction to deal with it, the case must remain there in the ordinary way. If therefore the plaint shows that a particular Court has jurisdiction to deal with the case, the plaintiff cannot be allowed to withdraw the plaint to be filed elsewhere. If a Court has jurisdiction, it is impossible for it to act under O. 7, R. 10; for the Court itself, if it has jurisdiction, is the Court in which the suit should be instituted. 158 I.C. 63=1935 R. 310. A Court cannot return or reject a plaint under O. 7, R. 10, merely because the suit is triable by some other Court. It can do so only if the suit is not triable by itself. 1936 A.M.L.J. 67. See also 1940 O.W.N. 1212=1941 Oudh 161; 42 Bom.L.R. 1093. When the Court finds that on the correct valuation the plaint is not cognizable by it, the proper thing to be done is to return the plaint so that it may be presented to the Court having jurisdiction. It is not the function of the Court to direct the plaintiff to amend the valuation or pay additional Court-fee. They are matters for the Court before whom the plaint should be properly presented. 1931 M. 67=61 M.L.J. 43. (51 B. 236; 8 M. 62; 8 B. 313; 7 M. 171, Rel. on; 8 B. 313, Not Foll.) See also 158 I.C. 613=1935 R. 310; 153 I.C. 53=37 P.L.R. 125; 42 P.L.R. 203=1940 Lah. 171. Where a plaint has been returned for presentation to the proper Court and the plaintiff appeals against the order, he is still at liberty to present the plaint to the proper Court subject to the bar of limitation. 27 Bom.L.R. 652=89 I.C. 68. The direction in R. 10 is mandatory. 53 I.C. 308=10 L.W. 525; 8 C. 834. Suit filed in Civil Court instead of before Collector—Proper procedure. 6 P. 358. See also 133 I.C. 411=1931 A. 664.

RETURN OF PLAINT—WHEN TO BE MADE AND WHEN NOT TO BE MADE.—If on the face of the plaint the Court finds that it has no jurisdiction to try the case, it will return the plaint at any stage of the case; if the Court fails to detect want of jurisdiction in it to begin with, but where the plaint prima facie is triable by the Court and in spite of the challenge of the other side the plaintiff sticks to his own allegations in the plaint, the Court proceeds to try the case on merits and not to decide any preliminary question of jurisdiction. If then the Court comes to the conclusion that plaintiff's contention is false and the suit as laid cannot be maintained, the Court ought to dismiss the suit and no question of returning the plaint under O. 7, R. 10 arises in such a case. If the Court returns the plaint in such a case, instead of dismissing the suit, it will be failing to exercise a jurisdiction vested in it by law. 1940 N.L.J. 380=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 331. A Court can return a plaint for presentation to the proper Court even at the stage of arguments, when the question of jurisdiction is raised, especially when the suit has not proceeded very far. 1937 A.L.J. 1224=1938 All. 76.

APPLICABILITY.—R. 10 only applies when it is found that the suit as originally framed was wrongly instituted in Court, but it does not apply when it is found at the trial, whether as the result of admission made by the parties or evidence led by them, that the relief which the plaintiff is really entitled to is different from that claimed in suit and that relief is not cognizable by that Court. In the latter case, the Court cannot decline jurisdiction and order the plaint to be returned but should proceed with the trial to its finish after amendment of pleadings or otherwise, and pass such decree as the circumstances permit. It may in certain cases grant permission for withdrawal of the suit with liberty to file a fresh suit. (Case-law discussed). 1933 S. 296. See also 165 I.C. 908=1936 O.W.N. 1228=1937 O. 183; 1933 N. 82; 1930 S. 252. Where at the time of the institution of a suit, a Court had no territorial jurisdiction to entertain it, but before it could pass an order under O. 7, R. 10, it acquired that jurisdiction by virtue of a Government notification it cannot thereafter pass an order under O. 7, R. 10. 1941 O. 161=1940 O.W.N. 1212=191 I.C. 708. R. 10 applies only where the suit is instituted in a wrong Court and not where the necessary relief under S. 20, C. P. Code, was not obtained. 23 Bom.L.R. 1086=46 B. 229. See also 1934 C. 565=59 C.L.J. 47=1934 C. 524. O. 7, R. 10 applies to a Small Cause Court. 1926 M. 679=51 M.L.J. 158. Rule applies when the suit as originally framed was wrongly instituted. 54 I.C. 655. For passing an order returning plaint to be presented to proper Court, it is not necessary that the Court so returning and the Court to which plaint is ordered to be presented should be exercising the same kind of jurisdiction. If for instance the plaint is preferred in the Revenue Court which has no jurisdiction, the proper course for the Revenue Court to follow, is to return the plaint for presentation in the proper Court which may be the Civil Court. 149 I.C. 109=1934 P. 234. to decide question of jurisdiction. 91 I.C. 737=1926 M. 339. Plaintiff containing different causes of action—Jurisdiction of Court to try one cause of action only—Procedure to be followed. 94 I.C. 783=1926 B. 283=28 Bom.L.R. 521. Plaintiff returned under S. 23, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act—Order of return by Civil Court—Appeal if lies. 1926 C. 83. See also 145 I.C. 261=1933 N. 221. An application to a Court trying the suit to stay a suit is an application in the suit and R. 10 does not apply. 150 I.C. 839=1934 S. 95. When a Court returns a plaintiff for being presented to the proper Court under O. 7, R. 10, neither such Court nor the appellate Court to which an appeal is filed from the order of that Court has power to fix a date or otherwise allow time within which the plaintiff is to be re-filed. It is for the Court in which it is so presented to consider whether the plaintiff is within time, and whether, having regard to the provisions of the Limitation Act, the plaintiff is entitled to the deduction of any time in computing limitation. 45 C.W.N. 524. Order returning plaintiff—Condition precedent for payment of costs before presentation of plaintiff to proper Court—No power of Court to impose such condition. 54 L.W. 315=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 450.

INHERENT POWERS.—Although R. 10 does not apply to a chartered High Court, it can, by virtue of its inherent powers, direct the return of a plaintiff for presentation to proper Court on dismissing a suit for want of jurisdiction. 12 R. 432=1934 R. 342.

LIMITATION.—A Court returning a plaintiff for presentation to the proper Court cannot fix a time for such presentation, so as to extend the period of limitation for the suit. Such an order allowing a period for presentation is clearly illegal; and if the presentation is made beyond the period of limitation for the suit, the suit will be barred, although it is presented within the time fixed. 1936 A.M.L.J. 67. See also 18 Pat.L.T. 250=1937 Pat. 495. If a plaintiff is returned under R. 10, O. 7 and is presented to another Court in the same condition in which it is returned, it must be deemed to have been instituted on the date on which it was originally filed in the first Court and the date of institution does not alter with the change in the Court. 1941 O.W.N. 713=1941 R.D. 412=1941 A.W.R. (Rev.) 435. See also 45 C.W.N. 524.

PLEADINGS.—Plaintiff cannot rely upon the pleas in the written statements for making out a cause of action. 46 I.C. 60; 6 Bur.L.T. 35=20 I.C. 278.

PRACTICE.—The question of valuation and jurisdiction is one that should be determined at the earliest possible opportunity and, if the Court finds that it has no jurisdiction it should at once return the plaintiff to the Court having jurisdiction and should not take any steps either to enforce payment of Court-fees or in any other matter. In such a case the order requiring the plaintiffs to pay additional Court-fees and on their failure to do so rejecting the plaintiff, is ultra vires and cannot be upheld. (46 M.L.J. 345, Not Foll.; 51 B. 236, Foll.) 20 N.L.R. 367=1933 N. 312. It is a settled rule of law that the jurisdiction of a Court is initially determined by the allegations to be found in the plaintiff. If the plaintiff as it stood contained allegations making the suit clearly cognizable by the Munsiff and he found against the claim of the plaintiff for rendition of accounts the plain duty of the Court is to dismiss the suit and not to return the plaintiff for representation to some other Court which, on the plea of the defendants, would have had jurisdiction. 1933 A.L.J. 667=1933 A. 745.

PLAINT RETURNED BY TWO COURTS—REMEDY OF APPLICANT.—A plaintiff was filed in the Court of the Second Class Subordinate Judge. That Court considered that the case was cognizable by the Court of Small Causes and returned the plaintiff for presentation to the appropriate Court. The latter Court however held that the suit was not triable by it and returned the plaintiff to the applicant. The applicant applied in revision asking the High Court to determine which Court had jurisdiction to entertain the suit. Held, that the correct procedure would have been to make an application to the District Judge under the provisions of O. 46, R. 7. 145 I.C. 261=1933 N. 221 (1).

APPEAL.—An appeal lies against an order passed under this rule. See O. 43, R. 1; also 14 M. 462; 27 Bom.L.R. 636=88 I.C. 753; 134 I.C. 203=1931 L. 294; but a second appeal does not lie in such cases. See 1931 L. 294. Also no appeal lies after the plaintiff has been taken back and re-filed in the Court as directed. 5 C.L.J. 580. But see 121 I.C. 668.

SECOND APPEAL.—See 1935 M. 574.

REVISION.—Order returning a memorandum of appeal to be presented to the proper Court is revisable. 90 I.C. 603=1925 L. 479. See also 131 I.C. 303=32 P.L.R. 737.

O. 7, R. 11.—(See also Notes under S. 149, supra.) All statements in plaintiff are to be taken as true for argument on preliminary issue as to whether plaintiff discloses a cause of action. 40 C. 598=25 M.L.J. 104 (P.C.). In deciding an application under R. 11 the Court is not entitled to go outside the pleadings. I.L.R. (1937) 1 C. 541=41 C.W.N. 193. "Cause of action", meaning of. See 54 A. 525=1932 A.L.J. 489=1932 A. 543. O. 7, R. 11 is merely a rule of procedure. It is not meant to enlarge any taxing section but only to ensure a proper application of the Court-Fees and other Acts. 34 C.W.N. 870. The provisions of R. 11 are mandatory and where a plaintiff on appeal memo. is written on paper insufficiently stamped, the Court is bound to give the plaintiff

The mandatory provision contained in R. 11 is intended for cases where no other complications intervene and the Court has sufficient inherent power to depart from the normal procedure to suit the exigencies of the situation. 40 C.W.N. 747=1936 C. 221; 41 Bom.L.R. 787=1939 Bom. 354. Dismissal under R. 11 (c) of O. 7 should be regarded in the light of a punishment for contempt of Court for failure to comply with the orders of the Court for payment of the deficiency in stamp. 1938 R.D. 235=1938 A.W.R. (B.R.) 89. The Court's power to correct the valuation is not limited under R. 11 to any particular stage of the suit. It may be exercised by the trial Court at a hearing after remand by the appellate Court. 58 M. 1051=41 L. W. 562=1935 M. 569=68 M.L.J. 755. Where a plaint is insufficiently stamped, the Court is bound under O. 7, R. 11 to give the plaintiff time to make up the deficit; only when he fails to comply with the order, the Court can reject the plaint. That the plaint is presented on the last day of limitation makes no difference at all. Whether the payment of insufficient Court-fee has been by design or due to inadvertence, the Court is bound by the mandatory terms of it to give effect to the provision of law. 47 L.W. 492=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 542=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 610. A plaint can be rejected at any stage of the suit even after its registration. (12 A. 553; 27 C. 376 and 1922 C. 506, Foll.) The fact that the suit was registered, heard by the trial Court, and by the appellate Court and remanded would be of no moment for a plaint not correctly valued and stamped can be rejected under O. 7, R. 11, at any stage of the suit, the said provisions being mandatory. 1935 C. 764. See also 40 C.W.N. 1390. Where the Court finds that the plaint does not bear sufficient Court-fees, to dismiss it on merits is not proper—Correct procedure pointed out. 152 I.C. 799=1935 L. 75. See also 1937 Lah. 392; I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 102. R. 11 (c) is not confined to a case where the plaintiff himself has properly valued the relief claimed, but has failed to pay the proper Court-fees. It applies as well to a case where the Court finds that the plaint has been undervalued and ascertains the real value and the deficient Court-fee has not been paid by plaintiff. 139 I.C. 520=36 C.W.N. 567=1932 C. 685. R. 11 (d) does not apply when there is no statement in the plaint suggesting the suit to be barred. 27 I.C. 232=18 C.W.N. 1340. Plaint insufficiently stamped—Court bound to grant time for affixing proper Court-fee. 27 P. L.R. 1917=39 I.C. 766; 3 P.L.T. 142; 56 I.C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703; 6 O.W.N. 1105; 18 Pat.L.T. 665=1937 Pat. 550. Application for leave to sue in forma pauperis is not governed by R. 11, because until the application is granted the suit cannot be regarded as instituted. R. 11 applies only to regularly instituted suits and not to other cases. Therefore, a Court is not compelled on its dismissing an application to sue in forma pauperis to grant a time within which a properly stamped plaint could be filed. 1935 M. W.N. 863=42 L.W. 655=1935 M. 878. See also 42 P.L.R. 684=1940 Lah. 446; 1936 C. 221. Where a suit has been registered as an ordinary suit and the plaintiff does not pay deficit Court-fee but, subsequently applies for permission to continue the suit as a pauper, the application should not be rejected merely on the ground that the suit has already been registered as an ordinary suit. It should be considered on merits. (Case-law discussed.) 40 C.W.N. 747=1936 C. 221. See also 1936 C. 221. Pauper suit—Dismissal—Appeal by plaintiff paying full Court-fee—Order by appellate Court for payment of Court-fee on plaint — Competency — Non-compliance — “Rejection” of appeal—If warranted. I. L.R. 19 A. 484=1937 A. 280. Return of plaint for payment of deficient Court-fee—Payments beyond the time fixed by the Court—No application to extend the time—But Court has power to excuse delay. 95 I.C. 439=51 M.L.J. 90=1926 M. 676; 1939 Pat. 137. In suits to obtain a declaratory decree or order where consequential relief is prayer for, and in suits to obtain an injunction, where the Court finds the relief claimed as under-valued, it is under R. 11 (b), entitled to require the plaintiff to correct the valuation stated by him in accordance with the provisions of S. 7, Court-Fees Act. But so long as there are no rules framed under S. 9, Suits Valuation Act, the Court would have no standard before it on which it may regard the plaintiff's valuation as an under-valuation, and its powers of correction would have to be exercised on that footing. (Case-law discussed.) 61 C. 796=38 C.W.N. 589=1934 C. 448 (F.B.). Where a Court finds that a suit is under-valued and directs it to be re-valued, and the re-valuation of the suit is beyond the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court, the proper procedure to be followed by the Court is to return it for presentation to the proper Court; the Court has no power to call on the plaintiff to pay the deficient Court-fee and to reject the plaint on non-payment of the same. 58 M.L.J. 651. Court has jurisdiction to entertain a plaint though it is unstamped. 20 I.C. 767=24 M. L.J. 658. But see 1930 N. 224. Court-fee stamps not available in treasury on the day of presentation of plaint and hence Court-fee paid late—Plaint must be deemed to have been presented on the proper date. 115 I.C. 757. See also 48 L.W. 244=1938 Mad. 560=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 135. When a plaint is presented insufficiently stamped the Court is bound to give plaintiff time to make good the deficiency; and under S. 149, the deficient stamp when paid within the period allowed, must be taken to have been paid at the time of the original presentation of the plaint. No application is required to be made under O. 7, R. 11. 1938 A.M.L.J. 60. It is competent to a Court to reject a plaint after it has been admitted and duly registered. 34 C. 20 (F.B.). A plaint may be rejected at any stage of the suit. 18 M. 338; 12 A. 553. But see 28 I.C. 504=1915 M. W.N. 228 (contra). The mere unlikelihood of plaintiff's success is no sufficient ground for rejecting a plaint. 1 M.H.C.R. 240. A suit should not be dismissed on the ground that it cannot be maintained as a mere acknowledgment of debt. 97 I.C. 800=1926 L. 472 (1). If plaint cannot be rejected in part, see 29 A. 325; 59 M.L.J. 923 (926). Rule does not apply to the High Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. 12 A. at 151 (F.B.). See 1938 A.W.R. 89. If a wrong date is given for the cause of action and the action is not barred, the plaint cannot be rejected. 7 N.W.P. 354. An appellate Court has the same powers of rejecting plaint under R. 11, as the Court of first instance. 69 I.C. 554 (1)=1924 N. 80 (O. 7, R. 11 applies to memorandum of appeal). See also (1938) 1 M.L.J. 514; 1941 Pat. 108. The weight of authority is decidedly against the applicability of the provisions of O. 7, R. 11 (c) to appeals. (27 M.L.J. 677; 61 Cal. 663; 1 Lah. 234; 3 Pat.L.J. 74; 50 All. 980, Ref. to.) 47 L.W. 211=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 316=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 514. But see 1930 N. 224. Where a person claims damages for "deterioration" of the goods from a railway company, but fails to furnish along with the plaint the details of his claim for damages, this omission by itself is not sufficient to dismiss his claim. 27 A.L.J. 859=51 A. 895=1929 A. 597 (2). Plaintiffs not appearing on fixed date and not paying additional Court-fee—Court dismissing suit, noting while dismissing "Plaintiffs have not paid additional Court-fees. Plaintiffs are absent"—Dismissal was under this rule and not under O. 9, R. 8. 117 I.C. 789 (2)=1929 M. 344. O. 7, R. 11 (b), if controls S. 7 (iv) of the

DISMISSAL OF SUIT AND REJECTION OF PLAINT are not identical terms. In one case a decree is passed and in the other case, it is merely an appealable order. 54 A. 525=1932 A.L.J. 489=1932 A. 543. Under O. 7, R. 11, where the plaintiff fails to pay the additional Court-fee, required of him within the time fixed, the correct order is to reject the plaint and not to dismiss the suit, though there is very little difference between an order rejecting a plaint and an order dismissing the suit. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 102. Where the Court directed the plaintiff to pay additional Court-fee before a certain date and the plaintiff applied on that date for permission to continue the suit as a pauper, held, the application having been made before the expiry of the period fixed for payment, the plaint could not be considered as having been rejected under R. 11, 37 L.W. 725=1933 M. 498=64 M.L.J. 728. As to rejection of plaint before registration as suit, see 62 C. 61. As to costs, see 43 Bom.L.R. 475.

REDUCING VALUATION OF PLAINT.—Return of plaint—Re-presentation of plaint with same Court-fee but with reduced valuation valid and allowable—No permission of Court necessary for reducing valuation. 134 I.C. 816=1931 M. 716.

EXTENSION OF TIME to pay Court-Fees—Power of Court to grant, after expiry of time fixed. 40 C.W.N. 747=1936 C. 321.

AS TO ALTERING NATURE OF SUIT on return of plaint, see 133 I.C. 654=1931 L. 622.

APPEAL AND REVISION.—See 1941 P.W.N. 25. An order holding that a certain Court-fee is payable is revisable. 1925 M. 722=48 M. L.J. 514. See also 1936 L. 1021; 1937 Lah. 800. An order of rejection under R. 11 (b) of a plaint is appealable and a revision is therefore incompetent. 80 P.R. 1914=25 I. C. 565. Where a plaint has been rejected by a Court for non-payment of Court-fees, the proper remedy of plaintiff is by way of an application for review under O. 47, R. 11, 2 P. 504=4 Pat.L.T. 261. Order rejecting plaint—Decree—Appeal and second appeal—Appellate Court refusing to entertain appeal—Same whether good ground for preferring revision to High Court against original order. 49 C.L.J. 81. Order demanding additional Court-fee—Cannot be revised by High Court. 1930 P. 227. When a suit is dismissed for non-payment of proper Court-fee within the time allowed, it amounts to a rejection under R. 11, Cls. (b) and (c), and from that order there is an appeal and second appeal. When the appeal from the dismissal of the suit is also dismissed on first appeal, the remedy is a second appeal and not a revision application under S. 115, C. P. Code. 60 C.L.J. 197

RES JUDICATA.—An order rejecting a memorandum of appeal for deficient Court-fee is not a decree or final order and does not preclude the appellant from presenting a fresh memorandum on proper Court-fee. 59 C. 388=138 I.C. 643=1932 C. 482. See also 40 C.W.N. 1390.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—The question whether a plaint ought to be rejected under R. 11 cannot depend on anything which the defendant may say in his written statement. The defect ought to be apparent on the face of the plaint. It is the duty of the Court under O. 7 to examine a plaint before issuing summons. The discovery of a patent defect should not, as a rule, be deferred until the summons has gone out, and the written statement has come in. 1933 S. 1=142 I.C. 501. Where a suit was by one indeterminate body of one community against a similar body of the same community, and no attempt was made to explain to the Court the true position of the respective bodies, it was held that the plaint was bad and should be rejected under O. 7, R. 11. 1941 A.M.L.J. 15. When once a plaint has been presented, that is final and unless it is rejected or returned according to O. 7, R. 11, it is to be immediately registered and a copy of it forwarded with notice to defendant. Return of plaint for amendments without notice to defendants is not proper inasmuch as the defendant is denied any benefit that might accrue to him from the mistake of the plaintiff. 1940 A.M.L.J. 129. Order dismissing suit against some defendants—Finding that suit cannot proceed against them for want of sanction of Provincial Governor—Decree—Plaint may be rejected as a whole. 1941 P.W.N. 25. See also 18 Pat.L.T. 921.

O. 7, R. 11 (d) and C.P.C., S. 80.—The requirement as to notice under S. 80 of the C. P. Code applies to all cases in which the Secretary of State is a defendant. Absence of such a notice entails a failure of the whole suit, irrespective of the existence of other defendants. In such a case the plaint is defective and should be rejected as a whole under O. 7, R. 11 (d). Such a course is preferable to dismissal of the suit. 1937 P.W.N. 694=18 Pat.L.T. 921.

O. 7, R. 11 and S. 140: SCOPE OF.—The provision in the Code which really enables a Court to grant time to make good a deficiency in Court-fee stamp on the plaint is not R. 11 of O. 7, but S. 149; O. 7, R. 11 does not enforce upon a Court, the granting of time to make good the deficiency in Court-fee stamp. It is not an enabling provision but a disabling one. The authority to issue the order granting time lies in S. 149 and the penalty for default in R. 11 of O. 7; S. 149 gives the Court a discretion either to grant time or to refuse to grant time. 190 I.C. 197=1940 O. LOC. AMS.—[OUDH.] O. 7, r. 14. In Oudh for sub-s. (2) of r. 14, substitute the following :—

“(2) Where he relies on any other documents as evidence in support of his claim, he shall enter all of them in a list to be added or annexed to the plaint and shall produce in Court, when the plaint is presented; such of them as are in his possession or power. In regard to the documents not in his possession or power, he shall, if possible, state in whose possession or power they are, and shall cause them to be summoned for production before the Court on a date to be fixed by the Court for the purpose.

Explanation.—A certified copy of a public document is a document “in the power” of a party, but where a document is in the possession of a person other than the plaintiff, it will not be deemed to be “in the power” of the plaintiff.”

[N.W.F.P.]—Add to sub-r. (2) “and shall also produce such documents as are in his possession or power.”

Statement in case of document not in plaintiff's possession or power.

15. Where any such document is not in the possession or power of the plaintiff, he shall, if possible, state in whose possession or power it is.

LOC. AM.—[OUDH.] [Deleted by Oudh Chief Court.]

16. Where the suit is founded upon a negotiable instrument, and it is proved that the instrument is lost, and an indemnity is given by the plaintiff, to the satisfaction of the Court, against the claims of any other person upon such instrument, the Court may pass such decree as it would have passed if the plaintiff had produced the instrument in Court when the plaint was presented, and had at the same time delivered a copy of the instrument to be filed with the plaint.

17. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891, where the document on which the plaintiff sues is an entry in a shop-book or other account in his possession or power, the plaintiff shall produce the book or account at the time of filing the plaint, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies.

- (2) The Court, or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, shall forthwith mark the document for the purpose of identification; and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall, if it is found correct, certify it to be so and return the book to the plaintiff and cause the copy to be filed.

A Court may refuse to admit later on unlisted documents. 1926 L. 527. In a suit on a promissory note for cash consideration, the defendant denied the receipt of consideration and therefore the plaintiff, in answer, produced before recording of evidence bonds not included in the list of documents filed with the plaint. Held, that in these circumstances no inference could be drawn against the plaintiff from the non-production of the bonds with the plaint or the omission from the list of the documents on which the plaintiff intended to rely, which list had also been filed with the plaint. 1936 L. 1016.

RIGHT OF INSPECTION under O. 11, R. 5 extends also to documents entered in a list annexed to the plaint. 1931 M. 825=61 M. L.J. 704 (24 C. 302, Diss.). See also 1938 Nag. 239.

O. 7, R. 14 (2) and O. 11, R. 15 and 18 (2): LIST OF DOCUMENTS RELEVANT AS EVIDENCE—IF PLEADINGS.—Though a defendant can insist on inspection of documents forming part of the pleadings, before he files his written statement, he cannot except in special cases insist upon inspection with reference to documents referred to in O. 7, R. 14 (2). They do not form part of the pleadings and defendant has not to plead to them any more than he has to plead to any other evidence in support of the plaintiff's case. It is therefore entirely unnecessary as a general rule to see these documents before he files his own statement. It may in certain circumstances be necessary, but then the procedure laid down in O. 11, R. 18 (2) must be observed. But whether the application is made under O. 11, R. 15 or O. 11, R. 18 (2), he must act promptly and delay in itself may be a ground for refusing to grant time for filing written statement until after inspection has been made. O. 7, R. 16.—A plaintiff founding his suit on a lost hundi must furnish security against possible claims. 16 I.C. 769; 59 I.C. 363. Document not filed in Court when may be allowed to be used. 60 I.C. 372.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD AND OUDH.] Add the following proviso to O. 7, r. 17 at the end of cl. (2) :—

"Provided that, if the copy is not written in English or is written in a character other than the ordinary Persian or Nagri character in use, the procedure laid down in O. 13, r. 12, as to verification, shall be followed; and in that case the Court or its officer need not examine or compare the copy with the original."

"Explanation.—When a shop-book or other account written in a language other than English or the language of the Court is produced with a translation or transliteration of the relevant entry, the party producing it shall not be required to present a separate affidavit as to the correctness of the translation or transliteration but shall add a certificate on the document itself, that it is a full and true translation or transliteration of the original entry, and no examination or comparison by the ministerial officer shall be required except by a special order of the Court."

18. (1) A document which ought to be produced in Court by the plaintiff when the plaint is presented, or to be entered in the list to be added or annexed to the plaint, and which is not produced or entered accordingly, shall not, without the leave of the Court, be received in evidence on his behalf at the hearing of the suit.

(2) Nothing in this rule applies to documents produced for cross-examination of the defendant's witnesses, or in answer to any case set up by the defendant or handed to a witness merely to refresh his memory.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] Add the following rules to O. 7 :—

"19. Every plaint or original petition shall be accompanied by a proceeding giving an address within in English block-letter at which service of notice, summons or other process may be made on the plaintiff or petitioner. Plaintiffs or petitioners subsequently added shall, immediately on being so added, file a proceeding of this nature.

20. An address for service filed under the preceding rule shall be within the local limits of the District Court within which the suit or petition is filed, or of the District Court within which the party ordinarily resides, if within the limits of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

21. Where a plaintiff or petitioner fails to file an address for service, he shall be liable to have his suit dismissed or his petition rejected by the Court suo motu or any party may apply for an order to that effect and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

22. Where a party is not found at the address given by him for service and no agent or adult male member of his family on whom a notice or process can be served, is present; a copy of the notice or process shall be affixed to the outer door of the house. If on the date fixed, such party is not present another date shall be fixed and a copy of the notice, summons or other process shall be sent to the registered address by registered post, and such service shall be deemed to be as effectual as if the notice or process had been personally served.

23. Where a party engages a pleader, notices or processes for service on him shall be served in the manner prescribed by O. 3, r. 5; unless the Court directs service at the address for service given by the party.

Certified copies of public documents may be received, though not produced with plaint. 67 I.C. 686=1922 P. 322. When there could no possible doubt about the existence of a document at the date of suit, it is not proper to refuse to admit it in evidence on the ground that it had not been produced with the plaint. 8 B. 377. The only penalty which the plaintiff incurs is that laid down in this rule. 22 B. 971. The penalty to the non-production of a document under O. 7, R. 14 is contained in R. 18 (1), and sub-rule (2) is an exception to sub-rule (1). 1936 A.L.J. 1195=1936 A.W.R. 983. See also 1937 A.M. See also 1936 L. 1016. The only ground contemplated by R. 18 for allowing a document which has not been produced in accordance with R. 14 to be produced at a later stage is that it may be used as evidence. No document can be taken after arguments have been heard, unless it be shown that the party, with the exercise of due diligence, could not have obtained a copy of this document at the proper stage, nor is any other reason given for its non-production before he closed his case. 1935 L. 648.

24. A party who desires to change the address for service given by him as aforesaid shall file a verified petition, and the Court may direct the amendment of the record accordingly. Notice of such petition shall be given to such other parties to the suit as the Court may deem it necessary to inform, and may be either served upon the pleaders for such parties or be sent to them by registered post, as the Court thinks fit.

25. Nothing in these rules shall prevent the Court from directing the service of a notice or process in any other manner, if, for any reasons, it thinks fit to do so."

26. Deleted by Notification 4084/35-A—3 (7) dated 24th July 1926.

[OUDH.] Add the following rules:—

Applicability to notice under O. 21, r. 22.

[N.-W.F.P.]—

"19. Every plaint or original petition shall be accompanied by a proceeding giving an address at which service of notice, summons, or other process may be made on the plaintiff or petitioner. Plaintiffs or petitioners subsequently added shall immediately, on being so added, file a proceeding of this nature.

20. An address for services filed under the preceding rule shall be within the local limits of the District Court within which the suit or petition is filed, or, of the District Court within which the party ordinarily resides, if within the limits of the North-West Frontier Province.

21. Where a plaintiff or petitioner fails to file an address for service he shall be liable to have his suit or his petition dismissed by the Court suo motu or any party may apply for an order to that effect, and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

22. A party who desires to change address for service given by him as aforesaid shall file a verified petition, and the Court may direct the amendment of the record accordingly. Notice of such petition shall be given to such other parties to the suit as the Court may deem it necessary to inform, and may be either served upon the pleaders for such parties, or be sent to them by registered post as the Court thinks fit."

ORDER VIII.

Written Statement and Set-off.

1. The defendant may, and, if so required by the Court, shall, at or before the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit, present a written statement of his defence.

LOC. AMS.—[OUDH.] O. 8, r. 1. Add the following as r. 1 (2) and read the existing r. 1 as r. 1 (1):—

"(2) The defendant shall file with his written statement a list of all the documents on which he relies as evidence in support of his case, shall produce with the written statement such of the documents as are in his possession or power, and shall cause the others to be summoned on a date to be fixed by the Court for the purpose.

Explanation.—A certified copy of a public document is a document "in the power" of a party, but where a document is in the possession of a person other than the defendant, it will not be deemed to be "in the power" of the defendant."

[LAHORE.] The following was added:—

"and with such written statement, or if there is no written statement, at the first hearing shall produce in Court all documents in his possession or power on which he bases his defence or any claim for set-off.

(2) Where he relies on any other documents as evidence in support of his defence or claim for set-off he shall enter such documents in a list to be added or annexed to the written statement or where there is no written statement to be presented at the first hearing. If no such list is so annexed or presented, the defendant shall be allowed a further period of ten days to file this list of documents.

(3) A document which ought to be entered in the list referred to in sub-cl. (2) but which has not been so entered, shall not, without the leave of the Court, be received in evidence on the defendant's behalf at the hearing of the suit.

(4) Nothing in this rule shall apply to documents produced for cross-examination of plaintiff's witnesses or handed to a witness merely to refresh his memory."

[N.-W.F.P.] O. 8, r. 1. Add the following as sub-cl. (2):—

"The defendant at the time of presenting a written statement shall, where he relies on any documents (whether in his possession or power or not), enter such documents in a list and produce those documents which are in his possession or power."

2. The defendant must raise by his pleading all matters which show the suit not to be maintainable, or that the transaction is either void or voidable in point of law, and all such grounds of defence as, if not raised, would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise issues of fact not arising out of the plaint, as, for instance, fraud, limitation, release, payment, performance, or facts showing illegality.

NOTES.

O. 8, R. 1.—A written statement cannot be filed by one who is not a party to the suit. 25 W.R. 17. Where a written statement on behalf of defendant is not filed by him personally or on his behalf by a duly constituted agent, but by a third person, the procedure is not regular. 53 A. 466=1931 A.L.J. 181=1931 A. 333 (2). A written statement tendered before, or at the first hearing, need not bear any Court-fee. 5 B. 400. The practice of filing written statements on behalf of persons accused of criiminal offences is improper. 32 I.C. 137=20 C.W.N. 128.

O. 8, R. 2.—Defence to be specific and clear. 76 I.C. 603=1923 C. 578. Limitation should be specifically pleaded. 66 I.C. 287=34 C.L.J. 205; 69 I.C. 194. S. 3 of the Limitation Act makes the question of limitation a material question although not raised by the parties; but a Court is not bound to raise and decide a question of fact of its own motion. Hence where the question of limitation is purely one of law capable of determination on the facts admitted or prov-

3. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his written statement to deny generally the grounds alleged by the plaintiff, but the defendant must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth, except damages.

4. Where a defendant denies an allegation of fact in the plaint, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it is alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof, or else set out how much he received. And if an allegation is made with diverse circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it along with those circumstances.

5. Every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted except as against a person under disability:

Provided that the Court may in its discretion require any fact so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission.

ed before the Court, the Court is bound under the provisions of S. 3 to raise the question suo motu and decide it. But where the question of limitation raises issues of fact not arising from the plaint, the defendant is bound under O. 8, R. 2, to raise such question in his written statement; if he fails to do so, thereafter it is within the discretion of the Court to allow the question to be raised or not. Where the question of limitation was raised by the facts alleged in the plaints themselves, the Court is bound under S. 3 of the Limitation Act to decide the question on the facts stated in the plaints, at whatever stage of the hearing it was raised, or even if it was not raised at all by the parties themselves. 1940 Rang. L.R. 273=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 207. Limitation under special law cannot be allowed to be raised in appeal. 69 I.C. 194; 60 I.C. 280=32 C.L.J. 236; 46 I.C. 787=28 C.L.J. 216. Plea of want of necessity cannot be raised for the first time in appeal. 1 P. 612=3 Pat.L.T. 367. So also a plea that the suit should have been brought by plaintiff in a representative capacity. 39 Bom.L.R. 917=1937 Bom. 476. A defendant in a suit in ejectment, denying plaintiff's title and tenancy, cannot plead want of notice to quit. 17 M.L.J. 287. Raising of new defence for the first time in appeal not allowed. 95 I.C. 573=28 Bom.L.R. 513. In many cases persons in verifying the pleadings, defendants their written statements or plaintiffs their plaints are often found to say something which is not strictly true, e.g., a defendant may deny the making of a contract in order to force the plaintiff to give evidence and be subjected to cross-examination or to put the matter raised in issue. But by such action he does not render himself liable for prosecution for perjury for making false statement. 1930 C. 639=129 I.C. 111.

O. 8, R. 3.—As to what amounts to an admission of the case in plaint, see 1927 A. 225=95 I.C. 1.

O. 8, Rr. 3 and 5.—Where a lessor of a house sued the lessee for damages for breach of the lease agreement which was reduced to writing, but which though compulsorily registrable was not registered and his allegations in the plaint as to the terms of the lease were not specifically denied the effect is that the suit can be decreed as on an admission. 1938 O. A. 785=1938 O.W.N. 1080.

O. 8, R. 4.—It is a principal underlying R. 4 that the pleadings should be specific. 27 A.L.J. 1153=1929 A. 721 (2).

O. 8, Rr. 4 and 5.—It is enough to say in the written statement that a fact is not admitted in order to put the plaintiff to proof of it. 40 L.W. 366=1934 M. 579=67 M. L.J. 327. See also 55 A. 700=1933 A. 521.

O. 8, R. 5: APPLICATION OF.—R. 5 is limited in its application to cases where there is in fact a pleading before the Court. 20 C.W.N. 1192=43 C. 1001; 115 I.C. 425; 1930 P. 293. For scope of R. 5, see 47 I. C. 589=35 M.L.J. 372. The principle that non-admissions in certain cases are equivalent to admissions does not apply to a case where the averments in the plaint to which the principle is sought to be applied are vague and inconclusive. 30 S.L.R. 233=1937 Sind 11. A defendant who does not put in any defence is bound by all the allegations in the plaint; under R. 5, every allegation of fact in a plaint must be taken as admitted unless denied or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant. The rule is not confined to a case where a pleading has been put in by the defendant; it equally applies to a case in which the defendant puts in no pleading. 60 B. 788=164 I.C. 189=38 Bom.L.R. 577=1936 B. 285. But it has been well settled that a mere omission to file a written statement does not amount to an admission of the facts stated in the plaint. 14 P. 70=157 I.C. 433=1935 P. 306. There is not a denial by necessary implication of the statements in the plaint when the language which can be looked to to find that denial is a statement which is in itself so inconsistent as not to be capable of admitting or denying anything. 190 I.C. 320=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 190. Where in a suit the defendant has admitted that he executed a bond for certain sum on certain date on taking accounts and has admitted that he agreed to pay the amount on certain date, this is not a case, which falls under O. 8, R. 5 of an implied admission. This is an example of an express admission. A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 95. Where in a suit for dissolution of partnership and accounts the plaintiff stated the proportion of shares, defendants, while alleging that the shares were different, did not specify what the shares were, held, that the Court could treat the evasive denial as an admission of the correctness of the statement in the plaint. 113 I.C. 370=1929 S. 7. See also 8 O.W.N. 1080 (Case of no denial). A denial of knowledge of a fact is not a denial of the fact, nor is it even putting the fact in issue. It merely means that the defendant denies that he has any knowledge of it, but any man can, of course, admit a fact of which he has no personal knowledge. Where a defendant in a mortgage suit instead of denying specifically or refusing to admit specifically, the mortgage in favour of the mortgagee, merely denies knowledge of the mortgage, such a procedure is neither a specific denial of the mortgage nor is it a statement that the mortgage is not admitted, and consequently under R. 5, it must be held against such defendant that he has by implication admitted the mortgage in favour of the mortgagee. 152 I.C. 395=1934 R. 278. A recital in the written statement that a certain allegation in the plaint is not admitted cannot be deemed to be an admission, but amounts to denial by necessary implication. 55 A. 700=1933 A.L.J. 998=1933 A. 521. See also 168 I.C. 330=1937 S. 11; 1934 M. 579=67 M.L.J. 327; 1941 Rang. 49 (Statement at certain allegations need no reply, effect of).

6. (1) Where in a suit for the recovery of money the defendant claims to set-off against the plaintiff's demand any ascertained sum of money legally recoverable by him from the plaintiff, not exceeding the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, and both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit, the defendant may, at the first hearing of the suit, but not afterwards unless permitted by the Court, present a written statement containing the particulars of the debt sought to be set-off.

CONSTRUCTION.—Strict construction ought not to be placed on the written statements as is placed on pleadings in England. 39 I.C. 460; 45 I.C. 878. In the absence of specific denial, a document relied on by a party must be accepted as admitted between the parties and therefore need not be proved. 41 B. 89=18 Bom.L.R. 946. Allegations in plaint not denied in written statement, effect of. 49 I.C. 733. Such portions of plaintiff's claim as are admitted by defendant need not be proved by plaintiff. 131 I.C. 206=1931 L. 203. A pleading "not known" cannot be held to be the same thing as "not admitted." 133 I.C. 414=1931 A. 423. The words "stated to be not admitted" in R. 5 means specifically stated to be not admitted. 22 L.W. 26=1925 M. 950. Omnibus clause that defendant denies all allegations not expressly admitted is not sufficient. 1925 M. 950.

O. 8, R. 6: SCOPE OF.—The provisions of R. 6 and O. 20, R. 19 (1) read together, show that the Court must treat the claim of the defendant exactly as if the defendant had filed a plaint and the Court must pass a decree in favour of the defendant, if his claim is established, even though the claim of the plaintiff against the defendant is dismissed. Nature of set-off discussed. 150 I.C. 433=1934 A.L.J. 393=1934 A. 543. According to O. 8, R. 6, before a set-off can be claimed, it must be presented in a written statement which shall have the same effect as a plaint, and it must be shown that it is an 'ascertained' sum of money legally recoverable by the defendant from the plaintiff, and that both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit. A claim for commission over reduction of losses, stated approximately, was held to be not an 'ascertained sum' of money. 1940 N.L.J. 176=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 177. If the accounts are of one and the same person, the mere fact of the accounts being separate or in different names would not attract the provisions of O. 8, R. 6, and a set-off can be claimed. 42 P.L.R. 201=A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 290. The rule only provides for set-off in suits for recovery of money but makes no provision for counter-claim. 1922 C. 1. This rule is not exhaustive but Courts can allow an equitable set-off if the amount claimed arises out of the same transaction though not an ascertained amount. 92 I.C. 787=1926 O. 301. Set-off is a creature of statute and is governed by O. 8, R. 6, although the latter part of the rule indicates that there may be a set-off other than that provided by the rule. Under this rule, a claim barred by the law of limitation cannot be pleaded by the defendant by way of set-off. The fact that the transactions which were the subject-matter of the claim and of the set-off were with regard to the same estate is immaterial. 181 I.C. 1006=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 567. Where defendant makes a counter-claim to the plaintiff's suit and the Court decides to hear two together but the plaintiff withdraws his suit with liberty to bring a fresh one, the counter-claim can be continued as a plaint and proceeded on its merits. (2 R. 486, Ref.) 152 I.C. 552=1934 R. 160. In a suit for accounts defendant counter-claimed—Court dismissed plaintiff's suit and passed decree in favour of defendant—Held equitable set-off was rightly allowed and R. 6 is no bar. 35 C. W.N. 17=132 I.C. 195=1931 C. 358. See also 128 I. C. 763=1930 A. 875; 27 A. 145; 59 C. 833 (counter-claim by defendant allowed by way of equitable set-off). "Debt" in this rule means a present obligation to pay a liquidated sum of money. 42 M. 873=37 M.L.J. 193. "Ascertained sum" means a conclusive and indisputable amount. 37 I.C. 367. See also 130 I.C. 87=1931 N. 12. It does not include unliquidated damages and mesne profits. 130 I.C. 87. See also 19 Pat.L.T. 585=1938 Pat. 484. Specified sums are not necessarily ascertained sums of money "legally recoverable" within the meaning of the rule. 16 C. 71; 95 I.C. 358=1926 S. 225. A sum to be ascertained on a settlement of account is not an ascertained sum. 49 I.C. 193; 57 C. 855. A counter-claim for a definite amount by way of set-off though not admitted is a claim for an ascertained sum. 1933 R. 13. O. 8, R. 6 is no way referable to matters arising in insolvency or liquidation proceedings. 1939 M.W.N. 1231=1940 Mad. 266. See also 1941 O.W.N. 548. If the defendant is sued by the agent he cannot set-off a debt due from the principal, unless it can be shown that the agent has assented to such a set-off. A receiver appointed under S. 69-A of the T. P. Act is an agent of the mortgagor, and if he sues the defendant to recover a sum of money on the basis of a new contract entered into by him, the defendant cannot seek to set off against the plaintiff's claim a debt incurred by the mortgagor prior to the date of his appointment. Such a debt is not legally recoverable by the defendant from the plaintiff—it is recoverable from the plaintiff's principal who is not a party to the suit. 45 C.W.N. 169.

(2) The written statement shall have the same effect as a plaintiff in a cross-suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in respect both of the original claim and of the set-off; but this shall not affect the lien, upon the amount decreed, of any pleader in respect of the costs payable to him under the decree.

DISTINCTION BETWEEN SET-OFF AND 'COUNTER-CLAIM'.—24 Bom.L.R. 998=1923 B. 113; 47 B. 182=24 Bom.L.R. 328. A set-off is either legal or equitable. R. 6 is restricted to legal set-off. Equitable set-off is allowed if the demands arise out of the same transaction or are so connected that they can be looked upon as part of the same transaction and when the amount is unascertained. O. 20, R. 19 (3) recognises equitable set-off. A set-off may be purely defensive, that is, it may amount to an adjustment or satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim or it may be a counter-claim under which the defendant claims a decree for the surplus amount due to him. In a defensive set-off, the set-off claimed must be recoverable at the date of the plaintiff's suit. In a counter-claim the sum claimed by the defendant should be legally recoverable at the date when he makes the claim, i.e., at the date when he files the written statement. The words "legally recoverable" in R. 6, mean legally recoverable at the date of the institution of the suit in one case and mean legally recoverable at the date when the counter-claim is made in the other case. Although in R. 6 and O. 20, R. 19, there is no clear distinction between a mere set-off, i.e., a defensive set-off and a counter-claim, a distinction has been made in Indian Courts in accordance with the law of England, as it is based on a sound principle. 1936 C. 277. See also 34 Bom. L. R. 1401=1932 B. 617; 1937 Nag. 210=171 I.C. 502; 1939 Pat. 142. There is a different terminus ad quem for the case of a mere set-off and the case of a counter demand. In the former case the amount claimed must be legally recoverable by him on the date of the suit, while in the latter it must be legally recoverable by him on the date of his written statement. The result is that he can get a set-off up to the amount of the plaintiff's claim provided his claim was not time-barred at the time of the suit. But if he wants to have a decree for the excess amount, he must show that it was not time-barred at the time when he filed the written statement. A claim for set-off cannot be allowed in respect of an unascertained amount. 1934 A.L.J. 286=1934 A. 427; 1936 N. 290. In the case of a regular set-off, such as is contemplated by O. 8, R. 6, if the plaintiff's claim breaks down for any reason including withdrawal then the defendant would be entitled to have his set-off considered by the same Court and he could be given a decree for a set-off in the same suit, but where his claim is not a regular set-off but is a counter-claim, then, if the counter-claim lies in the Small Cause Court he cannot agitate it in the regular Court. 1941 N.L.J. 382. Before a set-off can be allowed the parties must fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit. 8 L. 105=101 I.C. 762=1927 L. 228. See also 1940 Lah. 290; 44 C.W.N. 924. It is not open to a defendant to claim a set-off in respect of unliquidated damages for alleged breaches of contracts. 24 Bom. L. of mutual debts and credits but also of cross demands arising out of the same transaction. 21 I.C. 716=19 C.W.N. 1183; 17 C.W.N. 1060=19 C.L.J. 152; 126 I. C. 444=1930 L. 808.

LEGAL AND EQUITABLE SET-OFF.—A legal set-off requires a Court-fee because it is a claim that might be established by a separate suit in which a Court-fee would have to be paid. But there is no such fee required in the case of an equitable set-off which is for an amount that may equitably be deducted from the claim of the plaintiff where a Court-fee has been paid on the gross amount. An equitable set-off may however only be claimed by the defendant for a claim arising out of the same transaction as the plaintiff's claim. 1934 A.L.J. 421=1934 A. 115. See also 1936 A.M.L.J. 60 (Court-fees necessary). When there are different demands arising out of the same transaction or so connected in their nature and circumstances that they can be looked upon as part of one transaction, there arises an equitable set-off on which no Court-fees are payable. 1936 A.M.L.J. 10; 39 P.L.R. 345=1937 L. 73. It is not the law that a claim to set-off a definite sum of money can only be put forward under R. 6. Nor is it the case that an equitable set-off can only be urged when the claim is to an unascertained amount. The claim by way of equitable set-off can be urged when the claim of the defendant is to an ascertained amount also. But a claim for equitable set-off will not, however, arise simply because there are cross-demands; there must be some connection between them which will make it inequitable to drive the defendant to a separate suit. The two claims must arise out of the same transaction, and there must be knowledge on both sides of an existing debt due to one party and a credit by the other party, founded on and trusting to such debt as a means of discharging it. 40 C.W.N. 751. R. 6 applies only to a legal set-off and not to any other set-off that a party may equitably claim. 39 I.C. 508=62 P.R. 1917. R. 6 not a bar to equitable set-off. 35 C.W.N. 17; 1930 A. 875. But see 21 I.C. 716=19 C.W.N. 1183. Equitable set-off cannot be claimed as of right and the Court has a discretion to refuse to allow it. If a protracted enquiry is necessary for determination of the sum due, it may be a ground for refusing it. 1940 N.L.J. 176=1940 Nag. 177. Where in a suit on a promissory note the defendant puts in a counter claim that he had pledged gold with plaintiff as security for the promissory note and prays for a decree for the excess of gold value over plaint amount, but does not stamp his counter claim, on his admission of the execution of the suit note, the suit must be decreed as the two transactions are separate. But if the defendant stamps his counter claim properly, the two cases can be tried together in one suit. But the filing of the stamp paper in the appellate Court will not validate the counter claim in the trial Court and the defendant's remedy is only to file a separate regular suit on his counter claim. 156 I.C. 425=1935 R. 116. Defendant making a statement that he would make a separate counter-claim is not estopped from claiming a set-off in the same suit. 20 L.W. 531=1925 M. 228. R. 6 does not apply to unascertained sum, but if cross demands are very closely connected, set-off can be pleaded. 49 M.L.J. 14=1925 M. 830. The whole of the sum claimed as set-off should be within jurisdiction. 2 R. 349=84 I.C. 956. Court-fees on claim of set-off. See 1927 N. 74=97 I.C. 916. Even in suit on negotiable instrument, defendant can claim set-off. 130 I.C. 87=1931 N. 12.

ATTORNEY'S LIEN.—The question whether an attorney's lien should or should not be allowed to intercept a set-off between the parties to a suit, is, in India, a matter for the Court's discretion. The lien has no overriding priority. 34 Bom.L.R. 1429=1932 B. 619. See also 40 C.W.N. 458. The Civil Procedure Code does not contain exhaustive general principles of law applicable to a question of attorney's lien for his costs. That question is governed by the relevant principles of law, inasmuch as the C.P. Code does not in terms say that the pre-existing law (English law) is to be abrogated. 38 C.W.N. 1031; 40 C.W.N. 458. Claim arising out of territorial jurisdiction can be the subject-matter of set-off. In this respect it differs from a counter-claim. 34 Bom.L.R. 1401=1932 B. 617.

LOC. AM.—[PATNA.] R. 6 (1)—Add the words :—

“and the provisions of O. 7, rr. 14 to 18 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to a defendant claiming set-off as if he were a plaintiff.”

(a) A bequeaths Rs. 2,000 to B and appoints C his executor and residuary legatee. B dies and D takes out administration to B's effects. C pays Rs. 1,000 as surety for D; then D sues C for the legacy. C cannot set-off the debt of Rs. 1,000 against the legacy, for neither C nor D fills the same character with respect to the legacy as they fill with respect to the payment of the Rs. 1,000.

(b) A dies intestate and in debt to B. C takes out administration to A's effects and B buys part of the effects from C. In a suit for the purchase-money by C against B, the latter cannot set-off the debt against the price, for C fills two different characters, one as the vendor to B, in which he sues B, and the other as representative to A.

(c) A sues B on a bill of exchange. B alleges that A has wrongfully neglected to insure B's goods and is liable to him in compensation which he claims to set-off. The amount not being ascertained cannot be set-off.

(d) A sues B on a bill of exchange for Rs. 500. B holds a judgment against A for Rs. 1,000. The two claims being both definite pecuniary demands may be set-off.

(e) A sues B for compensation on account of trespass. B holds a promissory note for Rs. 1,000 from A and claims to set-off that amount against any sum that A may recover in the suit. B may do so, for, as soon as A recovers, both sums are definite pecuniary demands.

(f) A and B sue C for Rs. 1,000. C cannot set-off a debt due to him by A alone.

(g) A sues B and C for Rs. 1,000. B cannot set-off a debt due to him alone by A.

(h) A owes the partnership firm of B and C Rs. 1,000. B dies, leaving C surviving. A sues C for a debt of Rs. 1,500 due in his separate character. C may set-off the debt of Rs. 1,000.

 Defence or set-off founded on separate grounds.      founded upon separate and distinct facts, they shall be stated, as far as may be, separately and distinctly.

8. Any ground of defence which has arisen after the institution of the suit
 New ground of defence.      or the presentation of a written statement claiming a set-off may be raised by the defendant or plaintiff, as the case may be, in his written statement.

9. No pleading subsequent to the written statement of a defendant other than Subsequent pleadings.      by way of defence to a set-off shall be presented except by the leave of the Court and upon such terms as the Court thinks fit, but the Court may at any time require a written statement or additional written statement from any of the parties and fix a time for presenting the same.

NOTES.

“SUIT FOR RECOVERY OF MONEY”.—A suit on a promissory note accompanied by deposit of title-deeds is a claim for recovery of money within the meaning of R. 6, as the words “suits for recovery of money” do not necessarily mean a suit for recovery of money pure and simple. Moreover a suit in which it is asked that the defendant may be called upon to pay a certain amount of money, and in default a certain property should be sold, is a suit for money. 1933 R. 13=147 I.C. 134. (8 C.W.N. 174, Dist.; 10 A. 587, Foll.).

COURT-FEES.—Where in a suit for rent by a landlord against his tenant, the tenant makes a counter-claim for damages on account of his having been dispossessed by the landlord, but does not pay Court-fee on the amount claimed by him as damages, he is not entitled to any relief in the suit in respect of the damages claimed. 1941 Pat. 106=21 Pat.L.T. 821. It is clear from Art. 1 of Sch. I of the Court-Fees Act that fees must be paid on a set-off, and it must be paid on the full amount of the set-off and not only on the amount claimed in excess of that claimed by the plaintiff court-fees should be paid also on an equitable set-off. 1940 N. L.J. 176=1940 Nag. 177. In a suit when the defendant claims an equitable set-off by claiming damages arising out of the same contract on which the plaintiff bases his claim, no separate Court-fee is necessary. 39 P.L.R. 345=A.I.R. 1937 Lah. 73. See also 1940. Nag. 177, supra.

O. 8, R. 9.—Court's permission is necessary for filing pleading in reply to defendant's written statement. 27 Bom.L.R. 890=1925 B. 390. There is no special provision in the Code which entitles a minor defendant to file an additional written statement on attaining majority. The matter can only fall under R. 9, and under that rule, an additional written statement otherwise than by way of a defence to a set-off shall only be presented by leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court thinks fit. The Court has, therefore, discretion either to grant or refuse permission and if it refuses leave except in the case specifically Procedure when party fails to present written statement called for by Court.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] Add the following rules to O. 8 :—

"11. Every party, whether original, added or substituted, who appears in any suit or other proceeding shall, on or before the date fixed in the summons or notice served on him as the date of hearing, file in a Court a proceeding stating his address for service, written in English in block letters and if he fails to do so he shall be liable to have his defence, if any, struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect, and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

[Note.—R. 26 has been deleted by Allahabad High Court.]

[BOMBAY.] "11. Every party, whether original, added or substituted, who appears in any suit or other proceeding shall on or before the date fixed in the summons or notice served on him as the date of hearing, file in Court, a memorandum in writing stating his address for service, and if he fails to do so, he shall be liable to have his defence, if any, struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect, and the Court may make such order as it thinks fit :

Provided that this rule shall not apply to a defendant who has not filed a written statement but who is examined by the Court under S. 7 of the Dekhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, or a date later than that specified in the rule.

Applicability of Rr. 20 and 22-26 of O. 7 to addresses for service. 12. Rules 20, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 of O. 7 shall apply, so far as may be, to addresses for service filed under the last preceding rule."

[LAHORE.] Add the following rules :—

"11. Every party whether original, added or substituted, who appears in any suit or other proceeding shall on or before the date fixed in the summons, notice or other process served on him as the date of hearing, file in Court a proceeding stating his address for service ; and if he fails to do so, he shall be liable to have his defence, if any struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

[NAGPUR.] Add the following as Rr. 11 to 13 :—

"11. Every defendant in a suit or opposite party in any proceedings shall, on the first day of his appearance in Court, file a memorandum giving an address for service on him of any subsequent process. The address shall be within the local limits of the Civil District in which the suit or petition is filed, or if an address within the limits of such Civil District cannot conveniently be given, named, it is final and cannot be interfered with in revision. 1935 M. 117=41 L.W. 640=68 M.L.J. 155. See also 1937 P.W.N. 720=1937 Pat.625. Where no harm has resulted from not filing proceedings for registered address and the case is going on normally, and the address is thereupon put in, which appears to have been accepted by all the parties and by the Court as a sufficient address, the Judge is wrong in ordering the defence to be struck out and he cannot proceed against the defendant ex parte and decree the suit. 1935 L. 791.

O. 8, R. 10.—R. 10 relates back to R. 1 as well as to R. 9, and the rest are of the nature of an explanation to R. 1. 40 I.C. 223=1917 M.W.N. 241. But see 1 B. 217; 43 C. 1001.

APPLICABILITY.—Rule applies only to specific requirement by the Court to the filing of a written statement and not to a general direction in the summons that such a written statement may be filed. 12 O.L.J. 532=88 I.C. 540=1925 O. 567. Vakil refusing to file is sufficient cause to excuse delay in filing written statement. 41 M.L.J. 213=44 M. 978. As O. 8 in terms applies only to a written statement and a set-off, the plaintiff could not be called upon to put in the counter-written statement. Where a Court thinks it necessary to clear up the ground further, the proper procedure to be followed is that laid down in O. 10, R. 1 of the Code. 31 Bom.L.R. 1118=1929 B. 413.

APPEAL.—Where the Court refuses to strike out the plaint on the ground that the plaintiff has sufficiently set out the particulars of fraud alleged the order is not subject to appeal. 131 I.C. 129=1931 L. 77.

within the local limits of the Civil District in which the party ordinarily resides. This address shall be called the "registered address" and it shall hold good throughout interlocutory proceedings and appeals and also for a further period of two years from the date of final decision and for all purposes including those of execution.

Consequence of non-filing of registered address.

12. (1) If the defendant or the opposite party fails to file a registered address as required by R. 11, he shall be liable, at the discretion of the Court, to have his defence struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had made no defence.

An order under this rule may be passed by the Court suo motu or on the application of any party.

(2) Where the Court has struck out the defence under sub-rule (1) and has adjourned the hearing of the suit or the proceeding and where the defendant or the opposite party at or before such hearing, appears and assigns sufficient cause for his failure to file the registered address he may upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise be heard in answer to the suit or the proceeding as if the defence had not been struck out.

(3) Where the Court has struck out the defence under sub-rule (1) and has consequently passed a decree or order, the defendant or the opposite party, as the case may be, may apply to the Court by which the decree or order was passed for an order to set aside the decree or order; and if he files a registered address and satisfies the Court that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from filing the address, the Court shall make an order setting aside the decree or order as against him upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit or proceeding:

Provided that where the decree is of such a nature that it cannot be set aside as against such defendant or opposite party only it may be set aside as against all or any of the other defendants or opposite parties.

13. Rules 20, 22 and 23 of O. 7 shall apply, so far as may be, to addresses for service filed under R. 11." (Notifications Nos. 7390 and 7391, dated the 19th September, 1929.)

[OUDH.] "11. Every defendant in a suit or opposite party in any proceeding shall, on the first day of his appearance in Court, file an address (to be called the 'registered address') for service on him of any subsequent notice, summons or other process; and, if he fails to do so, shall be liable, at the discretion of the Court, to have his defence or reply, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had made no defence or reply.

An order under this rule may be passed by the Court suo motu or on the application of any party.

12. Rr. 21, 23 and 25 to 27 of O. 7 shall apply so far as may be, to addresses for service filed under the preceding rule, and R. 24 shall, in the same manner, apply, but as if the words at the beginning "In all cases to which R. 23 does not apply" were omitted.

13. Nothing in Rr. 11 and 12 shall apply to the notice prescribed by O. 21, R. 22."

[PATNA.] Add the following rules:—

"11. Every party, whether original, added or substituted, who appears in any suit or other proceedings shall, at the time of entering appearance to the summons, notice or other process served on him, file in Court a statement stating his address for service and if he fails to do so he shall be liable to have his defence, if any, struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

12. Rr. 20 and 22 of O. 7 shall apply, so far as may be, to addresses for service filed under the preceding rule."

[SIND.] "11. Parties to file address.—Every party whether original, added or substituted, who appears in any suit or other proceeding shall, on or before the date fixed in the summons or notice served on him, as the date of hearing, file in Court, as a memorandum in writing stating his address for service and if he fails to do so he shall be liable to have his defence, if any, struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect, and the Court may make such order as it thinks just:

Provided that this rule shall not apply to a defendant who has filed a written statement, but who is examined by the Court under S. 7 of the Dekhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, or otherwise, or in any case where the Court permits the address for service to be given by a party on a date later than that specified in this rule.

12. Applicability of Rr. 20 and 22-26 of O. 7 to addresses for service.—Rr. 20, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 of O. 7 shall apply, so far as may be, to addresses for service filed under the last preceding rule."

[N.-W.F.P.] "11. Every party, whether original, added or substituted, who intends to appear and defend any suit or original petition shall on or before the date fixed in the summons or notice served on him as the date of hearing file in Court a proceeding stating his address for service, and if he fails to do so, he shall be liable to have his defence, if any, struck out and be placed in the same position as if he had not defended. In this respect the Court may act suo motu or on the application of any party for an order to such effect, and the Court may make such order as it thinks just.

ORDER IX.

Appearance of Parties and Consequence of Non-appearance.

1. On the day fixed in the summons for the defendant to appear and answer, the parties shall be in attendance at the Court-house in person or by their respective pleaders, and the suit shall then be heard unless the hearing is adjourned to a future day fixed by the Court.

Parties to appear on day fixed in summons for defendant to appear and answer.

Dismissal of suit where summons not served in consequence of plaintiff's failure to pay costs.

2. Where on the day so fixed it is found that the summons has not been served upon the defendant in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the Court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable for such service, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed :

NOTES.

O. 9, R. 1.—O. 9 does not apply to execution proceedings. 35 I.C. 337. See also 13 L. 761; 1931 M. 656=61 M.L.J. 348 (F.B.); 1931 A.L.J. 622=1931 A. 594; 133 I.C. 65=1931 S. 97 (F.B.); 17 A. 106; 41 I.C. 586=21 C.W.N. 769; 47 C.L.J. 87; 51 M.L.J. 219=1926 M. 980; 1926 M. 412=50 M.L.J. 200; 50 M. 67=51 M.L.J. 219; 100 I.C. 518=1927 C. 420; 53 C. 679; 1929 L. 744. The provisions of O. 9 do not in terms apply to execution proceedings but execution applications can be restored under the inherent powers of Court. 13 L. 761=142 I.C. 686=1933 L. 99. See also 145 I.C. 995=1933 A.L.J. 1032=1933 A. 783 (F.B.). Desirability of framing a new rule making O. 9 applicable to execution proceedings pointed out. 1931 M. 656=61 M.L.J. 348 (F.B.). O. 9 does not apply to the special set of circumstances contemplated by O. 10, R. 4. 1921 M.W.N. 390=63 I.C. 961=14 L.W. 15. As to applicability of O. 9 to application under S. 84, Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act, see 45 L.W. 695=1937 Mad. 653=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 175; and to application under O. 34, R. 5, C.P. Code. See 31 S.L.R. 180=1937 Sind 273. The Court has power to order a case to be set down for hearing if the defendant enters appearance before the time for appearance fixed in the summons. 4 Beng.L.R. App. 75. For the meaning of the words "day fixed", see 2 A. 67. A defendant has a right to appear at the hearing of the case although he has not been served. 15 B. 160. The provisions of O. 9, by themselves, do not apply to a case in which the plaintiff or the defendant has already appeared but has failed to appear at an adjourned hearing of the case. For such a case the procedure laid down in O. 17, which deals with adjournments. 1935 A.L.J. 209=156 I.C. 754=1935 A. 210.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—The Insolvency Court in the mofussil has by virtue of S. 5 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, the same powers of setting aside orders passed ex parte as it has under O. 9. 61 M.L.J. 719.

REVENUE COURT.—A Civil Court to which an issue has been sent by the Revenue Court for decision under S. 271, Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, and which has decided that issue ex parte has jurisdiction under S. 141 and O. 9, to entertain an application for the setting aside of the ex parte decision and to decide the issue on the merits. 147 I.C. 721=1934 A.L.J. 831=1934 A. 86.

MORTGAGE SUIT—NECESSARY PARTY IMPLEADED AFTER LIMITATION—DISMISSAL.—R. 9 of O. 1 of the Code is subordinate to O. 34, R. 1. A mortgage is indivisible and if all the parties entitled to share in the money due on the mortgage are not on the record the suit must be dismissed in its entirety. When a necessary party has not been impleaded at the time of the institution of the suit but has been brought on the record after the period of limitation has expired, the whole suit must be dismissed. (1 Pat.L.J. 468, Foll.) 37 C.W.N. 478=1933 C. 621.

O. 9, R. 2.—Court ordering summons in the ordinary way and by registered post—Plaintiff paying process-fee and not postal charges—Dismissal of suit—Illegal. 90 I.C. 909=1927 L. 157; 99 I.C. 909. The Court is bound to fix a time within which the process-fee is to be paid into Court as provided for in O. 48, R. 2, C.P. Code; and the failure to so fix a time amounts to a material irregularity; when no such time has been fixed, the dismissal of the suit under O. 9, R. 2, for failure to pay process-fee is illegal and unjustified. 158 I.C. 250. This rule does not authorise the Court to dismiss a suit merely for the reason that the process-fee which is required for fresh summons is not filed promptly along with the application for the issue of such summons. 1933 P. 582. The rule has no application to a case where the plaintiff did not furnish the correct address of the defendants or did not go with the process server to serve the summons. 99 I.C. 898=1927 L. 170. See also 132 I.C. 524=1931 L. 655. (To such a case O. 9, R. 5 applies and the plaintiff has three months' time to supply the correct address for fresh summons). The Court cannot dismiss the suit before the date fixed for hearing. 2 A. 318. The rule will apply where there are more defendants than one, and the plaintiff fails to pay process-fees for one or some of the defendants only. 5 Bom.H.C. (A.C.) 119. But see R. 11.

Provided that no such order shall be made although the summons has not been served upon the defendant, if on the day fixed for him to appear and answer he attends in person or by agent when he is allowed to appear by agent.

LOC. AM.—[ALLAHABAD.] After the words "for such service" in the first paragraph insert the words "or that the plaintiff has failed to comply with the rules for filing the copy of the plaint for service on the defendant."

Where neither party appears, 3. Where neither party appears when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed.

NOTES.

Reasonable time for compliance with Court's order to be given. 55 I.C. 650. If a plaintiff does not deposit sufficient process-fees for service on all the defendants and fails to deposit the balance of fee before the date fixed for the hearing of the suit, the Court will be justified in dismissing the suit for default. The fact that the defendants are not present on the date of hearing makes no difference, because their absence is due to the non-payment of the process-fee. It is not open to the plaintiff to contend that the Court should serve at least the defendants for whose service the money paid will be sufficient. If the plaintiff wishes the Court to issue process to some of them he must specify which of them he desires to serve. It is not for the Court to decide which of the defendants are to be served, because the plaintiff might afterwards complain that the Court had exercised an unwise discretion by serving unsubstantial defendants and omitting to serve notice on substantial defendants. The plaintiff cannot be allowed to put the Court in such a position. 194 I.C. 47. Failure to file affidavits of service of summons on guardian of minor defendants—Dismissal for default is not proper. 55 I.C. 826=1 Pat.L.T. 125. The fact that the plaintiff through his negligence failed to get a minor defendant properly served and to get a guardian appointed for him, does not justify the dismissal of the suit under O. 9, R. 2, as against the other defendants who had been duly served. 1937 O. W.N. 977=1937 Oudh 502. A fresh application can be made where an application for a final decree in a mortgage suit is dismissed for default of appearance of both parties. 43 I.C. 518=16 A.L.J. 1431. The mere fact that a case had been previously dismissed for default is no reason for refusing to restore it after a second dismissal. 43 I.C. 180. On this rule, see also 9 C. 163; 20 B. 541. No appeal lies from an order dismissing a suit under O. 9, Rr. 2 and 4 for default, as it is not a decree, plaintiff could seek relief under R. 4. 38 A. 357; 9 C. 627. Dismissal of an application for insolvency is not a bar for the making of a fresh application. 1928 P. 116 (49 I.C. 229, Foll.) A Court has no power to require a plaintiff to file process fees or copies of the plaint before fixing a date for the appearance of the defendant. Such an order is illegal and failure to comply with it does not entail dismissal of the suit. A dismissal of the suit for failure to comply with such an order is without jurisdiction. 19 Pat.L.T. 854=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 160.

REVISION.—See 8 O.W.N. 1179.

O. 9, R. 3.—Rule applies only to a case where a date is fixed for the appearance of the defendant. 49 A. 592=25 A.L.J. 437. See also 130 I.C. 771=1931 L. 69; 1925 L. 96=78 I.C. 15; 94 I.C. 237=1926 L. 320. The provisions of O. 9, R. 3 are not obligatory, but merely give the Court a discretion to make an order in suitable circumstances that the suit be dismissed. 162 I.C. 557=1936 P. 437. Unless a date has been fixed for the appearance of the defendant and neither party appears when the suit is called on for hearing on that date, O. 9, r. 3, would not apply. 159 I.C. 226=1935 L. 656. Where an application to restore a suit dismissed for default under O. 9, R. 3 is also dismissed in default, a second application to restore it is competent. 148 I.C. 917=1934 Pesh. 13. Day fixed for hearing preliminary issue—Parties absent—Dismissal of suit, if proper. 1929 L. 830=31 P.L.R. 441. As to whether a suit dismissed under this rule can be restored, see 103 I.C. 620. The mere physical presence of a pleader not instructed to proceed with the case is not an appearance. 9 I.C. 842. Notice of application for restoration of a suit dismissed under this rule in the absence of both the parties need not be sent to the other side. (10 A.L.J. 399, Foll.) 24 O.C. 347=1923 O. 55. When the parties state that the case be struck off as settled it amounts to withdrawal and no suit can lie again. 32 I.C. 624=(1916) 1 M.W.N. 171. Application for amendment of issues—Parties absent—Suit cannot be dismissed. 6 Pat.L.J. 331=63 I.C. 746. See also 102 I.C. 416=1927 S. 228. Where an application is made for the amendment of issues and the Court fixes a day for the consideration of the application for amendment but the parties do not appear on the fixed date the Court has no right to dismiss the suit for default. It can only dismiss the application for amendment. 35 P.L.R. 342=1934 L. 237. On an application of plaintiff to amend the plaint, the amendment was allowed and fresh summons was ordered to be issued to the defendants along with copies with amended plaint which plaintiff was asked to file in a certain time. Plaintiff failed to file the copies of the amended plaint and on the date fixed,

Where a suit is dismissed under R. 2 or R. 3, the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit; or he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient cause for his not paying the Court-fee and postal charges (if any) Plaintiff may bring fresh suit or Court may restore suit to file.

both parties were absent, whereupon the suit was dismissed. Held, that the case fell under R. 3 and not under R. 5 and that the order of dismissal was proper. 146 I.C. 1031=1934 P. 18. Failure to appear must be on the day fixed for hearing, or on the date to which the hearing is adjourned. 2 A. 67 (P.C.); 4 M.H.C. 56. See also 1933 N. 234. But the suit is not to be dismissed for failure to appear on the day fixed for judgment. 100 I.C. 472=9 L.L.J. 178. Where in a mortgage suit a preliminary decree was passed and the judgment-debtors failed to pay up the amount and thereupon the plaintiff applied for a final decree but the parties were absent on that date and the Court dismissed the suit under O. 9, R. 3 and the plaintiffs subsequently applied under S. 151 praying for the setting aside of the order, held, that the Court had no power to dismiss the suit but should have proceeded to pass the final decree. Held also, that the order of dismissal was an abuse of the process of the Court and could be rectified in an application under S. 115. 10 O.W.N. 293=1933 O. 229=8 Luck. 496. Where a preliminary decree for partition has been passed and the Court takes proceedings for passing the final decree, the suit should not be dismissed for default. The suit should be adjourned sine die and made revivable on payment of costs. 176 I.C. 32; 1938 Pesh. 27. A Judge is not bound to wait until the Court is about to close for the day. 7 M. 356. When neither party appears, the Court should dismiss the suit, and not strike the case off the file. 10 M. 270. The trial Court refused to restore to file a suit which was dismissed under R. 3 without giving due weight to the facts that plaintiff had been taken ill, that his Counsel was only a few minutes late, and that a fresh suit would be barred. Held, that the suit should be restored to file and proceeded with according to law. 148 I.C. 175=1934 L. 34 (1). The rule applies to execution applications. 20 B. 541. See also 9 C. 163. No appeal lies from an order under this rule. 10 M. 270.

O. 9, Rr. 3 and 4.—Where in the course of adjustment of business a case was transferred to the file of another Court but no notice of the transfer was given to the plaintiff, and when the case came up for hearing none of the parties was present and the suit was dismissed under R. 3, the Court should, on the application of the plaintiff, restore the case. 165 I.C. 563=38 P.L.R. 1118. Failure to give a list of witnesses within the time fixed would only involve in Court declining to hear evidence subsequently called. It could under no circumstances result in the dismissal of a suit. O. 9, Rr. 3 and 8 refer to the dismissal of a suit on the failure of parties to appear when the suit is called on for hearing, and clearly a date fixed solely as the last day on which a list of witnesses may be filed is not a date fixed for hearing. The word 'hearing' in these rules although does not mean solely the recording of evidence, it means what it says, that is, "when the suit is called for hearing before the Court" and does not include the disposal of a routine matter which is within the powers of an officer of the Court and need not come before the Court at all. A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 360.

O. 9, R. 3 and O. 22, R. 4.—Where after a suit was dismissed under O. 9, R. 3, it was found that the defendant had died a day earlier and an application for restoration and substitution was made more than 30 days after the dismissal but within 90 days of the death of the defendant and it was allowed in the lower Court, it was held that in the circumstances of the case there was no reason to interfere in revision with the order passed. 1941 O.A. (Supp.) 609=1941 R.D. 662 (2).

O. 9, R. 4: APPLICATION.—R. 4 does not create but declares the right of bringing a fresh suit while at the same time permitting the plaintiff in the alternative to proceed with his original suit. The alternative provisions of the rule are not mutually exclusive; and a plaintiff whose application for restoration of the dismissed suit has been rejected is not thereby precluded from bringing a fresh suit, subject to the law of limitation. 15 P. 716=17 Pat.L.T. 644. Where order for costs will sufficiently compensate the other side, restoration must generally be ordered. 41 P.L.R. 571=1939 Lah. 592. Ex parte suit is as much a judicial proceeding as a contested suit. Plaintiff has to prove his case by evidence and it is for the judge to hear and decide on it. This cannot be left to the Reader of the Court. 1939 A.M.L.J. 72. R. 4 expressly applies to suits, and cases under O. 21, Rr. 100 and 101 are not suits within this rule. 52 I.C. 416. But see 2 P. 372, infra. Where a previous application for amendment of decree was dismissed for default on account of the plaintiff failing to file the process papers, a second application for amendment was held to be maintainable. 12 P. 179; 144 I.C. 59=1933 P. 208. (39 C. 265, Foll.) An application under O. 21, R. 100 is not an application in execution, the proceedings being in the nature of a summary suit. R. 4 can well apply to proceedings under O. 21, R. 100. 4 Pat.L.T. 93=2 P. 372. O. 9, R. 4 does not apply to the dismissal of an application under O. 21, required within the time fixed before the issue of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

LOC. AM.—[BOMBAY.] This rule shall be numbered as R. 4 (1) and the following sub-rule (2) shall be added to it :—

“(2) The provisions of S. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to applications made under this rule.”

5. [(1) Where, after a summons has been issued to the defendant, or to one of several defendants, and returned unserved, the plaintiff fails, for a period of three months from the date of the return made to the Court by the officer ordinarily certifying to the Court returns made by the serving officers, to apply for the issue of a fresh summons

“SUFFICIENT CAUSE”, WHAT IS.—A bona fide mistake which is not unreasonable amounts to sufficient cause. 96 I.C. 881 (1)=1926 L. 634; 3 Bom.H.C. 60; 135 I.C. 199=1932 L. 176 (Bona fide mistake as to the date of hearing is good cause to set aside order). See also 130 I.C. 542=1931 P. 87. (Where plaintiff was not able to attend on account of picketing by volunteers it would be a sufficient cause to set aside order of dismissal of suit. 130 I.C. 542). If there are minor plaintiffs or defendants, represented by a next friend or guardian ad litem, and the next friend or guardian is absent, through whatever cause, at the trial and the Court makes an order of dismissal of suit or an ex parte decree, the absence of the next friend or guardian, as the case may be, is alone a sufficient reason for setting aside the order of dismissal in the case of minor plaintiffs or the ex parte decree against the minor defendants. 152 I.C. 163=1934 M. 616=67 M.L.J. 387. Whether absence of counsel amounts to sufficient cause, see 26 M. 599; 1929 L. 882 (1). The mere fact that the District Judge put down in his order of remand that the parties were to appear before the Subordinate Judge on a certain date does not prove that this direction is actually conveyed to the counsel of the parties or to the parties by the counsel concerned and there is “sufficient cause” within the meaning of O. 9, R. 4 for the absence of the plaintiffs on such date. 1935 L. 163. Duly authorised agent present—Suit cannot be dismissed for default. 3 Pat.L.T. 447

=68 I.C. 659. A Judge when restoring a suit to file under this rule cannot pass an order as to the general costs of the suit. 26 B. 201. An order of dismissal for default can under R. 4 be set aside only by the Court which passed the order. 2 L.L.J. 48=56 I.C. 884. The two remedies provided by O. 9, R. 4 are not mutually exclusive. 96 I.C. 187=1926 A. 678. See also 26 A.L.J. 776=1929 A. 131. Suit by shebait in name of idol dismissed for default—Application for restoration under O. 9, R. 4 is maintainable by another shebait who is the shebait at the time of the application. One out of several plaintiffs may appear on behalf of all and the non-appearance of the other plaintiffs may be excused. The restoration of a suit is entirely a matter of discretion for the Court and the mode of its exercise cannot be interfered with by a Court of appeal where the lower Court has restored the suit for certain reasons. 27 A.L.J. 1103. Where a suit is restored after its dismissal on the ground that neither the plaintiff nor the defendant had appeared on the date fixed originally for the hearing of the case, the defendant is entitled both in equity and as of right to notice of the date fixed for hearing the case after its restoration by the plaintiff. O. 9, R. 5.—R. 5 does not give the appellant the right to apply for fresh summons at any time within a year (now three months)

the Court shall make an order that the suit be dismissed as against such defendant, unless the plaintiff has within the said period satisfied the Court that—

(a) he has failed after using his best endeavours to discover the residence of the defendant who has not been served, or

(b) such defendant is avoiding service of process, or

(c) there is any other sufficient cause for extending the time, in which case the Court may extend the time for making such application for such period as it thinks fit.]<sup>1</sup> from the date of return to the Court. 17 I.C. 294. It gives the Court power to dismiss the suit if after a summons has been issued to the defendant and returned unserved, the plaintiff fails for a period of three months to apply for the issue of a fresh summons, unless within that time the plaintiff shows cause for extending the time. An order dismissing the suit before the expiry of three months to which plaintiff is entitled for tracing out defendant, is premature and irregular. 1933 P. 557=147 I.C. 179. Dismissal for default—Absence of petitioner—Non-service—Effect of. 1926 C. 112=90 I.C. 675. Order for issue of fresh notice to pro forma defendant—Plaintiff not complying with order—Dismissal of suit even as against contesting defendant not proper. 1937 R. D. 384. An order staying proceedings under O. 9, R. 5, C.P. Code, is illegal, where the report on the summons which was attempted to be served is that the defendant is absconding. 38 P.L.R. 197. Where the defendant's address is not furnished by the plaintiff for service of summons the Court cannot dismiss the suit under O. 9, R. 2. Under R. 5 he has three months to supply the correct address for fresh summons. 132 I.C. 524=1931 L. 655. The provisions of O. 9, R. 5 giving one year's time (now three months' time) for the issue of first summons would not apply to appeals. 50 B. 815=100 I.C. 147=1927 B. 68, dissenting from 25 M.L. J. 451. See also 21 I.C. 420. A summons ought not to be ordered after the lapse of one year (now three months) unless the plaintiff shows that there has been no laches on his part. 15 Beng.L.R. (App.) 12. See also 5 C. 126; 3 Bom.L.R. 402. This rule applies also to application for final decree in mortgage suit. 1931 M. 795=135 I.C. 377.

O. 9, Rr. 5 and 6: NON-SERVICE OF SUMMONS—DISMISSAL OF SUIT FOR LACHES—APPLICATION FOR RESTORATION.—The question of exercising inherent powers comes when the exhausted. A summons was returned unpowers expressly conferred by the Code are served with the note that it had reached only after the expiry of the date fixed. Thereupon plaintiff applied for issue of fresh summons, but the Court rejected his application and dismissed the suit for laches of the plaintiff. This order was ought to be supported as being passed under inherent power, as no provision of the Code was mentioned. Held, that the Court was empowered to act under either R. 5 or 6 and that the order of dismissal passed under inherent power should be set aside. 147 I.C. 200=1933 P. 582.

O. 9, R. 6: SCOPE OF RULE—PROCEDURE.—See 1 P. 188=69 I.C. 837. R. 6 lays down when the Court may proceed ex parte but there appears to be no explanation in the Code what ex parte procedure is. 69 I.C. 619=1923 N. 83. A decree passed on merits in the absence of the plaintiff and his pleader reporting no instructions is an ex parte decree. 1927 M.W.N. 897=1928 M. 234. See also 1937 All. 347; 1938 Nag. 213. A decree passed in the presence of the pleader for defendants is not an ex parte decree. 6 P. 383=103 I.C. 711=1927 P. 291. Where the witnesses came to Court late on account of heavy rain and the defendant not being present when the case was called the Court treated the case as closed. Held, that the case fell under this rule and an application under O. 9, R. 12 was sustainable. The fact that the defendant's pleader was physically present when the case was taken up will not make any difference. 149 I.C. 512=30 N.L.R. 94. The application of the rule is not limited to defendants residing within British India. 23 A. 99. O. 9, R. 6 is not meant to be penal, but only intended to prevent undue delay. 134 I.C. 268=1931 N. 122. The words "proceed ex parte" in R. 6 mean proceed to take and determine evidence. 42 C. 1001=20 C.W.N. 1192. The appearance referred to in this rule is an appearance in an answer to a summons to appear and answer the claim on a day specified therein. 7 A. 538. "When a suit is called on for hearing" in connection with O. 9 refers to the first day's hearing and in connection with O. 17, R. 2 means "when the suit is first called on for hearing." 26 L.W. 76=104 I.C. 371=1927 M. 799. Ex

- When summons duly served. (a) if it is proved that the summons was duly served, the Court may proceed ex parte ;
- When summons not duly served. (b) if it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Court shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the defendant;
- When summons served, but not in due time. (c) if it is proved that the summons was served on the defendant, but not in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on the day fixed in the summons, the Court shall postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and shall direct notice of such day to be given to the defendant.
- (2) Where it is owing to the plaintiff's default that the summons was not duly served, or was not served in sufficient time, the Court shall order the plaintiff to pay the costs occasioned by the postponement.
7. Where the Court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte, and the defendant, at or before such hearing, appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance.
- Procedure where defendant appears on day of adjourned hearing and assigns good cause for previous non-appearance.

NOTES.

parte proceedings cannot be taken on the basis of a service effected through registered post. 1926 L. 579=95 I.C. 874. Plaintiff ready—Defendant applying for adjournment—Court granting same—Plaintiff's evidence taken all the same and ex parte decree passed—Legality. 50 C.L.J. 549=1930 C. 251 (1). The mere fact of a case, being ex parte does not render bad evidence otherwise reliable. 37 I.C. 27. A decree cannot be passed ex parte merely because the defendant does not appear. The plaintiff must prove prima facie that his claim is true. 91 I.C. 119=1926 O. 192; 1937 O.W.N. 620; 118 I.C. 527 (1).

O. 9, Rr. 6 and 7.—The object of Rr. 6 and 7 of O. 9 will be frustrated if defendants could be allowed to absent themselves with impunity at the earlier stages of a litigation. But where, by reason of causes for which none of the parties is responsible, the case has not made much progress, there is no reason why these rules should be applied as penal provisions depriving parties of the opportunity of putting forward their defence. It will not in any sense, be reopening what has happened in the past if a defendant who has been declared ex parte should be permitted to file a written statement, when the case is only at a stage when the other defendants has filed their written statements and certain issues framed but no evidence has yet been recorded, even if the filing of the proposed written statement might raise other issues. In such a case a defendant who has been declared ex parte is entitled to file a written statement and proceed with the trial by cross-examining the plaintiff's witnesses and also by leading evidence on his own behalf. In the absence of a statutory restriction in the Code corresponding to O. 6, R. 2 of the High Court Original Side Rules, mofussil Courts cannot impose any restriction on a defendant set ex parte continuing the suit at the stage at which it stands when he appears so long as he does not thereby reopen anything that has been done already. 49 L.W. 372=1939 Mad. 385=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 64.

O. 9, R. 6 and O. 17, R. 2.—Applicability—Date fixed for hearing of suit after framing of issues—Defendant absent—Application by pleader for adjournment—Refusal of—Pleader withdrawing—Decree is ex parte—"Appearance." It is open to defendant to apply to have the ex parte decree set aside. 1937 A.L.J. 239=1937 A. 347; 1939 Nag. 213; 185 I.C. 247. O. 17, R. 2 applies only to a case where a suit comes on for hearing on a date to which it is adjourned and any party fails to appear. It does not apply to a case where the suit comes up for disposal on the date which is the date for the first hearing. A distinction has to be made between a first hearing and an adjourned hearing. 1937 A.L.J. 239=1937 All. 347.

O. 9, R. 7.—Rule should be construed liberally. 131 I.C. 447=1931 O. 159. See also 185 I.C. 247. "Good cause" in R. 7 of O. 9, includes non-service of summons. 1936 A.M.L.J. 18. If a defendant does not show good cause to set aside ex parte order he cannot claim a re-hearing; and what has already taken place must stand. This does not mean that he should not participate in future proceedings. He can appear in subsequent proceedings and contest the suit. 134 I.C. 268=1931 N. 122. An application to the Court under R. 7 can be made through a vakil notwithstanding that the Court had decided to proceed ex parte owing to the non-appearance of the defendant in person pursuant to an order of the Court. 55 I.C. 945=11 L.W. 289. In the absence of good and sufficient cause for previous non-appearance the defendant cannot be allowed to appear and defend the suit; and the case should proceed ex parte against him. 1 B.

8. Where the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order that the suit be dismissed, unless the defendant admits the claim, or part thereof, in which case the Court shall pass a decree against the defendant upon such admission, and, where part only of the claim has been admitted, shall dismiss the suit so far as it relates to the remainder.

MEANING OF TERMS.—The word "claim" in R. 8 being synonymous with the amount sued for, refers to the right claimed irrespective of the amount stated in the relief column. 35 I.C. 65. The words "admits the claim or part thereof" applicable to the cases where the Court can consider on the examination of the plaintiff and defendant's written statement that the defendant is ready to pay the admitted claim there and then or submit to the relief claimed in the plaint. 35 I.C. 65.

"APPEAR," MEANING OF.—The word 'appear' in the rule means "appearing in the suit". A party may be present in the precincts of the Court or he may be found present in the Court room but if he does not take part in the suit it cannot be said that he has 'appeared'. If the plaintiff comes to Court and files an application for adjournment and when it is refused he retires from the suit, he is not considered any longer to be present in the suit, though he may not have physically retired from the Court and even if he had been questioned by the Court regarding the bona fides of his application. 59 C. 756=138 I.C. 87=36 C.W.N. 158=1932 C. 418. Where the plaintiff's counsel confines himself to asking for an adjournment and, when it is refused, retires from the case and states that he has no further instructions. R. 8 of O. 9 applies and the plaintiff will not be held to have appeared. However, exact language used by the counsel to that effect is not of great importance and one must look at all the circumstances to see in any particular case whether counsel retired from the case so as not to prejudice his client by appearing or whether he, for reasons which commended themselves to him, abandoned his claim in the suit. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 213=174 I.C. 657=1938 Cal. 74.

COURT'S POWER TO PASS ORDERS.—The provisions of O. 9, Rr. 8 and 13 are exhaustive in respect of cases where the plaintiff makes default in appearance in a suit. 103 I.C. 425=1927 L. 622. In dismissing a suit

9. (1) Where a suit is wholly or partly dismissed under rule 8, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action. But he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient cause for his non-appearance when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

NOTES.

for default, a Court has no jurisdiction to provide that the order shall not prejudice a minor plaintiff. 63 I.C. 736=6 Pat.L.J. 317. A Court has jurisdiction to direct a plaintiff to appear in person and to dismiss his suit if he fails to appear. But it cannot dismiss the suit against the other plaintiffs. 50 I.C. 323=4 Pat.L.J. 152. A person added as additional plaintiff on the objection of the defendant was ordered to appear personally—Order dismissing suit for default of appearance is erroneous. 95 I.C. 865 (1)=1926 L. 577. Where a plaintiff and his witnesses were absent and his pleader had instructions only for an adjournment the Court can dismiss the suit only under O. 9, R. 8 and not under O. 17, R. 3. 23 I.C. 614=1914 M.W.N. 344; 1926 C. 246=90 I.C. 768. When the pleaders appear and intimate to the Court that they have no instructions from their client, it is tantamount to default of appearance by the party. [22 A. 66 (F.B.), Foll.] 1936 L. 1000. Where a sole plaintiff dies before trial, the dismissal of the suit for non-appearance is improper. 35 A. 331=40 I.A. 1150=25 M.L.J. 148 (P.C.). See also 162 I.C. 842=1936 R. 204 (Non-appearance on account of missing of train—Restoration proper). When all the evidence has been adduced but plaintiff and his pleader do not appear at a subsequent hearing, the suit cannot be dismissed. 7 Bom.L.R. 201. Dismissal for default—If plaintiff dead on the date of hearing order is a nullity. 73 I.C. 230=1924 O. 114. The date fixed for the settlement of issues is a date fixed for the hearing of the suit within R. 8. 48 I.C. 192=1919 P.H.C.C. 32. In a pre-emption suit, evidence of the parties was recorded after the issues had been framed and then a Commissioner was appointed to report as to the value of land. On the date fixed for the return of the report the plaintiff was absent from the Court and the report also was not submitted by the Commissioner and the suit was dismissed under R. 8. Held, that the case really fell under O. 17, R. 2 which gives a discretion to the trial Court either to proceed under R. 8, or to make such order as it thinks fit, that the suit should not have been dismissed but adjourned. 1934 L. 56=148 I.C. 521.

PRELIMINARY DECREE PASSED—SUBSEQUENT DISMISSAL OF SUIT.—After a decree has once been made in a suit, the suit cannot be dismissed unless the decree is reversed in appeal. The parties on the making of a decree acquire rights or incur liabilities which are fixed unless and until the decree is varied or set aside. After a decree any party can apply to have it enforced. It is not competent to the trial Court to dismiss the suit on the ground of non-appearance of one of the plaintiffs after a preliminary decree has already been drawn up. 144 I.C. 383 (2)=1933 S. 200.

APPEAL.—Dismissal under R. 8—Appeal does not lie. 1922 M.W.N. 483=1922 M. 416. As to powers of appellate Court, see 1926 A. 284=92 I.C. 496.

O. 9, Rr. 8 and 9.—Date fixed for payment of costs of adjournment by defendant to plaintiff—Suit dismissed for non-appearance of plaintiff—Application for restoration by his counsel on same day—Plaintiff, entitled to restoration. 38 P.L.R. 484. Case transferred to another Court and adjourned sine die—Plaintiff not notified of date of hearing—Dismissal for default—Restoration proper. 1935 Pesh. 186.

O. 9, Rr. 8 and 9 and O. 17, R. 2.—Where in the absence of the plaintiff, his counsel puts in an application for adjournment and that application is refused, the Court should, in view of the Explanation to O. 17, R. 2, proceed as though the plaintiff is present, and decide the suit on the merits. Where, however, this is not done and the Court dismisses the suit for default, it must be deemed to decide the matter upon its merits and not act merely under O. 9, R. 8. The proper remedy of the plaintiff in such circumstances, is to file an appeal, and not to make an application under O. 9, R. 9. 164 I.C. 1059=1936 A.L.J. 635=1936 A. 659. See also 1935 A.L.J. 724=1935 All. 398. Courts should not lightly dispose of litigation without going into the merits. It is also equally plain that Courts are bound in certain circumstances to dismiss cases for default. One case is that indicated in O. 9, R. 8. It is true that when a case reaches the stage where the issue stage has in part been passed, the Court is not compelled to exercise its powers under O. 9, R. 8 but is given power to make another order under O. 17, R. 2 and in any doubtful case the Court should so act. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 574=1939 N.L.J. 351=1939 Nag. 213.

O. 9, Rr. 8 and 9 and O. 22, R. 3.—Where a suit is dismissed for default of appearance of a plaintiff who is already dead, the dismissal can be set aside without a formal application to that effect being made by the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff under O. 9, R. 9. An application by the legal representative to bring him on record falls under O. 22, R. 3. 31 N.L.R. 374=158 I.C. 602=1935 N. 189.

O. 9, R. 9: SCOPE OF.—See 41 I.C. 905; 29

(2) No order shall be made under this rule unless notice of the application has been served on the opposite party.

I.C. 902; 55 I.C. 481=23 O.C. 18. See also 1 Pat.L.J. 547=38 I.C. 53; 8 L.R. (Rev.) 281. Under O. 9, R. 9 when sufficient cause is shown re-opening is mandatory, but when sufficient cause is not shown it is discretionary with Judge. 164 I.C. 236=1936 R. 335. In an application for restoration under O. 9, R. 9 the plaintiff must show some fact which was either not known to the Court when it dismissed the suit, or at least at that stage lacked satisfactory proof. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 213=174 I.C. 657=1938 Cal. 74. Where a plaintiff appears with only one day's delay and files an affidavit explaining his absence and this explanation is not contested by the other party at the subsequent hearing, it should be accepted as adequate ground for restoration. 1940 A.W.R. (B.R.) 132 (2)=1940 O.A. 783. In deciding whether a suit dismissed for default should be restored under O. 9, R. 9, what has really to be considered is whether the party was really trying to appear on the date fixed for the case and if he honestly intended to be represented though in his own stupid way, not being guilty of anything in the way of misconduct or gross negligence, then he should not be deprived of his chance of being heard. (1923 Mad. 63, Foll.) 164 I.C. 236 (2)=1936 R. 335. Where counsel appears on behalf of a party and presents an application for adjournment which being refused he retires from the case, the party should be taken as not having appeared in the suit and an application under O. 9, R. 9 is competent. 59 C. 756=36 C.W.N. 158=1932 C. 418. Where the plaintiff's pleader applies for adjournment which is disallowed and the suit is dismissed, the order amounts to a decree dismissing the suit for want of evidence on the merits and not one dismissing it for default of appearance. The remedy is review or appeal and not an application under O. 9, R. 8. 1933 A.L.J. 4=1933 A. 41. See also 27 A.L.J. 391; 1933 A. 118. A suit for profits against the lambardar was adjourned on several occasions. On one of such adjourned hearings the Assistant Collector dismissed the suit for "want of prosecution". Held, the decision was not on the merits. 1933 A. 118=143 I.C. 307.

APPLICABILITY.—R. 9 is applicable to an application for final decree for foreclosure dismissed for default. 26 O.C. 194=1924 O. 30. R. 9 is applicable to the dismissal of an application for probate which had under S. 83 of the Probate and Administration Act been treated as a suit. 52 I.C. 639; 38 P.L.R. 973=1936 L. 863; 164 I.C. 334=38 P.L.R. 263=1936 L. 712. But see 53 I.C. 578. See also 20 Pat.L.T. 768=1939 P.W.N. 699=1940 Pat. 58 (Applicability of R. 9 to proceedings under Provincial Insolvency Act). Also applies to dismissal of application to sue in forma pauperis. 140 I. C. 226=36 L.W. 586; Court has a duty to decide even a pauper petition on its merits and cannot decline to exercise its jurisdiction, merely because there is an alternative remedy. 49 L.W. 543=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 728. Dismissal of suit for non-payment of deficit Court-fee—Fresh suit—If barred. 1935 C. 764; 40 C.W.N. 1390; 158 I.C. 942=1935 S. 198 (Non-payment of process fee). Where a suit under S. 37 of the Agra Tenancy Act is dismissed for default, the remedy of the plaintiff is under R. 9, and not to file a fresh suit. 15 L.R. 59 (Rev.)=18 R.D. 24. In order to make R. 9 applicable, it is necessary to show (1) that the subsequent suit is instituted by the same plaintiff or by person claiming under him, and (2) that the cause of action is the same. 14 L. 485=34 P.L.R. 73=1933 L. 365, sub-rule (3) to O. 9 made by the Bombay High Court applying S. 5, Limitation Act, to proceedings under R. 9, is not ultra vires. The rule being one affecting practice and procedure only it will apply retrospectively. 53 B. 453=31 Bom.L.R. 484=1929 B. 262.

APPLICABILITY OF RULE TO PROCEEDINGS IN EXECUTION AND IN INSOLVENCY.—Rule has no application to proceedings in execution. 17 A. 106; 13 C.L.J. 532; 41 C. 1; 38 M. 199; 35 I.C. 337 (2); 21 C.W.N. 769; 4 Pat.L.J. 135=49 I.C. 617 (F.B.); 47 I.C. 154=4 Pat. A fresh application for execution is competent when a previous application is dismissed for default as R. 9 does not apply. 21 C.W.N. 769; 99 I.C. 954=1927 M. 355=52 M.L.J. 123; 1928 O. 478. R. 9 does not apply to an application under O. 21, R. 2 (2). 63 I.C. 855. An application for setting aside a sale under S. 47 and O. 21, R. 90 is not an application for execution. 29 I.C. 395=19 C.W.N. 758; 59 I.C. 575=23 O.C. 349. See also 1937 O. W.N. 503=1937 Oudh 337. Where an application for setting aside an execution sale under O. 21, R. 90 is dismissed for default another application lies under R. 9. 19 C. W.N. 758. The provisions of O. 9, R. 9, must be held to be applicable to insolvency proceedings under the Provincial Insolvency Act, in view of the provisions of S. 5 of the latter Act. 1939 P.W.N. 699=20 Pat. L.T. 768=1940 Pat. 58.

BAR OF SUIT.—A second petition to have a person declared an insolvent is not barred under this rule. 101 I.C. 349 (1)=1927 M. 579. R. 9 bars a suit where the cause of action is the same. 39 M.L.J. 412=60 I.C. 201; 1929 P. 685. See also 44 C.W.N. 1179. when a suit in ejectment is dismissed under R. 8 a fresh suit cannot be instituted in a subsequent year. 4 O.W.N. 1202. See also 17 R.D. 199=14 L.R. 197 (Rev.). Where a previous suit for ejectment has been dismissed, a second suit is barred whether the previous suit has been withdrawn without permission to bring a fresh suit or for plaintiff's default if the defendant has put up a defence in the previous suit claiming rights of a permanent character no matter whether he is a tenant or sir or shikmi tenant. 18 R.D. 1=15 L.R. 1 (Rev.). If a suit for ejectment, in which the defendant claims "special rights of a permanent character" is dismissed for default, no fresh suit will lie. But this applies only as against that defendant or those privy in estate to him. Where the defendant in the second suit claims under an invalid will and he was not a relative who would have inherited the land, there is no privity of estate between him and the defendant in the first suit and the second suit for ejectment is not therefore barred. 14 L.R. 246 (Rev.)=17 R.D. 313. When the mortgagees fraudulently allow their suit for possession to be dismissed for default the attaching creditors are not bound by the dismissal. A fresh suit for possession by the attaching creditors who have purchased the mortgagee's rights in the meanwhile against the former defendants is not barred under R. 9. 1929 A. 861. See also 42 C.W.N. 853. Application under R. 9 must be disposed of on evidence and not on the ground that it is bona fide or otherwise. 42 I.C. 649=22 C.W.N. 671. Fresh suit, when barred. 45 A. 81=1923 A. 408. The rules or orders dealing with the case of the new appearance of a suitor do not apply to the situation arising from the death of suitor. 35 A. 331=40 I.A. 150 (P.C.); 6 O.W.N. 1002. The dismissal for default of a suit for partition does not bar a second suit for partition. 5 R. 785=49 M. 939=51 M.L.J. 254. See also 156 I.C. 109. An order dismissing an appeal for default is not a decree and therefore the decree of the Court of first instance is not superseded by it nor does it merge into it. [39 A. 13; 36 A. 350 (P.C.), Foll.] 39 A. 393. An order under R. 9 setting aside an order of dismissal for default made on the application of some of the plaintiffs may operate in favour of all of them, as the Court setting aside the order may direct. 55 I.C. 481=23 O.C. 18. See also 1938 A.W.R. (B.R.). 322. Subsequent application for assessment of rent where the application failed for default, is not barred under S. 158 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. 2 P. 192=4 Pat.L.T. 705. See also 8 Pat.L.T. 789=103 I.C. 615=1927 P. 375.

INHERENT POWERS OF COURT.—See (1940) 2 M.L.J. 374; 1937 All. 691. Apart from the powers under O. 9, R. 9 the Court cannot exercise the inherent jurisdiction under S. 151, in a case to which O. 9, R. 9 does not apply. Hence, where sufficient cause is not shown for non-appearance there can be no grounds for the application ex debito justitiae of any inherent power outside the rule. 1940 Rang.L.R. 512=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 162 (F.B.). An order of dismissal in default should not be passed till the end of the day when the Court was rising, because there could be no default until the Court rose for the day. Where an application under O. 21, R. 97 was dismissed in default early in the day, and the party in default was late only by 15 minutes and applied at once for its restoration, it was held that there was in fact no dismissal for default at all and that the Court had perfect jurisdiction to revoke its own order passed under a misapprehension and restore the application. 1940 O.W.N. 1086=1940 A.W.R. (C.C.) 457. As to inherent powers see also 1933 Rang. 406; 65 M.L.J. 193; 1941 O.A. 427; 1941 O.A. 743=1941 O.W.N. 1045. Rangnekar, J.—O. 9, R. 9, does not take away the inherent power of the Court to restore a suit or summons, if there is just and reasonable cause for restoring it, even if no sufficient cause is shown within the meaning of the rule for the non-appearance of the plaintiff. The Code is not exhaustive and it is for that purpose that the Legislature by S. 151, has indicated that the Court has an inherent power to act ex debito justitiae in order that real and substantial justice may be done. Rules of procedure are meant to secure the ends of justice and not override them. 40 Bom.L.R. 238=A.I.R. 1938 Bom. 199 (S.B.).

LIMITATION.—Application to restore suit dismissed for default must be made within 30 days of the order and the limitation does not cease to run by making an application for review. (2 C.W.N. 318, Rel.) 1 Pat.L.J. 547=38 I.C. 53.

RESTORATION.—The law contemplates that when a suit is dismissed in default, it should be restored only when sufficient cause for the default is made but not otherwise. (43 M. 94; 1927 L. 622; 1930 N. 48 and 48 M.L.J. 152, Foll.) 141 I.C. 188=1933 L. 169. Where an application to set aside an ex parte decree is dismissed for default, the Court has inherent power to deal with an application to set aside the above order of dismissal and for restoration of the previous application. 1933 R. 406. See also 1937 O.W.N. 372=1937 Oudh 344. But the Court has no inherent power to restore an application to restore a suit after that application was itself time-barred. The Court has no right to interfere to override a lawful bar of limitation. 145 I.C. 240=1933 M. 258=65 M.L.J. 193. See also 37 L.W. 48. The law contemplates that when a suit is dismissed in default, it should be restored only when sufficient cause for the default is made out but not otherwise. 141 I.C. 188=1933 L. 169. A Court can under its inherent powers restore a suit dismissed for default of appearance on a ground other than sufficient cause for non-appearance. 34 A. 426; 44 B. 82=53 I.C. 252; 20 S.L.R. 266; 40 Bom.L.R. 238=1938 Bom. 199 (S.B.); 99 I.C. 151=1927 R. 58. See contra 103 I.C. 425=

NOTES.

1927 L. 623; 1930 N. 48; 1930 R. 65. Dismissal of suit for non-payment of deficient Court-fee is one under O. 7, R. 11 and not under O. 9, R. 8; and so second suit is not barred under this rule. 133 I.C. 449. Appearing in Court on the same day after the case has been disposed of ex parte cannot entitle a party to restoration. 103 I.C. 129 = 1927 S. 223. See also 100 I.C. 313; 40 C.W.N. 1390; 1935 C. 764. There is no rule that enables the Court to restore an application made under R. 9 which has been dismissed for want of prosecution. Even S. 151 does not apply in such a case. 1923 B. 386. Where the Court found as a fact that the plaintiff had undergone a serious operation and was unfit to attend the Court when the suit was posted but dismissed his application for restoration on the ground that there was no hurry for the operation and that he could have waited some time longer, held, the Court had approached the case from a mistaken point of view; the only question which should have been decided was whether plaintiff's inability to attend was 'sufficient cause' and that the suit should have been restored. 148 I.C. 329 (2). Where the plaintiff exonerates certain defendants from liability and the suit is subsequently dismissed for default, it cannot be restored as against the exonerated defendants. 25 O.C. 67 = 1922 O. 160. Subsequent suit on a different cause of action is not barred. 6 Luck. 106 = 130 I.C. 65. A difference in the mode of relief claimed does not affect the identity of the cause of action. 15 C. 422 (P.C.); 96 I.C. 287 = 1926 L. 562. The dismissal of a suit for redemption does not bar subsequent suit for possession. 10 B. 28.

SUFFICIENT CAUSE.—No rigid rule can be laid down that in all cases where a party arrives late in Court and finds his suit dismissed, he is entitled to have as of course his suit restored on payment of such costs as may be incurred by reason of his default. Each case must be dealt with on its merits bearing in mind that O. 9, R. 9 requires that "sufficient cause" be shown and that the dismissal of a suit for non-appearance of the plaintiff is a heavy penalty. What is "sufficient cause" in each case must quite obviously depend upon the particular facts. 158 I.C. 942 = 1935 S. 198. A bona fide mistake which is not unreasonable amounts to sufficient cause. 3 Bom.H.C.R. 60. Per Beaumont, C.J. and Rangnekar, J.—In cases of discretion it is very undesirable to act on precedents, as every Judge has to deal with the cases which come up before him on the particular facts of each case. If a person whose case has been dismissed for non-appearance summarily, appears on the same day, and produces some not unreasonable excuse for his absence, prima facie the Court ought to exercise its discretion in his favour. Of course the applicant has no absolute right to ask the Court to waive its rules in his favour, but it is a good working rule that if he applies at once, and thereby shows that his failure to appear was not due to a desire to cause delay, but was bona fide, he ought generally to be given the right to have his case restored on payment of costs thrown away. It is, after all, a very serious matter to dismiss a man's suit or summons or whatever it may be without hearing it, and that course ought not to be adopted unless the Court is really satisfied that justice so requires. There is nearly always some degree of negligence or carelessness on the part of an applicant whose case has been dismissed for non-appearance, but that by itself would not disentitle him to have his case restored to the file. Where the negligence is exceedingly slight, the case ought to be restored, if he is not guilty of either careless conduct or gross negligence. If the Court exercises its discretion on a wrong basis, the appellate Court will interfere and make the necessary orders. 40 Bom.L.R. 238 = 1939 Bom. 199. Blackwell, J.—Whether the matter is to be dealt with as falling under O. 9, R. 9 or under S. 151, and the inherent jurisdiction of the Court, it is in every case a matter for the discretion of Court. 1939 Bom. 199. Dismissal of suit under R. 8 precludes those claiming through the plaintiff from bringing a fresh suit. 9 P. 447 = 1929 P. 685. Whether absence of counsel amounts to sufficient cause, see 7 A. 542; 100 I.C. 313; 100 I.C. 793; 6 R. 471 = 1927 R. 281; 9 L. L.J. 80 = 101 I.C. 444; 101 I.C. 880 = 1927 O. 211; 50 L.W. 430. Advocates who are engaged in cases which are fixed for hearing at a given time and place cannot be allowed to treat the Court before which the hearing is to take place with contumacy or indifference, and then apply casually for reinstatement of a suit dismissed in their absence merely because they hoped or believed that they might attend the hearing. They must take reasonable precautions, and the provisions of O. 9, R. 9 become meaningless if it can afterwards be urged that although none were taken and there was no sufficient cause for their non-attendance the suit can still be restored to the file because the litigant would suffer if it were not. 1940 Rang. L.R. 512 = A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 162 (F.B.) Minority is not in itself "sufficient cause" for restoration under R. 9 (1), unless the guardian has been guilty of laches or gross neglect. The Court is bound to enquire into the question. (26 M. 599; 30 M. 274, Foll.; 24 M.L.J. 235, Dist.) 25 I.C. 450 = 27 M.L.J. 167; 1939 A.W.R. (C.C.) 141 = 1939 O.W.N. 787. Gross negligence on the part of a next friend in the conduct of a suit prevents the effect of the bar contained in the rule. 23 C. 8. See also 24 B. 547 at 552; 19 B. 571. Where a suit by a minor represented by a guardian is dismissed for default and a petition is put in to restore the suit to file, the suit has to be restored to file whether or not the guardian had sufficient reasons for his non-appearance. 155 I.C. 575 = 41 L.W. 117 = 1935 Mad. 196. Where a minor's suit is dismissed for default owing to the neglect of his next friend who represents him, such dismissal can be set aside under O. 9, R. 9, C. P. Code, if the absence of the guardian is bona fide. There must be some limitation to this rule, where it is shown that the guardian absents himself deliberately in pursuance of a plan in order to obstruct a litigation or where the absence of the guardian is not bona fide. 58 M. 929=41 L.W. 649=1935 M. 565=68 M.L. Where a party's agent attended Court and after disposing of some work went away under a bona fide belief that he had no more cases in the Court and where his suit was dismissed for non-appearance, such bona fide mistake would amount to "sufficient cause". 1929 R. 224. Each case has to be decided on its own facts but the exercise of discretion should not be divorced from equitable considerations arising from those facts. The pleaders are sometimes busy elsewhere and if the suit is dismissed in the meantime the rule as to restoration should not be so rigorously enforced as to sacrifice the ends of justice. 1932 A.L.J. 480=1932 A. 450. Where the plaintiff was doing his best and acting very strenuously in collecting his witnesses and producing them in Court on the morning of the date of hearing but nevertheless was an hour too late, held, that the Court was not debarred from giving him his remedy when in a wrong headed and muddle-headed way he was doing his best to have his witnesses before the Court. 56 C.L.J. 12. Illness of plaintiff is a sufficient cause. 95 I.C. 240 (1)=1926 L. 541. Date of hearing declared holiday by Government notification. 14 N.L.J. 147. An application under R. 9 should not be dismissed in limine. 106 I.C. 821. Few minutes' delay due to plaintiff's going to call his pleader is sufficient cause. 96 I.C. 821=1926 L. 650 (2). Code. 150 I.C. 735=1934 L. 416. Where the case had been eight times postponed to suit the convenience of the Court and on the final date fixed for hearing, the plaintiff was unavoidably absent, but there was nothing to suggest he had any intention of dropping his suit, held, that there was sufficient cause for restoring the suit. 14 L.R. 214 (Rev.)=17 R.D. 346. On the day fixed for hearing of a suit, plaintiff who was a pardanashin lady was not present when the case was called. Her "pairokar" who was present in Court went to fetch the plaintiff's counsel as soon as it was called and the latter arrived in about five minutes and found that the suit had been dismissed for default. The dismissal was at an early hour (at 11 A.M.). Held, there was sufficient cause for setting aside the dismissal for default; equity was on the side of pardanashin lady who was dependent on the efficient discharge of their duties by her "pairokar" and counsel. 152 I.C. 110=1934 O. 491.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—When a suit is dismissed in default it cannot be restored until and unless a valid cause is established or non-service of the notice is proved. 158 I.C. 922=1935 Pesh. 145. Before dismissing an application for restoration of suit, Court should give plaintiff an opportunity to prove the allegations contained in the petition. 33 P.L.R. 804. It is not right to say that orders of dismissal in default should not be passed till the end of the day when the Court rises when only there can be a default. Litigants are ordinarily required to attend the Court at 10 A.M. and when they fail to do so without sufficient cause, there is no reason why they should not be penalised. To allow them to attend at any time of the day before the Court rises, might make it impossible to carry on the work of the Court properly, by putting it in the power of litigants to obstruct it. 1941 O.W.N. 1045=196 I.C. 257. See also 1940 O. W.N. 1086=1941 Oudh 91. When a case is dismissed for the absence of the plaintiff under O. 9, R. 8 and he applies for restoration of the case, under R. 9, notice must be given to the opposite party. The provisions of O. 2, R. 9 (1) are mandatory and the grave irregularity in not issuing a notice to the opposite party before the suit is restored is one that cannot be condoned. 1937 R. D. 521. See also 1941 R. D. 418. An application under R. 9 for the restoration of a case dismissed for default, made on the same date as the dismissal and within a very short time of the dismissal ought not to be summarily rejected by the Court on the ground that it is not accompanied by an affidavit. Neither R. 9 nor any rule having the force of law prescribes or requires an affidavit. Applications under the rule are not to be disposed of summarily and it is the duty of the Court to give the applicant an opportunity to remove any doubts in the mind of the Court. The hasty rejection of applications for restoration merely increases the work of the Court in the long run instead of clearing the file of the Court. 1937 R.D. 7. Application under O. 9, R. 9—Pleader on record, can make—Fresh appointment and vakalat not necessary. 1938 N.L.J. 98=1938 Nag. 272. Where notice of hearing issued to the plaintiffs was not served and the notice issued to their counsel was tendered to him but he declined to accept it on the ground that he was no longer representing them and no further steps were taken to have the party served and the Court held on the date fixed for hearing that counsel was entitled to withdraw and dismissed the suit, held, that the dismissal was erroneous and that the party should not be penalized

LOC. AMS.—[BOMBAY.] R. 9. The following shall be added as sub-r. (3):—

"(3) The provisions of S. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to applications made under this rule."

[CALCUTTA.] O. 9, r. 9. Re-number sub-r. (2), as sub-r. (3) and insert therein after the words 'notice of the application' the words 'with a copy thereof (of concise statement as the case may be)'. Insert the following as sub-r. (2), r. 9, of O. 9.

The plaintiff shall, for service on the opposite parties present along with his application under this rule either—

- (i) as many copies thereof on plain paper as there are opposite parties, or,
- (ii) if the Court by reason of the length of the application or the number of opposite parties or for any other sufficient reason grants permission in this behalf, a like number of concise statements.

[LAHORE.] To O. 9, r. 9 (1), the following proviso shall be added:—

"Provided that the plaintiff shall not be precluded from bringing another suit for redemption of a mortgage, although a former suit may have been dismissed for default."

for the default of the counsel, 146 I.C. 944=1934 L. 91. On a day to which the case was adjourned for plaintiff's reply, the plaintiff's pleader filed a written reply and an application for amendment. The Court accepted the same, but wanted the pleader to make some further statements. The pleader being not properly instructed was unable to make any statement. The Court, thereupon holding the plaintiff absent, dismissed the plaintiff's suit. The case was however restored on application under R. 9. The defendant came up in revision. Held, that the inability of the pleader to answer further questions arising out of the reply did not constitute either his withdrawal from the suit or non-appearance on behalf of the plaintiff. The Court ought to have proceeded under O. 10, R. 4 by adjourning the case to a suitable date and calling upon the plaintiff to appear in person on such date for answering material questions with reference to his written reply and the application for amendment of the plaint. [1925 M. 21 and 34 C. 403 (F.B.), Dist.] 149 I.C. 881=1934 N. 101. If the Court dealing with the matter cannot be said to have acted either capriciously or in disregard of any legal principle in exercise of its discretion, the appellate Court ought not to interfere, though it may come to a different conclusion if it were to deal with the same matter. 40 Bom.L.R. 238=1938 Bom. 194 (S.B.).

REVIEW.—Plaintiff is entitled to apply for review of judgment when his suit is dismissed for default and he has not applied under R. 9 to set aside the order. (26 C. 598; 16 C.W.N. 643, Foll.) 37 M.L.J. 59=50 I.C. 327; 20 S.L.R. 266.

REVISION.—A revision lies against an order re-admitting a suit dismissed for default. 29 I.C. 1004. See also 132 I.C. 431=1931 A.L.J. 962=1931 A. 452. R. 9 explicitly permits the plaintiff to apply for restoration of a dismissed petition. Being so, he has necessarily the right to question the correctness of the order on it in appeal and on revision. It may be that there are no adequate grounds for interference in revision. But the fact that an appeal lies against the decree in the suit is no bar to the maintainability of the revision petition. 40 L.W. 774=1934 M. 669=67 M.L.J. 485. An application in revision against an order setting aside an ex parte decree and for restoration of the suit under R. 9 cannot be entertained for the simple reason that the validity of such an order can be attacked under section 105 in an appeal from the final decree passed in the suit. 143 I.C. 222=1933 O. 331. See also 146 I.C. 750=1933 A. 539. Where pending a revision petition against an interlocutory matter, the suit was dismissed for default and then restored, the interlocutory order is also restored, and the revision petition is competent. It is different in a case where the suit is dismissed by the first Court and is decreed on appeal. The appellate decree does not revive the interlocutory orders which ceased to be effective on the dismissal of the suit by the first Court. (53 M. 334, Dist.) 38 L.W. 887=65 M.L.J. 844. Decision on merits instead of dismissal under the rule—Revision. See 4 O. W.N. 644. But an appellate or revisional authority should not lightly interfere with an order of restoration. 17 M.L.J. 225. See also 46 C.L.J. 182. Application under R. 9—Extension of time not known to law—Illegality—Interference in revision. 52 C.L.J. 23.

APPEAL.—No appeal lies from an order rejecting an application to set aside the dismissal of an application for restoration of a suit dismissed for default. 139 I.C. 296=1932 N. 101. The provisions of R. 9 apply to probate proceedings, and an appeal lies from an order refusing to set aside a dismissal in default of an application for grant of probate. 164 I.C. 334=38 P.L.R. 263=1936 L. 712. See also 38 P.L.R. 973=1936 L. 863; 161 I.C. 840=1936 A.L.J. 305=1936 A. 737. A suit for profits against the lambardar was adjourned on several occasions. On one of such adjourned hearings the Assistant Collector dismissed the suit for "want of prosecution." The Assistant Collector did not make any reference in that order to the evidence that had already been produced in the case, nor did he deal with the validity or otherwise of the defence raised by the contesting defendants. Held, that such a decision could not be characterised as a decision on the merits. The order dismissing the suit therefore did not come within the purview of O. 17, R. 3 but was one under O. 9, R. 8 of the Code, and could be set aside by the Assistant Collector under O. 9, R. 9 or under the inherent jurisdiction vested in Courts by section 151. See also 1938 Bom. 199 (S.B.); 1940 A.L.J. 200. In either case the order was not appealable. 143 I.C. 307=1932 A.L.J. 1100=1933 A. 118. Although a person against whom an ex parte decree has been made is entitled to appeal against it instead of resorting to the procedure prescribed by O. 9, R. 13, yet his contentions on appeal must be limited either to questions of law or to such arguments as arise upon the record as it stood when the ex parte decree was passed. He is not entitled to ask the appellate Court to accept the appeal on ground which could be urged in an application under O. 9, R. 13 and to remand the suit for rehearing. O. 9, R. 9 and S. 148.—Where a Court passes an order for restoration of a suit dismissed for default on condition of payment of costs to the opposite party within a time fixed by the order and directs that in case of default the application for restoration is to stand as dismissed, the order is legal and valid. The effect of the order on the expiry of the time fixed for the payment of the costs is that the application stands as dismissed, and the Court no longer remains seized of the application but becomes functus officio, and has, therefore, no power to extend the time for payment of costs. 163 I.C. 554=1936 A.L.J. 566=1936 A. 477.

O. 9, R. 9 and O. 43, R. 1 (c).—Where on dismissal of a suit for default of appearance, the plaintiff applied for restoration of the suit, and his application for restoration was dismissed for non-prosecution, the order of dismissal of the application is one under O. 9, R. 9, and an appeal therefore lies against that order to the District Judge under O. 43, R. 1 (c). There is no warrant for confining the operation of R. 9 of O. 9 to an application dismissed on the merits. 161 I.C. 840=1936 A.L.J. 305=1936 A. 737. See also 52 L.W. 375=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 374.

O. 9, R. 12.—The dismissal of a suit under this rule is a highly penal matter, and ought not to be done unless after a distinct order to attend, he has deliberately disobeyed the order. 17 W.R. 141. See also 4 P.L.J. 152; 6 L.W. 337. prescribed by law for compelling the attendance of the defendant as a witness. 5 C. 353. See also 8 A. 20. The non-filing of a written statement does not justify the Court in proceeding ex parte. 2 M.H.C. R. 311. If a defendant appears and files a written statement he ought not to be placed ex parte. 3 M. 264. On an application by the plaintiff under O. 3, R. 1 to have first defendant examined as his witness, the Court directed the first defendant to appear. The first defendant failed to appear on the day fixed and thereupon the Court, purporting to proceed under O. 9, R. 12, struck out the defence and gave a decree to the plaintiff. Held, that (i) striking off of the defence was a highly penal procedure and the order, disobedience to which is made the ground for doing so, should be free from any possible ambiguity; (ii) the application, though under O. 3, R. 1, was made to have the defendant examined as witness for plaintiff, and disobedience to the order thereon was only disobedience to a witness summons which did not justify the striking out of the defence; (iii) the disobedience to the order of Court could not be made to prejudice of the other minor defendants. =1939 Oudh 111. The provisions of O. 9, C.P.Code, by themselves do not apply to case in which the plaintiff or the defendant has already appeared but has failed to appear at an adjourned hearing of the case; for such a case the procedure is laid down in O. 17, which deals with adjournments. 1935 A. L. J. 209=1935 A. 210. See also 37 C.W.N. 1045. As to the meaning of the term "ex parte decree", see 41 L.W. 196=68 M.L.J. 123. The rule contemplates the case of a Court setting aside its own decree, and not that of another and higher tribunal. 4 C.W.N. 456. R. 13 is an enabling one which prescribes what is to be done in the ordinary course to get an ex parte decree set aside. 42 M.L.J. 344=1922 M. 10. The mere sitting in Court of the pleader for the party having no instructions but to ask for time is not an appearance. 3 P.L.J. 481=46 I.C. 488. Where the pleader for the defendants applied for examination of witnesses on commission, and on its rejection withdrew and the case proceeded on merits, decreeing the claim against the defendants, held that the suit could not be said to be decided ex parte. 1931 A. L.J. 377=1931 A. 294=53 A. 612 (F.B.). The words "prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing" in O. 9, R. 13, mean causes other than lack of knowledge of the proceedings. 1939 Rang.L.R. 606=A.I. R. 1939 Rang. 436. Where the plaintiff who takes time to produce evidence fails to appear on the date fixed for hearing, the proper course is to pass an order of dismissal for default of appearance. In such a case even if the Court purports to deliver judgment on the merits, the order should be treated as an ex parte decree for setting aside which the procedure mentioned in the rule will apply. 138 I.C. 200=1932 L. 477. The words "was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing" must be liberally construed to enable the Court to exercise powers ex debito justitiæ. 101 I. C. 632=1927 O. 173. See also 32 C.W.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] Add the following further proviso :—

Provided also that no such decree shall be set aside merely on the ground of irregularity in the service of summons, if the Court is satisfied that the defendant knew, or but for his wilful conduct would have known of the date of hearing in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.

[BOMBAY]. Rule 13. This shall be numbered as R. 13 (1) and the following sub-R. (2) shall be added to it, namely :—

(2) "The provisions of S. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to applications made under this rule."

[CALCUTTA]. O. 9, R. 13. Re-number R. 13, O. 9, as R. 13 (1) and add the following as R. 13 (2) :—

(2) The defendant shall, for service on the Opposite Party present along with his application under this rule either—

(i) as many copies thereof on plain paper as there are Opposite Parties, or

(ii) if the Court by reason of the length of the application or the number of Opposite Parties or for any other sufficient reason grants permission in this behalf, a like number of concise statements.

[LAHORE]. To sub-rule (1) the following further proviso shall be added :—

Provided further that the cost of such certified copy shall be recoverable as a fine from the party at whose instance the original document has been produced :

Provided also that no ex parte decree shall be set aside under this rule on the ground that the summons was not duly served, if the Court is satisfied that the defendant had information of the date of hearing sufficient to enable him to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.

Explanation.—Where a summons has been served under O. 5, R. 15, on an adult male member having an interest adverse to that of the defendant in the subject-matter of the suit, it shall not be deemed to have been duly served within the meaning of this rule.

Where the first summons was duly served and it appeared that the defendant intentionally neglected to ascertain the dates of hearing after the suit was transferred, the ex parte order could not be set aside for want of due service. 139 I.C. 354=1932 L. 539. But where a suit is transferred without notice to defendant, the ex parte decree must be set aside. 1923 L. 444. [MADRAS.] Re-number R. 13, as R. 13 (1). Insert the following as proviso to sub-rule (1) of R. 13, of O. 9 :—

“ Provided further that no Court shall set aside a decree passed ex parte merely on the ground that there has been an irregularity in the service of summons, if it is satisfied that the defendant had notice of the date of hearing in sufficient time to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.”

Add the following as sub-rule (2) to R. 13 :—

“(2) The provisions of S. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to applications under sub-rule (1).”

[NAGPUR.] Rule 13. Add the following as an additional proviso to R. 13 :—

“ Provided also that no such decree shall be set aside merely on the ground of irregularity in service of summons, if the Court is satisfied that the defendant knew, or but for his wilful conduct would have known of the date of hearing in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.”

Explanation.—Where a summons has been served under O. 5, R. 15, on an adult male member having an interest adverse to that of the defendant in the subject-matter of the suit, it shall not be deemed to have been duly served within the meaning of this rule.”

R. 13. In R. 13 of O. 9, for the words “ he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing” the words “ there was sufficient cause for his failure to appear ” shall be substituted.

Rule 13. In R. 13 of O. 9—

(a) Existing R. 13 shall be re-numbered as sub-rule (1), and

(b) after sub-rule (1) so re-numbered the following shall be inserted as sub-rule (2), namely :—

“(2) The provisions of S. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, IX of 1908, shall apply to applications under sub-rule (1).”

[ODDH.] In R. 13 between the words “ was not duly served or that ” and the words “ he was not prevented by any sufficient cause,” insert the words “ notwithstanding due service of the summons ” and at the end of the rule add the following proviso :—

“ Provided also that no ex parte decree shall be set aside under this rule on the ground that the summons was not duly served, if the Court is satisfied that the defendant had information of the date of hearing sufficient to enable him to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim.”

Explanation.—Where a summons has been served under O. 5, R. 15, on an adult male member having an interest adverse to that of the defendant in the subject-matter of the suit, it shall not be deemed to have been duly served within the meaning of this rule.”

[RANGOON.] In O. 9, R. 13, substitute ‘ decree or order ’ for the words ‘ decree ’ wherever it occurs in that rule.

O. 9, R. 13 applies to proceedings under O. 34, R. 6. 124 I.C. 729 = 1930 A. 841 = 52 A. 839. Before the falsity of the claim on which an ex parte decree is based can be gone into in a fresh suit filed for the purpose of getting it vacated, it must be shown that the decree was obtained from the Court either by collusion of both parties, or by fraud committed by the plaintiff which prevented the defendant from appearing in the first suit. But where the defendant has been duly served with the summons and has failed to appear for no fault of the plaintiff, it is not open to him to file a fresh suit and challenge the decree on the ground of the falsity of the claim on which it is based. His remedy if any in such a case is to apply in the same proceedings to have the decree set aside within the time allowed by law. If he satisfies the Court that he had sufficient reason for not attending the Court when the decree was passed he may obtain relief but not otherwise. 30 S.L.R. 405 = 166 I.C. 906 = 1937 S. 18. See also 39 C.W.N. 894.

APPLICABILITY TO ORDERS IN EXECUTION AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS.—O. 9 applies only to suits and not to execution proceedings. An ex parte order under section 47 may be a decree by virtue of section 2 (2) but it is not a decree in a suit. 1931 M. 656 = 61 M.L.J. 348 (F.B.) (Overruling 37 M. 462 and approving 1926 M.W.N. 245). An application to have an ex parte order in execution proceedings set aside is not maintainable under O. 9, R. 13 and section 141 does not operate to make O. 9, R. 13 applicable to execution proceedings. An application, however, to have the ex parte order passed in execution proceedings set aside must at least be held to be entertainable in the discretion of the Court under its inherent powers. 1929 A. 485 = 121 I.C. 552. See also 13 L. 761. Order 9, R. 13 does not apply to delivery proceedings under O. 21, Rr. 97 to 101 as they are execution proceedings. 92 I.C. 533 = 50 M.L.J. 200 = 1924 M. 412; 1929 A. 485. As to the application to decrees passed under Sch. II, para. 21 (2), see 12 I.C. 927.

INHERENT POWERS.—Inherent powers of Court under section 151 cannot be invoked to set aside an ex parte decree long after the limitation prescribed by Art. 164 has passed. 1 P. 277 = 65 I.C. 341; 53 I.C. 147; 78 I.C. 660 = 1923 L. 147 (1). " Provided also that no decree or order shall be set aside under this rule merely on the ground that there has been an irregularity in the service of the summons, if the Court is satisfied that the defendant was aware of the date of hearing in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim."

[N.-W.F.P.] Add :—

" Provided further that no decree passed ex parte shall be set aside merely on the ground of an irregularity in the service of summons, if the Court is satisfied for reasons to be recorded that the defendant had knowledge of the date of hearing in sufficient time to appear on that date and answer the claim."

[SIND]. Add the following further proviso :—

" Provided also that a decree passed ex parte shall not in the absence of good cause be set aside on the ground merely of irregularity in the service of the summons unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the defendant did not have notice of the date of hearing in sufficient time to appear and answer the plaintiff's claim."

An order refusing exercise of such powers by Court is not appealable. 1 P. 277=65 I. C. 341. A Court has no power apart from the provisions of O. 9, R. 13, to set aside an ex parte decree passed by itself, and an applicant seeking to avail himself of the rule must comply with the conditions laid down in the rule, i.e., he must satisfy the Court either that the summons was not duly served or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing in Court when the suit was called on for hearing. 1937 A.L.J. 831=A.I.R. 1937 All. 691. See also (1940) 2 M.L.J. 374; 1940 Rang. 162; 1938 Bom. 199.

COURT TO WHICH APPLICATION IS TO BE MADE.—Where there is transfer of territorial jurisdiction after decree, the new Court can entertain application to set aside ex parte decree. 42 M.L.J. 344. Though an appeal is pending against an ex parte decree, an application to set it aside should be made to the Court which passed the decree and not to the Court hearing the appeal. 44 M. 731=41 M.L.J. 90. (30 M. 535, Dist.; 27 M. 602; 39 A. 13 and 38 C. 394, Foll.). A Court passing an ex parte decree is competent to deal with an application to set aside such a decree even if an appeal had been subsequently preferred. (12 C.W. N. 885; 30 M. 535; 13 C.W.N. 846; 38 C. 394, Foll.) 26 I.C. 412; or even after an appeal therefrom has been dismissed. 1927 M. 722 (2)=53 M.L.J. 110.

DECREE WHEN EX PARTE.—The question whether a particular decree is or is not ex parte is a mixed question of law and fact. The Court must examine the records of the case and examine the circumstances under which the decree was passed, and if it is found that a particular defendant was not present at the time of hearing of suit, the decree must be taken to be ex parte against him, in spite of the fact that decree as drawn up mentions his presence. The recital in the records is not conclusive. 166 I.C. 635=18 Pat.L.T. 72=1937 P. 17. "Ex parte" decree—Meaning of—Appearance by pleader

—Pleader reporting no instructions after commencement of hearing—Decree—Remedy is not application but appeal. 58 M. 817=156 I.C. 403=41 L.W. 196=1935 M. 210=68 M.L.J. 123. A decree passed owing to defendant's default of appearance in spite of the Court's direction to him to appear on that day, amounts to an ex parte decree. 27 I.C. 882=2 L.W. 105. There can be no ex parte proceedings against a defendant who has entered appearance and filed his defence. 45 A. 618=21 A.L.J. 495. Where a defendant is directed to file a written statement by a certain date but fails to do so, and his application for further time is rejected, the Court should direct the case to be heard in default of written statement. An order fixing the case for hearing ex parte is not justified. A defendant is not bound to put in a written statement; if he does not file it, he is taken to admit the allegations in the plaint. He is, however, entitled to appear at the hearing and submit any argument open to him on the plaint, for instance that the plaint discloses no cause of action, or that the claim is time-barred. If at the hearing the defendant and his pleader are present and are not prevented in any way from addressing the Court, and a decree is passed after hearing the evidence on behalf of the plaintiff, there is no ex parte decree which can be set aside on an application under O. 9, R. 13. 40 Bom.L.R. 972=A.I.R. 1938 Bom. 470. An application to set aside a final decree in a mortgage suit passed ex parte is maintainable under O. 9, R. 13. 48 I.C. 71=35 M.L.J. 375. See also 51 A. 634=1929 A. 279. A decree based on a compromise cannot be treated as an ex parte decree and consequently O. 9, R. 13 does not apply. 27 I.C. 227=19 C.W.N. 118. Ex parte decree cannot be re-opened except upon ground of fraud which must be alleged in particular form. 58 I.C. 317.

EX PARTE DECREE IN SMALL CAUSE SUIT—SETTING ASIDE—PROCEDURE.—The Code governs the procedure of Small Cause Courts to some extent, and O. 9, R. 13 applies to such Courts. When a Small Cause Court sets aside an ex parte decree, it is really under O. 9, R. 13. S. 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act itself makes the procedure under the Code applicable. The Provincial Small Cause Courts Act is supplemental to the Code. The proviso to S. 17 of the former Act does not add to the section but only cuts down the very wide discretion which Courts have under O. 9, R. 13, in imposing terms on the petitioner. 58 M. 687=1935 M. 380=68 M.L.J. 466 (F.B.).

CONDITIONS FOR SETTING ASIDE.—Conditional order, when proper. Where there has been no default on the part of the party asking for re-hearing, e.g., where he has not been duly served, it is inequitable for the Court to impose conditions. 57 I.C. 300=5 Pat.L.J. 420. See also 1938 A.M.L.J. 43. A Court should not as a condition precedent to setting aside an ex parte decree require the deposit of a large sum of money. 74 I.C. 86=1924 O. 229. An order setting aside an ex parte decree under O. 9, R. 13 is not ultra vires if it does not impose any conditions as to costs. 32 I.C. 984. Where an ex parte decree is set aside on condition of defendant's furnishing security the Court must adjourn the case in order to take security and must pass final orders only after the party has tendered or failed to furnish security. 43 I.C. 1=6 L.W. 767. Where an ex parte decree is set aside, the defendant is entitled to be restored to his original position under S. 144. 72 I.C. 912=2 P. 277.

WHO CAN APPLY.—The words "against a defendant" do not necessarily imply that the only defendant against whom relief has been in terms granted by the decree can apply for an order to set it aside. They are comprehensive enough to include a case in which the decree adversely affects the rights of a contesting defendant. Where therefore in a suit the real question is whether the plaintiff or the contesting defendants are really entitled to the claim in suit, and an ex parte decree is passed the contesting defendants are competent to apply under O. 9, R. 13. 1934 A. 163=56 A. 578. Heirs of a defendant against whom an ex parte decree is passed before his death have a right to apply to set aside the ex parte decree. (27 A. 274, Doubted): 1933 A. 80. It is competent to executor of a defendant since deceased, to apply to set aside an ex parte decree against him. 38 M. 442. A Court has no jurisdiction to set aside an order setting aside an ex parte decree at the instance of a person not a party to the suit. 61 I.C. 534. A Court has no jurisdiction to set aside an ex parte decree at the instance of a person not affected by the decision, who has been expressly exempted from the decree. 61 I.C. 484. Application by Official Receiver—Dismissal—Separate suit by creditors to declare decree is not binding—Maintainability. See 1936 M.W.N. 79=1936 M. 161=70 M.L.J. 90.

PROCEDURE.—Under O. 9, R. 13, it is necessary that the Court should find that the defendants were prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing. 155 I.C. 249 (1)=1935 A.L.J. 377=1935 A. 565. O. 9, R. 13, merely requires an applicant seeking to set aside on ex parte decree to satisfy the Court that summons was not duly served on him or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing. It does not require the Court to record a finding to that effect and it is not obligatory on the Court to record an express finding that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing, before setting aside the ex parte decree. Merely because a Court does not set forth the reasons for passing an order setting aside the ex parte decree, the order cannot be said to be one passed without jurisdiction, and the absence of such a finding is no ground for interference in revision. 52 L.W. 809=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 977. A Court has no power, pending trial of an application under O. 9, R. 13, to order the applicant to deposit the costs of the suit or furnish security for the decree amount or to dismiss the application for failure to furnish the security ordered. 51 L.W. 574=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 585=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 710. Where an application for restoration is made under O. 9, R. 13 an opportunity should be given to the other side to contest it, before it is sanctioned. 1941 R. D. 418. See also 1937 R. D. 521. Where a party seeks to set aside an order under O. 17, R. 2, the proper course is to apply under O. 9, R. 13 and not under O. 47, R. 1. 37 C.W.N. 1045. See also 1935 A.L.J. 209=1935 A. 90; 18 R.D. 421=15 L.R. 519 (Rev.); 1940 A.L.J. 200; 1940 A.L.J. 269=1940 All. 305=I.L.R. (1940) All. 192; 40 L.W. 665=1934 M. 699 (Application under C.P. Code, O. 21, R. 58 dismissed for default.) Under O. 9, R. 13, it is clearly illegal for the Court to proceed with the suit on the same day on which it restored the suit to file. 41 L.W. 117=1935 M. 196. Where a Court decides to set aside an ex parte decree under O. 9, R. 13, although it is not obligatory on the Court to state reasons, it is most desirable that it should state why it thinks the ex parte decree should be set aside. 163 I.C. 732=1936 M. 524. Where on the day fixed, the defendant appeared and asked for time to enable him to file the written statement, but the Court refused it and passed an ex parte decree, the defendant is entitled only to appeal against the ex parte decree, and not to apply under O. 9, R. 13 to set it aside. The reason is, that in view of the Expl. (Allahabad) to R. 2 of O. 17, the defendant could not be said to have not appeared, or failed to appear. I.L.R. (1940) All. 192=1940 A.L.J. 269=A.I.R. 1940 All. 305. Where a case is adjourned after the framing of issues on which date parties were to produce their evidence, and on that date the plaintiff appears but the defendant fails to appear, and the Court passes a decree on a consideration of the evidence, the case is governed by O. 17, R. 2 and hence it could be restored under O. 9, R. 13. 1940 A.W.R. (B.R.) 95. Where a decree passed against several defendants, is ex parte as against one, and an appeal is preferred against the decree by the other defendants without impleading the ex parte defendant, which was dismissed, and thereafter the ex parte defendant applied to the Court which passed the decree to set it aside, held, that there was no legal bar to the Court's setting aside the ex parte decree. 1938 O. 11=171 I. OMISSION TO NAME SOME DECREE-HOLDERS AS PARTIES—IF FATAL.—The Code contains no provision for naming the persons in whose favour an ex parte decree has been passed as parties in the application to set aside the ex parte decree. All that is necessary is an indication should be given in the application of the particulars of the suit in which the ex parte decree has been passed. The fact that the application omits to mention the names of some of the decree-holders or that notice of the application is served on them beyond the period of limitation prescribed for the application will not make the application defective or invalid. 62 C. 1057=39 C.W.N. 863=1935 C. 506. See also 1937 P. 49=18 P.L.T. 278.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where a person applies to have an ex parte decree set aside, the onus is on such person to show affirmatively that the summons was not duly served or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing. 145 I.C. 370=1933 B. 156. Under O. 9, R. 13 it is for petitioners applying to have an ex parte decree set aside to satisfy the Court that the service was not duly effected. 1933 L. 288.

JURISDICTION.—See 67 C.L.J. 519=1938 Cal. 797. Where the appellate Court has adjudicated regarding the rights and liabilities of the person against whom an ex parte decree has been passed, the ex parte decree against such person cannot be set aside by the trial Court, but where there has been no adjudication regarding the rights and liabilities of such person in the appellate Court, the trial Court is entitled to entertain an application for the setting aside of the ex parte decree against him. The fact that a person has been impleaded as a pro forma respondent in the appeal does not in any way affect the jurisdiction of the trial Court so far as the setting aside of the ex parte decree against such person is concerned. 35 P.L.R. 675=1934 L. 1016. REVIEW.—Application to set aside an ex parte decree cannot be altered to one for review by merely changing the description to avoid limitation. 57 I.C. 15.

LIMITATION.—Under O. 9, R. 13 as amended by the Madras High Court, though time can be extended still it should be extended on justifiable grounds. 42 M.L.J. 12=1922 M. 33. Except where there are special rules made by the High Court extending the provisions of S. 5 of the Limitation Act to applications for setting aside ex parte decree the Courts do not have the power to have recourse to the provisions of S. 5, or enlarge the period prescribed by Art. 164 by resorting to section 151 of the Code. The Nagpur Judicial Commissioner's Court has not framed any rules under S. 122 extending the application of S. 5 of the Limitation Act to applications for setting aside ex parte decrees and so that Court has no such power. 144 I.C. 394=1934 N. 43. See also 1939 A.W.R. (B.R.) 121. Justice, equity and good conscience cannot be invoked to overrule the law of limitation. Where on an application for setting aside an ex parte decree under O. 9, R. 13 on the ground that the applicant had not been properly served with summons, the opposite party contends that the application is barred by limitation, and the Court without touching on the question of limitation, passes an order setting aside the ex parte decree on the ground that it considers it justifiable in the interest of justice, equity and good conscience that the applicant should be given a chance to contest the suit, the order cannot be sustained. (1935 R. 466, Rel. on.) 164 I.C. 286=1936 R. 305. See also 1939 R.D. 215=1939 A.W.R. (B.R.) 121; 1939 A.W.R. (B.R.) 225=1939 R.D. 525. An ex parte decree was passed on 5th April 1939. The defendant applied by way of motion to have the decree set aside and presented the application in the Court on 5th May, 1939. The application was endorsed by the Assistant Registrar of the Court having been made on 5th May, 1939, i.e., the date of presentation, but notice of motion was served on 9th May, 1939. Held, that the application was made within 30 days of the decree and was therefore in time. GROUND FOR SETTING ASIDE—ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where a summons is personally delivered to the defendant but the defendant refuses to sign the acknowledgment and no substituted service is effected, though there is irregularity in the service of the summons the ex parte decree passed cannot be set aside on that ground. 1933 A.L.J. 165=1933 A. 165. There is no due service of summons under O. 9, R. 13, where substituted service has been ordered by the Court and effected on a misrepresentation of facts. 152 I.C. 830=60 C.L.J. 106=38 C.W.N. 1066=1934 C. 745. (Substituted service, order for, obtained by fraud practised on Court.) The defendant was present in person in Court premises on the day of hearing. The suit was twice called and on both occasions, defendant asked for an adjournment as his Counsel was not available. On the second occasion the Counsel sent his clerk to ask the Court for consideration. Held, that the fault, if any, lay with the Counsel and not the defendant, and that there was sufficient ground for showing latitude to the respondent and for setting aside the ex parte decree. 11 R.D. 583=15 L.R. 687 (Rev.). A defendant had no knowledge about the date fixed for hearing of the suit and was not informed about the progress of the suit by his attorney owing to the attorney's grave illness and subsequent death. The suit was decreed ex parte against him. Held, that the defendant, had shown sufficient cause for not appearing on the date the suit was taken up for hearing. A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 373. Where an application under O. 9, R. 13 is allowed and on defendant's failure to file a written statement within the time fixed by the Court the suit is again decreed ex parte, the defendant's failure to receive information as to the result of his prior application from his attorney is not a sufficient cause within the meaning of O. 9, R. 13 for setting aside the ex parte decree when the failure is due to the defendant's own deliberate action in not seeing that informations were sent to him. The defendant's position however would be stronger if he could show either that the intimation had not been sent by his attorney or had been wrongly addressed and therefore not delivered. A.I.R. 1941 Cal. 254. If the minor defendants were not represented there is sufficient cause for their non-appearance and the Court could set aside the ex parte decree. 21 A.L.J. 185=1923 A. 213. The mere absence of a guardian ad litem of a minor defendant is not by itself a sufficient cause for allowing an application under R. 13, when there is nothing to show that the guardian has betrayed the interests of the minor. 44 L. The default of a guardian ad litem who wrongfully allows a claim against a minor defendant to be decreed ex parte constitutes sufficient cause for non-appearance within the meaning of R. 13. But where the minor defendant has no case to put forward and the guardian, realising that and exercising his judgment honestly and deliberately and in the interests of the minor, decides that no good purpose can be served by putting an appearance, there is no sufficient cause under the rule, so as to entitle the minor to apply to have the decree set aside. 58 M. 1045=41 L.W. 654=1935 M. 435=68 M. The trial Court cannot set aside an ex parte decree on grounds other than those mentioned in O. 9, R. 13. 24 L.W. 439=97 I.C. 936 (1). See also 1931 A.L.J. 377=1931 A. 294 (F. APPEAL.—Erroneous order accepting application to set aside ex parte decree—Appealability. 29 Bom.L.R. 925. See also 149 I.C. 777=1934 R. 202; I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 496. An order setting aside an ex parte decree is not appealable. 1931 A.L.J. 377=1931 A. 294 (F.B.). Where an application is made for re-opening a case decided ex parte, that application must either be allowed or disallowed. If it is allowed no appeal will lie. If it is disallowed an appeal will lie. When a conditional order, that the application to set aside an ex parte decree will be allowed if the defendant deposits the full decretal amount within 15 days, but if he fails it would be dismissed, is made and the condition is complied with, then the application is allowed and no appeal will lie. If the condition is not complied with, then it is open to the party concerned to ask for a final order dismissing the application, and then an appeal will lie. 1933 R. 63=144 I.C. 186. An appeal lies against an order dismissing for default an application to set aside ex parte decree. 36 I.C. 798. There is no warrant for limiting the right of appeal to the case where an application under O. 9, R. 13 is dismissed on the merits. 8 P. 533=117 I.C. 317=1929 P. 529 (2). Where an application to set aside an ex parte decree is dismissed for failure to pay process fee this is in substance a dismissal for default and an appeal lies from the order. 69 I.C. 713. See also 51 B. 67=28 Bom.L.R. 1245; 1926 A. 142 (2)=48 A. 199; 1926 O. 118=90 I.C. 745. No appeal lies against an order refusing to set aside an ex parte decree made in a reference under the Land Acquisition Act. 94 I.C. 330=1926 C. 816. See also 36 C.W. N. 352. (39 C. 393 and 54 C. 312, Foll.) Ex parte order set aside on condition of deposit of costs—No cost deposited—Suit decided—Order under O. 17, R. 3 and not under O. 9, R. 6—No appeal lay. 1930 O. 351. An order under the rule setting aside an ex parte decree against some of the defendants can be attacked in appeal. 9 P. 102=1930 P. 266.

CONDITIONAL ORDER SETTING ASIDE EX PARTE DECREE.—An order was passed directing that the ex parte decree should be set aside on certain terms, viz., that the defendant would pay into Court within ten days a certain sum plus certain costs. Before the ten days had completely elapsed, an appeal was filed against the order. Held, that the order was not a judgment within cl. (13), Letters Patent, and that no appeal lay from it. (2 R. 469, Rel. on; 6 R. 703 and 35 M. 1, Ref.) 151 I.C. 402=1934 R. 192. See also 26 I.C. 895=12 A.L.J. 1270; 1932 A. 595.

COSTS.—Where there is no service and an improper ex parte order is passed, an applicant seeking to set it aside should not be required to pay costs. 1938 A.M.L.J. 43. In proceedings to set aside an ex parte decree, it was found that neither the plaintiff nor the defendant was to blame. The ex parte decree was passed on account of the negligence of the clerk of the defendant's counsel who also was not to blame. Held, that the defendant who had employed the offending agency, i.e., the clerk, should pay the costs. A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 370. Where an application for restoration of a suit after setting aside an ex parte decree, is made on the next day the Court ought not to make the payment of punitive costs by way of damages to the other party, as a condition precedent to the restoration of the suit. The Court should first satisfy itself, that under O. 9, R. 13, there was a prima facie case and then fix a reasonable payment as costs. 1938 R.D. 939=1939 A.W.R. (B.R.) 84 (2).

REVISION.—The High Court is entitled to interfere in revision where the order setting aside an ex parte decree has been passed in defiance of the provisions of this rule. 1931 A.L.J. 377=1931 A. 294 (F.B.). See also 1934 A.L.J. 552=148 I.C. 893=1934 A. 134. It is true that whether there was sufficient cause for non-appearance is a question of fact and the High Court cannot interfere in such matter in revision in the absence of perversity or something of the like nature. But where the Judge has concentrated his attention on the negligence of counsel instead of on the conduct of the party, interference is called for. A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 370. The question whether a party was prevented by "sufficient cause" within the meaning of O. 9, R. 13, from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing is essentially one of fact; and the High Court cannot interfere in its revisional jurisdiction in a case where the Courts below have come to the conclusion that the party was himself to blame for not appearing before the Court. 1937 A.L.J. 831=A.I.R. 1937 All. 691. Mockett, J.—The position of the Judge sitting in appeal against the decree passed ex parte to canvass the correctness of refusal to adjourn is very similar to that of Judge sitting in revision considering an application under O. 9, R. 13. A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 922=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 666.

POWERS OF APPELLATE COURT.—An appellate Court can set aside an ex parte order passed by the original Court against some of the defendants when an appeal by the other defendants is pending before it. (30 M. 535; 32 M. 416, Foll.) 29 I.C. 458=2 L.W. 529. See also 42 M.L.J. 12=1922 M. 33. After an appeal has been filed against a decree of the lower Court, the power to set aside the original decree becomes vested in the appellate Court. 30 M. 535. When a decree of the lower Court is superseded by a decree of a superior Court, the former cannot alter or amend it, on the application of defendants against whom the ex parte decree was passed. 37 A. 208=13 A.L.J. 283; but see 53 M.L.J. 110; 1932 A.L.J. 257=1932 A. 340. Where a defendant against whom an ex parte decree is passed is not joined as a party to the appeal preferred by other parties to the suit and the Appellate Court does not adjudicate upon his case the ex parte decree against him does not merge in the decree of the Court of Appeal so as to preclude him from applying under O. 9, R. 13 to the Court which passed the ex parte decree to set aside the decree. 36 C.W.N. 747=1932 C. 773. See also 1940 O. 81=1939 O.W.N. 950; 15 Luck. 150=1940 Oudh 81. Appellate Court cannot go beyond R. 13. 48 A. 165=1925 A. 610. Powers of appellate Court. See 1925 P. 534=7 P.L.T. 381. Power of appellate Court to go into sufficiency of order for substituted service. 52 M.L.J. 477. In an appeal from an ex parte decree the only question with which an appellate Court is concerned is ordinarily whether the evidence in the record is sufficient to support the decree. In such an appeal it is however open to the Court to go into the question of an improper refusal by the Court of an application for time. 10 P.L.T. 589=1929 P. 609. Application to set aside ex parte decree—Dismissal of—Non-preferring of appeal—Final appeal against decree—Raising the same points—Validity. See 100 I.C. 553 (1).

EVIDENCE.—Where a summons has not been personally served, but served on the gumasta, the plaintiff has to prove that such service was valid since it was not so prima facie. 1913 M.W.N. 1028=21 I.C. 922. Burden of proof of sufficiency of service—Defective report of the process-server. 23 N.L.R. 166. It is for the petitioners applying to have an ex parte decree set aside to satisfy the Court that the service was not duly effected. 1933 L. 288. In the case of a substituted service of summons the Court is not bound by the return of the process-server alone, but can declare the service good from other circumstances of the case. 23 I.C. 14=26 M.L.J. 368. Under this rule the question to be considered is whether the defendant honestly intended to be present at the hearing of the suit and did his best to do so. 43 M.L.J. 632=46 M. 60. See also 5 R. 80=102 I.C. 379=1927 R. 150.

OTHER REMEDIES.—Difference in procedure in an application under the section and appeal pointed out. 32 C.W.N. 101. The person against whom an ex parte decree is passed can apply to have it set aside under O. 9, R. 13, or he can appeal from the decree; but he cannot start a fresh proceeding to set aside the decree. 57 I.C. 551=22 Bom.L.R. 798; 56 C. 21=1929 C. 322. To impeach an ex parte decree on grounds other than fraud, the proper remedy is by an application under O. 9, R. 13 or an application for review or an appeal to a superior Court. A separate suit to set aside the decree will not lie. 1 L. 344. A plaintiff whose application to set aside an ex parte decree has proved infructuous, can maintain a suit to set aside the decree on the ground of fraud or any other valid reason. (28 C.

475; 29 C. 395, Rel. on.) 15 C.L.J. 446=17 C.W.N. 219; 55 I.C. 412; 10 P. 516=1931 P. 204 (F.B.); 35 C.W.N. 303=1931 C. 649. See also 60 C. 98=1933 C. 274. A subsequent suit to set aside the decree apart from fraud is not maintainable. 3 L.W. 522=36 I.C. 128. A separate suit to set aside an ex parte decree on ground of fraud will lie, even when an application for setting an ex parte decree has been dismissed. 144 I.C. 1013=1933 R. 123. Suit to set aside ex parte decree on the ground of false claim and perjured evidence is not maintainable. 97 I.C. 879=31 C.W.N. 258=1927 C. 84.

PROVISO.—An application under O. 9, R. 13 if granted will re-open the suit only as against the successful applicant and not against other defendants. 9 I.C. 835=8 A. L.J. 364. Ex parte decree against one defendant—Suit dismissed by consent against another—Court cannot restore suit against that other while setting aside the ex parte decree. 104 I.C. 216=1927 S. 245. Where there is an ex parte decree against one of several defendants mortgagors, and an application is made to set it aside, the better course would be to set it aside against all defendants and direct the suit to be tried. 33 A. 264=38 I.A. 37=21 M.L.J. 1140 (P.C.). See also 33 C.W.N. 679. 1938 A.M.L.J. 59; 1938 Lah. 823. Where a suit against one of the defendants is dismissed after contest but an ex parte decree is given against the others, one of whom applies to have the ex parte decree set aside, the Court has power under proviso to R. 13 of O. 9 to set aside the whole decree, if the decree is one and indivisible. 151 I.C. 963=1934 A. 1051. A Judge cannot set aside an ex parte decree against the judgment-debtor without also setting it aside as against the surety. 40 I.C. 400. An indivisible order is to be set aside in toto. 32 L.W. 662=59 M.L.J. 918. A mortgage debt being indivisible, a mortgage decree passed ex parte cannot be set aside in part, because complications will arise at the time of execution and anomalous results may follow. 166 I.C. 635=18 Pat.L.T. 72=1937 P. 17. The fact that the decree is the result of a compromise is no bar to the application of the proviso. 101 I.C. 98=1927 M. 550. Where the decree is indivisible in its nature, for example, for the possession of a house the whole decree must be set aside, subject to the payment of the money due by the person bound by the decree. (Ibid.) Reasons for acting under the proviso to be given. 1927 M. 507=52 M.L.J. 477. Ex parte decree against several defendants whether can be set aside at the instance of some of them alone. See 92 I.C. 776=1926 M. 256. An ex parte decree having been passed against a Hindu and his son on the basis of a trust deed executed by them, both of them applied to have the decree set aside under O. 9, R. 13. The Court in appeal set the decree aside as against the son, but not against the father. Held, in

No decree to be set aside without notice to opposite party.

14. No decree shall be set aside on any such application as aforesaid unless notice thereof has been served on the opposite party.

LOC. AMS.—[CALCUTTA.] O. 9, R. 14. Cancel the word "thereof" in R. 14, O. 9, and substitute therefor the following words:—

"together with the copy thereof (or concise statement as the case may be)."

[BOMBAY.] Add the following as R. 15.

15. In the application of this order to appeals, so far as may be the word "plaintiff" shall be held to include an appellant, the word "defendant" a respondent, and the word "suit" an appeal.

[MADRAS.] Add the following as R. 15.

15. (1) Rr. 6, 13 and 14 shall apply mutatis mutandis to those proceedings in execution falling within S. 47 of the Code in which notice to the opposite party is required under the provisions of the Code.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-R. (2) of R. 13, an application under this rule shall be made within thirty days of the date of this order, or, where the notice was not duly served, of the date when the applicant has knowledge of the order." (6—3—1933.)

revision, that the decree was indivisible, and that the order refusing to set aside the decree as against the father being erroneous and in contravention of the proviso to R. 14, must be interfered with in revision. 155 I.C. 837.

O. 9, R. 13, proviso (Peshawar).—There is no legal justification for proceeding ex parte against the defendant on the ground that the summons was sent to him by post irrespective of the fact whether he received it or not. And O. 9, R. 13, as amended by the Judicial Commissioner's Court, Peshawar, does not apply to an ex parte decree so passed. For, that rule applies only when there is irregularity in the service of summons. 165 I.C. 947=1936 Pesh. 199. The proviso to R. 13 of O. 9, shows sufficiently that in cases where a decree is passed against the karta and members of a joint Hindu family, the point for consideration is not the identity of the defences of the defendants, but the nature of the decree passed. 1938 A.M.L.J. 59.

MISCELLANEOUS.—A pleader duly appearing in a suit is not obliged to file a fresh vakalat for the purpose of an application to set aside the ex parte decree in the suit. 47 B. 11=24 Bom.L.R. 744. An application under O. 9, R. 13 to set aside an order passed on a previous application of the same nature lies. Thus the proceedings may go on ad infinitum, 76 I.C. 583=1923 C. 552. Where an appeal against an order under O. 9, R. 13 is dismissed for non-prosecution second application under the same rule may be allowed subject to terms. (Ibid.) Where an application to set aside an ex parte decree is consigned to the record room on account of non-payment of process-fee, it is tantamount to dismissal for default. 102 I.C. 754=1927 L. 883 (2).

O. 9, R. 13 and O. 17 R. 2.—Where the defendants entered an appearance in the suit and filed a written statement and on the date fixed for final hearing failed to appear but their pleader asked for an adjournment which was refused and the pleader then stated that he had no instructions, and the Court passed a decree ex parte the defendants must be held to have actually appeared on the date in question, and the Court has no jurisdiction to set aside the ex parte decree and the remedy open to the defendants is only an appeal against the decree as it stood. 155 I.C. 249 (1)=1935 A.L.J. 377=1935 A. 565. See also 1940 A.L.J. 200.

O. 9, R. 13 and O. 23, R. 1.—Suit against several defendants—One remaining ex parte—Plaintiff withdrawing against others and getting ex parte decree against one only—Subsequent setting aside of ex parte decree—Right of plaintiff to proceed against others—Procedure. Permission to file fresh suit can be granted. 51 L.W. 631=1940 Mad. 765=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 811.

O. 9, R. 14.—R. 14 is imperative and an ex parte decree against the defendant can be set aside only after notice has been served on the plaintiff. 24 M.L.J. 482=19 I.C. 241. See also Notes under R. 13. "Opposite party", meaning of. See 31 C. W.N. 906=103 I.C. 860=1927 C. 692. The principle of representation cannot be urged as against the definite provisions of R. 14, 149 I.C. 153=1934 P. 396. "Opposite party"—Mortgage suit—Ex parte decree for sale—Application to set aside—Subsequent purchaser of part of mortgaged property—Not entitled to notice. 163 I.C. 226=1936 A.L.J. 544=1936 A. 410.

O. 9, R. 15.—New R. 15 of is not retrospective and cannot be made applicable to ex parte orders passed prior to its coming into force because, the effect of such application would be to deprive persons of the rights already vested in them by the orders not having been appealed from and thus having become final. 157 I.C. 985=42 L.W. 497=1935 M. 585. The executing Court has no power to set aside an ex parte order in execution passed by it prior to the coming into force of O. 9, R. 15 (M.). Its power is limited by the law as it stood before the new rule was enacted. 156 I.C. 141=42 L.W. 50=1935 M. 714.

ORDER X.

Examination of Parties by the Court.

1. At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall ascertain from each party or his pleader whether he admits or denies such allegations of fact as are made in the plaint or written statement (of any) of the opposite party, and as are not expressly or by necessary implication admitted or denied by the party against whom they are made. The Court shall record such admissions and denials.
Ascertainment whether allegations in pleadings are admitted or denied.
2. At the first hearing of the suit, or at any subsequent hearing, any party appearing in person or present in Court, or any person or companion of party, able to answer any material questions relating to the suit by whom such party or his pleader is accompanied may be examined orally by the Court; and the Court, may, if it thinks fit, put in the course of such examination questions suggested by either party.
Oral examination of party, or companion of party.
3. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing by the Judge, and shall form part of the record.
Substance of examination to be written.
4. (1) Where the pleader of any party who appears by a pleader or any such person accompanying a pleader as is referred to in rule 2, refuses or is unable to answer any material question relating to the suit which the Court is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Court may postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day and direct that such party shall appear in person on such day.
Consequence of refusal or inability of pleader to answer.

NOTES.

O. 10, R. 1.—Admission on a question of fact made by pleader binds his client. 9 W.R. 485. See also 2 M.I.A. 253. Erroneous consent of vakil upon a mistaken view of the law cannot bind the client. 16 W.R. 246. Pleader cannot relinquish any portion of his client's case without express authority. 12 W.R. 279. Admissions made by a party under R. 1 are conclusive against him. 49 A. 219=97 I.C. 176=1926 A. 710. Under R. 1 it is obligatory on the Court to examine them only when there is no clear express or implied denial of any statement of fact in their pleadings. 92 I.C. 1006=8 L.L.J. 67.

JOINT STATEMENT—LEGALITY.—There is nothing in law to support the view that when all the defendants confess judgment a joint statement of all of them cannot be recorded in a civil case. 152 I.C. 622=1934 L. 540.

O. 10, Rr. 1 AND 2.—In a suit against the mortgagor and the mortgagee for a declaration that the mortgagor had no interest in the mortgaged property and that the plaintiff was absolutely entitled to the same, the Court framed the issues and on the same date examined the mortgagee's counsel and recorded his statement to the effect that he did not know how the mortgagor acquired title to the mortgaged property. Held, that the statement by the counsel fell under O. 10, R. 1 and not under O. 10, R. 2 and that the same could not be recorded even under O. 10, R. 1. A.I.R. 1941 Sind 41.

O. 10, R. 2.—Object of examination is not to take evidence, but to see what are matters in dispute. 15 I.A. 119. See 5 Bom.L.R. 687 and 1905 A.W.N. 170; 1926 A. 411=29 I.C. 1003. See also 1937 Nag. 268. The power given by O. 10, R. 2 to examine any party present in Court is to be used by the Judge only when he finds it necessary to obtain from such party information on any material questions relating to the suit. It ought not to be employed so as to supersede the ordinary procedure at a trial as prescribed in O. 18. 1941 Sind 41. The power under this rule is intended to be used by the Judge only when he finds it necessary to obtain from such party information on any material questions relating to the suit and ought not to be employed so as to supersede the ordinary procedure at trial as prescribed in O. 18. 35 C.W.N. 925=1931 P.C. 175 (P.C.). A statement made under R. 2 by a person who appears with a pleader merely to prosecute a case or to look after it would not necessarily bind the party on whose behalf he appears. 1926 A. 411=94 I.C. 1003. Statement under R. 2 is not evidence against the party who has had no opportunity to cross-examine the party making it. 1930 L. 947=129 I.C. 301. Court directing defendant to file written statement within specified time—Party failing to do so—Right of pleader to make oral statement. A.I.R. 1937 Nag. 268.

O. 10, R. 4.—The powers granted by this rule are discretionary, and its intention is to enable the Court not only to get obscure points cleared up by getting information, but also to get admission to narrow down

(2) If such party fails without lawful excuse to appear in person on the day so appointed, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

ORDER XI.

Discovery and Inspection.

1. In any suit the plaintiff or defendant by leave of the Court may deliver interrogatories in writing for the examination of the opposite parties or any one or more of such parties, and such interrogatories when delivered shall have a note at the foot thereof stating which of such interrogatories each of such persons is required to answer : Provided the issues. 5 Bom.L.R. 687. Power of the Court under R. 4 is not an unlimited one. It is only where the party's pleader or recognized agent refuses or is unable to answer to material questions that Court can direct the personal attendance of the party himself. In absence of such refusal or inability if the Court assumes that it has power to direct, without assigning any reason, the personal attendance of the parties, the order is irregular and can be rectified under S. 151 and O. 47, R. 1. 1933 A.L.J. 1318=1933 A. 517. Under the provisions of R. 4, Court cannot insist on personal attendance of a party who is a pardanashin lady. 55 A. 666=1933 A.L.J. 1384=1933 A. 551. R. 4 is a self-contained rule for cases where a party is ordered to attend because the Court desires to have his evidence. 63 I.C. 961=14 L.W. 15. See also 140 I.C. 716. The rule does not provide for cases where party appears and refuses to answer. For such cases, see O. 16, R. 20. Parties to suits should not be required to attend Court under R. 4 unless questions material to the case which are to be answered have first been put to their pleaders and they have been unable or have refused to answer them. 48 I.C. 269=21 O.C. 252. There are only two cases in which personal appearance of plaintiff can be required and these fall under O. 5, R. 3 and O. 10, R. 4. 140 I.C. 716=1932 N. 135. Court ordering plaintiff to appear on the challenge of the defendant—Validity of the order. 24 L.W. 757. The question required to be answered must be material. 2 Bom.H.C.R. 340; 21 W.R. 44. Pleader merely applying for adjournment is not putting an appearance. 99 I.C. 717=1927 R. 46=4 R. 408.

O. 10, R. 4 (2).—What is lawful excuse will depend upon the circumstances of each case. 18 W.R. 63. Before pronouncing judgment, Judge should hear what the defaulter has to say, and adjudicate on the sufficiency of the excuse. 24 W.R. 314. Several adjournments were given for appearance of a party, on the motion of pleader and agent of the party; and each time they were warned that in case the party failed to appear, action will be taken under R. 4. In spite of all this, neither the party appeared nor did the pleader or agent undertake to answer all the questions. Thereupon the Court disposed of the suit under

R. 4 (2) without putting any question to the pleader or the agent. Held, that even though it was incumbent on the Judge to put such questions before taking action under R. 4 (2), still under the circumstances the Judge's action was quite proper. 1933 L. 922. Order dismissing suit for default of appearance under R. 4 (2) can be restored under O. 9, R. 9, for good cause. 138 I.C. 613=1932 A.L.J. 726=1932 A. 595. An order under R. 4 (2) against one of the parties is not appealable under O. 43, R. 1, unless that order amounts to a judgment. 39 A. 450=39 I.C. 151.

O. 11: APPLICATION OF THE ORDER.—O. 11 applies to proceedings in probate. 49 C. 300=23 C.L.J. 480. Under the Code interrogatories can be administered in the same manner as is done in England for discovering the facts in issue. 24 I.C. 765=41 C. 6. (7 C. 840, Dist.)

O. 11, R. 1: WHAT INTERROGATORIES MAY BE DELIVERED.—Question to extract information as to material facts in issue or for the purpose of obtaining admissions about them may be asked. The mere fact that the questions would be admissible in cross-examination does not make them good as interrogatories. 17 I.C. 155=17 C.L.J. 66. Interrogatories must not be exhibited unreasonably or vexatiously or be prolix, unnecessary or scandalous, nor be obviously meant for the purpose of fishing information. (Ibid.) Thus defendant setting up the plea of wagering should not be allowed to interrogate his opponent generally as to his business transactions. (Ibid.) A party is not entitled to administer interrogatories for obtaining discovery of facts which constitute exclusively the evidence of his adversary's case. 56 C.L.J. 440=1933 C. 151. See also 10 P. 630=1931 P. 426; 17 C. 849. Interrogatories as to amount of damages are relevant, though they may not be allowed until the question in action has been tried. See 14 C. at 706. Interrogatories should be disallowed if aimed at discovering the nature of opponent's evidence. 69 I.C. 417=1923 L. 282 (2). Nor as to matters of opinion. 23 C. 117. A party may deliver interrogatories in order to ascertain the nature of the opponent's case or to support his own case in order to narrow the points in issue or to avoid proving facts which are admitted. Interrogatories as to contents of a document cannot be issued. 151 I.C. 104=1934 N. 181. Defendants on whom the

that no party shall deliver more than one set of interrogatories to the same party without an order for that purpose: Provided also that interrogatories which do not relate to any matters in question in the suit shall be deemed irrelevant, notwithstanding that they might be admissible on the oral cross-examination of a witness.

2. On an application for leave to deliver interrogatories, the particular interrogatories proposed to be delivered shall be submitted to the Court. In deciding upon such application, the Court shall take into account any offer, which may be made by the party sought to be interrogated to deliver particulars, or to make admissions, or to produce documents relating to the matters in question, or any of them, and leave shall be given as to such only of the interrogatories submitted as the Court shall consider necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

3. In adjusting the cost of the suit inquiry shall be made into the propriety of exhibiting such interrogatories, and if it is the opinion of the taxing officer or of the Court, either with or without an application for inquiry, that such interrogatories have been exhibited unreasonably, vexatiously or at improper length, the costs occasioned by the said interrogatories and the answers thereto shall be paid in any event by the party in fault.

4. Interrogatories shall be in Form No. 2 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

5. Where any party to a suit is a corporation or a body of persons, whether incorporated or not, empowered by law to sue or be sued, whether in its own name or in the name of any officer or other person, any opposite party may apply for an order allowing him to deliver interrogatories to any member or officer of such corporation or body, and an order may be made accordingly.

6. Any objection to answering any interrogatory on the ground that it is onus lies cannot escape that onus by laying no evidentiary basis for their defence but seeking to get admissions from plaintiff by interrogatories. To allow the interrogatories at their instance would be to allow them to avoid opening their case and to cast the onus on the other party. 142 I.C. 17 (1)=1933 M. 298. O. 3, R. 1 governs O. 11, R. 1, C. P. Code. The former order is a general one and has general application. Therefore, unless there is something specific to show that its provisions are not intended to apply to some act or appearance in some particular case, it ought to be applied. If a party to a suit is ordered to answer interrogatories, he is not bound to answer personally in the absence of a special direction to that effect, and he can answer through some recognised agent, who knows the facts. In other words, an affidavit need not be sworn to by the party himself and this can be done by a recognised agent. 193 I.C. 707.

"OPPOSITE PARTY".—The party on the other side of the record to the applicant is an opposite party, and he may be ordered to give discovery if he is a necessary party to an action, although there may be no issue or matter in question at all between him and the applicant. Spokes v. Grosvenor and

Co., (1897) 2 Q.B. 124. But see contra 58 C. 1091=134 I.C. 935. See also 17 B. 384. Ex parte defendant does not come within the words "opposite party". 63 I.C. 258. Plaintiff is not entitled to administer interrogatories to him; nor is he entitled to do so with defendants who have the same interests as he (the plaintiff) has in the suit. 63 I.C. 258. Objection to the relevancy of interrogatories must be adjudicated upon by the Court. 46 I.C. 660=16 A.L.J. 762. Ex parte order giving leave to interrogate can be set aside on application of the opposite party. 5 C. 707.

ORDER DECLINING TO RE-ISSUE INTERROGATORIES—REVISION.—Under S. 44, Punjab Court's Act, High Court has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for revision from an interlocutory order declining to re-issue interrogatories but as the High Court's powers under S. 107, Government of India Act, are not merely administrative but also judicial, it can interfere to prevent injustice where the lower Court in an interlocutory order wrongly declines to re-issue interrogatories. 39 P.L.R. 250=1937 L. 28.

O. 11, R. 6: NOT "BONA FIDE".—Fishing questions in order to try whether any flaw can be discovered in defendant's case cannot be allowed. 17 C. at 849. See also 10 P. 630=1931 P. 426. If defendant is out of Objections to interrogatories by answer. scandalous or irrelevant or not exhibited bona fide for the purpose of the suit, or that the matters inquired into are not sufficiently material at that stage, or on any other ground, may be taken in the affidavit in answer.

7. Any interrogatories may be set aside on the ground that they have been exhibited unreasonably or vexatiously, or struck out on the ground that they are prolix, oppressive, unnecessary or scandalous; and any application for this purpose may be made within seven days after service of the interrogatories.

Setting aside and striking out interrogatories. 8. Interrogatories shall be answered by affidavit to be filed within ten days, or within such other time as the Court may allow.

9. An affidavit in answer to interrogatories shall be in Form No. 3 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

10. No exceptions shall be taken to any affidavit in answer, but the sufficiency or otherwise of any such affidavit objected to as insufficient shall be determined by the Court.

11. Where any person interrogated omits to answer, or answers insufficiently, the party interrogating may apply to the Court for an order requiring him to answer, or to answer further, as the case may be. And an order may be made requiring him to answer or answer further, either by affidavit or by viva voce examination, as the Court may direct.

12. Any party may, without filing any affidavit, apply to the Court for an order directing any other party to any suit to make discovery on oath of the documents which are or have been in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question therein. On the hearing of such application the Court may either refuse or adjourn the same, if satisfied that such discovery is not necessary, or not necessary at that stage of the suit, or make such order, either generally or limited to certain classes of documents, as may, in its discretion, be thought fit. Provided that discovery shall not be ordered when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

the jurisdiction, a reasonable time will be given. 24 W.R. 587.

O. 11, R. 11.—When Court grants leave to interrogate, it does not make an order under this rule. 18 C. 420 (F.B.). Order directing party to file proper affidavit within 10 days—Direction that suit should stand dismissed in default—Party failing to comply with Court's order—Suit whether automatically dismissed—Legality of such order—Right of aggrieved party. 50 C.L.J. 397 = 78 I.C. 859 = 1925 C. 166.

O. 11, R. 12.—The words "opposite party" and "any other party" in R. 12 contemplate opposite parties within the meaning of O. 11, R. 1, i.e., they must be persons between whom issues are raised at the stage at which the order for discovery is demanded. 58 C. 1091 = 134 I.C. 935. R. 12 of O. 11 is considerably wider than O. 13, R. 1 of the Code. The right to obtain discovery of an adversary's documents is a very wide one and is not limited merely to those documents which may be held to be admissible in evidence when the suit is ultimately tried.

I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 504 = A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 331. Where it is obvious not only to the parties concerned but also to the presiding Judge that the decision of the matter would depend to a very large extent upon documentary evidence, the case is essentially one in which recourse should be taken to the provisions of O. 11, and in the absence of any application to this effect by either of the parties, the Judge should himself record the requisite orders for this purpose under S. 30. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 504 = A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 331. Guardian ad litem if a party to the suit. See 22 C. 981. But see R. 23 and 19 B. 350. Where there are several plaintiffs all must join in making an affidavit. 15 B. 7. A defendant, if may obtain discovery against a co-defendant. 17 B. 384. But see also 134 I.C. 935 = 58 C. 1091. If one co-defendant is not entitled to an order for discovery against his co-defendant, he cannot obtain it indirectly by insisting on the performance of such an order already obtained by the plaintiff but not complied with. 58 C. 1091 = 134 I.C. 935 = 1932 C. 72. Affidavit, effect of. 5 Pat.

13. The affidavit to be made by a party against whom such order as is mentioned in the last preceding rule has been made, shall specify which (if any) of the documents therein mentioned he objects to produce, and it shall be in Form No. 5 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

14. It shall be lawful for the Court, at any time during the pendency of any suit, to order the production by any party thereto, upon oath, of such of the documents in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question in such suit, as the Court shall think right; and the Court may deal with such documents, when produced, in such manner as shall appear just.

NOTES.

L.J. 550=58 I.C. 281. A document directed to be produced under Rr. 12 and 14 does not ipso facto become evidence in the case. It must be proved by witnesses and then marked as an exhibit. 4 Lah. L. J. 385=1921 C. 328. On this section, see also 29 Bom.L.R. 414=1927 B. 367.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Discovery of a party's title-deeds is not ordered upon what may be a mere fishing application without the materials necessary to support the claim or precision in description of documents. 10 P. 630=1931 P. 426. See also 17 C. at 849; 56 C.L.J. 440. It is true that in a suitable case a defendant may object to the production of a document on the ground that it relates solely to his title, but if, on the other hand, that document may have some bearing in support of the plaintiff's title, such objection cannot be validly raised. If an order for discovery is made under O. 11, R. 12 all the documents relating to the case should be embodied in the affidavit of documents by the person against whom the order for discovery is made. If however the defendant considers that he is entitled to protection in respect of the production of any particular documents which may be entered in the affidavit under O. 11, R. 13, he will be at liberty to raise such objection at the proper stage of the proceedings if and when he is ordered to produce such documents under O. 11, R. 14 or to give inspection of them under O. 11, R. 18. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 504=A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 331.

O. 11, Rr. 12 and 13: AFFIDAVIT OF DOCUMENTS BY PARTY'S AGENT.—DISCRETION OF COURT.—Although ordinarily affidavit of documents must be made by the party himself, yet Court may allow it to be made by an agent of the party in a particular case. Under R. 12, the matter has been left to the discretion of Court and that discretion is obviously to be exercised with special reference to the facts of each case. 1934 P. 693.

O. 11, R. 13.—Affidavit of document filed under R. 13 does not protect the party from obligation to give inspection of other documents that may be proved to be in his possession. 38 C. 428=16 C.W.N. 81.

STATE DOCUMENTS.—PRIVILEGE.—Court is entitled to prescribe in any particular case the manner in which the claim for privilege for State documents shall be made if the claim is to be allowed. It may be content with unsworn statement of a responsible Minister or it may accept a formal affidavit from him, or, if necessary call for an affidavit sufficiently full and indicative of the fact that his mind has been brought to bear on the question of the expediency in the public interest of giving or refusing the information asked for. 35 C.W.N. 1121=1931 P. C. 254=61 M.L.J. 943 (P.C.). See also (1941) 1 M.L.J. 617 (Income-tax returns).

O. 11, R. 14: ORDER WHEN TO BE PASSED.—Court has no power to order production of documents which do not relate to any matter in question. 23 C. 125. Power under this rule must be exercised with great caution. 53 L.W. 543=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 617. An order for production of documents under R. 14 must follow an order as to affidavit of documents under R. 12. 1923 P. 337=76 I.C. 991. No order will be made under R. 14 against a party unless he has directly admitted the document to be in his possession or power. 5 Pat.L.J. 650=58 I. C. 281. See also (1941) 1 M.L.J. 617. Under R. 14, Court may order production of any documents in the possession of any party relating to any matter in question in such suit, but until it is known what the plea is and what the points at issue are it is impossible for the Court to say that plaintiff's accounts are relevant. In a suit on a promissory note to which the defendant has as yet not raised any defence there is no justification for the Court to make order directing plaintiff to produce his accounts. 1937 N. 136=I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 266. The Court can only order the production of documents under R. 14 and not the inspection. An order for inspection has to be made under R. 18. 14 I.C. 51. Suit against Secretary of State for India in Council represented by Collector—Petition directing Collector to produce paimash registers in his custody is not maintainable. See 48 L.W. 646=(1938) 2 M. L.J. 815. Suit by husband for restitution of conjugal rights relying upon correspondence between parties—Production of correspondence—Duty of plaintiff. See 1937 Sind 97=169 I.C. 588. As to what documents are privileged and what statements, see 29 Bom.L.R. 414=102 I.C. 425=1927 B. 367. Income-tax return cannot be ordered by Court to be produced. (See S. 54, Income-tax Act) 53 L.W. 543=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 617.

15. Every party to a suit shall be entitled at any time to give notice to any other party, in whose pleadings or affidavits reference is made to any document, to produce such document for the inspection of the party giving such notice, or of his pleader, and to permit him or them to take copies thereof; and any party not complying with such notice shall not afterwards be at liberty to put any such document in evidence on his behalf in such suit unless he shall satisfy the Court that such document relates only to his own title, he being a defendant to the suit, or that he had some other cause or excuse which the Court shall deem sufficient for not complying with such notice, in which case the Court may allow the same to be put in evidence on such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Court shall think fit.

16. Notice to any party to produce any documents referred to in his pleading or affidavits shall be in Form Nol. 7 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

17. The party to whom such notice is given shall, within ten days from the receipt of such notice, deliver to the party giving the same a notice stating a time within three days from the delivery thereof at which the documents, or such of them as he does not object to produce, may be inspected at the office of his pleader, or in the case of bankers' books or other books of account or books in constant use for the purposes of any trade or business, at their usual place of custody, and stating which (if any) of the documents he objects to produce, and on what ground. Such notice shall be in Form No. 8 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

NOTES.

EFFECT OF NON-COMPLIANCE.—The non-compliance with order under R. 14 for production of account-books does not warrant the striking off the defence of the party who is guilty of non-compliance with the order. 44 A. 565=20 A.L.J. 422. See also 38 L. W. 933=1933 M. 870; 46 M.L.J. 350. Grounds on which discretion is given to a Court for striking off the defence are given in O. 11, R. 21. (Ibid.).

REVISION.—Order under this rule cannot be revised, under S. 115. 9 M. 256. But see 53 L.W. 543=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 617.

O. 11, R. 15.—There is a distinction between documents sued upon and documents relied upon by plaintiffs and a defendant under R. 15 is not entitled as of right to have inspection of documents relied upon by plaintiff before he files written statement. 56 I. C. 457=24 C.W.N. 302. But see 34 L.W. 654=1931 M. 825=61 M.L.J. 704 (contra). See also 53 A. 442=1931 A.L.J. 94=1931 A. 221. See also notes under O. 11, R. 18. R. 15 refers not merely to documents which the plaintiff sues upon but also those which he relies upon as evidence in support of his claim. The "referred expression to" is equivalent to 'entered in the list' and the list must be deemed to be part of the plaint. So right of inspection extends to documents entered in a list attached to plaint. 1931 M. 825=61 M.L.J. 704 (24 C.W.N. 302, Diss.). It is a good cause for non-production of a document within R. 15 that the document is not in the possession or power of the person called upon to produce it. 5 Pat.L.J. 550=58 I.C. 281. It is not good case for non-production that the account books called for inspection are necessary for every day transactions. 156 I.C. 246=1935 M. 234.

O. 11, Rr. 15 and 18: RULE 18 IS NOT PREREQUISITE TO R. 15.—It cannot be said that unless the party who has given notice of inspection which is not replied to, takes further action which is open to him under R. 18, the party who has omitted to reply or give inspection is absolved from the penalties of R. 15. There is absolutely nothing in R. 18 to suggest that it is a prerequisite to R. 15. It lays down an alternative procedure by which, if the notice is not replied to, the party who has asked for inspection can force the other party to give it. 1935 M. 234; 156 I.C. 246. See also 10 C. 59. Whether a party proceeds under O. 11, R. 15 or under O. 11, R. 18 (2) he must act promptly, and delay in itself may be a good ground for refusing to grant time for the filing of the written statement until after the inspection has been made. Where the documents of which inspection is sought have not been referred to in the pleadings or affidavits of the plaintiff and appear only in the list filed under O. 7, R. 14 (2), the defendant, unless he proceeds under O. 11, R. 18 (2), cannot insist that he has a right to inspect these documents before he can be called upon to file his written statement. 175 I.C. 40=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 239.

O. 11, R. 17.—Where a contract is entered into at one place and has to be performed at another place, and the documents are at the place where contract has to be performed, the place of performance is proper place for

18. (1) Where the party served with notice under rule 15 omits to give such notice of a time for inspection or objects to give inspection, or offers inspection elsewhere than at the office of his pleader, the Court may, on the application of the party desiring it, make an order for inspection in such place and in such manner as it may think fit: Provided that the order shall not be made when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

(2) Any application to inspect documents, except such as are referred to in the pleadings, particulars or affidavits of the party against whom the application is made or disclosed in his affidavit of documents, shall be founded upon an affidavit showing of what documents inspection is sought, that the party applying is entitled to inspect them, and that they are in the possession or power of the other party. The Court shall not make such order for inspection of such documents when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.

19. (1) Where inspection of any business books is applied for, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of ordering inspection of the original books, order a copy of any entries therein to be furnished and verified by the affidavit of some person who has examined the copy with the original entries, and such affidavit shall state whether or not there are in the original book any and what erasures, interlineations or alterations: Provided that, notwithstanding that such copy was been supplied, the Court may order inspection of the book from which the copy was made.

(2) Where on an application for an order for inspection privilege is claimed for any document, it shall be lawful for the Court to inspect the document for the purpose of deciding as to the validity of the claim of privilege.

(3) The Court may, on the application of any party to a suit at any time, and whether an affidavit of documents shall or shall not have already been ordered or made, make an order requiring any other party to state by affidavit whether any one or more specified documents, to be specified in the application, is or are, or has or have at any time been, in his possession or power; and, if not then in his possession, when he parted with the same and what has become thereof. Such application shall be made on an affidavit stating that in the belief of the deponent the party against whom the application is made has, or has at some inspecting the documents. 5 B. 467. See also 11 C. 655; 12 C. 265; 15 B. 7.

O. 11, R. 18.—[N.B. See also under O. 11, R. 15.] Strict compliance with provisions of the rule is necessary before order for inspection of documents is passed. 67 I.C. 73=44 A. 565. See also 20 S.L.R. 309. No order can be made under this rule until the questions raised under R. 17 have been determined. 14 C. 776. Before Court can make an order under this rule, if the preliminary steps mentioned in R. 15 must be taken, see 1935 M. 234 cited under R. 15, supra; 10 C. 59. Applicant must show that document is relevant to the matter in question. 23 C. 125. Party cannot be compelled to show the whole account-book to the opposite party, if his trade secrets are likely to be unnecessarily exposed to him. 14 I.C. 371. See also 1931 M. 825=61 M.L.J. 704. Under this rule, Court is not the proper place to offer inspection of documents. 1935 M. 234=156 I.C. 246. An order providing for inspection "forthwith" contemplates that it would be given without unreasonable delay. The order takes effect although it is not drawn up. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 14=42 C. W.N. 457=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 353.

O. 11, R. 18 (2).—Under R. 18 (2) order of inspection can be made not only in respect of document mentioned in the plaint and written statement and affidavit of discovery but also in respect of other documents. Where Judge is satisfied as to relevancy of the document it is not necessary that there should be an affidavit. At any rate, the want of affidavit cannot invalidate the order under R. 18 (2), requiring the defendant to produce a document and if defendant does not comply with the order, Court is justified in ordering that his written statements be struck off. 53 A. 442=1931 A.L.J. 94=1931 A. 221. (26 A.L.J. 1376; 1922 A. 235, Dist.).

O. 11, R. 19.—In a proper case, Court has power, notwithstanding a certificate from the Minister of State claiming protection, to inspect state documents and official communications, in respect of which privilege was time had, in his possession or power the document or documents specified in the application, and that they relate to the matters in question in the suit, or to some of them.

20. Where the party from whom discovery of any kind or inspection is sought objects to the same, or any part thereof, the Court may, if satisfied that the right to the discovery or inspection sought depends on the determination of any issue or question in dispute in the suit, or that for any other reason it is desirable that any issue or question in dispute in the suit should be determined before deciding upon the right to the discovery or inspection, order that such issue or question be determined first, and reserve the question as to the discovery or inspection.

21. Where any party fails to comply with any order to answer interrogatories, or for discovery or inspection of documents, he shall, if a plaintiff, be liable to have his suit dismissed for want of prosecution, and, if a defendant, to have his defence, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended, and the party interrogating or seeking discovery or inspection may apply to the Court for an order to that effect, and an order may be made accordingly.

O. 11, R. 20.—Rule applies to mixed questions of law and fact. 27 W.R. 678. It is not intended to come into operation until after an application has been made under R. 18. 14 C. 776. See also 6 B. 578. Discovery may precede particulars if two conditions are satisfied: (1) where information sought is necessarily within opponent's knowledge; (2) where Court is satisfied that no unfair attempt to fish out a case is being made. In these two cases, discovery may precede particulars even where the object of the action is to re-open settled accounts. R. 20 does not operate as a bar to discovery, when for determining the very issue of a settled account, the discovery or production of documents is essential. 41 L.W. 275=68 M.L.J. 241=157 I.C. 599=1935 M. 288.

O. 11, R. 21: APPLICABILITY OF RULE.—See 1933 L. 248=143 I.C. 355.

WHEN AN ORDER UNDER THE RULE MAY BE PASSED.—Order can be passed only after Court has directed discovery under R. 12 or inspection of documents under R. 18. 44 A 565=20 A.L.J. 422=67 I.C. 73; 96 I.C. 1003=1926 S. 272. Thus a mere suspicion against plaintiff of suppressing documents relating to matters in issue, without order for discovery or inspection, is not a ground for dismissing the suit. 38 A. 5=13 A.L.J. 831. The principle governing the Court's exercise of its discretion under R. 21 is that it is only when the default is wilful and as a last resort that Court should dismiss the suit or strike out the defence. 158 I.C. 613=1935 R. 310. Suit can be dismissed for failure to comply with an order for discovery or inspection of documents only when the documents are referred to in the pleadings or affidavits. 28 I.C. 905. Order under R. 21, can be passed only when there is a previous order under R. 11 requiring a party to answer interrogatories. 96 I.C. 16=24 A.L.J. 589=1926 A. 553. The terms of O. 11, R. 21, seem to contemplate that ordinarily there will be two orders; first an order for discovery, and second, on default, an order of dismissal of the suit for want of prosecution. But where there has been a previous order for discovery, it is proper and also according to the practice both in England and India, to make a subsequent conditional order, for example, an order for discovery within a prescribed time and upon default that the suit be dismissed or stand dismissed. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 14=42 C.W.N. 457=1938 Cal. 353. Court has no power to dismiss suit for disobedience of an order under O. 11, R. 14 for production of certain documents. (46 M.L.J. 350, Foll.) 38 L. W. 933=1933 M. 870. See also 1936 N. 130 (Insolvency petition by creditor—Non-production of account-books. Power to dismiss Petition.) Mere non-compliance with orders for discovery or inspection does not justify trial Court to strike off the defence of the party so ordered. 20 A.L.J. 422=44 A. 565. There is no difference in effect between the terms "stand dismissed" and "be dismissed". The order becomes on default a final order dismissing the suit. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 14=42 C.W.N. 457=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 353. Penalty provided in R. 21 should only be imposed in extreme cases and as a last resort. (58 P.R. 1898; 59 P.R. 1892; 9 C. 923; 38 A. 5; 58 I.C. 281=5 Pat.L.J. 550; 14 C. 768, Ref.); 65 I.C. 661; 121 I. C. 421=1929 L. 750. Defendant should be called upon to show cause before an order striking off defence is passed. It must also be shown that the non-compliance was due to wilful default. 27 Bom.L.R. 694=89 I.C. 215. See also 1925 C. 166=50 C.L.J. 397; 20 S.L.R. 309. "Wilfully" means that the Act is done deliberately and intentionally not by accident or inadvertence but so that the

22. Any party may, at the trial of a suit, use in evidence any one or more of the answers or any part of an answer of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the others or the whole of such answers: Provided always that in such case the Court may look at the whole of the answers, and if it shall be of opinion that any others of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, it may direct them to be put in.

23. This order shall apply to minor plaintiffs and defendants, and to the next friends and guardians for the suit of persons under disability.

ORDER XII.

ADMISSIONS.

1. Any party to a suit may give notice, by his pleading, or otherwise in writing, that he admits the truth of the whole or any part of the case of any other party.

Notice of admission of case.

2. Either party may call upon the other party to admit any document, saving all just exceptions; and in case of refusal or neglect to admit, after such notice, the costs of proving any such document shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs; and no costs of proving any document shall be allowed unless such notice is given, except where the omission to give the notice is, in the opinion of the Court, a saving of expense.

Notice to admit documents.

3. A notice to admit documents shall be in Form No. 9 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

Form of notice.

NOTES.

mind of the person who does the act goes with it. 1929 L. 750=121 I.C. 421. Where a party fails to comply with order for discovery, the proper remedy is for the party seeking the discovery to apply to have the proceedings stayed or the suit dismissed. 48 I.C. 711=4 Pat.L.J. 394. Where suit is dismissed for want of prosecution under the rule, the remedy of the aggrieved party is by appeal. Court cannot set it aside under O. 9, R. 9. 3 R. 63=1925 R. 218. See also 137 I.C. 842=1932 M. 316. Where plaintiff's suit has been dismissed under O. 11, R. 21, the Court has no power to review its order under S. 151, the order being appealable. 98 I.C. 70=1927 C. 158. Non-compliance with order under R. 14—Dismissal under R. 21 if justified—Appeal from—If lies. 115 I.C. 464=1929 A. 83. If defendant fails to comply with an order for discovery of documents, he is liable to have his defence struck out and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended the suit. It does not justify Court in shutting out all his evidence, although he was allowed to defend the suit. 121 I.C. 337=1931 P. 114.

APPEAL—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Where order is made under the provisions of R. 21, dismissing suit and simultaneously with that order judgment and decree are passed, notwithstanding that an appeal lies against the decree itself, an appeal is competent against the order that the suit should be dismissed.

137 I.C. 842=1932 M. 316. [See also 143 I.C. 355=1933 L. 248.] Where the provision of law quoted in dismissing suit is R. 21 but everything points to the order itself in substance and intention having been under O. 6, R. 5, in judging of the appealability of order, Court has to look to the substance of it rather than the provisions of law under which it purports to have been made. (Ibid.).

O. 11, Rr. 21 and 23.—R. 21 is part of the rules of the High Court, unless High Court has made a rule of itself expressly or by application abrogating it; and when High Court Original Side Rules do not contain any such Rule, the provisions of R. 21, ought to be enforced even against a minor defendant, in view of R. 23, of O. 11; the enforcement cannot be refused on the ground that it is not the practice of the Court to do so. A practice of the Court cannot be allowed to abrogate the rules applicable to the Court. 39 C.W.N. 1029.

O. 12.—The U.P. Land Revenue Act being a self-contained enactment in respect of procedure, the provisions of the C.P. Code do not apply to proceedings under the Act unless they have been made specially applicable; and Orders 12 and 23 are not among those which have been made applicable to such proceedings. 1940 O.A. 860=1940 A. W.R. (B.R) 18=1940 R.D. 364.

O. 12, R. 1.—Admissions must be taken as a whole. 41 M.L.J. 525=71 I.C. 270.

4. Any party may, by notice in writing, at any time not later than nine days before the day fixed for the hearing, call on any other, party to admit, for the purposes of the suit only, any specific fact or facts mentioned in such notice. And in case of refusal or neglect to admit the same within six days after service of such notice, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, the costs of proving such fact or facts shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs: Provided that any admission made in pursuance of such notice is to be deemed to be made only for the purposes of the particular suit, and not as an admission to be used against the party on any other occasion or in favour of any person other than the party giving the notice: Provided also that the Court may at any time allow any party to amend or withdraw any admission so made on such terms as may be just.

5. A notice to admit facts shall be in Form No. 10 in Appendix C, and admissions of facts shall be in Form No. 11 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

6. Any party may, at any stage of a suit, where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings, or otherwise, apply to the Court for such judgment or order as upon such admissions he may be entitled to, without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties; and the Court may upon such application make such order, or give such judgment as the Court may think just.

LOC. AMS.—[MADRAS]. 1. Re-number the existing R. 6 of O. 12 as sub-R. 6 (1) and insert the following as sub-Rr. (2) and (3):—

“(2) The Court may also of its own motion make such order or give such judgment as it may consider just, having due regard to the admissions made by the parties.

(3) Whenever an order or judgment is pronounced under the provisions of this rule, a decree may be drawn up in accordance with such order or judgment and bearing the same date as the day on which the order or judgment was pronounced.”

[PATNA]. Substitute the following for R. 6 in O. 12.

“6. Where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings or otherwise, the Court may, at any stage of a suit on the application of any party, or, of its own motion, without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties, make such order or give such judgment, as it may think just.”

[RANGOON]. In O. 12, R. 6, substitute “judgment, decree or order” for the words “judgment or order” where they first occur and for the last part of the rule substitute the following:— “and the Court may, either upon such application or upon its own motion, give such judgment or make such decree or order as the Court may think just.”

“(2) A decree or order passed under this rule may be executed at any time, notwithstanding that other questions between the parties still remain to be decided in the case.”

7. An affidavit of the pleader or his clerk, of the due signature of any admissions made in pursuance of any notice to admit documents or facts, shall be sufficient evidence of such admissions, if evidence thereof is required.

An affidavit of the pleader, or his clerk, of the service of any notice to produce, and of the time when it was served, with a copy of the notice to produce, shall in all cases be sufficient evidence of the service of the notice, and of the time when it was served.

ORDER XIII.

Production, Impounding and return of Documents.

1. (1) The parties or their pleaders shall produce, at the first hearing of the suit, all the documentary evidence of every description in their possession or power, on which they intend to rely and which has not already been filed in Court, and all documents which the Court has ordered to be produced.

(2) The Court shall receive the documents so produced: Provided that they are accompanied by an accurate list thereof prepared in such form as the High Court directs.

LOC. AMS.—[OUDH]. O. 13, R. 1 substituted by Oudh Chief Court.—(1) The parties or their pleaders shall produce or cause to be produced on the date fixed by the Court, under O. 7, R. 14 and O. 8, R. 1 (2), or on any subsequent date which may be fixed by the Court for the purpose, all the documentary evidence of every description in their possession or power on which they intend to rely, and which has not already been filed in Court, and all documents which the Court has permitted or ordered to be produced.

to pass a decree on mere admission, which discretion, if properly exercised, will not be interfered with in appeal or revision. 132 I. C. 796=1931 O. 321.

O. 13, R. 1.—The words "when called for by the Court have been omitted to meet the ruling in 8 M. 373, 375.

SCOPE.—R. 1 is peremptory that documents on which a party intends to rely must be produced at the first hearing, and R. 62 of the Madras Civil Rules of Practice does not relieve the party of that obligation. 34 L. W. 528=133 I. C. 371=1931 M. 512.

"FIRST HEARING OF THE SUIT".—The words "first hearing" do not mean first hearing on the issue. 21 W. R. 42. First hearing means day of framing of issues and documents can only be produced after that date on good cause being shown under O. 13, R. 2. 23 L. W. 69=1926 M. 347=93 I. C. 16. First hearing of suit means not the day to which the case is adjourned but the day when the case is actually gone into. It is enough if documents are filed before the latter date. 50 I. C. 296. Documentary evidence which has not been produced at the first hearing of a suit under R. 1 may be admitted at a later stage at the discretion of Court. 45 C. 878=45 I. A. 73=35 M. L. J. 422 (P. C.), See also 42 C. L. J. 280=1926 C. 1; 106 I. C. 272=1928 P. 209=9 P. L. T. 317; 23 L. W. 69. Summary rejection of application to produce documents after settlement of issues but at an early stage, not proper. 87 I. C. 351 (2)=1925 M. 744. Where certain registered documents were filed and admitted in evidence at a very late stage of the trial and the opposite side did not object to the same, held, that trial Judge had complete discretion to admit the documents and that no objection having been raised to their mode of proof, the question cannot be raised in appeal. 8 Pat. L. T. 255=98 I. C. 968=1927 P. 117. Mere receipt of a document by a Court does not imply that it is evidence, but merely declares that it may be used as evidence in the suit. 21 W. R. 76. The mere endorsement "Exhibit" does not amount to formal admission in evidence. 16 I. C. 834=169 P. L. R. 1912. See also 13 L. 126=1931 L. 546. Absence of endorsement makes the document inadmissible. 96 I. C. 998=8 L. L. J. 492. (38 A. 627, P. C.). Duty of counsel to tender documentary evidence and have the endorsement of the Judge. 9 L. 4=1928 L. 142.

REVISION.—See 133 I. C. 371=1931 M. 512.

O. 13, Rr. 1 and 2.—Filing of documents—Stage—The practice of giving a hearing known as "wajeh-sabut", i. e., a hearing specially fixed for presentation of documents that may be required, is nowhere warranted by any of the provisions of the C. P. Code. Rr. 1 and 2 of O. 13, clearly prescribe the procedure to be followed in the filing of the documents. 1938 A. M. L. J. 120.

(2) The parties or their pleaders may also file, with the permission of the Court, either on the date of hearing or any subsequent date to be fixed by the Court for the purpose, a supplementary list of further documents on which they intend to rely, and such documents shall be produced by them within the time fixed by the Court.

(3) The Court shall receive the documents so produced provided that (whenever the documents are produced at any stage of the case) they are accompanied by an accurate list thereof prepared in such form as the Chief Court may direct.

Explanation.—A Certified copy of a public document is a document “in the power” of a party, but where a document is in the possession of a person other than the plaintiff or defendant it will not be deemed to be “in the power” of the plaintiff or defendant.

[PATNA]. O. 13. In R. 1 after the words “at the first hearing of the suit” should be added “or, where issues are framed, on the day when issues are framed, or within such further time as the Court may permit.”

[RANGOON]. To O. 13, R. 1, the following shall be added as sub-rule (3):—

“(3) The High Court of Judicature at Rangoon directs that such lists shall be prepared in Judicial Form ————23 which will be given free of charge to the parties wishing to tender document in evidence.”

[N.-W.F.P.] Rule 1.

The following rule is substituted:—

“All documentary evidence shall be produced by the parties or their pleaders in the method and at the time prescribed in Orders 7 and 8: Provided that after the settlement of issues the Court may fix a date not being more than 30 days after such settlement within which the parties may present supplementary lists of documents on which they rely.”

2. No documentary evidence in the possession or power of any party which should have been, but has not been produced in accordance with the requirements of rule 1 shall be received at any subsequent stage of the proceedings unless good cause is shown to the satisfaction of the Court for the non-production thereof; and the Court receiving any such evidence shall record the reasons for so doing.

NOTES.

O. 13, R. 2.—Rule was enacted to prevent fraud by the late production of suspicious documents, and not to shut out formal evidence beyond suspicion, such as certified copies of public document, like records of Government. 22 B. 173; 6 C.L.J. 521; 56 C. 1003 (P.C.); 1930 P. 603. But Court should be careful in allowing parties to make out at a late stage a new case different from that which was set up in their pleadings before the trial, and should not be too ready to receive documents produced very late with the allegation of their having been mislaid. 140 I.C. 104=1932 P. 332. Rule does not apply to documents handed to a witness to refresh his memory. 1 M.H.C.R. 168; or to documents filed for comparison of handwriting. 8 M. 373; to documents produced for the cross-examination of witness. 8 Mad. 373. Where, according to the evidence, at the date of the first hearing certain documents were not in the possession or power of the plaintiffs and the plaintiff and his advisers did not know of their existence so as to enable them to inspect them and form an opinion as to whether they would rely on them or not, held, that it cannot be said that they should have been produced at the first hearing and, therefore, the rule does not authorize the exclusion. 56 C. 1003=33 C.W. N. 463=56 M.L.J. 562 (P.C.). Discretion of Court—Time of exercise—Order directing documents to be kept on record—Effect. 8 P. 766=10 Pat.L.T. 183=1929 P. 254.

O. 13, R. 2 contemplates late production of documents in the possession of the party and has no reference to documents in possession of a witness. 1930 M.W.N. 511. Though O. 13, R. 2, C. P. Code, requires the parties to put in their documentary evidence at the first hearing of the suit, the Court has still a discretion under the rule to accept documents at a later stage; and when the trial Court has exercised its discretion by allowing documents to be put in, the appellate Court should not lightly interfere with it especially when the document is put in support of an amendment which the Court considered justifiable. 21 Pat.L.T. 440. A trial Court cannot base its decision on an allegation of fraud never set up by the defendants in their written statement, nor in issue, and based on documents put for the first time in cross-examination of the plaintiff's witnesses and can be disregarded by the appellate Court if so admitted by the trial Court without reasons. 1939 Rang.L.R. 18=A.I.R. 1939 Rang. 98. An appellate Court cannot refuse to admit evidence admitted by the trial Court on the ground that the evidence was produced late and was not admissible under O. 13, R. 2. 67 C.L.J. 133.

O. 13, Rr. 2 and 3.—A document which was neither a public document nor even a registered one was produced at a late stage in the suit and was refused to be admitted in evidence by trial Court. Lower appellate Court also refused to interfere with the discretion exercised by trial Court. Held, that Rejection of irrelevant or inadmissible documents.

3. The Court may, at any stage of the suit, reject any document, which it considers irrelevant or otherwise inadmissible, recording the grounds of such rejection.

4. (1) Subject to the provisions of the next following sub-rule, there shall be endorsed on every document which has been admitted in evidence.

namely :—

- (a) the number and title of the suit,
- (b) the name of the person producing the document,
- (c) the date on which it was produced, and
- (d) a statement of its having been so admitted; and the endorsement shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

(2) Where a document so admitted is an entry in a book, account or record, and a copy thereof has been substituted for the original under the next following rule, the particulars aforesaid shall be endorsed on the copy and the endorsement thereon shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

NOTES.

the lower Court did not err in law in refusing to admit it. 146 I.C. 445=1933 R. 174. Acceptance or rejection of a document tendered by a party at a late stage of the case is a matter entirely within the discretion of the Court which cannot be interfered with in second appeal unless that discretion has been exercised capriciously, in an arbitrary manner and contrary to well-recognised judicial principles. 146 I.C. 683=34 P.L.R. 736=1933 L. 892. The debtors in an insolvency petition against them are no doubt under an obligation to produce their books of account at the earliest opportunity. The Judge also should see that the books are produced at the first possible moment. But when the Judge waives such production, the Judge cannot refuse permission to produce the books at a later stage. Judge is not justified in stating that the books are fabricated merely relying on the unsupported allegation of a creditor. Whether the books are fabricated or not is a question to be determined by the Judge after the books are produced. 152 I.C. 655=15 P.L.T. 461=1934 P. 526.

O. 13, R. 3.—Appellate Court is bound to consider documents admitted by Lower Court. 8 M. 373; 6 C.L.J. 621. See also 12 M.L.J. 351. An insufficiently stamped document was filed and some evidence was taken on it and it was marked as an exhibit for reference, but the endorsement required by O. 13, R. 4 was not made. Next day the opposite party objected to the admissibility of the document and the objection was upheld. Held, that there was no judicial determination of the question of the admissibility of the document till the objection was raised, and the words "admitted in evidence" in S. 36, Stamp Act, must be taken to mean letting in as a part of the evidence as a result of judicial determination of the question whether it can be admitted in evidence or not for want of stamp. Hence the Court could reject the document under this rule. 142 I.C. 535=1933 L. 271 relying on 1929 M. 522. See also 46 L.W. 515=1937 Mad. 431.

O. 13, R. 4.—Provisions of rule are imperative. Judge should endorse with his own hand a statement, that a document is proved or admitted by the person, against whom it is used. 38 A. 627=31 M.L.J. 607=43 L.A. 212 (P.C.). As to mofussil practice in Madras Presidency regarding admission of documents, see 37 M. 455=22 M.L.J. 217. (See also 1931 L. 546 as to procedure in exhibiting documents as evidence.) Documents tendered and marked as exhibit by Commissioner—Formal endorsement not made by trial Judge—Document not rendered inadmissible. 7 R. 164=1929 R. 211. When once a document is admitted under R. 4, its admission cannot be called in question at any stage of the same suit or proceeding on the ground that it has not been duly stamped. And the trial Court has no more authority to review its own order admitting the document in evidence than an appellate Court would have to reverse that order on appeal. 1933 A. 821. Document mechanically admitted in trial Court, but not considered—Appellate Court basing its decision on the document—Not valid. Proper course is to send back the whole case for re-trial de novo. 99 I.C. 920=1927 L. 45; 56 M.L.J. 633=1929 M. 522. Where certain documents are produced by a party, and are referred to in the argument and made use of in judgment also, the mere fact that they have not been marked as exhibits is a mere irregularity which is not incurable. 1933 S. 379. Documents sent for from another Court—No endorsement—Documents whether evidence. 31 P.L.R. 250.

EXHIBITING DOCUMENTS—PRACTICE.—The practice of putting seal on the documents immediately on their production and thereby exhibiting the document is not proper. There are two stages relating to the documents. One is the stage when all the documents on which the parties rely are filed by

LOC. AMS.—[OUDH]. In R. 4 (1) (d) add "in the Judge's own handwriting" after the word "statement."

[RANGOON]. To O. 13, R. 4, the following shall be added as sub-rules (3), (4) and (5):—

"(3) The Court shall mark the documents which are admitted on behalf of the plaintiff or plaintiffs with capital letters in the order in which they are admitted thus A, B, C, etc.; and the documents admitted on behalf of the defendant with figures thus 1, 2, 3; etc.

"(4) When a number of documents of the same nature are admitted, as for example, a series of receipts for rent; the whole series shall bear one number or capital letter, a small number or small letter being added to distinguish each paper of the series.

"(5) Every document on admission shall be entered in a list in Form

5. (1) Save in so far as otherwise provided by the Bankers' Book's Evidence Act, 1891, where a document admitted in evidence in the suit is an entry in a letter-book or a shop-book or other account in current use, the party on whose behalf the book or account is produced may furnish a copy of the entry.

(2) Where such a document is an entry in a public record produced from a public office or by a public officer, or an entry in a book or account belonging to a person other than a party on whose behalf the book or account is produced, the Court may require a copy of the entry to be furnished—

(a) where the record, book or account is produced on behalf of a party, then by that party, or

(b) where the record, book or account is produced in obedience to an order of the Court acting of its own motion, then by either or any party.

(3) Where a copy of an entry is furnished under the foregoing provisions of this rule, the Court shall, after causing the copy to be examined, compared and certified in manner mentioned in rule 17 of Order VII, mark the entry and cause the book, account or record in which it occurs to be returned to the person producing it.

LOC. AM.—[RANGOON]. To O. 13, R. 5, sub-R. (3), the following shall be added:—

"(3) A note of the return should be made in the list in Form

Judicial

6. Where a document relied on as evidence by either party is considered by the Court to be inadmissible in evidence, there shall be endorsed thereon the particulars mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of rule 4, sub-rule (1), together with a statement of its having been rejected, and the endorsement shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

them in Court. The next stage is when the documents are proved and formally tendered in evidence. It is at this later stage that the Court has to decide whether they should be admitted or rejected. If they are admitted and proved, then the seal of the Court is put on them giving certain details laid down by law as to how they are to be exhibited; otherwise the documents are returned to the party who produced them with an endorsement thereon to that effect. 1931 L. 546=132 I.C. 481. Where a document is produced in Court and is initialled by the Judge, he should make it quite clear whether he is admitting it in evidence or only marking it for identification. 1936 A.M.L.J. 22.

NON-COMPLIANCE WITH RULE—EFFECT OF.—The fact that the provisions of R. 4 have not been strictly complied with in regard to endorsement on an exhibit does not make it inadmissible in evidence. 161 I.C. 164=1937 P. 222.

O. 13, R. 5.—An extract from an entry in an account book does not require any stamp. 26 B. 522. Proceedings for return of documents are purely ministerial. No question can arise therein, which would make the taking of evidence on oath compulsory. 71 I.C. 666=26 C.W.N. 660. On this rule, see 8 L.L.J. 537=1927 L. 45 cited under R. 4.

O. 13, R. 6.—See 12 M.L.J. 351.

7. (1) Every document which has been admitted in evidence, or a copy thereof where a copy has been substituted for the original under rule 5, shall form part of the record of the suit.

Recording of admitted and return of rejected documents.

(2) Documents not admitted in evidence shall not form part of the record and shall be returned to the persons respectively producing them.

LOC. AMS.—[MADRAS]. Add the following proviso to O. 13, R. 7 (2) :—

“Provided that no document shall be returned which by force of the decree has become wholly void or useless.”

[NAGPUR]. The following shall be added as sub-R. (3) :—

“(3) Every document produced in evidence, which is not written in the Court language or in English, shall be accompanied by a correct translation into English; and every document which is written in the Court language but in a script other than Devanagri shall be accompanied by a correct transliteration into Devanagri script. If the document is admitted in evidence the opposite party shall either admit the correctness of the translation or transliteration or submit his own translation or transliteration of the document.”

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 5 or rule 7 of this Order or in rule 17 of Order VII, the Court may, if it sees sufficient cause, direct any document or book produced before it in any suit to be impounded and kept in the custody of an officer of the Court, for such period and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit.

Court may order any document to be impounded.

9. (1) Any person, whether a party to the suit or not, desirous of receiving back any document produced by him in the suit and placed on the record shall, unless the document is impounded under rule 8, be entitled to receive back the same,—

Return of admitted documents.

(a) where the suit is one in which an appeal is not allowed, when the suit has been disposed of, and

(b) where the suit is one in which an appeal is allowed, when the Court is satisfied that the time for preferring an appeal has elapsed and that no appeal has been preferred or, if an appeal has been preferred, when the appeal has been disposed of :

Provided that a document may be returned at any time earlier than that prescribed by this rule if the person applying therefor delivers to the proper officer a certified copy to be substituted for the original and undertakes to produce the original if required to do so :

Provided also that no documents shall be returned which, by force of the decree, has become wholly void or useless.

NOTES.

O. 13, R. 7.—A document which is not admitted in evidence cannot be treated as forming part of the record, although it is found amongst the papers on record. 14 A. 356.

O. 13, R. 7 AND OUDH CIVIL RULES, RR. 38 AND 39—RECORDING OF ADMITTED AND RETURN OF REJECTED DOCUMENTS—PROCEDURE—The language of R. 7 and of Rr. 38 and 39 of the Oudh Civil Rules, shows that the document must be either placed on the record or returned to the person producing it. There is no alternative. It is highly desirable and even necessary for the ends of justice that a disputed document should be placed on the record and should not be returned to the person producing it. Therefore, as soon as formal or prima facie evidence of its genuineness has been given, it should be endorsed as “admitted in evidence” and placed on the record. Subsequently the Judge might find, upon a consideration of the whole evidence, that the document was a forgery, or that its genuineness was not proved to his satisfaction. In that event the Judge should, in order to avoid any possible misunderstanding add a further endorsement “genuineness not established” or words to that effect, but he should not endorse it as “rejected” which implies that the document should not form part of the record and should be returned to the person producing it. 162 I.C. 527=1936 O.W.N. 619=1936 O. 298.

(2) On the return of a document admitted in evidence, a receipt shall be given by the person receiving it.

LOC. AMS.—[BOMBAY]. Between the first and second proviso to sub-rule (1) of R. 9 of O. 13, the following proviso shall be inserted, namely :—

"Provided also that a copy of the decree and of the judgment filed with the memorandum of appeal under O. 41, R. 1, may be returned after the appeal has been disposed of by the Court."

[LAHORE]. Rule 9 (1).—Add the following proviso as the third proviso :—

"Provided further that the cost of such certified copy shall be recoverable as a fine from the party at whose instance the original document has been produced."

[MADRAS]. O. 13, R. 9.—Substitute the following for the existing sub-R. (3) and re-number the existing sub-R. (4) as sub-R. (5) :—

"(3) Every application for return of a document under the first proviso to sub-R. (1) shall be made by a verified petition and shall set forth facts justifying the immediate return of the original.

"(4) The Court may make such order as it thinks fit for the costs of any or all the parties to any application under sub-R. (1). The Court may further direct that any costs incurred in complying with or paid on application under sub-R. (1) or incurred in complying with the provisions of R. 5 of this order, shall be included as costs in the cause.

"(5) Subject to the provisions of R. 8 above, where a document is produced by a person who is not a party to the suit and such person applies for the return of the document as hereinbefore provided and undertakes to produce it whenever required to do so, the Court shall, except for reasons to be recorded by it in writing, require the party on whose behalf the document was produced, to substitute with the least possible delay, a certified copy for the original, and shall thereupon cause the original document to be returned to the applicant and may further make such order as to costs and charges in this behalf as it thinks fit. If the copy is not so provided within the time fixed by the Court, the original document shall be returned to the applicant without further delay."

[NAGPUR]. Rule 9.—Insert the following as sub-rule (2) of r. 9 and re-number the present sub-rule (2) as sub-rule (3) :—

"(2) Where the document has been produced by a person who is not a party to the suit, the Court may and, at the request of the person applying for the return of the document, shall order the party at whose instance the document was produced to pay the cost of preparing the certified copy."

[PATNA]. Add the following as sub-R. 1-A in R. 9, O. 13 :—

"(1-A) Where a document is produced by a person who is not a party in the proceeding, the Court may require the party on whose behalf the document is produced to substitute a certified copy for the original as hereinbefore provided."

10. (1) The Court may of its own motion, and may in its discretion upon the application of any of the parties to a suit, send for, either from its own records or from any other Court, the record of any other suit or proceeding, and inspect the same.

Court may send for papers from its own records or from other Courts.

NOTES.

O. 13, R. 10.—Judge is not bound to send for the records of another suit. 7 W.R. 109; 18 W.R. 13. But should not refuse an application under this rule merely because in his opinion the document cannot be produced before trial. 7 C. 560. Party applying may be required to file copies of the documents on record. 2 Bom.H.C. 341. Mere summoning by Court of a record containing a document relied on by a party will not absolve the party from the duty of placing the document by formal admission or proof upon the record of the trial for which it is required as evidence; the correct procedure for the party relying on a document not in his possession but of which a copy can be got by him is to produce the copy. If the copy is admitted by the opposite party original need not be produced. If it is not admitted or if it is still necessary to produce the original for technical proof, then the party must make an application in strict accordance with R. 10 specifying the documents required. Application for summoning records of a case on the file of suit should be rejected unless the affidavit satisfied the Court that copies of the specified documents cannot be produced without unreasonable delay or expense or that the production of the original is necessary. 131 I.C. 374=1931 L. 119. The record of a case does not become part of the evidence merely by being requisitioned in a subsequent case under O. 13, R. 10. Any original statement or other document on the record of the previous case which is relied upon in a subsequent case must be duly proved according to the provisions of the Evidence Act before it can be utilised as part of the evidence in the later case. 1941 O.A. (Supp.) 371=1941 R.D. 390=1941 A.W.R. (Rev.) 441. The power to send for the record of another case and to inspect the same does not carry with it the power to treat the whole of the record or a part thereof as evidence in the case. If upon inspection, the trial Court comes across an important document which, in its opinion, throws important light on the question at issue or is of material assistance in ascertaining the truth, it is open to it to bring it on record and prove it according to law,

(2) Every application made under this rule shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be supported by an affidavit showing how the record is material to the suit in which the application is made, and that the applicant cannot without unreasonable delay or expense obtain a duly authenticated copy of the record or of such portion thereof, as the applicant requires, or that the production of the original is necessary for the purposes of justice.

(3) Nothing contained in this rule shall be deemed to enable the Court to use in evidence any document which under the law of evidence would be inadmissible in the suit.

LOC. AM.—[RANGOON]. In O. 13, R. 10, sub-R. (3) shall be re-numbered as (5) and the following shall be inserted as sub-rules (3) and (4):—

“(3) If the Court thinks fit to send for the record, it shall do so by sending a formal proceeding to the Court whose record is required. No summons to produce any record shall be issued to any Record-keeper, Chief Clerk, or Official of any Court.

“(4) Whenever a Judge sends for the record of another suit or case or other official papers and uses any part of such record or papers as evidence in trial before him, he shall direct that an authenticated copy of the part so used shall be put up with the trial record, and shall further direct at the expense of which party such copy shall be made.”

In O. 13, the following shall be inserted as rules 10-A and 10-B:—

“10-A. Exhibits, with their accompanying lists, shall not be filed with the record until after the termination of the trial.

“10-B. If any exhibit included in the index of contents of the trial record is withdrawn after judgment, the fact should be noted in the column of remarks of the index, and it should be stated whether a copy has been substituted or not.”

Provisions as to documents applied to material objects.

11. The provisions herein contained as to documents shall, so far as may be, apply to all other material objects producible as evidence.

LOC. AM.—[ALLAHABAD]. Insert the following as rules 12 and 13 to O. 13:—

“12. Every document not written in the Court vernacular or in English, which is produced (a) with a plaint or (b) at the first hearing or (c) at any other time tendered in evidence in any suit, appeal, or proceeding, shall be accompanied by a correct translation of the document into the Court vernacular. If any such document is written in the Court vernacular but in characters other than the ordinary Persian or Nagri characters in use, it shall be accompanied by a correct transliteration of its contents into the Persian or Nagri character.

The person making the translation or transliteration shall give his name and address and verify that the translation or transliteration is correct. In case of a document written in a script or language not known to the translator or to the person making the transliteration, the person who reads out the original document for the benefit of the translator or the person making the transliteration shall also verify the translation and transliteration by giving his name and address and stating that he has correctly read out the original document.”

“13. When a document included in the list, prescribed by R. 1 has been admitted in evidence, the Court shall, in addition to making the endorsement prescribed in R. 4 (1), mark such document with serial figures in the case of documents admitted as evidence for a plaintiff and with serial letters in the case of documents admitted as evidence for a defendant, and shall initial every such serial number or letter. When there are two or more parties defendants, the documents of the first party defendant may be marked A-1, A-2, A-3, etc., and those of the second party B-1, B-2, B-3, etc. When a number of documents of the same nature is admitted, as for example, a series of receipts for rent, the whole series shall bear one figure or capital letter or letters and a small figure or small letter shall be added to distinguish each paper of the series.”

ORDER XIV.

Settlement of Issues and Determination of Suit on Issues of Law or on Issues agreed upon.

1. (1) Issues arise when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed Framing of issues. by the one party and denied by the other.

NOTES.

before using it as evidence in the case. Mere summoning of the record does not, however, render the entire record ipso facto evidence in the case. 1941 O.W.N. 643=1941 O.A. 412=1941 Oudh 341.

O. 14, R. 1: OBJECT OF FRAMING OF ISSUES.—“We make it the occasion for insisting on the importance of defining with precision at the outset the points on which a decision must turn. This no doubt requires thought and care, but the time is well spent; vague and general issues for the most part mean that the case is approached without a clear idea of its essentials.” 28 B. 424. See also 22 C. 324 (P.C.); 11 C. 111 (118) (P.C.). See also 1939 Pesh. 44. The duty of framing issues rests under the Code on the Court, and

(2) Material propositions are those propositions of law or fact which a plaintiff must allege in order to show a right to sue or a defendant must allege in order to constitute his defence.

(3) Each material proposition affirmed by one party and denied by the other shall form the subject of a distinct issue.

(4) Issues are of two kinds : (a) issues of fact, (b) issues of law.

(5) At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall, after reading the plaint and the written statements, if any, and after such examination of the parties as may appear necessary, ascertain upon what material propositions of fact or of law the parties are at variance, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record the issues on which the right decision of the case appears to depend.

(6) Nothing in this rule requires the Court to frame and record issues where the defendant at the first hearing of the suit makes no defence.

NOTES.

it would be unsafe to presume from the failure of the Court to raise the necessary issues, an intention of the defendant to admit the facts which the plaintiff was bound to prove. 26 B. 363. See also 47 I.C. 589 = 35 M.L.J. 372; 51 I.C. 1007. It is the duty of Court primarily to frame issues but the parties are entitled to be heard. 78 I.C. 1 = 1925 M. 169; 60 I.C. 751. The failure to frame an issue is not necessarily fatal to a suit, provided substantial justice has been done. Where the plea of the applicability of S. 41, T. P. Act, is raised in the defence, arguments are addressed to the Court and the matter has been before the parties during the case, the Court is justified in applying the principles of S. 41, T. P. Act, even though no issue was framed on that point. A.I.R. 1941 Pesh. 59. Court cannot raise points not raised by parties. 1923 A. 167; 21 M.L.J. 1008 = 12 I.C. 137. The issues should raise matters fairly in controversy between the parties, even though the pleadings may be defectively drawn. 8 M.H.C. 114. No issues arise where there is no averment or denial. 68 I.C. 106 = 2 Lah.L.J. 188. Every Court trying civil cases has inherent power to take cognizance of questions which cut at the root of the subject-matter of controversy between the parties. 35 M. 607 = 39 I.A. 218 = 23 M.L.J. 321 (P.C.). This rule implies that issues may be settled whether there is a written statement or not, though it is not obligatory on Court to frame issues when the defendant makes no defence. 11 C.W.N. 870. See also 29 B. 234. Court is not bound to frame issues when defendant does not appear. 15 W.R. 145. Under R. 1 issues arise only when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed by one party and denied by the other. Such affirmation or denial must be contained in the pleadings as defined in O. 6, R. 1. Where there is no written statement the only issues would be those arising out of the plaint which allegations are put in issue when not admitted. 165 I.C. 29 = 1936 N. 177. Court is not justified in framing an issue on a question about which there is no dispute in the pleadings. 51 I.C. 981. But see 87 I.C. 575 = 1925 C. 1157 (an issue may be framed by reference to other matters besides pleadings); 5 R. 527 = 1927 R. 319 (Suit on pronote—Defendant admitting signature but pleading fraud on the part of plaintiff—Burden of proof on plaintiff). As to the raising of issues between co-defendants, see 15 M. 264. For other illustrative cases, see 2 M.H.C. 470; 13 M.I.A. 573; 29 M. 72. See also 29 A. 184 (P.C.); 16 W.R. 235; 17 W.R. 359, 6 C. 815; 8 C. 975. Inconsistent issues should not be raised. 15 C. 684 (P.C.). See also 13 M. 549. Judge is not bound to raise an issue on a point of law which he considers to be perfectly clear. 2 Bom.H.C. 272. Court while striking issue regarding limitation should first ascertain what article the parties consider to be applicable to the suit as framed. If the application of a particular article raises a question of fact, an issue should be struck on those facts; and if the facts are not in dispute, it may be possible to decide the question on purely legal arguments in the initial stages of the case without putting the parties to the expense of a trial. 1935 L. 982. The Court should not decide a suit in a way which is not the case of either party and on matter on which no issue is raised. 15 I.C. 185 = 1912 M.W.N. 177. A specific finding must be given on every issue though two or more issues may be discussed jointly. 20 I.C. 792 = 25 M.L.J. 329. Evidence inadmissible on issues not raised. 53 I.C. 975.

O. 14, R. 1 (3) and (5).—The word “shall” in cls. (3) and (5) of O. 14, R. 1 does not leave any discretion to the Court and makes it mandatory that every proposition affirmed by one party and denied by the other, whether of fact or of law, should be made the subject-matter of an issue. Even if substantial justice is done, the failure to frame an issue should not be overlooked, because an act which is obligatory under the statute must be done and the omission to do it cannot be condoned by the fact that substantial justice has been done. 184 I.C. 433 = A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 44. See also 1941 Pesh. 59.

O. 14, R. 1 (5): ‘FIRST HEARING OF SUIT’—MEANING OF.—The words ‘first hearing of the suit’ in O. 13, R. 1 are obviously different from the words ‘the first hearing of the suit’ under O. 14, R. 1, Cl. (5), because parties have not to produce their documents till issues are framed. First hearing would clearly extend at least up to period of the

2. Where issues both of law and of fact arise in the same suit, and the Court is of opinion that the case or any part thereof may be disposed of on the issues of law only, it shall try those issues first, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, postpone the settlement of the issues of fact until after the issues of law have been determined.

Issues of law and of fact.
Materials from which issues may be framed.

3. The Court may frame the issues from all or any of the following materials:—

(a) allegations made on oath by the parties, or by any persons present on their behalf, or made by the pleaders of such parties;

NOTES.

'first hearing of the suit, referred to in O. 13, R. 1. Hence it cannot be said that the powers conferred by O. 14, R. 1 (5) only extend to the first discussion of issues and not to any subsequent ones which intervene between the 'first hearing of the suit' as meant by R. 1, Cl. (5) and the first hearing as meant by O. 13, R. 1. 1935 M. 261.

O. 14, R. 2: SECTION MANDATORY.—R. 2 is mandatory; the only thing left open to Court is to form and express an opinion of whether the case can be disposed of on the issue of law, but the opinion even if expressed must be expressed upon some reasonable materials. 17 Pat.L.T. 253=1936 P. 250.

OBJECT OF RULE—DISCRETION OF COURT.—In deciding the question as to whether Court should grant or refuse a prayer to try a preliminary issue on a point of law, some harmony is to be observed between the general principle that it is undesirable to try cases piecemeal and the specific and wholesome provision of R. 2 which is for the purpose of preventing the injustice of a party being able to force his opponent go at great length into evidence when the simple decision on a point of law might render the investigation of the facts unnecessary. 17 Pat.L.T. 253=1936 P. 250.

APPLICATION OF THE RULE.—Provisions of this rule, as to trying issues of law before those of fact only come into operation at the first hearing of the suit. 4 B. 578. This rule and O. 15, R. 3 have no application to a case where application is made after the date fixed for first hearing for the trial of some issues raised in a suit, as issues of law, without taking evidence. The question should be dealt with quite irrespective of the provisions of the Code. 57 C.L.J. 127=1933 C. 559. R. 2 does not apply to cases in which issues of fact have not been settled but applies to cases, where Court has not postponed the settlement of issues of fact. 28 I.C. 818=19 C.W.N. 1193. It applies when on settlement of issues Court thinks there are issues of law upon which the case or some part thereof may be disposed of; then those issues of fact may be postponed. 15 L.W. 667=68 I.C. 167. See also 57 C.L.J. 127=1933 C. 559. As to limitation on the power, see 89 I.C. 814=1925 P. 674. Court acts illegally, if it treats issues raising mixed questions of law and fact, as involving only questions of law and decides without taking evidence. 26 I.C. 954=20 C.L.J. 426. On this section, see also 5 R. 527. Under R. 2 Court must decide whether the case can be disposed of on the issue or issues of law in the first place, and if it is of opinion that the case may be disposed of on those issues only, it has no option but must decide those issues first. Where the defendant applied to have the issue relating to the jurisdiction of the Court tried first, but the Court rejected the application on the ground that it was not desirable to decide the case piecemeal, held, that as the Court had failed to consider at all the question whether the case may be disposed of on the legal issue alone, it had acted irregularly and that the order of dismissal may be interfered with in revision. 146 I.C. 792=1933 A.L.J. 707=1933 A. 753. See also I.L.R. (1938) All. 198=1938 All. 113.

PRELIMINARY ISSUE OF FACT.—Under R. 2 Court has no power to frame a preliminary issue of fact, though, no doubt, when Court has framed issues which properly arise, Court may come to the conclusion that one or more of these issues should be tried first and independently, because the evidence on such issue or issues can be conveniently separated from the rest of the evidence and the finding on that issue or issues may render the trial of other issues unnecessary. 56 B. 224=137 I.C. 362=1932 B. 128. See also 1932 M.W.N. 331. Where, in a suit, there are several issues of fact and law, if there is a preliminary issue of law, the decision of which may obviate the examination of a large number of witnesses, it is desirable and proper that such issue should be determined before the witnesses are called. In such a case it is not the proper procedure to take the evidence on all the issues and then decide the case finally. The mere fact that findings on preliminary issues give rise to revision applications and cause delay is no ground for postponing the determination of such issues. 18 N.L.J. 339. The burden of proof is fixed when the issues are framed, and after that it is merely a case of considering the evidence. Once the pleadings are complete the burden of proof is not transferred from side to side in the course of the proceedings. 146 I.C. 445=1933 R. 174.

REVISION.—It is for trial Court to decide in what order it will decide the issues and High Court will not interfere in revision in order to make a direction on this point. 1933 A. 749. But see 146 I.C. 792.

O. 14, R. 3.—See 3 B. 210 (213); 11 C. 407 (410); 12 W.R. 512; 27 A. 266.

(b) allegations made in the pleadings or in answers to interrogatories delivered in the suit ;

(c) the contents of documents produced by either party.

4. Where the Court is of opinion that the issues cannot be correctly framed without the examination of some person not before the Court or without the inspection of some document not produced in the suit, it may adjourn the framing of the issues to a future day, and may (subject to any law for the time being in force) compel the attendance of any person or the production of any document by the person in whose possession or power it is by summons or other process.

Court may examine witnesses or documents before framing issues.

Disposal of the Suit at the first hearing.

 Parties not at issue.

3. (1) Where the parties are at issue on some question of law or of fact, and issues have been framed by the Court as hereinbefore provided, if the Court is satisfied that no further argument or evidence than the parties can at once adduce is required upon such of the issues as may be sufficient for the decision of the suit, and that no injustice will result from proceeding with the suit forthwith, the Court may proceed to determine such issues, and, if the finding thereon is sufficient for the decision, may pronounce judgment accordingly, whether the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only or for the final disposal of the suit :
 Parties at issue.

Provided that, where the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only, the parties or their pleaders are present and none of them objects.

ORDER XVI.

Summoning and Attendance of Witnesses.

1. At any time after the suit is instituted, the parties may obtain, on application to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf, summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. The following proviso is added by the Allahabad High Court :—
“ Provided that no party who had begun to call his witnesses shall be entitled to obtain process to enforce the attendance of any witnesses against whom process has not previously issued, or to call any witness not named in a list, which must be filed in Court before the hearing of evidence on his behalf has commenced, without an order of the Judge made in writing and stating the reasons therefor.”

[BOMBAY]. The following shall be added as R. 1-A to O. 16 :—

“ 1-A. (1) The Court may, on the application of any party for a summons for the attendance of any person, permit that service of such summons shall be effected by such party.

NOTES.

O. 16, R. 1.—Under R. 1, Court has no discretion in the matter of an application for summonses on witnesses if such application be made before the day of hearing. 68 I. C. 272. See also 132 I. C. 579=1931 L. 135; 27 Bom. L. R. 471=1925 B. 368; 15 B. 86; 16 A. 218; 57 C. 560 at 565=1929 C. 459=49 C. L. J. 546. The word ‘may’ in O. 1, means “it shall be lawful” unless an application, on the face of it, is frivolous and vexatious, the Court has no discretion except to summon the witnesses. If an application is made too late and the service on the witness cannot be effected in time, it is no doubt within the discretion of the Court to adjourn the date of the hearing or not, but that is no reason whatsoever why a party should not be given an opportunity, if he is prepared to take the chance of having the presence of the witness secured by serving a notice upon him. 17 L. 775. See also 1938 Rang. 360. Even where application is too late Court has no power to refuse to summon witnesses; it may refuse to adjourn the case. 87 I. C. 355=1925 L. 67. See also 1938 Rang. 360; 101 I. C. 541=1927 L. 281; see also 96 I. C. 448=1926 P. 545; 1926 C. 364; 1929 P. 622. Where one party desires the presence of the opposite party in Court for purpose of examining him as a witness the proper procedure to adopt is the one under O. 16 and not under the proviso to O. 3, R. 1. 146 I. C. 536=1933 M. 821=65 M. L. J. 734. The legitimate privilege of taking out summons to witnesses is subject to the control of the tribunal which is called upon to enforce their attendance though such control will be sparingly exercised, and only in exceptional cases. When a person’s attendance is required from ulterior motives, a commission may be issued.

28 M. 28. Judge’s discretion in not compelling the attendance of witnesses must be exercised on reasonable grounds distinctly stated in the judgment. 7 W. R. 147. Detailed reasons, for refusal, need not be given. 6 W. R. 65. Direction to witnesses to appear—Adjournment of hearing by Court if can be made. 15 I. C. 367=22 M. L. J. 409. The fact that a party has undertaken to bring his witnesses is no ground for refusing to summon them. 6 B. 472. Where witnesses summoned are absent, further opportunity should be allowed. 4 Pat. L. T. 545=1924 P. 36. And the case cannot be decided on the ground that the witnesses, if produced, would not have supported the case of the party producing them. 86 I. C. 1012=1925 L. 572. The witness can produce documents not referred to in the summons. 88 I. C. 498=1925 C. 1149.

O. 16, R. 1: Proviso (Lahore)—APPLICABILITY.—Court cannot refuse to examine the witnesses whose names were included in the original list and who were present on the date of hearing. R. 1, Proviso (local amendment) does not apply. 1934 L. 317. The proviso to R. 1 added by the Lahore High Court, does not say that all the witnesses have to be named in the list filed. The party can file his list up till the moment when he actually commences to lead evidence. 157 I. C. 431=1935 L. 488. R. 1 is a technical one and in the absence of any prejudice to either party, Court is not justified in refusing to examine the witnesses on the ground that they were not mentioned in the list. The rule gives the Court discretion to allow witnesses to be examined even if they are not mentioned in the list if it is satisfied that there are sufficient reasons for doing so. The rule should not be applied mechanically. 1941 Lah. 38.

(2) When the Court has directed service of the summons by the party applying for the same and such service is not effected, the Court may, if it is satisfied that reasonable diligence has been used by such party to effect such service, permit service to be effected by an officer of the Court."

[LAHORE]. Add the following proviso :—

" Provided that no party who has begun to call his witness shall be entitled to obtain process to enforce the attendance of any witness against whom process has not previously issued, or to produce any witness not named in a list, which must be filed in Court on or before the date on which the hearing of evidence on his behalf commences and before the actual commencement of the hearing of such evidence, without an order of the Court made in writing and stating the reasons therefor."

[N.-W.F.P]. Substitute the following for R. 1 :—

" 1. (1) On such date as the Court may appoint and not later than 30 days after the settlement of issues, the parties shall present in Court a list of witnesses whom they propose to call either to give evidence or to produce documents.

(2) They shall not be permitted to call witnesses other than those contained in the said list, except with the permission of the Court and after showing good cause for the omission of the said witnesses from the list ; the Court granting such permission shall record reasons for so doing.

(3) On the application to Court or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, the parties may obtain summonses for persons whose attendance is required in Court."

[OUDH]. Substitute for R. 1 the following :—

" (1) 1. The Court may, in any suit or class of suits, require any party to file by a date to be fixed by the Court, a list of witnesses whom he proposes to produce ; and may, if necessary, direct that such list be kept in a sealed envelope for such time as the Court considers desirable.

Where such a list has been called for from any party, the latter shall not, except for special reasons, be permitted to summon or produce as witness, any person whose name has not been entered in the list.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-r. (1) the parties may, after the suit is instituted, obtain on application to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf, summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents."

[SINDH]. Add the following as R. 1-A after R. 1 :—

" 1-A. The Court may, on the application of any party for a summons for the attendance of any person as a witness, permit that service of such summons shall be effected by such party."

2. (1) The party applying for a summons shall, before the summons is granted and within a period to be fixed, pay into Court such a sum of money as appears to the Court to be sufficient to defray the travelling and other expenses of the person summoned in passing to and from the Court in which he is required to attend, and for one day's attendance.

(2) In determining the amount payable under this rule, the Court may, in the case of any person summoned to give evidence as an expert, allow reasonable remuneration for the time occupied both in giving evidence and in performing any work of an expert character necessary for the case.

(3) Where the Court is subordinate to a High Court, regard shall be had, in fixing the scale of such expenses, to any rules made in that behalf.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. To O. 16, R. 2, add :—

" (4) This rule shall not apply, in cases to which Government is a party, in the case of witnesses who are Government servants whose salary exceeds Rs. 10 per mensem and who are summoned to give evidence in their public capacity at a Court situated more than five miles from their headquarters."

[BOMBAY]. Insert as proviso to sub-rule (1) of R. 2 of O. 16 :—

" Provided that where Government or a public officer being a party to a suit or proceeding, as such public officer supported by Government in the litigation, applies for a summons to any public officer to whom the Civil Service Regulations apply, to give evidence of facts which have come to his knowledge, or of matters with which he has had to deal as a public officer, or to produce any documents from public records, the Government or the aforesaid officer shall not be required to pay any sum of money on account of the travelling and other expenses of such witness."

7. Any person present in Court may be required by the Court to give evidence or to produce any document then and there in his possession or power.

LOC. AM.—[CALCUTTA]. Insert the following :—

" 7-A. (i) Except where it appears to the Court that a summons under this Order should be served by the Court in the same manner as a summons to a defendant, the Court shall make over for service all summons under this Order to the party applying therefor. The service shall be effected by or on behalf of such party by delivering or tendering to the witness in person a copy thereof signed by the Judge or such officer as he appoints in this behalf and sealed with the seal of the Court.

(ii) Rules 16 and 18 of O. 5, shall apply to summons personally served under this rule, as though the person effecting service were a serving officer.

(iii) If such summons, when tendered, is refused or if the person served refuses to sign an acknowledgment of service or if for any reason such summons cannot be served personally, the Court shall, on the application of the party, re-issue such summons to be served by the Court in like manner as a summons to a defendant."

8. Every summons under this Order shall be served as nearly as may be in the same manner as a summons to a defendant, and the rules in Order V as to proof of service shall apply in the case of all summonses served under this rule.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. For the words in line 1 " under this order shall be served" read " under this order may by leave of the Court be served by the party or his agent, applying for the same, by personal service and failing such service shall be served."

[CALCUTTA]. Rule 8. Cancel R. 8 and substitute therefor the following :—

" 8. (1) Every summons under this Order not being a summons made over to a party for service under r. 7-A (1) of this Order, shall be served as nearly as may be in the same manner as a summons to a defendant, and the rules in O. 5, as to proof of service shall apply thereto.

(2) The party applying for a summons to be served under this rule shall, before the summons is granted and within a period to be fixed, pay into Court the sum fixed by the Court under R. 2 of this Order."

[OUDH]. In Oudh add the following provisos :—

" Provided that any party may, with the sanction of the Court, himself or by his agent effect service on his own witness, as if he were an officer of the Court ; but in this case no diet money paid to a witness by a party or by his agent shall be included in the costs of the suit unless the witness verifies such payment before an officer of the Court :

Provided also that the special procedure for the service of summons upon defendant under O 5, R. 20-A (1) shall not apply to service of summons under this order."

[PATNA]. Add the following proviso to R. 8 :—

" Provided that a summons under this Order may by leave of the Court be served by the party or his agent, applying for the same, by personal service. If such service is not effected and the Court is satisfied that reasonable diligence has been used by the party or his agent to effect such service, then the summons shall be served by the Court in the usual manner."

[RANGOON]. The following proviso shall be added :—

" Provided that, at the request of a party or his pleader, a summons for service on a witness or witnesses, whose attendance is required by such party may be delivered to such party or his pleader for service by a person employed by such party or his pleader, and the rules in O. 5, as to service and proof of service shall apply in such case as if the person employed by such party or his pleader to effect service were the officer of the Court whose duty it is to effect service of summons."

and time of the day when attendance is required. 5 A, 7.

O. 16, R. 8.—The rule is one in favour of the witness, and for enforcing diligence on the party. 9 B. 308 (310).

9. Service shall in all cases be made a sufficient time before the time specified in the summons for the attendance of the person summoned, to allow him a reasonable time for preparation and for travelling to the place at which his attendance is required.

LOC. AM.—[RANGOON]. The following shall be added :—

“Where the person summoned is a public officer or servant of the Railway Company, sufficient time shall also be allowed in order to give the witness an opportunity of communicating with his departmental superior, so as to arrange for the discharge of his duties during his temporary absence from his post.”

10. (1) Where a person to whom a summons has been issued either to attend to give evidence or to produce a document fails to attend or to produce the document in compliance with such summons, the Court shall, if the certificate of the serving officer has not been verified by affidavit, and may, if it has been so verified, examine the serving officer on oath, or cause him to be so examined by another Court, touching the service or non-service of the summons.

(2) Where the Court sees reason to believe that such evidence or production is material, and that such person has, without lawful excuse, failed to attend or to produce the document in compliance with such summons or has intentionally avoided service, it may issue a proclamation requiring him to attend to give evidence or to produce the document at a time and place to be named therein; and a copy of such proclamation shall be affixed on the outer door or other conspicuous part of the house in which he ordinarily resides.

(3) In lieu of or at the time of issuing such proclamation, or at any time afterwards, the Court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant, either with or without bail, for the arrest of such person, and may make an order for the attachment of his property to such amount as it thinks fit, not exceeding the amount of the costs of attachment and of any fine which may be imposed under rule 12 :

Provided that no Court of Small Causes shall make an order for the attachment of immovable property.

11. Where, at any time after the attachment of his property, such person appears and satisfies the Court,—

(a) that he did not, without lawful excuse, fail to comply with the summons or intentionally avoid service, and

(b) where he has failed to attend at the time and place named in a proclamation issued under the last preceding rule, that he had no notice of such proclamation in time to attend, the Court shall direct that the property be released from attachment, and shall make such order as to costs, of the attachment as it thinks fit.

NOTES.

O. 16, R. 10.—The main purpose of proceedings taken under O. 16, R. 10, is to indicate the authority of the Court, though incidentally a party who secures the presence of a witness may also benefit, if, as a result of the proceedings, the witness should ultimately appear. A person who asks the Court to attach certain property as the property of a witness under O. 16, R. 10 cannot be placed on the same footing as a decree-holder who moves the Court to attach certain properties as the properties of his judgment-debtor, because the proceedings to enforce the attendance of a witness are the act of the Court. The same legal consequences cannot therefore follow if the property attached happens to be not of the witness but of another. A party therefore who moves the Court under O. 16, R. 10 and gets attached wrongly and carelessly properties of some other person as properties of the witness, cannot be held liable for damages for trespass in a suit by the owner of the properties, especially when the party is not shown to have acted maliciously. 1937 M. 811=46 L.W. 966. Where an application is made at a very late stage of the case, to enforce the provisions of this rule, Court is justified in not adjourning the case. 15 W.R. 176. Non-appearance of witness—Court should not insist on party taking out warrant if the party offers to produce the witness himself. 101 I.C. 257 (2)=1927 L. 424 (1).

O. 16, R. 10 (3).—See 7 P. 312; 1928 L. 979.

12. The Court may, where such person does not appear, or appears but fails so to satisfy the Court, impose upon him such fine not exceeding five hundred rupees as it thinks fit, having regard to his condition in life and all the circumstances of the case, and may order his property, or any part thereof, to be attached and sold or, if already attached under rule 10, to be sold for the purpose of satisfying all costs of such attachment, together with the amount of the said fine, if any :

Procedure if witness fails to appear. Provided that, if the person whose attendance is required pays into Court the costs and fine aforesaid, the Court shall order the property to be released from attachment.

13. The provisions with regard to the attachment and sale of property in the execution of a decree shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to any attachment and sale under this Order as if the person whose property is so attached were a judgment-debtor.

14. Subject to the provisions of this Code as to attendance and appearance and to any law for the time being in force, where the Court at any time thinks it necessary to examine any person other than a party to the suit and not called as a witness by a party to the suit, the Court may, of its own motion, cause such person to be summoned as a witness to give evidence, or to produce any document in his possession, on a day to be appointed, and may examine him as a witness or require him to produce such document.

15. Subject as last aforesaid, whoever is summoned to appear and give evidence in a suit shall attend at the time and place named in the summons for that purpose, and whoever is summoned to produce a document shall either attend to produce it, or cause it to be produced, at such time and place.

16. (1) A person so summoned and attending shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, attend at each hearing until the suit has been disposed of.

(2) On the application of either party and the payment through the Court of all necessary expenses (if any), the Court may require any person so summoned

NOTES.

O. 16, R. 12.—No order under R. 12 can be made until the procedure laid down in R. 10 had been followed, where that rule applies. 33 I.C. 968=20 C.W.N. 511; 57 I.C. 302; 1929 A. 850. But see 48 M. 941=49 M.L.J. 438, where it has been held that there need not be any issue of proclamation or attachment of property before the fine is imposed. If an order for attachment of property is made, and the person concerned fails to attend in obedience to a warrant, Court may impose upon him a fine under R. 12. 55 I.C. 425=31 C.L.J. 363. When witness or party is present, and Court directs him by word of mouth to produce a document, and there cannot be the slightest mistake as to the witness or the party having received information of such direction, it will be merely making a travesty of procedure to insist upon the Court issuing a summons to a witness who is present. On failure by a witness to produce the document he can be fined without going through the cumbrous procedure. 116 I.C. 483=1929 A.

99. Both arrest and attachment cannot be ordered. 51 I. C. 967=27 M. L. T. 95. Court is not bound to compel attendance of a witness in absence of an application by a party to that effect. 57 I.C. 311. Where witness appears, but is unable to produce the document, it is illegal to impose a fine upon him. 61 I.C. 967.

O. 16, R. 14: EXAMINATION OF PLEADER AS COURT WITNESS.—Court may refuse to examine the lawyer of one party as a Court witness when in dealing with his client's case he is aware of every detail which was expected to be elicited from him. Thus it will not be fair to examine him after the details had been discussed in two Courts. 12 P. 359=1933 P. 306. A witness called by the Court is liable to be cross-examined by any of the parties. 11 W.R. 468.

O. 16, R. 16.—The rule has been amended so as to meet the ruling in 5 M.H.C.R. 132. These rules have no application to a case where a party to a suit desires to give evidence of his own motion in his own favour. 35 C.L.J. 7=68 I.C. 9.

and attending to furnish security to attend at the next or any other hearing or until the suit is disposed of and, in default of his furnishing such security, may order him to be detained in the Civil prison.

LOC. AM.—[LAHORE]. Add the following :—

(3) In the absence of the presiding officer the powers conferred by sub-rule (2) may be exercised by the Senior Subordinate Judge of the First Class exercising jurisdiction at the headquarters of the District, or by any judge or Court-official nominated by him for the purpose:

Provided that a Court Official nominated for the purpose, shall not, order a person, who fails to furnish such security as may be required by sub-rule (2) to be detained in prison but shall refer the case immediately to the Presiding Officer on his return.

17. The provisions of rules 10 to 13, shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to any person who having attended in compliance with a summons departs, without lawful excuse, in contravention of rule 16.

18. Where any person arrested under a warrant is brought before the Court in custody and cannot, owing to the absence of the parties, or any of them, give the evidence or produce the document which he has been summoned to give or produce, the Court may require him to give reasonable bail or other security for his appearance at such time and place as it thinks fit, and, on such bail or security being given, may release him, and in default of his giving such bail or security, may order him to be detained in the civil prison.

Procedure where witness apprehended cannot give evidence or produce document.

19. No one shall be ordered to attend in person to give evidence unless he resides—

(a) within the local limits of the Court's ordinary original jurisdiction, or

(b) without such limits but at a place less than fifty or (where there is railway or steamer communication or other established public conveyance for five-sixths of the distance between the place where he resides and the place where the Court is situate) less than two hundred miles distance from the Court-house.

20. Where any party to a suit present in Court refuses, without lawful excuse, when required by the Court, to give evidence or to produce any document then and there in his possession or power, the Court may pronounce judgment against him or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

Consequence of refusal of party to give evidence when called on by Court.

NOTES.

O. 16, R. 17.—Unless it can be clearly held that a witness was expressly directed to re-attend the Court on a particular date, and that he understood that he was so required by the Court, and that he in spite of it failed to re-attend as required, he cannot be liable to be dealt with under O. 16, R. 17. In the absence of any definite order of the Court borne out by the record pointing to the existence of any such direction requiring him to attend, a mere impression on the part of the Judge that the witness had so been ordered to attend, does not justify the Court in proceeding under O. 16, R. 17, for his failure to attend. 180 I.C. 102=A.I. 21. (1) When any party to a suit is required by any other party thereto to give evidence or to produce a document, the provisions as to witnesses shall apply to him so far as applicable.

(2) When any party to a suit gives evidence on his own behalf, the Court may, in its discretion, permit him to include as costs in the suit a sum of money equal to the amount payable for travelling and other expenses to other witnesses in the case of similar standing.

[MADRAS]. O. XVI, R. 21. Substitute the following for R. 21 :—

Rules in case of parties appearing as witnesses. (1) When a party to a suit is required by any other party thereto to give evidence or to produce a document, the provisions as to witnesses shall apply to him so far as applicable.

(2) When a party to a suit gives evidence on his own behalf, the Court may, in its discretion, permit him to include as costs in the suit a sum of money equal to the amount payable for travelling and other expenses to other witnesses in the case of similar standing.

[ALLAHABAD]. Add the following to O. 16 as Rules. 22 and 23 :—

“22. (1) Save as provided in this rule and in R. 2, the Court shall allow travelling and other expenses on the following scale :—(a) In the case of witnesses of the class of cultivators, labourers and menials, six annas a day ; (b) in the case of witnesses of a better class such as zemindars, traders, pleaders, and persons of corresponding rank, from eight annas to two rupees a day, as the Court may direct ; and (c) in the case of witnesses of superior rank, including officers of Government in receipt of salary of not less than Rs. 200 a month, from three to five rupees a day.

(2) If a witness demands any sum in excess of what has been paid to him, such sum shall be allowed if he satisfies the Court that he has actually necessarily incurred the additional expense.

A post office or railway employee summoned to give evidence is entitled to demand from the party on whose behalf or at whose instance he is summoned the travelling and other expenses allowed to witnesses of the class or rank to which he belongs, and in addition the sum for which he is liable as payment to the substitute officiating during his absence from duty. The sum so payable in respect of the substitute will be certified by the official superior of that witness on a slip which the witness will present to the Court from which the summons was issued.

(3) If a witness be detained for a longer period than one day the expenses of his detention shall be allowed at such rate not usually exceeding that payable under cl. (i) of this rule as may seem to the Court to be reasonable and proper :

Provided that the Court may, for reasons stated in writing, allow expenses on a higher scale than that hereinbefore prescribed.”

“23. In cases to which Government is a party, Government servants, whose salary exceeds Rs. 10 per mensem and all police constables whatever their salary may be who are summoned to give evidence in their official capacity at a Court situated more than five miles from their headquarters shall be given a certificate of attendance by the Court in lieu of travelling and other expenses.”

ORDER XVII.

ADJOURNMENTS.

1. (1) The Court may, if sufficient cause is shown, at any stage of the suit Court may grant time and grant time to the parties or to any of them, and may adjourn hearing. from time to time adjourn the hearing of the suit.

NOTES.

O. 16, R. 21.—See 140 I.C. 716=1932 N. 135, cited under O. 16, R. 19. Court has no power under R. 21 or any other provision of the Code to order travelling expenses of a party to the suit who has given evidence in support of his own case, by way of costs to him. 41 L.W. 186=68 M.L.J. 203=159 I.C. 319=1935 M. 244.

O. 17, R. 1: APPLICABILITY OF O. 17 TO AN APPLICATION UNDER O. 34, R. 5.—See 31 S.L.R. 180.

APPLICATION OF THE RULE.—The rule does not apply to an adjournment not made at the instance of the parties. 2 C.W.N. 490.

Application for adjournments should not be belated. 83 I.C. 257=1925 N. 536 (2). Non-compliance with a provision of law does not give a party an absolute right to insist on an adjournment. 5 Pat.L.J. 390. Adjournment is in the discretion of Court. 24 I.C. 206; 37 I.C. 266=1 Pat.L.J. 173; 27 I.C. 942. See also 17 Pat.L.T. 329=15 P. 561 (S.R.). Court can no doubt refuse to grant an adjournment for good reasons, but if an adjournment be given, the Court cannot refuse to summon witnesses for the adjourned hearing if the process-fees are paid, unless the Court is satisfied that the application for the summons is not made bona

(2) In every such case the Court shall fix a day for the further hearing of the suit and may make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the costs occasioned by the adjournment:

Costs of adjournment. Provided that, when the hearing of evidence has once begun, the hearing of the suit shall be continued from day to day until all the witnesses in attendance have been examined, unless the Court finds the adjournment of the hearing beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. The following proviso is added by the Allahabad High Court:—

Provided further that no such adjournment shall be granted for the purpose of calling a witness not previously summoned or named, nor shall any adjournment be utilised by any party for such purpose, unless the Judge has made an order in writing under the proviso to O. 16, R. 1.

(3) Where sufficient cause is not shown for the grant of an adjournment under sub-R. (1) the Court shall proceed with the suit forthwith.

(ii) To R. 1 (1) before the word "the Court" add the words subject to the provisions of O. XXIII, r. 3"—(H.C. Notification No. 211—dated 21—7—37).

NOTES.

fide or, is an abuse of the power of the Court to summon witnesses. Where, on the other hand, the non-attendance of the witnesses was due to the mistake of the process writer, who had given a wrong date of hearing, Court should adjourn the case to enable the party to summon his witnesses afresh. 146 I.C. 334=16 Nag.L.J. 208=1933 N. 336. Where a person applied to the Court without delay for the issue of summons and paid in the necessary fees and on the date fixed for the recording of evidence, some of the witnesses although duly served refused to come to Court until they had been served through their superior officers and he asked for adjournment but the Court refused it on the ground that sufficient cause had not been made out, High Court can examine the correctness of the order and it was the duty of the Court to see that service was effected. 117 I.C. 891=1929 L. 620. Case transferred without notice to defendant an adjournment should be given if he pleads unpreparedness to go on. 91 I.C. 167=7 P.L.T. 381=1925 P. 534. When the defence set up is of such a nature as to take plaintiff by surprise, time should be granted. 7 W.R. 84. Trial Court alone has power to grant adjournment. 26 I.C. 261=16 M. L.T. 504. Signature of parties or their pleaders to be taken when adjournments are granted. 4 P. 440=1925 P. 807. Court can grant adjournment on the understanding that plaintiff should bear the whole costs of the hearing. 7 C. 177. See also (1941) 1 M.L.J. 305 (Pauper suit); (1938) 1 M.L.J. 793. O. 17, R. 1 gives the Court power to make an order as to costs only in respect of the costs occasioned by the adjournment and not the costs of the suit generally. The rule does not entitle the Court to demand payment of the entire costs of the suit incurred up to the date on which the adjournment is asked for. What can be allowed is only the costs of the day including a reasonable fee to the legal practitioner engaged by the opposite party. 47 L. W. 780=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 711=(1938 1 M.L.J. 793. If costs are not paid, the suit is liable to be dismissed. 35 I.C. 534. Where such a condition is imposed on the defendant and he fails so to pay, Court can strike off the defence and proceed ex parte. 47 A. 538=23 A.L.J. 312. But payment on the same day should not be insisted on. 1925 C. 570=78 I.C. 125. When a pleader is asked to admit the genuineness of certain documents there and then, he is entitled to consult his client; and the Court, simply because the pleader wants a short adjournment to receive proper instructions, should not burden him with costs. 38 P.L.R. 896=1936 Lah. 705. (Rev.) 230.

O. 17, Rr. 1 and 3.—The words 'may make such orders as it thinks fit' occurring in Sub-R. (2) of R. 1 of O. 17, are sufficiently wide to cover a condition to be imposed as a penalty if the costs of an adjournment are not paid. An order of dismissal can be made under R. 1 and R. 1 cannot be restricted by R. 3 of the same order. 186 I. C. 473=1940 N. L. J. 104=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 158.

O. 17, R. 1 and O. 33, R. 8.—In a suit filed in forma pauperis, the plaintiff was not ready at the date of the hearing and on his application the Court adjourned the case directing as a condition precedent that the plaintiff should pay day costs to the defendants within the next hearing date. The words "or make such other order as it thinks fit" do not include a decision on the merits. 89 I.C. 418 = 1925 O. 433; 56 C.L.J. 12 = 1933 C. 73. See also 138 I.C. 200 = 1932 L. 477. (These words do not include an order under R. 3.) Where defendant is absent on the adjourned hearing and judgment is pronounced on the same day, the order should be presumed to be under R. 2 in absence of mention otherwise in the judgment and an application to have the decree set aside as being ex parte one would lie. 47 A. 140 = 85 I.C. 470. No appeal will lie from an order under this rule. 19 A. 355. See also 10 M. 270. Where, however, Court purports to decide the case on the merits, the remedy of the aggrieved party is by appeal. 84 I.C. 521 (1) = 1925 A. 252. See 96 I.C. 564 = 1926 A. 720; 4 R. 408 = 1927 R. 46. An order dismissing the suit, when both the pleader and the client, who was present retired from the case, is one under R. 2 though the decree was wrongly drawn up and it is not appealable. 32 I.C. 766 (C.); 4 R. 408 = 1927 R. 46. See also 1937 All. 347. Where on the date fixed for hearing of the suit, defendant's pleader appeared and applied for an adjournment, adjournment was refused and the suit was decreed, held, that the decree was not an ex parte decree. 1934 A. 107. A disinction should be drawn between the case of a pleader who states that he has no instructions and the case of a pleader who states that he has instructions for a limited purpose of making an application for adjournment. The former case does not come under the Explanation to R. 2. 1933 A.L.J. 1298 = 1933 A. 652. See also 1934 M. 199 = 39 L.W. 353. Dismissal is not proper where the pleader is present but is unprepared to argue. Court is bound to proceed and decide on the merits. 83 I.C. 257 = 1925 N. 236 (2). But see 133 I.C. 622 = 1931 A.L.J. 646 = 1931 A. 703. Revision lies against such dismissal on the ground of material irregularity. (Ibid.) Instructions only to ask for adjournment—Dismissal is one under R. 2. 74 I.C. 693; 4 R. 408. But see also 133 I.C. 622 = 1931 A.L.J. 646 = 1931 A. 703. In a case where the plaintiff is absent and his pleader is present but has no instructions to appear for the day, it is, in the eye of law, no appearance at all on behalf of the plaintiff and the Court must dispose of the case under the provisions of R. 2 and not R. 3. 117 I.C. 73. Order dismissing suit after preliminary decree is without jurisdiction. 51 I.A. 321 = 4 P. 61 (P.C.). See also 6 P.L.T. 152 = 86 I.C. 785. Under R. 2 it is discretionary and not obligatory on the Court to proceed in each case in the manner directed by O. 9. The discretion is exercised improperly if the suit is dismissed for default when the plaintiff has at an earlier hearing made a definite case, which if uncontradicted would entitle him to a decree. In such instances the case should be adjourned to another date. 1929 P. 248. Where there is a default and there is not enough material on record to enable the Court to pronounce judgment, Court should proceed under O. 17, R. 2. 41 C. 956 = 18 C.W.N. 775. A party had summoned witnesses who did not appear in spite of the summons. Held, that this did not amount to default in appearance of the party within R. 2. 33 A. 690. Under R. 3 Court must have material to decide the case on the merits. 1925 O. 278 = 78 I.C. 240. Where a Court wrongly holds that no application under O. 9, R. 13 lies to set aside an order under the rule, it amounts to refusal to exercise jurisdiction and revision is competent. 47 A. 140 = 85 I.C. 470. LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. Add to R. 2 :—

Where on any such day the evidence, or a substantial portion of the evidence, of any party has been recorded and such party fails to appear, the Court may, in its discretion, proceed with the case as if such party were present, and may dispose of it on the merits.

Explanation.—No party shall be deemed to have failed to appear if he is either present or is represented in Court by an agent or pleader, though engaged only for the purpose of making an application.

(2) Where, before any such day, the evidence of a substantial portion of the evidence of any party has been recorded, and such party fails to appear on such day the Court may, in its discretion proceed with the case as if such party were present and may dispose of it on the merits.

Explanation.—No party shall be deemed to have failed to appear if he is either present in person, or is represented in Court by his agent or pleader, though engaged only for the purpose of making an application.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Where a party seeks to set aside an order under this rule the proper course is to apply under O. 9, R. 13 and not under O. 47, R. 1. 37 C. W.N. 1045. In a case falling under this rule when both parties failed to appear on the date of the adjourned hearing, the Court should usually proceed under O. 9, R. 3 and should only use its discretion in granting an adjournment when there is some good reason for the default. 29 N.L.R. 326. See also 148 I.C. 521=34 P.L.R. 1027=1934 L. 56; 1933 N. 234=29 N.L.R. 326.

APPEAL.—If an order is made under O. 17, R. 2 read with O. 9, R. 8, then it is as though it were an order under O. 9, R. 8 and is not appealable at all. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 574=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 213.

O. 17, R. 2, Expl. (ALLAHABAD) [See NOTES UNDER O. 9, Rr. 8 TO 13.]—Defendants failing to appear on date of final hearing—Pleader asking for adjournment and on refusal by Court reporting no instructions—Decree ex parte—Setting aside of—Jurisdiction. See 1935 A.L.J. 377=1935 A. 565; 1937 A.L.J. 239=1937 A. 347; 1937 Rang. 437; 1937 Mad. 674; 1940 A.W.R. (H.C.) 161. Plaintiff's counsel applying for adjournment during plaintiff's absence—Court refusing adjournment and dismissing suit for default—Plaintiff's remedy. See 1936 A.L.J. 635=1936 A. 659. The mere filing of the list of witnesses before the case has been called on for hearing does not amount to an appearance within the meaning of the explanation to R. 2. The failure to appear takes place only when the suit is called on for hearing even though it be an adjourned hearing. If at the time the case is called on for hearing either party is present or is represented in Court by an agent or pleader then he has not failed to appear, but if at that time he is neither present nor represented by an agent or pleader, he has failed to appear. The mere fact that at an earlier stage, something almost mechanical as the filing of a list of witnesses, is done by a pleader on his behalf before the case is called on for hearing, cannot amount either to appearance or being represented in Court by an agent or pleader at the time when the case is called on for hearing. A decree passed against a defendant in a suit under such circumstances in the absence of the defendant and his pleader, is therefore ex parte although passed under O. 17, R. 3 and he is entitled as of right to show cause for his non-appearance under O. 9, R. 13. The Court holding that it has no jurisdiction to consider the matter errs in the exercise of its jurisdiction. 1936 A.L.J. 1274=1936 A. 619. See also 1939 Mad. 974=(1939) 2 M. L.J. 611.

O. 17, Rr. 2 and 3: SCOPE AND CONSTRUCTION.—Rules 2 and 3 are mutually exclusive and where the vakil pleads no instructions and the party is not prepared to go on R. 2 applies. 148 I.C. 177 (1)=39 L.W. 353=1934 M. 199 (1). See also 1934 A. 107; 1934 A. 652; 30 N.L.R. 94=1933 N. 370=149 I.C. 512. See also 18 R.D. 421. Where the right course for a Judge in the circumstances of a case was to decide the case under O. 17, R. 2, but the judgment mentioned O. 17, R. 3, it must be presumed that the Judge intended to act under R. 2 and that the entry of R. 3 was an accidental slip for R. 2. The fact that the Judge also mentioned O. 9, R. 6 in his order bears out the same conclusion. 169 I.C. 226=1937 O.L.R. 360=1937 O. W.N. 620. The last words of R. 2 of O. 17, confer on the Court a discretion, but it is a discretion which must be exercised judicially. A Judge, in exercising such discretion may grant a further adjournment, or, if the circumstances justify such a course, he can pass an order on the merits; but he must have material before him to justify that course. If there is no evidence before him, he cannot in the exercise of judicial discretion proceed to deal with the case on merits; he must either dispose of the matter under O. 9, or else grant an adjournment. R. 3 of O. 17 is not in terms confined to default of appearance as is R. 2, though it may be brought into operation by default of appearance. It deals with the failure by a party to do an act for which he has been allowed time; and even under R. 3, the Court must have materials to enable it to exercise its proper discretion by deciding the case on merits. Where the hearing of a suit has been adjourned under O. 15, R. 3 for the production of evidence by the parties and the plaintiff fails to appear on the adjourned date, it cannot be said that O. 17, R. 3, applies. The case falls under O. 17, R. 2, and if there is no material before the Court, the Court can only dismiss the case for want of appearance if it does not grant an adjournment. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 150=42 Bom.L.R. 1111=1941 Bom. 83. R. 3 cannot apply where the adjournment is not at the instance of a party but under the ordinary procedure of the Court, as the witnesses present could not be examined on the date fixed for hearing. 1933 N. 234=29 N.L.R. 326. Even when an adjournment has been granted at the instance of one party, who fails to appear at the adjourned hearing, an order should be passed under R. 2 and not under R. 3. (Ibid.). In order to attract the provisions of R. 3, two conditions must co-exist; (i) the application for adjournment must be at the instance of the party to suit applying for the production of evidence; (ii) there must be some materials on which the Court can proceed to judgment; unless these two conditions are present, the Court should only pass an order under R. 2. If a Court erroneously passes an order which may be of the nature of a decree, an appeal would lie from that order; and the appellate Court which can exercise the same power as a Court of first instance is competent to restore the suit under O. 9, if it comes to the conclusion that there is sufficient cause for doing so. 39 C.W.N. 859. See also 37 C.W.N. 666=1933 C. 412. Where the plaintiff had taken various steps in order to bring the suit to a hearing, had filed documents, cited witnesses and paid a large sum as costs of the local investigation and further the Commissioner's report was already on the record and time had been granted to him to produce his witnesses, the Court should not dispose of the suit under R. 2 of O. 17, but might proceed to decide the suit under R. 3 of O. 17 on the plaintiff failing to produce his witnesses on the date of hearing. 67 C.L.J. 516=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 789. The proper way of construing R. 3 would be that where no default occurring under R. 2, default occurs under R. 3, the Court should proceed under the latter rule and dispose of the case on the merits; but if the default consists in non-appearance, R. 2, which specifically deals with such a case, must in terms apply. Where a suit is adjourned to a date for production of evidence by the defendant, and the latter and his vakil are absent on that date, but another vakil applies for an adjournment on behalf of the vakil on record, and that being refused, reports that he has no further instructions, the decree passed by the Court must be deemed to be an ex parte decree and not a decree on the merits. When the vakil who appears states that he has no instructions beyond applying for an adjournment, it is a contradiction in terms to hold that he does in fact appear, though he says he does not appear. 1936 M. 625=70 M.L.J. 688. In a case where there are no materials on the record the proper procedure to be followed would be that laid down in R. 2, but if there are materials on the record the Court ought to proceed under R. 3. 37 C.W.N. 666=1933 C. 412. See also 1933 A. 907. As to inherent powers of Court to correct errors, see 152 I.C. 211=1934 N. 234. Where plaintiff's pleader appears on the day of adjourned hearing and makes an application for an adjournment which is disallowed, the plaintiff cannot in view of the explanation to the Allahabad and Oudh Rules be deemed to have failed to appear on that occasion. There is accordingly no default of appearance on behalf of the plaintiff and there being no evidence before the Court, the suit is dismissed for want of prosecution. Such an order amounts to a decree dismissing the suit for want of evidence on the merits and not one dismissing it for default of appearance. The plaintiff's remedy is either by way of review or an appeal and not for restoration of suit after setting aside the decree. 1933 A.L.J. 4=1933 A. 41. (34 A. 426, Expl.) O. 17, R. 3: APPLICATION OF THE RULE. [See also NOTES UNDER O. 9, RR. 9 AND 13 supra.]—This rule applies to those cases where time has been given to adduce evidence, and the parties appear, but fail to produce the necessary evidence. 95 I.C. 798 (1). See also 1938 A.M.L.J. 86; 10 M. 270. Where the parties do not appear, R. 2 applies. 10 M. 270; 20 B. 736; 6 M. H.C.R. 262 and 1 M. 287. But see 25 A. 194. R. 3 does not apply where the adjournment was not at the instance of a party but under the ordinary procedure of the Court and there are not materials on record for the Court to proceed to decide the suit. 29 N.L.R. 326. R. 3 gives an option to the Court to decide the suit on the merits. Where time is given to the plaintiff to produce his evidence on the adjourned date, the Court is entitled to decide the suit on the merits. If no evidence is produced by the plaintiff, the Court has no option but

3. Where any party to a suit to whom time has been granted fails to produce his evidence, or to cause the attendance of his witnesses, or to perform any other act necessary to the further progress of the suit, for which time has been allowed, the Court may, notwithstanding such default, proceed to decide the suit forthwith.

“(3) Where any party to a suit, to whom time has been granted fails, without reasonable excuse, to produce his evidence, or to cause the attendance of his witnesses, or to comply with any previous order, or to perform any other act necessary to the further progress of the suit, for which time has been allowed, the Court may, whether such party is present or not, proceed to decide the suit on the merits.”

to dismiss the suit, if it wants to decide it on the merits. In R. 3 of O. 17, there is no provision that a suit can be decided on the merits only if the evidence or a substantial portion of the evidence of the party failing to appear has been recorded. 1935 A.L.J. 209=1935 A. 210. Plaintiff who was represented by a lawyer asked for adjournment of the case on the date when it was posted for peremptory hearing, on the ground that her lawyer was not present and further it was found that she was not ready with her witnesses. She refused to get into the witness-box whereupon the Court dismissed the suit under R. 3. Held, the order was quite proper. 1935 R. 123. See also 1936 A.L.J. 902=1936 A. 67. R. 3 is made specially applicable in a case where any party to whom time has been granted fails to perform any act necessary for the further progress of the suit. On the date fixed for final disposal, a party did not appear and the Court gave an ex parte decree against him. An application to set aside the ex parte decree was dismissed; and in revision it was contended that the Court ought to have proceeded under R. 3. Held, that R. 3 was not applicable to the case as time was not granted to the applicant, that even if there was an adjournment and O. 17 applicable to the case, the Court had under R. 2 jurisdiction to dispose of the suit in one of the modes directed in O. 9 and that the order passed by the Court was proper. (1933 A. 41, Ref.) 1933 A. 907. See also 1933 C. 412=37 C.W.N. 666. R. 3 only applies where the hearing of the suit had commenced and an application for an adjournment is then made by one of the parties. 1928 P. 167=7 P. 236. Where there is no institution of the suit and the plaint has been returned for amendment, the rule does not apply. 86 I.C. 491=1925 M. 1045. Where there are materials on record on which the Court can decide the case it should proceed under R. 3 and not under R. 2, 3 Pat.L.T. 64=6 Pat.L.J. 313=61 I.C. 897. See also 1925 O. 278=78 I.C. 240. R. 3 applies only where on the application of one of the parties the Judge directs a particular act to be done on the adjourned hearing and the party is unable to perform that act. 27 I.C. 882=2 L.W. 105. See also 1933 N. 234; 176 I.C. 503=1938 Sind 142. Case adjourned by consent of parties—Party not ready on adjourned date—Dismissal of suit under R. 3 is not valid and an appeal lies. 5 R. 838=1927 R. 148. R. 3 applies only to cases where the parties are present and have not satisfied the Court as to the existence of any adequate reason for their not having done what they were directed to do. 41 M. 286=34 M.L.J. 24 (F. B.). The words “notwithstanding such default in R. 3 clearly imply that Court is to proceed with the disposal of suit in spite of default upon such materials as are before it. 51 M.L.J. 684=1927 M. 109.

SCOPE AND OPERATION OF THE RULE.—R. 3 merely authorises Court to proceed to decide the suit forthwith and it does not authorise its dismissal summarily. 71 I.C. 862=1924 L. 404. R. 3 is an enabling and not a mandatory rule. 52 I.C. 292=150 P.R. 1919. Where plaintiff who takes time to produce evidence fails to appear on date fixed for hearing, proper course is to pass an order of dismissal for default of appearance. In such a case even if Court purports to deliver judgment on the merits the order should be treated as an ex parte decree for the setting aside of which the procedure mentioned in O. 9, R. 13, will apply. 138 I.C. 200=1932 L. 477. R. 3 of O. 17 means that the Court has discretion either to decide the case that day or not, but if it does decide the suit, it will be a decision on the merits and appearance on behalf of the defendant would be assumed, whether he was in fact present or not and the decree passed cannot be regarded as ex parte decree so as to entitle the defendant to apply for restoration under O. 9, R. 13. 1939 A.L.J. 627=A.I.R. 1939 All. 642. Where there is no default by party, Court cannot proceed under this rule. 69 I.C. 665=1924 L. 272. Party's failure to request the Court to pass orders under O. 16, R. 10 (2) and (3) for getting the attendance of material witnesses, does not enable the Court to proceed under R. 3. 33 A. 690=8 A.L.J. 839=10 I.C. 903. A dismissal of suit for failure to amend plaint and pay costs of adjournment cannot fall under R. 3, 96 I.C. 312=1926 L. 571. Plaintiff present on date of hearing but not present on date fixed for return of summons—R. 3 is not applicable—Dismissal of suit is illegal. 102 I.C. 289=1927 L. 484. Absence of the defendant on date of hearing—Court should proceed under R. 3. 9 O.L.J. 543=72 I.C. 394. Default in appearance is not covered by this rule. 1 P. 188=69 I.C. 837. ## HEARING OF THE SUIT AND EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

1. The plaintiff has the right to begin unless the defendant admits the facts alleged by the plaintiff and contends that either in point of law or on some additional facts alleged by the defendant the plaintiff is not entitled to any part of the relief which he seeks in which case the defendant has the right to begin.
 Right to begin.
2. (1) On the day fixed for the hearing of the suit or on any other day to which the hearing is adjourned, the party having the right to begin shall state his case and produce his evidence in support of the issues which he is bound to prove.

A suit for profits against the lambardar was adjourned on several occasions. On one of such adjourned hearings the Assistant Collector dismissed the suit for "want of prosecution". The Assistant Collector did not make any reference in that order to the evidence that had already been produced in the case, nor did he deal with the validity or otherwise of the defence raised by the contesting defendants. Held, that such a decision could not be characterised as a decision on the merits. The order dismissing the suit, therefore, did not come within the purview of R. 3, but was one under O. 9, R. 8 of the Code, and could be set aside by the Assistant Collector under O. 9, R. 9 or under the inherent jurisdiction vested in Courts by S. 151. In either case the order was not appealable. 1932 A.L.J. 1100=1933 A. 118. Where a counsel appears on behalf of a person and makes an application or prayer for an adjournment, but the same is refused and the counsel then refuses to proceed on ground of no instructions and the case is decided and decree passed against them in their absence, it cannot be said that the case was decided ex parte as to attract the consequences of O. 9, R. 13. 5. In cases in which an appeal is allowed, the evidence of each witness shall be taken down in writing in the language of the Court or in English by or in the presence and under the direction and supervision of the Judge, not ordinarily in the form of question and answer, but in that of a narrative and when completed shall be read over or translated to the witness by such person as the Judge may direct, provided that the Judge may, if he thinks fit, require the evidence to be read over in his own presence.

Such a person shall, after reading over the deposition to the witness, append a certificate at the foot of the deposition form as follows :—

The Judge shall, if necessary, correct the deposition and shall sign it.

6. Where the evidence is taken down in a language different from that in which it is given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the evidence as taken down in writing shall be interpreted to him in the language in which it is given.

LOC. AM.—[RANGOON]. The following shall be inserted as r. 6-A : — “6-A. Where there are no interpreters paid by Government and it is found necessary to employ an interpreter in a civil case, he shall be paid such fee, ordinarily not exceeding Rs. 2 per diem ; as the Court may fix. The fee shall be advanced by the party at whose instance the interpreter is required and shall be treated as costs in the case. All payments of interpreter's fees shall be made through the Court and duly entered in Bailiff's Register II.”

7. Evidence taken down under section 138 shall be in the form prescribed by rule 5 and shall be read over and signed, and, as occasion may require, interpreted and corrected as if it were evidence taken down under that rule.

8. Where the evidence is not taken down in writing by the Judge, he shall be bound, as the examination of each witness proceeds, to make a memorandum of the substance of what each witness deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge and shall form part of the record.

“Provided that such memorandum shall not be necessary in the case of a Judge who has obtained the previous sanction of the Chief Court to dictate evidence in open Court.”

[RANGOON]. Rule 8 shall be deleted.

9. Where English is not the language of the Court, but all the parties to the suit who appear in person, and the pleaders of such as appear by pleaders, do not object to have such evidence as is given in English taken down in English, the Judge may so take it down.

10. The Court may, of its own motion or on the application of any party or his pleader, take down any particular question and answer, or any objection to any question, if there appears to be any special reason for so doing.

11. Where any question put to a witness is objected to by a party or his pleader, and the Court allows the same to be put, the Judge shall take down the question, the answer, the objection and the name of the person making it together with the decision of the Court thereon.

12. The Court may record such remarks as it thinks material respecting the demeanour of any witness while under examination.

13. In cases in which an appeal is not allowed, it shall not be necessary to take down the evidence of the witnesses in writing at length; but the Judge, as the examination of each witness proceeds, shall make a memorandum of the substance of what he deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge and shall form part of the record.

14. (1) Where the Judge is unable to make a memorandum as required by this Order, he shall cause the reason of such inability to be recorded, and shall cause the memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation in open Court.

(2) The provisions of sub-rule (1) shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply to evidence taken in a suit transferred under section 24.

LOC. AM.—[ALLAHABAD]. Add the following as r. 19 :—

19. (1) The Judge shall record in his own hand in English all orders passed on applications, other than orders of a purely routine character.

NOTES.

O. 18, R. 18.—Local inspection—Result of investigation to be recorded. 65 I.C. 601. No decision should be based solely on local inspection of the Judge. 73 I.C. 616=1923 L. 546; 39 M. 501=28 M.L.J. 598; 131 I.C. 139=1931 M. 531. It is improper and objectionable for a judge to base his judgment solely on the impressions formed by him at the time of his local inspection and to come to a conclusion quite contrary to the evidence in the case. Where the judge does not make any notes of inspection and has not placed on record what he found on inspection, his decision, arrived at without putting the points observed by him at the inspection to the parties and eliciting their answers, cannot be upheld by the appellate Court. 50 L.W. 148=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 284. It is a quite unobjectionable procedure for a Judge to make a local inspection; in fact O. 18, R. 18, expressly provides for it. But it is not a justifiable procedure for a Judge at such local inspection to welcome the presence of crowds of anonymous villagers and indulge in formal inquiries amongst the people in those crowds for the purpose of obtaining guidance in deciding the rights of the parties. If a Judge does so and treats the result of these enquiries as evidence in the case, there is an end of all judicial procedure. A judgment must be based on evidence which is admissible in law. There is no objection to a Judge viewing the locality in dispute in order to enable him to visualise the same and to appreciate the evidence before him. But there is no warrant for the procedure whereby the Judge converts himself into an unofficial investigator and inquires of all and sundry regarding their views on the rights of the parties with the object of founding a judgment on what he has heard. No finding of fact based on such materials and achieved by such procedure can be supported or be held to be binding in second appeal. 1938 M. 61=48 L.W. 595=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 894. The function of a Judge in exercising his right of local inspection granted by the statute, i.e., under the Code, is for the purpose of understanding the evidence and for no other purpose. By "understanding the evidence" is not meant "contradicting a witness". A witness may make a statement which from the local inspection may appear to be untrue, but a Judge is not entitled to say that it is untrue from what he himself observes. 1937 P.W.N. 261=A.I.R. 1937 Pat. 333. See also 1938 Pat. 288. Judges, both of Courts of first instance and Courts of appeal, who have to appreciate evidence and understand its bearing properly, are entitled, in proper cases, to make local inspection with a view not only to save time with reference to the arguments in the case but also to enable them to follow intelligently, and understand the evidence in the case. But it is not open to either Court to base its findings of fact solely on the result of its local inspection, nor without giving opportunities to the parties to let in counter-evidence and explain what is recorded as the result of the inspection. 131 I.C. 139=1931 M. 531; 1930 L. 152=129 I.C. 346. It cannot be said that in an ordinary case the opinion of the Judge formed on a local inspection under O. 18, R. 18 could take the place of evidence. But where the parties agree to accept the opinion of the Judge on that point, and for that reason lead no evidence, in such special circumstances, the opinion of the Judge could be accepted in place of evidence. 1941 N.L.J. 403=1941 Nag. 292. Observations by a Judge in the course of his local inspection cannot be substituted for the evidence of witnesses examined on the subject. It is obvious that in the case of a Judge's observations, the parties never get a chance of either cross-examining him on the various points raised or setting right his views if they are found to be erroneous. 175 I.C. 698=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 288. Where parties agreed to shut out oral evidence and to substitute for it the inspection that the Judge might make of the locality, appeal from the decision of the Court is competent, because the Judge was not constituted an arbitrator. 113 I.C. 762=1929 A. 116. It should be used to test the accuracy of other evidence. It need not be recorded. 1925 C. 170. R. 18 authorises every Court to inspect any property or thing without the sanction of its superior Court. 28 M.L.J. 9=23 I.C. 297.

(2) The Judge shall record in his own hand in English all admissions and denials of documents, and the English proceedings shall show how all documents tendered in evidence have been dealt with from the date of presentation down to the final order admitting them in evidence or rejecting them.

(3) The Judge shall record the issues in his own hand in English, and the issues shall be signed by the Judge and shall form part of the English proceedings.

ORDER XIX.

AFFIDAVITS.

1. Any Court may at any time for sufficient reason order that any particular fact or facts may be proved by affidavit, or that the affidavit of any witness may be read at the hearing, on such conditions as the Court thinks reasonable :

Power to order any point to be proved by affidavit.

Provided that where it appears to the Court that either party bona fide desires the production of a witness for cross-examination, and that such witness can be produced, an order shall not be made authorising the evidence of such witness to be given by affidavit.

2. (1) Upon any application evidence may be given by affidavit, but the Court may, at the instance of either party, order the attendance for cross-examination of the deponent.

Power to order attendance of deponent for cross-examination.

(2) Such attendance shall be in Court, unless the deponent is exempted from personal appearance in Court, or the Court otherwise directs.

3. (1) Affidavits shall be confined to such facts as the deponent is able of his own knowledge to prove, except on interlocutory applications, on which statements of his belief may be admitted : provided that the grounds thereof are stated.

Matters to which affidavits shall be confined.

NOTES.

O. 19, R. 1.—An affidavit is ordinarily not evidence unless the person seeking to use it complies with the requirements of O. 19. 63 I.C. 258. Affidavits should not properly be acted upon, unless both parties agree to have them treated as evidence. Where one of the parties requests the Court to summon the witnesses for cross-examining them on their affidavits, the Court should summon them and not merely act on the affidavits. 1939 Mad. 927=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 399. Court is authorised under O. 19 to receive an affidavit from the identifier as evidence of the fact of the service of summons. 106 I.C. 703=6 P. 760. There is nothing illegal in a Court admitting proof of execution of a pro-note by the affidavit of plaintiff's next friend instead of calling him as a witness into the witness-box and taking his deposition in open Court when there is no contention as to the facts. 142 I.C. 386 (1)=1933 M. 164. R. 11, which is made applicable to proceedings for divorce by S. 45 of Indian Divorce Act, empowers Court to allow the petitioner and her witness in divorce proceedings to give evidence by affidavit, subject to what the law provides, namely, that the petitioner and her witness will have to be present for cross-examination, if so directed by the Court. 38 C.W.N. 969. District Judge can act upon affidavits in support of an application to declare certain persons law-touts. 13 M.L.J. 272. It is altogether undesirable and indeed contrary to established practice to accept evidence on affidavit in matrimonial suits—especially evidence of the petitioner—except as regards evidence other than that of the petitioner in some very exceptional circumstances. 62 C. 541=62 C.L.J. 264. There is nothing in R. 1 to exclude from its operation a foreign company incorporated in a foreign country. 8 P.R. 1912=10 I.C. 141.

Affidavits should clearly specify what statements are made on knowledge and what on belief. 1924 P. 312=73 I.C. 721. An affidavit stating certain facts upon information and belief without stating the source thereof is sufficient evidence upon which to grant an injunction. 46 I.C. 335=22 C.W.N. 700; 1 L.W. 394=23 I.C. 377; 90 I.C. 703=1926 P. 54. An affidavit, in which it is stated that the allegations are based partly on information believed to be true and partly on belief, but which contains neither a specification as to which part is based on information and which on belief, nor the grounds of belief, is contrary to the provisions of and offends against R. 3, 61 C. 814=38 C.W.N.

(2) The costs of every affidavit which shall unnecessarily set forth matters of hearsay or argumentative matter, or copies of or extracts from documents, shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be paid by the party filing the same.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. Add the following rules 4 to 15 to O. 19 :—

4. Affidavits shall be entitled in the Court of . . . at (naming such Court). If the affidavit be in support of, or in opposition to, an application respecting any case in the Court, it shall also be entitled in such case. If there be no such case it shall be entitled: In the matter of the petition of

5. Affidavits shall be divided into paragraphs, and every paragraph shall be numbered consecutively and, as nearly as may be, shall be confined to a distinct portion of the subject.

6. Every person making any affidavit shall be described therein in such manner as shall serve to identify him clearly; and where necessary for this purpose, it shall contain the full name, the name of his father, of his caste or religious persuasion, his rank or degree in life, his profession, calling, occupation or trade; and the true place of his residence.

7. Unless it be otherwise provided, an affidavit may be made by any person having cognizance of the facts deposed to. Two or more persons may join in an affidavit; each shall depose separately to those facts which are within his knowledge and such facts shall be stated in separate paragraphs.

8. When the declarant in any affidavit speaks to any fact within his own knowledge, he must do so directly and positively, using the words "I affirm" or "I make oath and say."

9. Except in interlocutory proceedings, affidavits shall strictly be confined to such facts as the declarant is able of his own knowledge to prove. In interlocutory proceedings, when the particular fact is not within the declarant's own knowledge, but is stated from information obtained from others, the declarant shall use the expression "I am informed" and, if such be the case, "and verily believe it to be true;" and shall state the name and address of, and sufficiently describe for the purposes of identification, the person or persons from whom he received such information. When the application or the opposition thereto rests on facts disclosed in documents or copies of documents produced from any Court of Justice or other source, the declarant shall state what is the source from which they were produced, and his information and belief as to the truth of the facts disclosed in such documents.

10. When any place is referred to in an affidavit, it shall be correctly described. When in an affidavit any person is referred to, such person, the correct name and address of such person, and such further description as may be sufficient for the purpose of the identification of such person, shall be given in the affidavit.

11. Every person making an affidavit for use in a Civil Court, shall, if not personally known to the person before whom the affidavit is made, be identified to that person by some one known to him, and the person before whom the affidavit is made shall state at the foot of the affidavit the name, address and description of him by whom the identification was made as well as the time and place of such identification.

11-A. Such identification may be made by a person

(a) personally acquainted with the person to be identified, or

(b) satisfied from papers in that person's possession or otherwise, of his identity:

Provided that in case (b) the person so identifying shall sign on the petition or affidavit a declaration in the following form, after there has been affixed to such declaration in his presence the thumb impression of the person so identified.

FORM.

I (name, address and description) declare that the persons verifying this petition (or making this affidavit) and alleging himself to be A. B. has satisfied me (here state by what means, e.g., from papers in his possession or otherwise) that he is A. B.

12. No verification of a petition and no affidavit purporting to have been made by a parda-nashin woman who has not appeared unveiled before the person before whom the verification or affidavit was made, shall be used unless she has been identified in manner already specified and unless such petition or affidavit be accompanied by an affidavit of identification of such woman made at the time by the person who identified her.

13. The person before whom any affidavit is about to be made shall, before the same is made, ask the person proposing to make such affidavit if he has read the affidavit and understands the contents thereof, and if the person proposing to make such affidavit state that he has not read the affidavit or appears not to understand the contents thereof, or appears to be illiterate, the person before whom the affidavit is about to be made shall read and explain or cause some other competent person to read and explain in his presence, the affidavit to the person proposing to make the same, and when the person before whom the affidavit is about to be made is thus satisfied that the person proposing to make such affidavit understands the contents thereof, the affidavit may be made.

NOTES.

771=1934 C. 694. An affidavit as to the points argued in a case and sworn to by a person, who cannot understand the language in which the argument was made has no value. 41 I.C. 1.

14. The person before whom an affidavit is made, shall certify at the foot of the affidavit the fact of the making of the affidavit before him and the time and place when and where it was made, and shall for the purpose of identification mark and initial any exhibits referred to in the affidavit.

15. If it be found necessary to correct any clerical error in any affidavit such correction may be made in the presence of the person before whom the affidavit is about to be made, and before ; but not after the affidavit is made. Every correction so made shall be initialled by the person before whom the affidavit is made, and shall be made in such manner as not to render it impossible or difficult to read the original word or words, figure or figures, in respect of which the correction may have been made.

[RANGOON]. To O. 19, the following shall be added as rr. 4 to 12 :—

4. The officer administering the oath to the declaration of an affidavit should first make the declarant take the oath or affirmation. Then he should make the declarant repeat the whole of the statement written in the affidavit as coming from him. Then the declarant should sign the affidavit, and lastly the officer administering the oath should sign and date it.

5. Every affidavit to be used in a Court of Justice should be entitled "In the Court of at naming the Court. If there is a case in Court, the affidavit in support of or in opposition to an application respecting it, must also be entitled "In the case of ."

If there is no case in Court, the affidavit should be entitled "In the matter of the petition of."

6. Every affidavit containing any statement of facts shall be divided into paragraphs, and every paragraph shall be numbered consecutively and, as nearly as may be, shall be confined to a distinct portion of the subject.

7. Every person, other than a plaintiff or defendant in a suit in which the application is made, making an affidavit shall be described in such a manner as will serve to identify him clearly, that is to say, by the statement of his full name, the name of his father, his profession or trade, and the place of his residence.

8. When the declarant in any affidavit speaks to any fact within his own knowledge, he must do so directly and positively, using the words "I affirm" (or make oath) and "and say."

9. When the particular fact is not within the declarant's own knowledge, but is stated from information obtained from others, the declarant must use the expression "I am informed" (and, if such be the case, should add) "and verily believe it to be true" or he may state the source from which he received such information. When the statement rests on facts disclosed in documents or copies of documents procured from any Court of Justice or other source, the deponent shall state what is the source from which they were procured and his information or belief as to the truth of the facts disclosed in such documents.

10. Every person making an affidavit, if not personally known to the Commissioner, shall be identified to the Commissioner by some person known to him, and the Commissioner shall specify at the foot of the petition, or of the affidavit (as the case may be), the name and description of him, by whom the identification is made, as well as the time and place of the identification and of the making of the affidavit.

11. If any person making an affidavit is ignorant of the language in which it is written, or appears to the Commissioner to be illiterate or not fully to understand the contents of the affidavit the Commissioner shall cause the affidavit to be read and explained to him in a language which he understands. If it is necessary to employ an interpreter for this purpose, the interpreter shall be sworn to interpret truly. When an affidavit is read and explained as herein provided, the Commissioner shall certify in writing at the foot of the affidavit that it has been so read and explained and that the declarant seemed perfectly to understand the same at the time of making the affidavit. When an interpreter is employed the Commissioner shall state in his certificate the name of the interpreter, and the fact that he was sworn to interpret truly.

12. In administering oaths and affirmations to declarants the Commissioner shall be guided by the provisions of the Indian Oaths Act, 1873.

ORDER XX.

Judgment and Decree.

1. The Court, after the case has been heard, shall pronounce judgment in open Court, either at once or on some future day, of which due notice shall be given to the parties or their pleaders.

NOTES.

O. 20. —There is no provision in O. 20, for the passing of a preliminary decree in a suit for damages in respect of personal injuries or in respect of breach of contract. If the principle of granting a preliminary decree is to be extended beyond the list mentioned in O. 20, that extension must be governed by the principle of ejusdem generis. I.L.R.

Judge may, at the close of the hearing, state at once orally the judgment which he intends to record and deliver. 5 M.H.C.R. at 8. Where Judge commences to write a judgment before the finishing of the entire evidence and hearing the arguments of the counsel, there is a gross irregularity in the trial of the case. 1933 A. 196. The omission in judgment to make special mention of oral evidence is not in itself sufficient to show that, as a matter of fact, Judge did not consider the evidence. 59 I.C. 963. It is not legal for Judge trying a civil suit to ask two members of the bar to act as assessors presumably to appraise the value of the evidence and to base his judgment on that opinion. 21 I.C. 427. A mere order in the order-sheet recording “that the case and suit be dismissed in terms of compromise” is not the disposal of a suit under the Code, which can only terminate in accordance with the rules set forth in R. 1. 1933 P. 135. Contravention of Rr. 1 to 3—Judgment pronounced by another Judge—Effect. 46 C. 979=29 C.L.J. 438. Where a Court delivers a judgment without having previously fixed a date for pronouncing the judgment, and the defendant being absent on that date, the judgment is informed to his counsel on some later day, this later day must be regarded as the date for pronouncing judgment and period of limitation for appeal must be deemed to run from that date and not from the date on which the judgment is actually pronounced. Per Guha, J.—The failure to comply with Rr. 1, 2 and 3 of O. 20 constitutes an irregularity. Appeal remanded for fresh disposal on merits. 130 I.C. 573=52 C.L.J. 566=1931 C. 164. Code, does not apply to proceedings of revenue officers under the Punjab Land Revenue Act, and there is no provision of law which requires orders of Revenue officers under that Act to be pronounced formally in open Court on a specified day. 20 Lah.L.T. 115.

O. 20, Rr. 1, 2 and 3: FAILURE TO SIGN ORDER—IRREGULARITY.—Infringement of the procedure prescribed by Rr. 1, 2 and 3 merely constitutes an irregularity curable by consent or waiver and it affords no ground for reversal of the decree based on the judgment irregularly pronounced. Where the irregularity is waived by the parties and does not affect the merits of the case where the omission to sign an order in execution was shown to be merely accidental, held, that the order was none the less binding. 149 I.C. 430=1934 L. 763.

Under R. 2, it is not necessarily incumbent upon the successor of the Judge, who wrote the judgment after he had ceased to be a Judge of the Court in which the trial was held to pronounce the judgment that had been written by his predecessor. He has a discretion in the matter, and if he is in doubt as to the correctness of the judgment that has been written by his predecessor he ought either to act in accordance with the provisions of O. 18, R. 15, or to hear the case de novo. 14 R. 136=1936 R. 147 (F.B.). N. 1148=1939 Cal. 732. It shows that after the judgment has been signed by the Judge he becomes functus officio and has no authority to alter it except as provided by S. 152 where the order provided for automatic dismissal of a suit on non-payment of Court-fee within a certain date. Held, that Court had no power to extend the time after that period. 8 Luck. 502=10 O.W.N. 387=1933 O. 241. Judgment dictated to shorthand writer—Transcript cannot be amended. 18 L.W. 105=1923 M. 663. As to the power of Court to rectify an order which it finds is wrong or has been made in an improper form, see 16 B. 404. S. 151 was never meant to enable Court to contravene a distinct provision of law. When there is no clerical error or arithmetical error in the judgment or decree Court cannot amend the decree. 8 O.W.N. 1238=12 L.R. 383 (Rev.). Where Court gives a judgment but refuses to pass a decree till the successful party complies with a certain condition, the judgment is only a provisional judgment which does not become operative until the decree is passed. 34 I.C. 867=9 S. L. R. 193.

INHERENT POWER TO CORRECT ERRORS.—R. 3 is not exhaustive and it is the duty of Court to invoke its inherent powers to correct errors that have led to injustice through no default of a party and to do real and substantial justice for the administration of which alone it exists. 152 I.C. 211=1934 N. 234. Where Court passed an order under a misapprehension of facts, it is open to it under its inherent power to set aside such order when true facts are brought to light. R. 3 has no application to such cases. 148 I.C. 614=1934 A.L.J. 862=1934 A. 287. A suit for rent had been brought against the proper person who was misdescribed owing to his own action in giving his son's name instead of his own when he rented the premises and who had since been refusing to receive the summons on the ground that he was not the proper person. He was the proper person against whom the decree had been rightly made. On an application in execution proceedings to bring on record the real judgment-debtor's name, held, that the record could be corrected by virtue of the powers under S. 151 if not under O. 1, R. 10. 144 I.C. 901=35 Bom.L.R. 365=1933 B. 200.

O. 20, R. 4.—Judges, whatever reasons they may give in judgments, must make specific and precise statements of their findings. 37 I.C. 304. But R. 4 does not require the evidence to be discussed. It merely lays down that the judgment shall contain a concise statement of the case, the points for determination, the decision thereon, and the reasons for such decision. Hence merely because the judgment does not mention some particular item of evidence it does not follow that the Judges had not considered it. 146 I.C. 445=1933 R. 174. See also 1938 Pat. 69. The fact that the Judge has set out a point for determination after the pleadings on the record is not sufficient. The points must be included in judgment. The use of a rubber stamp in a contested suit is most reprehensible. 146 I.C. 16=1933 N. 272 (1). Personal inspection by Judge alone is not sufficient material for judgment. 67 I. (2) Judgments of other Courts shall contain a concise statement of the case, the points for determination, the decision thereon, and the reasons for such decision.

Judgments of other Courts.

NOTES

O. 20, r. 4 (1) does not require that either the reasons for arriving at a conclusion or discussion of the evidence should be given by the Small Cause Court. The points for determination in order to arrive at the result and the resulting decision thereon alone need be stated. If all that is set out is the ultimate result without an indication of the points for determination, there is no compliance with the rule. A statement of issues only does not necessarily indicate the points to be determined although in some cases it may well do so. Each case must be judged by itself. 1936 Mad. 913. No doubt a judgment of the Court of Small Causes need not contain more than the points for determination and the decision thereon. It is however highly desirable that the judgment should also contain some indication that the Judge has actually applied his mind to the evidence on the record in order to facilitate the High Court to find out whether the decision under revision was rightly arrived at after weighing the pros and cons or whether there was merely a mistake or an inadvertent omission in recording a particular finding. 142 I.C. 844=1933 S. 62. See also 1933 A.L.J. 316=1933 A. 339; 1937 Sind 243; 1938 O.W.N. 805=1938 Oudh 225. The test whether R. 4 (1) of O. 20 has been used or abused by a Small Cause Court lies in the answer to the question whether the judgment has been made intelligible. When the Judge has to deal with a question of fact he need not give anything more than his actual decision on the question, namely his answer to it. But in cases involving difficult questions of law or mixed questions of fact and law the Judge should set out so much of his reasoning as will make clear the road by which he has reached his conclusion. 55 M. 671=1932 M. 336=62 M.L.J. 439. Judgment should contain reasons for decision. 1 R. 274; 15 B. 11. The words "need not" in O. 20, R. 4 were not meant to be read as "shall not". (Ibid.) A Small Cause Court is of course not bound to record the evidence in extenso, but it is incumbent upon that Court to record such statements of the witnesses, or to make a summary of those statements, in the deposition, as recorded, on which the Court relies in its judgment. Where the judgment in a Small cause suit is not supported by the evidence as recorded and the evidence has not been recorded in such a way as to enable the High Court to form any opinion as to the respective cases of the parties before the Court, and on what material circumstances the Court has relied upon in support of the judgment, the judgment is liable to be set aside in revision. It is not enough for the Judge trying a small cause suit to say that he finds for or against a party from the facts and circumstances; he must take care to note those facts and circumstances when recording the evidence of the witnesses who come and depose before him. 64 C.L.J. 456=169 I. C. 512; 1937 Sind 243. There must be a distinct finding one way or the other, on all the material issues in the case. 8 W.R. 481. A judgment jumbling up all points together and containing a statement that all issues are found in plaintiff's favour does not comply with the rule. 1925 M. 1229=49 M.L.J. 354; 7 Luck. 526=136 I.C. 701=1930 O. 143.

PRACTICE OF "STRIKING OFF" PETITIONS DEPRECATED.—When a matter is contested and when the Court has heard pleaders for both sides, simply to say the petition is "struck off", is entirely unwarranted and extremely undesirable. To say that the "petition is struck off" is surely not a proper and legal mode of disposal of an important contested application; there must be judicial determination on the merits of the controversy. [10 C. 416 and 6 A. 269 (P.C.), Rel. on.] 144 I.C. 503=38 L.W. 280=1933 M. 510.

O. 20, R. 4 (2).—Conjecture is not a sound basis for judicial decision. 21 I.C. 413=18 C.L.J. 220. Judgment based on a question neither raised in written statement nor included in any issue is bad. 15 I.C. 159. Judgments—Contents of—Following prior judgment. 15 I.C. 434=1912 M.W. N. 900. Where the trial Judge did not give a reasoned finding on the main issue in the case but simply stated his conclusion, it was held to be a violation of the provisions of R. 4. 102 I.C. 280=1927 L. 418. Where a Judge mentions specifically certain points which were argued before him and the judgment is silent on other points taken in the memorandum of appeal, it may be presumed that such points have been abandoned; but where the Judge, after mentioning the points specifically argued before him, states that on merits too there is no force in the objections taken, it cannot be held that the other points have been abandoned. (1933 L. 124 and 1924 L. 107. Dist.) 145 I.C. 113=1933 L. 570. It cannot be assumed from the mere fact that the Court below has not referred in detail to all the items of the documentary evidence produced by the parties, that the said evidence has been ignored or discarded. If a party did not, during the progress of the suit, bring certain documents to the notice of the Court, the blame rests with him. If any document is referred to the Court, it can be said that the Court must have considered the nature and scope of the document before forming a conclusion on the questions in issue. A Judge is not however bound to refer in his judgment to each and every item of evidence which is relied on by the parties. 130 I.C. 289=

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.—Commissioner's report and the opinion he expressed on the evidence is merely a piece of evidence to be considered by the Judge. It is the duty of the Judge to consider every objection of fact or of law made by the parties to the report, to show the nature of the objection in his judgment and his grounds for allowing or dismissing it. 27 S.L.R. 194=1933 S. 327.

Decree in a suit for contribution should specify the particular sum payable by each defendant. 24 W.R. 252. See also 3 M.H.C.R. 187. Decrees declaring a right to maintenance should contain an order directing future maintenance. 9 B. 108. See also 7 C. 394. Findings upon issues other than those upon which the suit is determined should not be inserted in decree. 26 A. 234. Where there is delay on the part of applicant for correction of decree, which is not capable of satisfactory explanation, the Court may reject the application. 139 I.C. 528=36 C.W.N. 97=1932 C. 563.

POWER OF COURT SUBSEQUENT TO JUDGMENT.—After judgment has been pronounced, decree must automatically follow and Court has no power to direct that the preparation of decree be stopped until payment of deficit Court-fee. 11 P. 532=1932 P. 228. See also 1938 A.L.J. 673=1938 All. 497.

O. 20, R. 6 (2).—The sub-rule does not authorize the Court to order payment of costs by a person who is not a party to the suit. Costs cannot be decreed against the guardian of a defendant except in the case referred to in O. 32, R. 2. 3 M. 263. A set-off cannot be allowed for costs not actually awarded. 16 W.R. 308. Costs awarded on the disposal of a preliminary point may be set off against cost awarded at the final disposal of the suit. 9 C. 797. Although it is within Court's discretion to allow or not to allow costs, still Court is bound to pass order with regard to it. Even where suit is dismissed decree ought to be prepared showing the amount of costs and giving direction in respect thereto even where each party has to bear its own costs. 1933 P. 135.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The word "decree" is often misunderstood. The order in the decree might give some relief to the plaintiff or might disallow the relief claimed altogether, but the Court has to prepare a decree

LOC. AMS.—[MADRAS]. For sub-rule (1) the following shall be substituted :—

"The decree shall agree with the judgment ; it shall contain the number of the suit, the names and descriptions of the parties, their address for service and particulars of the claim, and shall specify clearly the relief granted or other determination of the suit."

In O. 20, R. 6, after sub-rule (2) the following be inserted as sub-rule (2-A) :—

"(2-A) In all cases in which an element of champerty or maintenance is proved, the Court may provide the final decree for costs on a special scale approximating to the actual expenses reasonably incurred by the defendant."

[LAHORE]. Substitute the following :—

6. (1) The decree shall agree with the judgment ; it shall contain the number of the suit, the names and descriptions of the parties, and particulars of the claim, and shall specify clearly the relief granted or other determination of the suit.

(1-A) In addition to particulars mentioned in clause (1) the decree shall contain the addresses of the plaintiff and the defendant as given in O. VII, rule 19 ; and Order VIII, rule 11, or as subsequently altered under Order VII, rule 24, and Order VIII, rule 12 respectively.

(2) The decree shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the suit, and by whom or out of what property and in what proportions such costs are to be paid.

(3) The Court may direct that the costs payable to one party by the other shall be set off against any sum which is admitted or found to be due from the former to the latter.

7. The decree shall bear date the day on which the judgment was pronounced, and, when the Judge has satisfied himself that the decree has been drawn up in accordance with the judgment, he shall sign the decree.

LOC. AM.—[ALLAHABAD]. Add—

"7-A. A Court, other than a Court subordinate to the District Court exercising insolvency jurisdiction, passing an order under S. 47 or 144 of the Code of Civil Procedure or one against which an appeal is allowed by S. 104 or R. 1 of O. 43, or an order in any case, against which an appeal is allowed by law, shall draw up a formal order embodying its adjudication and the memorandum of costs incurred by the parties.

8. Where a Judge has vacated office after pronouncing judgment but without signing the decree, a decree drawn up in accordance with such judgment may be signed by his successor or, if the Court has ceased to exist, by the Judge of any Court to which such Court was subordinate.

9. Where the subject-matter of the suit is immovable property, the decree shall contain a description of such property sufficient to identify the same, and where such property can be identified by boundaries or by numbers in a record of settlement or survey, the decree shall specify such boundaries or numbers.

certainty in the decree. 12 W.R. 99. But evidence could be taken to ascertain the boundaries, and the subject on which the decree operates. 16 W.R. 171; 22 W.R. 330. If the boundaries given are no longer in existence, evidence may be taken to ascertain the former position of the lands. 16 W.R. 191.

O. 20, R. 10.—In the case of a decree which follows R. 10, execution cannot be taken out by the decree-holder so far as the money portion of it is concerned without adopting the procedure prescribed by O. 21, R. 31, C.P. Code. 31 C.W.N. 850=1927 C. 652=55 C. 26. (13 M.L.J. 444, Foll.).

FORM OF DECREE.—R. 10, does not say that a person who is entitled to delivery of specific movables must in all cases sue for such delivery and not for their value or for damages; for in many cases the movables themselves would be of no use to him after conversion or detention. Nor does the rule say that the Court must invariably decree the articles claimed and not their value only. Court is not bound to pass a decree for the articles in the first instance and in the alternative only for their value in a case where the defendant asserts that the articles are not in his possession, or not in existence, and it is not possible for the plaintiff to prove that the defendant's assertion is untrue. 61 C. 711. In an action for specific restitution of chattels, it is for the defendant, and not the plaintiff, to determine the manner in which the alternative judgment of the articles or their value is to take effect, and it is in his election whether he would deliver the chattels or pay the assessed value on them. And the plaintiff has no right or power to obtain their specific restitution. But when a decree is in the form contemplated by R. 10, and there is no question of deterioration in value of the articles decreed to be recovered, the decree-holder is not entitled to execute the money part of the decree before applying for delivery of the articles. 61 C. 711. As a mere piece of movable property, and irrespective of its character as representing an actionable claim the value of a bond is only nominal, but the measure of the damages for its non-delivery would be upon the basis of its character as representing an actionable claim. But if the bond is void at the time of conversion, and not by any act of the defendant, only nominal damages can be recovered. 61 C. 711. Where a decree is passed for delivery of bonds, an enquiry as to damages for their non-delivery may more profitably be started by the Court in execution. 61 C. 711. In a suit for recovery of specific movable properties, the decree ought to be a decree for the delivery of the movables enforceable under Order 21, Rule 31, but in accordance with Order 20, Rule 10; the decree has to state the amount of money to be paid by the defendant as an alternative if delivery cannot be had. S. 75, C.P. Code, does not authorise the Court to issue a commission to ascertain the value of the movables. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 372=44 C.W.N. 304=A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 337.

O. 20, R. 11: SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF RULE.—The fact that a Court passes an instalment decree under O. 20, R. 11 (1) does not make it functus officio or ousts its jurisdiction to pass a further and a different kind of instalment decree coupled with a hypothecation of immovable property. O. 20, R. 11 (2) is wide enough to include and to apply to the fixing of instalments and the taking of security after the passing any decree for the payment of money, whether the form of the original decree was for instalments or for a lump sum, when the new direction is made by consent of both parties. The judgment-debtor cannot in execution contend that such a decree is without jurisdiction or that the contract of security was without consideration and therefore unenforceable. The Executing Court is precluded from going behind the decree. 18 Pat. 719=20 Pat.L.T. 924. R. 11 is not in any way controlled by the provisions of the Imperial Bank of India Act, (1920), which limit the power of the Bank in the matter of advancing loans for a period exceeding six months. The Courts are not therefore precluded from granting instalments in proper cases simply because such a course would postpone realisation of the dues by the plaintiff (Imperial Bank) for over six months. 146 I.C. 1046=16 N.L.J. 78=1933 N. 330. After a portion of the amount due under a money decree had been paid, execution had been started for the balance, the decree-holder and judgment-debtor entered into a compromise, whereby, some of the properties which had been attached were released and judgment-debtor was given time to pay the balance due in four instalments. This was presented to Court, and Court granted permission for the compromise, directing a decree to be passed in its terms. Held, the order of the Court must be taken to have been passed under R. 11 (2). 40 L.W. 883=67 M.L.J. 801. See also 144 I.C. 158=1933 L. 758. The word "postponed" has been added to meet the ruling in 2 A. 649. See 7 M. at 154 and 2 A. at 132. Applicability of rule to decree against tenants under Agra Tenancy Act. See 54 A. 521=138 I.C. 254=1932 A. 436. No doubt instalments and interest are discretionary matters, but that discretion must be exercised on judicial principles, and where there is no reason proved that the debtor should be granted an unusual concession, the normal course should be followed. 148 I.C. 349=1934 Pesh. 2. The discretion to order payment of a decretal amount by instalments must never be exercised so as to constitute a virtual denial of the decree-holder's rights. (54 A. 539, Rel. on.) A.L.R. 1935 R. 495. In making orders for instalments under R. 11, not only the condition of the debtor and his ability to pay must be considered but also all other circumstances, namely, the date and the amount of the loan, the amount of instalments, etc. The Court should be careful to guard also the interest of the creditor. Too much pity for the debtor is not the consideration. Simply because instalments are prayed for and the claim is not contested, that does not entitle a debtor to get an instalment decree as a matter of course. In granting instalments even a Small Cause Court is required under R. 11, to state its reasons therefor. 157 I.C. 1038=61 C.L.J. 93=A.I.R. 1935 C. 559. The mere fact that the debtor is hard pressed or is unable to pay in full at once is not sufficient reason for granting instalments. The debtor may be required to show his bona fides by arranging prompt payment of a fair proportion of the debt. But that is only one way of proving bona fides and the prompt payment of a fair proportion of the debt cannot be made in all cases a condition precedent for granting instalments. 146 I.C. 1046=16 N.L.J. 78=1933 N. 330. It is not open to the executing Court to go behind an adjustment or agreement between the judgment-debtor and decree-holder for the payment of an amount smaller than the decretal amount payable by instalments, an agreement attested by the Court. Under R. 11, it is open to the Court, with the consent of the parties, to vary the terms of a decree. The order attesting the terms of the compromise having been passed by the Court in the presence of the parties and with their consent it is not open to either of them to contend that the Court was not competent to attest it. 144 I.C. 158=1933 L. 758. See also 67 M.L.J. 801. A decree for the enforcement of a mortgage or charge is not a decree for the payment of money. 7 B. 332. See also 1933 R. 323. An order under this rule can only be made by the Court which passed the decree. 12 A. 571; 54 A. 573=1932 A.L.J. 365=1932 A. 273 (F.B.). The Court referred in sub-section (1) of R. 11 is clearly a Court which passed the decree. The executing Court must take the decree sent to it for execution as it stands and is not entitled to vary the decree by making it payable by instalments. 149 I.C. 763=1934 R. 197. S. 42 does not empower the Court to which a decree is sent for execution to pass an order which has the effect of amending, altering, or varying the decree itself. An order for payment of a decree by instalments which is made after the decree has been passed, undoubtedly has the effect of altering or varying the terms of the original decree and consequently it is not within the competence of the transferee Court to make such an order. 12 R. 320=151 I.C. 937 (2)=1934 R. 165. See also 7 B. 332. In the case of instalment decrees, the amount of the instalments and the periods for their payment is a matter of discretion for the Court. But the discretion is one which is to be exercised within reasonable bounds. 54 A. 539=1933 A. 90. The Court is not bound to direct that the instalments shall carry the stipulated rate of interest. 3 B. 202. Supplemental decree for balance of mortgage amount—Power of Court to order instalment payment. 11 I.C. 736=15 C.W.N. 1083. The fact that the estate of the defendants has been brought under the management of the Court of Wards is not a reason for allowing instalments. 1923 L. 266. Court which passed the decree is the Court which can postpone the execution of decree under R. 11. 32 M.L.J. 13=40 M. 233 (F.B.). An order postponing execution of a decree or ordering payment by instalments is virtually an order amending the decree. 34 I.C. 393. Rule refers to order passed by the Court which passed the decree and not executing Court. 2 Pat.L.T. 80=58 I.C. 893. The trial Court has the power under R. 11, to postpone payment of the amount decreed but it must be exercised judicially. 7 L. 393=97 I.C. 769=1926 L. 604. Burden of proving that the defendant is entitled to indulgence of a decree in instalments rests upon him. 71 I.C. 303. Under the Agriculturists' Relief Act, It is imperative on the Court to pass an instalment decree in certain circumstances. The Act, however, does not derogate from the provisions of O. 20, R. 11, C.P. Code, under which the Court is entitled to pass an instalment decree. 1937 A.W.R. 1074=1937 A.L.J. 1247=A.I.R. 1938 All. 52.

on a time barred application is not one without jurisdiction. 1938 A.M.L.J. 86. Although Court should not entertain an application for payment of the decretal money by instalment under R. 11, if made after expiry of six months from date of decree, the order if actually passed on such a time-barred application is not a nullity. Limitation is a question of procedure and not one of jurisdiction. (26 A. 522, Rel. on; 1924 L. 342, Not foll.) 54 A. 573=1932 A.L.J. 356=1932 A. 273 (F.B.). The time for an application subsequent to decree for payment by instalments runs only from the date of the decree of the appellate Court even though the latter only confirmed the judgment of the lower Court and dismissed the appeal. 135 I.C. 858=1932 R. 54.

APPEAL.—An order postponing the time for the payment of the decretal amount passed under R. 11 is not by itself appealable, but when such an order is passed at the time of giving judgment and is incorporated in the decree, it is clearly a part of the decree and as such is appealable. 133 I.C. 233=1931 R. 152. (7 L.B.R. 71, Dist.; 1928 L. 931; 1926 L. 604, Ref.) See also 1933 Pesh. 31. An order under this rule is not a nullity because it postpones the period of limitation. 7 M. 152 (154). Even though the petition on which an order for payment of the decretal amount by instalments is made, is not made within six months of the decree, the order is not a nullity. The proper remedy of the person who objects to the order is to take appropriate steps for getting that order set aside and so long as that order is not set aside, it is binding on him. 41 C.W.N. 480=1937 C. 236.

See also 1931 M. 650=61 M.L.J. 596 (F. B.). Mesne profits must be determinable in the suit itself and not by way of execution. 16 C.W.N. 109. See also 1938 M.W.N. 286; 42 C.W.N. 748. An application under O. 20, R. 11 (2), must be made to the Court which passed the decree and S. 42 does not confer concurrent powers on the Court executing the decree. 1939 A.M.L.J. 104. If the executing Court passes an order under O. 20, R. 11 (2), altering the terms of the decree to be executed, it usurps the jurisdiction of the trying Court. The acquiescence of the judgment-debtor will not avail the decree-holder and he cannot execute the altered or amended decree. 1939 A.M.L.J. 104; 37 I.C. 997; 32 I.C. 862; 2 Pat. L.J. 394=41 I.C. 231. An application for assessment of mesne profits is an application in the suit. 25 A. 385; 90 I.C. 811=1926 C. 175; so where such an application is dismissed for default a fresh application is not maintainable. 16 C.L.J. 3. See also 29 I.C. 997. The remedy of the aggrieved party is under O. 9, R. 4. 1921 P. 25=62 I.C. 747. Where in a suit for damages and arrears of rent, the plaintiff makes it clear that he would not press his claim for damages and confines his relief to the recovery of the fixed rents which had been agreed upon between the parties, the amount becomes definitely ascertained, and the Court is, therefore, not bound to pass a preliminary decree in the first instance. 166 I.C. 897=1936 A.W.R. 1212=1937 A. 36. See also 1938 M.W.N. 286.

SCOPE OF RULE.—The rule does not apply to a suit for partition, but to suits for possession of immovable property in which plaintiff has a specific share. 14 C. 493 (P. C.). See also 1938 O.W.N. 348=1938 Oudh 103; (1938) 2 M.L.J. 704. If a Court passing a decree for delivery of possession of immovable property directs that an enquiry should be made in execution as to the amount of mesne profits from the institution of the suit till delivery of possession to the plaintiff, the executing Court has no jurisdiction to question the propriety of the direction. It should enquire into the amount of mesne profits and forward its report to the Court which passed the decree and it would then be the duty of that Court to pass a final decree in conformity with the provisions of O. 20, R. 12 (2). 67 C.L.J. 473=42 C.W.N. 748. Per Derbyshire, C.J.: Mukherjea, J. (contra).—There is nothing improper or wrong in law in the suit Court directing that such an inquiry shall be made by the executing Court, and there is much to be said in favour of it from the point of view of convenience. 67 C.L.J. 473=42 C.W.N. 748. Mesne profits may be allowed, however, when one member has been entirely excluded from enjoyment. 19 B. 532. See also 16 C. 397 (P.C.); 14 W.R. 397. Mere excess of enjoyment is not ouster. 23 I.C. 122. Although the preliminary decree passed on a compromise in a partition suit makes no provision for payment or ascertainment of any mesne profits, the Court would be justified in appointing a commissioner to determine the amount of mesne profits, when the applications and the proceedings of the Court clearly show that the intention of both the parties was that mesne profits should be paid to each other. 1938 O.W.N. 348=1938 Oudh 103; see also 1938 M.W.N. 1214=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 704. The provision of R. 12 (c), suggest, that when a person obtains a decree for possession of immovable property, the defendant would be answerable to the plaintiff for mesne profits either until he delivers up possession or relinquishes possession with notice to the decree-holder through Court. It is immaterial that the decree itself contains no direction as to future mesne profits. 43 L.W. 221=1936 M. 137=70 M.L.J. 87. Where the appellate Court finds that a person is entitled to possession, the proper course is not to remand the whole suit, but to pass a preliminary decree so far as possession is concerned and direct an enquiry as to mesne profits. 45 M. 449=42 M.L.J. 372. Where possession is decreed to a plaintiff, he is entitled to a further decree for mesne profits from the date of the suit up to the date of taking possession. 42 A. 497=18 A.L.J. 613.

COURT FEE.—A person applying under R. 12 for ascertainment of mesne profits prior to suit need not pay any Court-fee which should be paid only after the amount of mesne profits has been ascertained. 1935 A. L.J. 254=1935 A. 206. See also 49 L.W. 652.

J. 774=16 I.C. 126; 2 A. 651. The correct procedure under O. 20, R. 12, is for the Court to direct an inquiry as to the mesne profits, and then pass a final decree for the amount found due on inquiry. The Court which is directed to make the inquiry in execution ought merely to determine the amount and not pass an order for its recovery. It is for the trial Court to pass a final decree for recovery of the amount due. 176 I.C. 254=40 Bom.L.R. 416=A.I.R. 1938 Bom. 320. The only relevant consideration for Court is whether defendant's possession was wrongful or not. If it was wrongful, Court is not justified in going further and inquiring what the degree of the misconduct or culpability is. 38 L.W. 714=1933 M. 825. When Court passes the preliminary decree under R. 12 and directs an enquiry as to mesne profits, it should, at the same time, decide the basis upon which the mesne profits are to be assessed. There is no provision in the Code for deciding the basis upon which mesne profits are to be assessed, at a date subsequent to the passing of the preliminary decree. 151 I.C. 922=38 C.W.N. 384=1934 C. 503. ## NOTES.

=12 I.C. 385. No deduction for expenses incurred in obtaining decrees for rent, 20 A. 208. In a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property and mesne profits, it is the value of the property plus the mesne profits for the period up to the date of the suit that would determine the jurisdiction of the Court. The mesne profits accruing pendente lite would not enter as an element in determining the value of the suit at the time when the suit is filed. It would, therefore, be quite competent to the Court to award in the shape of pendente lite mesne profits a sum of money which might exceed its pecuniary jurisdiction. But as regards mesne profits accruing prior to the date of the suit, the Court can award mesne profits only to the extent of such an amount, which together with the value of the land would come up to amount which is its pecuniary jurisdiction, I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 176=1937 Cal. 761.

CLAIM FOR MESNE PROFITS AGAINST TRESPASSERS—NATURE OF DECREE TO BE PASSED.—In the case of a claim for mesne profits two courses are left open to Court. A decree for mesne profits may be passed jointly and severally against all the trespassers who may have jointly kept the plaintiffs out of possession for any particular period, leaving them to have their respective rights adjusted in a separate suit for contribution; or, the respective liabilities of such trespassers may be ascertained in the plaintiff's suit against them and a decree on the basis of such several liabilities may be passed against the respective trespassers in plaintiff's favour, 58 C.L.J. 8=1933 C. 554=147 I.C. 466.

DECREE FOR MESNE PROFITS ONLY—VALIDITY.—Though ordinarily a decree for mesne profits can only follow a decree for possession and when the plaintiff fails to obtain a decree for possession, a claim for mesne profits should not be allowed still when the plaintiff is precluded from obtaining khas possession, he cannot be deprived of his right to mesne profits till the date to which he is entitled to possession, 58 C.L.J. 8=1933 C. 554=147 I.C. 466.

SUIT FOR MESNE PROFITS—BURDEN OF PROOF.—In a suit for mesne profits, if the defendant asserts that a particular amount and no more was received by him, the duty of establishing it affirmatively rests upon him, that fact being especially within his own knowledge. On his laying before the Court sufficient evidence to prove that fact, he shifts the burden to the opposite party of proving that more might have been received, 38 L.W. 714=1933 M. 825.

INTEREST ON MESNE PROFITS.—See note under S. 2, Cl. (12). See also 35 C. 329 (Mesne profits shall carry interest unless expressly refused.); 27 C. 951=4 C. W. N. 631 (P.C.); 6 A.L.J. 327=2 I.C. 464; 15 M. 203. But see 22 A. 262 and 8 C. 332 (P.C.) in which it was held that where interest is not given by a decree, it is not obtainable in execution. On this point, see also 10 C. 785 (P.C.); 4 P. 57=84 I.C. 272.

C. C. M.—117

When profits are earned or might have been earned by the wrongdoer yearly, interest on those profits must be calculated yearly and year by year, 68 C.L.J. 152=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 563. Mesne profits include interest, but it is settled then that the Court may in its discretion either refuse to give interest or give interest at such a rate as it thinks fit. There is no reason for making any distinction between different periods for calculation of interest. In absence of special circumstances six per cent. is the usual rate, 68 C.L.J. 152=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 563.

FUTURE MESNE PROFITS.—Although Court may pass a decree directing an enquiry into future mesne profits under R. 12, this provision is only directory and not mandatory. It does not compel plaintiff to unite the claim for future mesne profits in a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property, 1931 A.L.J. 673=1931 A. 429=53 A. 951 (S.B.).

PROCEDURE.—R. 12 does not require that after the preliminary decree has been passed the decree-holder should apply to the Court for starting the proceedings in connection with an enquiry as to mesne profits. On the other hand R. 12 (2) provides that where an enquiry is so directed a final decree in respect of the mesne profits shall be passed in accordance with result of such enquiry. The proceedings should be taken to continue till the result of the enquiry into mesne profits is known. And under the Code the Court has no power to direct the ascertainment of mesne profits in execution, 151 I.C. 755=1934 A.L.J. 86=1934 A. 465. See also 1934 C. 472. The enquiry and ascertainment as to mesne profits is a part of the proceedings in the suit consequent on the preliminary decree and is terminated by a final decree after the mesne profits are ascertained, 41 I.C. 231=2 Pat.L.J. 394; 1931 A.L.J. 413=1931 A. 538 (It has nothing to do with the execution department). Suit for possession by heir—Enquiry into mesne profits from date of suit should be directed, 66 I.C. 494=2 L. 383. Decree for mesne profits does not become operative till the amount has been ascertained by the Court and the Court-fee paid thereon under S. 11 of the Court Fees Act, 27 I.C. 300. On an appellate Court directing a Court of first instance under O. 20, R. 12 (3), to make an inquiry into mesne profits the proper course for the Court of first instance to adopt on receipt of the record from the appellate Court is to fix a date for the appearance of the parties. O. 20, R. 13.—The Code of Civil Procedure nowhere lays down what are to be the contents of a final decree in an administration suit. The contents must depend upon the nature of dispute in each case. Where after passing of a preliminary decree in an administration suit the Court passed an order which determined all the matters in dispute between the parties but refused to frame a final decree sheet, such order must be construed as a final decree to that extent, and is appealable. 1936 L. 879. The rules to be observed as to the respective rights of secured and unsecured creditors, etc., are to be found in the Provincial Insolvency Act. See also 15 C. at 208. Priority of Crown debts, see 45 C. 653=22 C.W.N. 793. Though an administration suit is filed only by one creditor, the decree passed in the suit is in favour of all the creditors of the deceased debtor. No one should be allowed to have an advantage over another with respect to the enforcement of his claim against the estate of the deceased. The Court passing the administration decree has jurisdiction to pass appropriate orders to prevent the execution of his decree by any particular creditor, so that the Court may administer the entire estate for the benefit of all the creditors—all of whom after the preliminary decree should be considered as having become parties to the suit. It can pass orders staying execution by a creditor of his decree, or an order, in the nature of injunction restraining him from executing his decree. Such orders are consequential orders and have to be passed to give full effect to the decree in the suit. It is unnecessary to invoke section 151 or O. 39, Rr. 1 and 2, C.P. Code, for the purpose of passing such orders. 48 L.W. 849=1938 M.W.N. 1127. The right of an unsatisfied or unpaid creditor, who has not come in under an administration decree to obtain payment in respect of his debt, unless he is precluded from exercising it by reason of negligence, default or laches or any other circumstance, which would make it inequitable for the Court to make a decree in his favour is not by way of action but by way of a petition under the administration action itself; such a petition can, however, succeed only if the fund is in Court or subject to the control of the Court, and further the claim can only be made against satisfied legatees and can never succeed against the creditors who have already been paid in respect of their debts. 38 Bom.L.R. 864=1936 B. 423. (a) specify a day on or before which the purchase-money shall be so paid, and

(b) direct that on payment into Court of such purchase-money, together with the costs (if any) decreed against the plaintiff, on or before the day referred to in clause (a), the defendant shall deliver possession of the property to the plaintiff, whose title thereto shall be deemed to have accrued from the date of such payment, but that, if the purchase-money and the costs (if any) are not so paid, the suit shall be dismissed with costs.

(2) Where the Court has adjudicated upon rival claims to pre-emption, the decree shall direct,—

(a) if and in so far as the claims decreed are equal in degree, that the claim of each pre-emptor complying with the provisions of sub-rule (1) shall take effect in respect of a proportionate share of the property including any proportionate share in respect of which the claim of any pre-emptor failing to comply with the said provisions would, but for such default, have taken effect; and

(b) if and in so far as the claims decreed are different in degree, that the claim of the inferior pre-emptor shall not take effect unless and until the superior pre-emptor has failed to comply with the said provisions.

Sub-rule (2) is new and is based upon the rulings in 6 A. 455; 11 A. 164. The words “whose title thereto shall be deemed to have accrued from the date on such payment” give effect to the observations in 24 M. 449 at 463. The pre-emptor’s rights to or in the property accrued only when he has complied with the conditions laid down in the decree and paid the purchase-money into Court and it is then and only then the property vests in him and is divested from the vendee. Such ownership does not vest from the date of sale notwithstanding success in the suit and the actual substitution of the owner of the pre-empted property dates with possession under the decree. Costs.—Rule makes no provision for cases where costs are awarded in favour of pre-emptor. In such cases he can pay the sum after deducting costs. 6 A. at 353. See also 1937 A.L.J. 1114=1937 All. 756. It is well established that a pre-emptor can deduct the costs awarded to him from the sum which he is directed to deposit in Court, although the Civil Procedure Code does not expressly permit a pre-emptor to deduct the amount of costs awarded to him from the sum which he is directed to deposit in Court. The rule permitting such deduction of costs awarded to the pre-emptor from the purchase price is a rule of equity. Where there are cross-decrees as to costs, i.e., where both the pre-emptor and the vendee are awarded costs, the pre-emptor should in equity, only deduct from the purchase price deposited by him the actual amount of costs which he could recover, that is, the balance due to him after deducting the costs payable by him to the vendee under the decree. It would be unjust to permit the pre-emptor to deduct from the decree amount to be deposited the whole amount of costs awarded to him and to leave the vendee to recover the costs awarded to him from the pre-emptor subsequently. If the pre-emptor in such a case deducts the whole amount of costs awarded to him from the purchase price and not merely the balance after deducting the costs awarded to the vendee, the deposit is not valid deposit. 1937 A.L.J. 1114=A.I.R. 1937 All. 756.

O. 20, R. 15.—It is desirable that the Court passing a preliminary decree for accounts should decide who is to be the accounting party. But the omission to do so is not fatal and does not render the judgment illegal. It is open to the Court to give instructions at any time to facilitate and regularise the taking of accounts. 157 I.C. 1113=37 P.L.R. 663. The preliminary decree ought to declare the several rights and liabilities which have been adjudicated upon and embody an order which is contemplated by this rule and R. 16. 18 M. at 87. A direction in a final decree leaving distribution of assets undisposed of is in essence a preliminary decree and the decree is final as regards matters finally decided and preliminary as regards matter still undisposed of. 53 M. 378=1930 M. 528. For the purpose of working out a partnership decree each party should produce all documents and accounts in his possession. See 18 C.W.N. 1025=27 M.L.J. 192 (P.C.). On this rule see also 25 I.C. 146=17 O.C. 193; 45 I.C. 727; 41 P.L.R. 1918; 40 A. 446=16 A.L.J. 305. Proceedings between preliminary decree and final decree are continuation of suit for carrying out the directions in the preliminary decree. 53 M. 378=1930 M. 528. The proof of an agreement between the partners of firm, which forms an exception to the general rule of law that no interest is to be allowed on the capital account of each partner after dissolution, is not a matter concerning the mode of taking accounts. Even if such an agreement is pleaded in the plaint, it has to be proved before the Court and not before the Commissioner who takes accounts in accordance with the preliminary decree of the Court. A Commissioner taking accounts has no power to decide questions relating to the terms of the partnership, its duration or the shares of the partners. He is bound by the terms of the decretal order of reference. 38 Bom.L.R. 1058.

O. 20, Rr. 15 and 17: OBITER.—Under O. 21, R. 15, the Court is by its preliminary decree to direct such accounts to be taken as it thinks fit, while R. 17 of O. 20 enables the Court by any subsequent order to give any special directions with regard to the mode in which the account is to be taken. An order by the Court made after the preliminary decree, awarding certain amounts to a partner as damages or compensation for breach of covenant by another partner and giving directions to the Commissioners as to the taking of accounts cannot be said to be a supplementary preliminary decree, but is only in the nature of an interlocutory order which can be passed under O. 20, R. 17, C. P.Code. 19 Pat. 1=188 I.C. 337=6 B. R. 653=12 R.P. 697=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 204. A suit by one partner against another for damages for breach of a covenant of the partnership deed, brought before the dissolution, is liable to be defeated on the ground that a suit between partners should be a suit for general accounts in which the defaulting partner could be debited with any loss that might have been caused by his act. On the other hand a claim for damages for breach of covenant by a partner does not disappear when accounts are taken (upon a dissolution or otherwise), though where the claim is advanced in the suit for (dissolution or) general accounts, it may be included in the decree under "just allowances". If the breach is subsequent to the institution of the suit for dissolution, and the claim is advanced while accounts are being taken under the preliminary decree, the aggrieved party can get his damages or compensation, where the preliminary decree is in sufficiently wide terms, by an application in the proceedings leading to the final decree. Where the preliminary decree passed in the suit is not an ordinary one in an ordinary partnership action with accounts in common form, but the Court has proceeded to pass it as if it had to settle all claims between the parties, and the decree is intended to settle all such claims between the parties, it cannot be said that the Court has no jurisdiction to award damages subsequent to the suit on application made to it in that behalf and to order the amount to be shown in the final account. 19 Pat. 1=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 204.

16. In a suit for an account of pecuniary transactions between a principal and an agent, and in any other suit not hereinbefore provided for, where it is necessary, in order to ascertain the amount of money due to or from any party, that an account should be taken, the Court shall, before passing its final decree, pass a preliminary decree directing such accounts to be taken as it thinks fit.

Decree in suit for account between principal and agent.

17. The Court may either by the decree directing an account to be taken or by any subsequent order give special directions with regard to the mode in which the account is to be taken or vouched and in particular may direct that in taking the account the books of account in which the accounts in question have been kept shall be taken as prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein contained with liberty to the parties interested to take such objection thereto as they may be advised.

NOTES.

O. 20, R. 16.—The order portion in a preliminary judgment need not specify all details and need not be exhaustive. 132 I.C. 195=35 C.W.N. 17=1931 C. 358 (2). Under the Code of 1908, the proceedings under a preliminary decree for accounts to obtain a final decree for money are proceedings in the suit and are not proceedings in execution in the technical sense of that word as used in the Code. 18 L. 502=41 C.W.N. 814=64 I.A. 191=A.I.R. 1937 P.C. 163=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 1 (P.C.). Although in O. 20, R. 16, C.P. Code, the expression "shall pass a preliminary decree" is used, there are two clear qualifications to it: (1) the rule says "where it is necessary . . . that an account should be taken" and (2) that the Court is to direct "such accounts to be taken as it thinks fit." Accordingly, where it is not necessary, the Court need not pass a preliminary decree and the words "such account to be taken as it thinks fit" obviously mean that the Court need not order any account to be taken unless it thinks fit. No hard and fast rule can be drawn between cases which are simple where a preliminary decree is unnecessary and cases which are complicated where a preliminary decree is necessary. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 569=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 207. Where a decree requires an agent to render accounts, he can only discharge himself by accounting for all the moneys that have come into his hands, and it is always open to the decree-holder to show that this has not been done. 15 W.R. 260. The Court should order an account to be taken of the defendant's dealings with the plaintiff's money. 14 C. 147; 12 B. 675. See 24 W.R. 70. See also 7 C. 654; 62 I.C. 537; 49 I.C. 441; 28 I.C. 452; 36 I.C. 210. On the fact of agency being established, it is the duty of the Court to direct an account to be taken of the defendant's dealings as agent. 27 A. 374. See also 123 I.C. 7. The question as to which of two defendants is the accounting party is essentially a matter for decision at the stage when the preliminary decree in a suit for rendition of accounts is to be passed. 146 I.C. 297=34 P.L.R. 676=1933 L. 891. In a suit for rendition of accounts brought by a principal against a commission agent, it is permissible to a Court to pass a decree in favour of the defendant, if it turns out that a balance is due to him. 1937 A.L.J. 115=1937 A.W.R. 16=1937 A. 276. A preliminary decree in a suit for rendition of accounts does not conclude the proceedings and those intervening between the passing of the preliminary decree and the final decree are not fresh proceedings but continuation of the same suit. 1931 L. 268. Suit for accounts—Preliminary decree not imperative—Facts if simple—Court can proceed direct to final decree. 53 M. 475=59 M.L.J. 316. Objection to particular item—When to be taken—Object and purpose of preliminary decree. 95 I.C. 171=1926 N. 393. The order portion in a preliminary judgment need not specify all details and need not be exhaustive. 35 C.W.N. 17=1931 C. 358 (2)=132 I.C. 195.

COSTS.—In a suit for accounts, which on second appeal, has been remanded to the District Judge, the actual decree for costs should not ordinarily be made until the stage of final decree is reached. But if the preliminary decree has specified the costs in the decree and such decree is put in execution, High Court cannot interfere to amend the decree. 148 I.C. 572=1934 P. 146.

O. 20, R. 17.—[See also notes under O. 20, R. 15, supra.] A comparison of O. 34, R. 7 and O. 20, R. 17 makes it clear that directions by the Court with regard to the mode in which the account is to be taken or vouched will not at least in redemption suits amount to preliminary decrees. 14 Pat.L.T. 735=1934 P. 97 (2)=149 I.C. 311.

(2) if and in so far as such decree relates to any other immovable property or to movable property, the Court may, if the partition or separation cannot be conveniently made without further inquiry, pass a preliminary decree declaring the rights of the several parties interested in the property and giving such further directions as may be required.

tion, the Court will appoint a Commissioner to partition the same by metes and bounds. 70 C.L.J. 355=44 C.W.N. 114=1940 Cal. 33. After a preliminary decree in a partition suit has been passed it is not competent to the Court to dismiss the suit. The preliminary decree can only be reversed on appeal, and whatever default may be in the subsequent stages of suit, the preliminary decree itself cannot be vacated. 139 I.C. 761=1932 M. 519. [51 I.A. 321 (P.C.); 51 M. 701 (F.B.); 6 P.L.T. 152, Foll.; 1928 M. 963, Ref.] Under certain circumstances, in partition suits final decree in the first instance would be proper. 17 I.C. 390=246 P.L.R. 1912. See also 1931 M. W.N. 846; as in the case of a consent decree. See 144 I.C. 95=1933 M. 516. O. 20, R. 18 enjoins the Court first to ascertain judicially who all the persons are who are interested in the property to be partitioned and then in its decree to declare who they are and also what their rights are. It goes to the whole root of the matter that at the outset the entire interests in the property should be ascertained and fixed. Not only must the parties themselves to the partition suit take care that they bring before the Court all persons who are or may be interested in what it is proposed to divide but the duty lies upon the Court itself in matters such as these to see that it has before it every one whose presence is necessary to enable it to make the declaration which it is required to make by O. 20, R. 18. The rights of the parties cannot be judicially determined in the absence of the persons interested to contest them. When O. 20, R. 18 lays upon the Court the duty of declaring what the rights of the parties interested in the property are it means that there shall be a judicial declaration and not a mere ex parte declaration in the absence of some of the parties. 190 I.C. 384=1940 All. 399. Preliminary decree in partition suit effects severance of status. 28 I.C. 543=2 L.W. 325; 1931 M.W.N. 846; 1931 M.W.N. 586. (1) and is defective, it is incumbent upon the plaintiffs to have it corrected within the time allowed by law, and if they fail to do so they cannot ask the Court to transfer the proceedings to the Collector in the absence of any such directions contained in the decree. 158 I.C. 373 (2)=1935 Sind 192. In an ordinary partition suit the Court may, in working out the preliminary decree, create a charge in favour of one co-parcener over another's share by way of adjustment of shares. 1930 M. 988=60 M.L.J. 79. Interlocutory order embodied in final decree—Appeal against order not maintainable. (Ibid.) The usual practice of the Lahore High Court is to stay the proceedings for the partition of the property by metes and bounds pending the decision of the appeal preferred from the preliminary decree. 144 I.C. 596=1933 L. 790. See also 1940 Cal. 33. Where in a partition suit, an order is made decreeing partition of lands assessed to Government revenue and directing the parties to be put into possession and referring it to the Collector to carry out the partition, the duties of the Court are finished, and it is for the Collector to partition the property and put the parties into possession. The Court would send the papers to the Collector without being asked. But if as a matter of practice the parties ask the Court to send the papers to the Collector in the form of an ordinary dakhast, that is not an application in execution at all, for there is nothing in a case of this sort for the Court to execute. Asking the Court to send the papers to the Collector is really asking the Judge to do a ministerial act. There is no article of the Limitation Act relating to an application of that sort, and Art. 182 of the Limitation Act does not apply to such an application. 41 Bom.L.R. 921=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 454. As soon as such decree or order has been drawn up, and before it is signed, the Munsarim shall cause a notice to be posted on the notice-board stating that the decree or order has been drawn up, and that any party or the pleader of any party may, within six working days from the date of such notice, peruse the draft decree or order and may sign it, or may file with the Munsarim an objection to it on the ground that there is in the judgment a verbal error or some accidental defect not affecting a material part of the case, or that such decree or order is at variance with the judgment or contains some clerical or arithmetical error. Such objection shall state clearly what is the error, defect or variance alleged, and shall be signed and dated by the person making it.

(2) If any such objection be filed on or before the date specified in the notice, the Munsarim shall enter the case in the earliest weekly list practicable, and shall, on the date fixed, put up the objection together with the record before the Judge who pronounced the judgment, or if such Judge has ceased to be the Judge of the Court, before the Judge then presiding.

O. 21, R. 2: SCOPE OF RULE.—Rule 2 contemplates a stage in execution proceedings when the question lies only between judgment-debtor and decree-holder. After sale has been duly carried out in execution, the interests of the third party, namely, the auction-purchaser cannot be ignored. So thereafter it is not competent for decree-holder and judgment-debtor to get rid of it by merely asserting that the decree has been satisfied out of Court. The only method by which the sale can be set aside is indicated by R. 89. 58 I.A. 50=35 C.W.N. 381=1931 P.C. 33=60 M.L.J. 423 (P.C.). See also 1932 L. 238=136 I.C. 735. I.C. 321. Court cannot recognize payment or adjustment which has not been certified, for any purpose whatsoever. An uncertified payment or adjustment cannot now operate to prolong the period of limitation for applying for execution. See 19 M. 162; 21 C. 542 (549); 21 B. 122; 17 A. 42; 26 A. 36. Oral adjustment is covered by this rule. 1926 C. 643. An oral agreement between parties to a decree varying the terms of the decree can be proved and not barred by S. 92, Evidence Act. But an oral agreement that an instalment of the decree is to be paid into Court, which is later on actually so paid, amounts to an adjustment of decree within the meaning of R. 2 and is capable of proof provided the adjustment has been certified within 90 days of its alleged completion. Else the executing Court could not recognise the alleged adjustment. (1931 S. 42, Foll.) 14 L. 668=34 P.L.R. 887=1933 L. 806. See also 25 S.L.R. 29=1931 S. 42. a judgment-debtor applies under O. 21, R. 2 (2) for recording of certain payments and the decree-holder in reply files a statement that certain sums of money were received but that they were paid on account of interest, not allowed by the decree, but agreed to be paid in consequence of a separate agreement entered into after the passing of the decree, it cannot be an admission that the payments were in satisfaction of the money due under the decree and cannot therefore amount to a certification. A.I.R. 1939 All. 581. A decree-holder who admits to the executing Court that he has received a payment cannot be allowed by that Court to execute his decree for the same amount over again. If the payment is brought by the decree-holder to the notice of the executing Court, that is enough to constitute certification and would satisfy the requirements of O. 21, r. 2. It does not matter under what circumstances the payment is brought to the notice of the Court by the decree-holder. If it is brought to the notice of the Court that is sufficient to prevent him from executing over again for the sum that he admits having received and he cannot contend that is an uncertified payment. 45 L. W. 291=A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 511=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 296. There is no limitation for a decree-holder to certify payments received by him under the decree, and if the decree-holder has really certified at one stage, the judgment-debtor is entitled to take advantage of it and request the Court to record satisfaction to that extent. 1940 M.W.N. 547=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 893. See also 1940 Pat. 594; 21 Pat.L.T. 650. When one party performs his part of a consent decree he has to apply for execution for performance by the other party. 53 I.C. 882=30 C.L.J. 118. Where preliminary mortgage decree directs payment into Court, Court is bound to pass a final decree for sale. It cannot recognise a payment out of Court. 1932 L. 231=136 I.C. 732; 155 I.C. 231=1935 O.W.N. 541=1935 O. 313.

A preliminary decree passed in a mortgage suit for sale under O. 34, r. 4, not being executable the provisions of O. 21, r. 2, do not apply. I.L.R. (1939) Lah. 313=41 P. L.R. 26=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 79. O. 21, r. 2 applies only where money payable under a decree is paid out of Court. But where money is paid at a time when there was no executable decree in existence, O. 21, r. 2 cannot apply. 1938 N.L.J. 148=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 265. A final decree in a mortgage suit is capable of adjustment. 34 I.C. 137=37 M.L.J. 356; 68 I.C. 443=1923 N. 20. A compromise which has been entered into after a decree does not come within the meaning of this rule. 5 Bom.H.C. (A.C. J.) 78. See also 1939 A.M.L.J. 21. Clause (3) of r. 2 can only relate to an adjustment of the decree under execution and not to an agreement in respect of a claim which remains to be investigated by the Court—as is the case of a claim for a personal decree under O. 34, r. 6. 42 L.W. 968=69 M. L.J. 765 (F.B.). But other considerations may arise in cases where the agreement relates not only to the personal liability but also to the liabilities of the properties directed to be sold or where a composite decree has once for all been passed awarding a personal decree for any deficiency that may arise on sale of the hypotheca. 69 M.L.J. 765 (F. B.). In the case of a compromise which involves a future payment, the question whether the compromise amounts to an adjustment is not a question of the terms to be performed in the future or the present, but the question is whether parties intended to make the decree no longer executable in whole or in part. If they did so intend, there is an adjustment, if not there is not an adjustment. (But in this case, his Lordship was constrained to hold that a compromise involving a future payment is not an adjustment). (1931 L. 608, Ref.) 1933 L. 732 (1). See also 144 I.C. 721=1933 Pesh. 53; 41 P.L.R. 220. Where an alleged compromise was admittedly subsequent to the passing of a final decree in a suit, and it was filed under O. 23, r. 3, to be recorded and the application was rejected, it was held that there was no bar in law to the recording of that compromise under O. 21, r. 2. I.L.R. (1940) All. 190=1940 A.L.J. 88=A.I.R. 1940 All. 184. Where a decree-holder puts his money decree payable by instalments into execution on default in payment of the instalment, and the Court, after recording the statements of the parties, found that the matter had been adjusted between them by a compromise by which instalments were to be again allowed, it would fully be justified in allowing the adjustment. 1935 A. 155 (2)=4 A.W.R. 846. See also 1929 L. 886=118 I.C. 908. instalments and that the decree-holder would accept the instalments without interest, the arrangement amounts to an agreement which is certifiable under R. 2, although only part of the decree is paid. Such an agreement affects the right of decree-holder to execute the decree and it amounts to an adjustment and cannot be recognised unless certified. 162 I.C. 482=1936 P. 253. An executing Court has no power to record satisfaction of a decree over which it has no jurisdiction and a report to the executing Court of satisfaction of some decree pending before another Court is of no effect. 51 L.W. 148=A.I. Rule recognises discharge by operation of law. 23 I.C. 848. But see 41 C.W.N. 406 noted infra. This rule does not debar a Criminal Court from recognizing an uncertified payment when the decree-holder is charged with fraudulently executing satisfied decree. 9 M. 101; 4 M. 325. It has reference only to proceedings in execution as between parties to the decree. 10 M.L.J. 213. Nor does it limit the operation of S. 47. A separate suit does not lie to declare that a decree has been satisfied. 8 C.W.N. 395. This rule covers a much larger ground than what is covered by S. 47. It deals with all adjustments arrived at between decree-holder and judgment-debtor. 25 C. 718 (724). An agreement intended to govern the liability of the debtor under the decree and to have effect upon the time and manner of its enforcement is a matter to be dealt with under S. 47, and can be properly recorded by the Court. [43 C.W.N. 501 (P.C.), Rel. on.] 70 C.L.J. 5=43 C.W.N. 907=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 569. Executing Court can investigate the adjustment of a decree out of Court. 50 I.C. 443=135 P.R. 1919. A claim for restitution before it is allowed by the Court of first instance, cannot be regarded as a decree or order of Court and adjustment of a claim to restitution, which is uncertified, is not hit by R. 2. 44 L.W. 287=1936 M. 840=71 M.L.J. 344. Agreement to give time to judgment-debtor is valid. 24 I.C. 391. As regards agreement prior to decree to execute the decree for a lesser sum, see 4 R. 118=96 I.C. 773=1926 R. 140; 49 M. 513=50 M.L.J. 364. See also 1941 Rang. 316 (Effect of compromise relating to the whole subject-matter of suit on mortgage before end of proceedings). Where an agreement is anomalous in character, i.e., while in point of time it is post-decree, in point of character and intention it is pre-decree, having been executed in ignorance of the fact that a decree had already been passed, it should be treated as a pre-decree agreement, not coming within the terms of r. 2, but falling under S. 47; and a suit brought on the basis of such an agreement for recovery of money realised in execution of the decree is barred by S. 47. 130 I.C. 187=1931 M. 26 (2). By the terms of a decree passed in accordance with an award in a suit for partition, defendant was directed to pay a sum of money to plaintiff. The decree was attached by creditors of plaintiff but defendant pleaded in bar of execution that he had paid certain sums of money to plaintiff prior to the decree and that credit should be given for those sums. Held, (1) that R. 2 was not applicable to the case of payments made prior to decree; (2) the payments could not be pleaded in bar of execution. 54 M. 184=1931 M. 399=60 M. L.J. 721. Where only some of the conditions provided in a compromise are performed, decree-holder is entitled to proceed with execution of the rest. 16 I.C. 972=16 C. L.J. 101. There is illegality in adopting the procedure provided for arbitration to execution proceedings, if those proceedings are regarded merely as a means to the adjustment of the decree. It is open to the parties to adjust their differences under O. 21, R. 2, in execution proceedings and it is perfectly competent to the executing Court to give permission to the parties to refer their disputes to arbitration. The award would be valid and the result of the award would be only an adjustment of the original decree, and not the passing of a new decree which the executing Court cannot do. The order of the Courts directing the award to be filed and a decree to be drawn up accordingly is a sufficient record of the adjustment. 1941 Bom. 20=42 Bom.L.R. 867. Joint decree-holders—Right of one to receive payment and give valid discharge—Adjustment between judgment-debtor and one of several joint decree-holders does not bind the rest—It cannot be recorded by the Court. See 1940 Sind 230 cited under O. 21, R. 15.

O. 21, R. 2 and O. 23, R. 3: RELATIVE SCOPE.—The terms of R. 2 must be understood in the light of the scheme of the Code and with due regard to the scope of O. 23, R. 3. One noteworthy difference between the terms of the two rules is that, whereas under the latter rule, Court may not only record an agreement, compromise or satisfaction, but also pass a decree in accordance therewith, under R. 2, the Court can only record the adjustment, but cannot pass a fresh executable decree on the agreement of the parties, and further proceedings, if any, when part satisfaction only has been recorded can only take place on foot of the original decree. 42 L.W. 968=69 M.L.J. 765 (F.B.). They are also mandatory. 162 I.C. 482=1936 P. 253. The embargo under R. 2 (3) is limited to "Court executing the decree" only. 79 I.C. 278=1923 R. 44 (1); 19 N.L.J. 175. It cannot be said that the Court which passed the decree and which is hearing an application under O. 21, R. 16, is not a Court executing the decree within the meaning of O. 21, R. 2 (3). An application by the assignee of a decree to the Court which passed the decree under R. 16 of O. 21, is an application for execution of the decree and not merely an application for leave to execute the decree. The Court which passed the decree and which hears the application under R. 16 is hearing it as an executing Court and is accordingly bound by the prohibition in O. 21, R. 2 (3). It cannot therefore recognise or give effect to an uncertified payment or adjustment. 43 Bom. L.R. 751 (F.B.). Uncertified payments by judgment-debtor to insolvent after adjudication is not valid against Receiver. 137 I.C. 394=1932 M. 250. R. 2 (3) does not apply to proceedings under S. 52 (2), Oudh Rent Act. 15 R.D. 776. R. 2 requires that adjustment to be certified, quite regardless of whether there is or is not an appeal pending against that decree and if any adjustment is come to after the decree and before the decision of the appeal and is not certified or recorded as required under R. 2, Court is debarred by sub-R. 3 from recognizing such an adjustment. 161 I.C. 751=43 L. "To show cause"—For the meaning of these words, see 11 C. 166. The words "of any kind" have been added, after the word "decree" in the first paragraph to give effect to the ruling in 6 C. 786. See also 49 M. 716=50 M.L.J. 547; 8 C.W.N. 1028 and 22 M. 182 are not now good law. The term "decree of any kind," means a decree of any kind capable of execution. 14 P. 488=155 I.C. 976=16 Pat.L.T. 311=1935 P. 385. The words "to the satisfaction of the decree-holder" shows that the section is not applicable to a case in which the adjustment was not accepted by the decree-holder. 1935 A.L.J. 543=1935 A. 513.

"COURT".—An application for recording adjustment may be made to the Collector to whom a decree has been transferred for execution. 16 A. 228. Also to a Court to which a decree is sent for execution. 5 C. 448. When a decree has been transferred for execution and execution has been taken out in the transferee Court, the judgment-debtor can make an application to that Court for the certification of a satisfaction of the decree and such transferee Court has jurisdiction to record the satisfaction, if it finds after due enquiry that the satisfaction has been made. Certification of adjustment is governed by O. 21, R. 2. In construing the expression 'the Court' occurring in sub-R. (2) of R. 2 of O. 21, reference must be made to sub-R. (1) of the same rule, and sub-R. (1) says that the Court is the Court whose duty it is to execute the decree. 1940 Rang.L.R. 356=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 236. Certificate of payment or adjustment should be filed in the Court which passed the decree or in Court to which it was sent for execution. 25 M.L.J. 586; 5 C. 448. But see 34 Bom.L.R. 203=137 I.C. 517=1932 B. 202. Filing in wrong Court and obtaining an order "recorded" from that Court cannot be treated as valid. 25 M.L.J. 586=21 I.C. 639. Court proceeding against surety is not strictly Court executing decree. 20 S.L.R. 362=96 I.C. 234=1926 S. 105.

WHAT ARE ADJUSTMENTS.—The rule contemplates an adjustment which is binding between decree-holder and judgment-debtor as an agreement by reason of their consent to it. It does not contemplate an adjustment which, although not consented to, is made binding by operation of law. 41 C. W.N. 406=1937 C. 211. So, a scheme which is sanctioned by the Court under S.

153 of the Companies Act and which supercedes a decree, is not an adjustment of the decree as contemplated by R. 2, and is not, therefore, required to be certified or recorded by that rule. (Ibid.) The adjustment referred to under R. 2, is such an adjustment as completely or partly extinguishes the decree under execution and cannot mean an adjustment to give effect to the terms of which would be to create a new decree at variance with the decree under execution and which will again have to be executed. 32 C.W.N. 434; 1931 M. 26 (2); 132 I.C. 670=1931 L. 608; 156 I.C. 807=1935 L. 347. O. 21, R. 2 does not recognise any payment or adjustment to the satisfaction of some third party. 21 Pat.L.T. 138=18 Pat. 318=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 411. The term "adjustment" must be taken ejusdem generis with payment and it means any method or mode whereby the decree is satisfied to the satisfaction of decree-holder. 144 I.C. 721=1933 Pesh. 53. It includes any step which alters the liability under the decree, whether by reducing the amount recoverable, or by reducing the number of persons against whom the decree would otherwise be executed. 146 I.C. 3=1933 P. 576. See also 1936 C. 518. In all cases it is a question of fact to determine whether the alleged adjustment was intended to extinguish the decree, and if it did, the adjustment will be completed, no matter whether the compromise that is made to wipe out the decree is to be performed at some future date. 158 I.C. 701 (1)=37 P. L.R. 288=1935 L. 589; see also 15 P. 390=165 I.C. 940=1936 P. 619. An agreement made before the date of the decree cannot be looked upon or treated as an adjustment of the decree under R. 2, and an execution Court can therefore look at such an agreement and receive evidence of it in order to see whether it prevents execution according to the terms of the decree. 58 B. 610=36 Bom.L.R. 798=1934 B. 370. See also 1935 C. 177; 1938 Nag. 265; I.L.R. 1938 All. 294=1938 All. 141; 1930 Mad. 673. An agreement for payment of enhanced interest on the decree amount is not an 'adjustment'. 151 I.C. 541=11 O.W.N. 1103=1934 O. 465. An agreement to accept a portion of the decree amount to be paid in instalments in full satisfaction of decree is an adjustment and if certified as required by law it can be recorded and acted upon if proved. It is not necessary that such an agreement should be reduced to writing. It is open to the Court to accept oral evidence of the same. 37 Bom. L.R. 230=1935 B. 303. See also 1936 C. 518; 40 P.L.R. 264=1938 Lah. 602. An agreement by which decree-holder agrees not to take out execution against the person of judgment-debtor and not to attach moneys due to judgment-debtor from a third person is not an adjustment of the decree which should be certified but still the agreement is binding on the decree-holder, and the execution Court should refuse execution contrary to the provisions of the agreement. 154 I.C. 292=1935 A.L.J. 287=1935 A. 364; I.L.R. 1938 Lah. 470. It is not necessary that there should be an actual payment in order to constitute a valid adjustment withing the meaning of R. 2. 60 B. 729=38 Bom.L.R. 505=1936 B. 277. Service rendered by the judgment-debtor to decree-holder amounts to an adjustment. 12 I.C. 169=11 M.L.T. 380. Decree for specified amount against two persons and for costs against them and another—Receipt by decree-holder of amounts by way of rateable distribution amounting to half of the decree-amount—Appropriation—Right of decree-holder to adjust towards decree-amount proper excluding costs—Liability in respect of costs—Reduced pro tanto. 50 L. W. 908. An agreement whereby the rights under it should supersede the decree is an adjustment of it. 35 M. 75=21 M.L.J. 709. O. 21, R. 2 does contemplate an inquiry into an alleged payment or adjustment by the Court to which an application is made under that provision and that Court is bound to hold such inquiry. 15 Luck. 712=1940 O.W.N. 629=A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 381. A decree can be adjusted or satisfied by the making of an agreement between decree-holder and judgment-debtor. An obvious instance is the taking of a negotiable instrument which is nothing but a particular form of promise. 1937 C. 222. Decree-holder may accept and parties may have recorded in lieu of the performance of the terms of the decree an agreement to perform something else. 1937 C. 222. But the new agreement is not prima facie capable of execution because, if it is made capable of execution, it would automatically vary the decree. The same principle applies even where the agreement itself contains a condition or term that the subsequent agreement shall be capable of execution. 1937 C. 222. The agreement is capable of being recorded as an adjustment but incapable of being the subject-matter of execution. It is an agreement merely. 1937 C. 222. Rule 2 (1) covers an agreement extinguishing the right of execution. 12 I.C. 364=7 N.L.R. 136. An award on arbitration is binding upon the parties as an adjustment. 1927 S. 66; 42 I.C. 46. Agreement not to execute one decree if another is satisfied is a sufficient adjustment and satisfaction can be recorded for the former. 1925 R. 349. But see 32 C.W.N. 434. A compromise at the time of execution must be treated as if incorporated in the decree itself. 57 I.C. 591. An incomplete, inchoate contract cannot bar execution. Judgment-debtor cannot claim completion of such contract. 43 I.C. 537. "Adjustment" does not include an executory contract. 123 I.C. 604=1930 M. 410; 113 I.C. 238 (1). But see 63 M.L.J. 598. An oral agreement not performed by either party cannot bar execution. 103 I.C. 86=1927 L. 537. Part-payments towards money decrees can be certified by decree-holder in execution application. 26 C.W.N. 534=35 C.L.J. 566. It is sufficient if the payment or adjustment is either certified or recorded. 30 I.C. 45=21 C.L.J. 362. Proceedings to set aside a sale under O. 21, Rs. 90, are not proceedings in execution inasmuch as execution proceedings ordinarily end with sale and therefore a compromise made in such a proceeding should be recorded under O. 23, R. 3 and not O. 21, R. 2. 118 I.C. 908 (1)=1929 L. 886 (2). A consent order passed in an execution appeal will not amount to an adjustment and binding on persons who were not parties in the appeal. 41 L.W. 594=1935 M. 429=68 M.L.J. 593.

O. 21, R. 2 (3): ADJUSTMENT AND PAYMENT—DIFFERENCE BETWEEN—LIMITATION—STARTING POINT.—Per Mya Bu, J.—That there is a substantial distinction between an adjustment and a payment cannot be doubted; for such distinction is recognized by Art. 174, Limitation Act. A payment is not a contract of an executory nature whereas an adjustment is a contract of such nature. Art. 174 fixes the time of commencement of the period of limitation at the date of the making of the adjustment. A.I.R. 1938 Rang. 328.

ADJUSTMENT—EXECUTORY AGREEMENT TO ADJUST, NOT SUFFICIENT.—Before an executory agreement to adjust becomes an executed agreement and thereby an adjustment to the satisfaction of the decree-holder, the agreement itself cannot amount to an adjustment which may be taken into account in the execution of the decree. (44 A. 258, Foll.). 149 I.C. 95 (1)=1934 R. 190 (1). See also 123 I.C. 604=1930 M. 410; 113 I.C. 236; 171 I.C. 477=1937 Sind 229; 1938 Rang. 202 (F.B.); 1938 Rang. 353; 1935 L. 973; 1939 A.M.L.J. 21; I.L.R. 1939 Kar. 725. If there is a completed contract which immediately extinguishes and takes the place of the decree, that contract is an adjustment within the meaning of O. 21, R. 2, although it is to be performed at some future date. If, on the other hand, there is only an agreement to adjust the decree on the fulfilment of a future condition and the decree is still left in existence pending the fulfilment of the condition, then there is no adjustment. It is, of course, a question to be decided in each case by the executing Court whether there has been a completed contract or not. (37 P.L.R. 288. Appr.). 43 P.L.R. 192=A.I.R. 1941 Lah. 149 (F.B.). An oral agreement to sell some lands to decree-holder in satisfaction of the decree, not being capable of being enforced or executed, would not constitute adjustment under O. 21, R. 2. 30 S.L.R. 249=1936 S. 191. See also 164 I.C. 106=1936 R. 289; 1935 A. M.L.J. 97.

The law casts on the decree-holder the duty of certifying payment. 30 M. 545. Court, as a general rule, will not, for the purpose of preserving the solicitor's lien, interfere in an adjustment or compromise which is bona fide. But if the compromise is not bona fide but collusive and is entered into between the parties specifically for depriving the solicitor of his lien, Court will interfere for protection of the solicitor who in such an event can claim payment of the costs by either of the parties. "Collusion" in relation to such a case will be held to exist if parties enter into it knowing and intending that the outcome will be that the solicitor is deprived of his lien. 38 C.W.N. 1031. See also 43 C.W.N. 1133. When the parties have agreed that a decree should be executed in a certain way and that agreement has been recorded in Court, it is not permissible for a third party to object to execution in the way the parties to the suit have chosen. 41 C.W.N. 1133. A manager of a joint family can certify satisfaction of a decree so as to bind the other members. 35 A. 380=19 I.C. 645. So also one partner on behalf of a firm. 1926 S. 167. Assignee or transferee of the decree cannot continue any proceedings nor can he institute any fresh proceeding for the execution of the decree. He must make an application under O. 21, R. 16 to the Court which passed the decree and the Court must order that execution may proceed at his instance. It is then open to judgment-debtor to plead that the claim has already been satisfied. 47 B. 643=1923 B. 404. An uncertified adjustment between the assignee and the judgment-debtor before the former applies under O. 21, R. 16, can be validly pleaded as bar to execution. 31 C.W.N. 921=104 I.C. 4=1927 C. 694; 1935 N. 230. DUTY OF COURT.—If a Court is seized of an application to enter up satisfaction of a decree it must make an inquiry whether the decree has been satisfied. The application should not be allowed to be withdrawn. 51 I.C. 411=35 M.L.J. 252. Where decree-holder has been induced by the fraud of judgment-debtor to file application for certification, he has a separate cause of action on the fraud, but the Court has no jurisdiction to refuse to record satisfaction where such an application is made, or re-open execution proceedings subsequently. 1931 R. 332=134 I.C. 213. Opportunity must be given to prove adjustment. 102 I.C. 753=1927 L. 544. 39 P.L.R. (J. & K.) 164. Even where alleged adjustment is disputed by the decree-holder, Court can enquire into the matter and record the adjustment if it is proved. The expression "the decree-holder fails to show cause" does not merely mean fails to appear but would include "fails to satisfy the Court". 113 I.C. 760=1929 A. 79. Court will not inquire into the truth of the decree-holder's statement. Certificates of satisfaction are not conclusive in any way and the judgment-debtor can show that no such payment was made and raise the plea of limitation. 47 I.C. 177=21 O.C. 161. Where a deed of transfer of a decree recites an uncertified payment and states that the transferee has to recover the balance remaining due, judgment-debtor is entitled to the deduction of the uncertified payment. sary for the judgment-debtor to go behind this transfer-deed or to give evidence of the uncertified payment. 161 I.C. 830=43 L.W. 585=1936 M. 472. When a decree-holder certifies part satisfaction and the materials put before the Court by the decree-holder are such as to put the Court on notice that there was a dispute between the parties as to whether the amount certified was less than the amount which had been actually paid, it is quite competent for the Court to give notice to the judgment-debtor and enter into an enquiry as to whether more has been paid than that which the decree-holder certifies. 164 I.C. 434 (1)=1936 M. 468. But see also 1922 C. 200, infra. adjust claim. 20 N.L.R. 122=1925 N. 49. Where there is an adjustment in respect of a money decree and the party agreeing to pay a certain amount under the adjustment fails to do so the other party can enforce the terms of the adjustment in execution. 35 Bom.L.R. 95. Where in a decree no order regarding Court-fees is passed and subsequently an order under O. 33, R. 12 is passed, the Government's existing interest to get Court-fee cannot be defeated by any adjustment, collusive or otherwise, the parties may enter into and the Court is entitled to refuse to record an adjustment which is calculated to achieve such a result. 159 I.C. 765=1935 S. 111.

INSTALMENT DECREE—CERTIFICATION.—If a statement purporting to certify a payment out of Court is made by decree-holder after the controversy has arisen, it cannot have the force of a certificate. The mere placing of certain cross-mark after the instalments alleged to have been paid does not amount to any intimation to Court that the decree-holder is certifying payment of those instalments. These payments are not certified within the meaning of R. 2 and therefore the execution Court cannot take cognizance of any such alleged payments. 149 I.C. 598=1934 A.L.J. 772=1934 A. 534. See also 17 Pat. 128.

AS TO UNCERTIFIED PAYMENTS AND ADJUSTMENTS.—Where the payment is made out of Court and is not certified the Court cannot take any legal notice of it. 14 L.R. 859 (Rev.). The judgment-debtor has no right to plead an uncertified adjustment whether it is the original decree-holder or his assignee that applies for execution, and whether alleged adjustment consists of a direct payment by judgment-debtor himself or a payment by his vendee as satisfaction of the decree. [19 M. 230, Not foll.; 35 M. 659, Ref.] 56 M. 316=1933 M. 157=64 M.L.J. 22; 163 I.C. 671=1936 R. 218. In order that a certification of adjustment by the decree-holder may have effect, it is not necessary that there should be any specific order by the Court. A certificate presented by the decree-holder is none the less operative and enures none the less for the benefit of the judgment-debtor, because the Court has passed no order recording satisfaction of the decree. The record contemplated under O. 21, R. 2 (1) is merely an order that the certificate of the decree-holder be placed on the record. The Court is not required to go into the question whether there has or there has not been an adjustment as stated. The certificate is sufficient and all that the Court need do is to say that the certificate shall be kept upon the record. It is only under sub-R. (2) of O. 21, R. 2, when the judgment-debtor makes an application that it is necessary for the Court to go into the question whether his allegations are true or not. 174 I.C. 254=1937 A.L.J. 1305=A.I.R. 1938 All.

Court merely because a decree has been attached will not recognise a payment or adjustment of that decree which has not been duly certified or recorded under R. 2. 11 R. 420=145 I.C. 525=1933 R. 239. See also 1934 S. 205. Execution of decree is barred by sub-R. (3) of R. 2 if satisfaction of decree is not certified under sub-R. (1) or (2) of R. 2. 1928 O. 195; 49 B. 548 (F.B.); 32 C.W.N. 434. RIGHT OF SUIT.—Where a judgment-debtor has made payments but they are not certified by the opposite party he can file a suit for recovery of such amount, whether or not he raised the point in the execution proceedings. 1935 P. 65. Where, on a failure to get all the payments alleged to have been made by a judgment-debtor to the decree-holder certified, the judgment-debtor files a suit against the decree-holder for the recovery of such of the payments not certified, he has no cause of action and his suit is premature. It is in substance a suit for damages for breach of contract though no damages have in fact resulted so far. The plaintiff will have a cause of action only if the defendant puts the decree into execution and realises any amount from the plaintiff over and above the payments alleged to have been made by him. 1939 A.L.J. 403=A.I. ## NOTES.

C. 11=20 C.L.J. 131; 24 M.L.J. 541=36 M. 357; 6 P.L.J. 337=63 I.C. 535; 86 I.C. 1051=1925 C. 1012; 26 C.W.N. 529=35 C.L.J. 71. A certification by the decree-holder under R. 2, C. P. Code, has no period of limitation and can be made at any time and without notice to the judgment-debtor. But an application by the latter would fall under Art. 181, Limitation Act. (3 Luck. 684, foll.) 15 P.L.T. 457=1934 P. 380. See also 1940 Pat. 594; 1940 Mad. 893. Having regard to the provisions of R. 2, and Art. 174, it is not open to judgment-debtor to prove adjustment or satisfaction, if he did not take steps to have the same certified within a period of 90 days from the date on which the alleged payment or adjustment was made. This rule would apply whether the payment pleaded is sought to be proved against the decree-holder or his assignee. 148 I.C. 1118=1934 A.L.J. 198=1934 A. 209. But there need not be any formal application by judgment-debtor, nor is it necessary that judgment-debtor must certify the adjustment before execution proceedings begin. 157 I.C. 646=37 Bom.L.R. 230=1935 B. 303. The information given to the executing Court in a written statement put in by judgment-debtor in answer to an application by decree-holder for execution of the decree is a sufficient compliance with the requirements of R. 2 (2). (Ibid.). See also 1940 Pat. 594. It cannot be laid down as a matter of law that the decree-holder's certification is in itself a step-in-aid of execution. In order to save limitation, the payment must fall within S. 20, Limitation Act. 35 C.W.N. 1192=134 I.C. 922=1931 C. 719 (F.B.). Decree-holder applying to record satisfaction of decree—Absence at the time of enquiry—Dismissal of application—Subsequent application by judgment-debtor to enter satisfaction—Dismissal of it as being time barred—Not proper procedure. An application within three years can be accepted as a certificate. 51 A. 237=112 I.C. 73 (F.B.); 117 I.C. 790=1929 M. 811. An uncertified payment of a portion of the decree amount made before the the expiry of the period saves the decree from bar of limitation. 33 M.L.J. 219=41 M. 251. Court is bound to recognise payments previously made and S. 20 of Limitation Act comes in to save limitation. 29 M.L.J. 669=31 I.C. 318. See also 1935 M. 922=159 I. C. 38. Rule does not refer to payments in kind which need not therefore be certified to Court. 21 I.C. 177=25 M.L.J. 442. Court has no power to order repayment or over-payment but judgment-debtor has got his remedy in law to claim refund. 11 I.C. 200. As to limitation, see 1933 A.L.J. 670=1933 A. 511. When two of the four joint decree-holders apply for execution and the judgment-debtor induces the third decree-holder to come forward and depose to a payment said to have been made out of Court more than two years before, such decree-holder does not act on his own initiative in attempting to certify the payment and hence certification cannot be allowed in respect of the shares of other decree-holder. 31 N.L.R. 271=1935 N. 25. would not allow execution of a decree where decree-holder is fraudulently denying satisfaction of decree made out of Court. 40 B. 338=33 I.C. 232. Sons of a decree holder cannot execute a decree after father's death if he had during his lifetime exempted judgment-debtor from all liability, though he has not certified the adjustment to Court. 14 I.C. 574=16 C.W.N. 951. In case of fraud judgment-debtor must inform the Court and protect himself, but he can't evade Art. 174, Limitation Act. He has his remedy by a proper suit. 13 I.C. 424=16 C.W.N. 396. Adjustment made by fraudulent arrangement between decree-holder and judgment-debtor should be certified. 13 I.C. 326=15 C.L.J. 451. In case of fraud, the defrauded party will have his right of action. 46 B. 226=1922 B. 380. O. 9, R. 9 (Restoration) does not apply to an application under this rule. 63 I.C. 855. An application to set aside an ex parte order certifying adjustment of a decree under R. 2 is maintainable. 30 Punj.L.R. 512=115 I.C. 467.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—In an application under R. 2 (2), the burden is on judgment-debtor to prove the adjustment set up. When he asks the Court, in the face of a denial by the decree-holder, to hold that the latter has agreed to substitute for his decree an oral agreement for delivery of some property when admittedly no property has as yet been delivered, the burden is heavily on the judgment-debtor to prove the agreement and the factum of adjustment of the decree. Nor is the burden discharged by evidence of talk of compromise or by proof of the terms which he was putting forward to secure such a compromise. 1935 A.M.L.J. 97. See also 19 N.L.J. 175.

APPEAL.—An order refusing a certificate of payment is appealable. 146 I.C. 1018=1932

P. 634. An appeal lies against an order dismissing an application under this rule. 14 M. 99; 18 M. 26; 16 A. 129; 3 P.L.T. 487=1 P. 644.

REVIEW.—Negligence on the part of a party or his agent is not any sufficient reason analogous to those mentioned in O. 47, R. 1 (1). Where therefore through negligence, the agent or pleader of a party has certified full satisfaction of decree, the executing Court has no power to review the order striking off execution as fully satisfied. 150 I.C. 44=1934 N. 143.

O. 21, R. 2 (PATNA AMENDMENT)—APPLICABILITY—PENDING EXECUTION.—O. 21, R. 2 refers to the case when there is no execution case pending and when the judgment-debtor comes to notify to the Court an adjustment outside the Court. The rule therefore does not apply when an execution case is pending. 174 I.C. 1007=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 204.

O. 21, R. 3.—This rule is new, and follows the ruling in 12 C. 307. See also 12 C.L.R. 404 and 23 W.R. 154. Court having no jurisdiction over immovable property cannot validly sell it in execution of a decree, except under this rule. If Court sells property entirely outside its jurisdiction, the sale is a nullity. 27 C.W.N. 542=1923 C. 619. [17 C. 699 (F.B.), Foll.] 1933 S. 231.

O. 21, R. 4.—Rule 4 applies to decrees of foreign Courts. 40 I.C. 670=33 M.L.J. 539. Once decree has been transferred after notice to judgment-debtor, the transferee Court must take the transfer to be valid and execute the decree; it has no jurisdiction to determine the correctness or propriety of the order transferring the decree to it. 165 I.C. 625=40 C.W.N. 267. Decree in suit excluded from cognizance of Small Cause Court—Order transferring decree for execution to Small Cause Court—Validity of order—No jurisdiction for Small Cause Court to question. (Ibid.)

O. 21, R. 5.—When a decree passed by a Munsiff in one District is sent direct for cution is situate in a different district, the Court which passed it shall send it to the District Court of the district in which the decree is to be executed.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD AND OUDH.] Rule 5. For the word "District" where it occurs after the words "same" and "different" read "Province."

[BOMBAY.] Rule 5. The following shall be substituted.

"Where the Court to which a decree is to be sent for execution is situate within the same province as the Court which passed the decree, the latter Court shall send the same directly to the former Court. But where the Court to which the decree is to be sent for execution is situate in a different province, the Court which passed it shall send such decree to the District Court of the district in which it is to be executed."

[LAHORE.] Rule 5 :—

Where the Court to which a decree is to be sent for execution is situate within the same district as the Court which passed such decree, such Court shall send the same directly to the former Court. But, where the Court to which the decree is to be sent for execution is situate in a different district, the Court which passed it shall send it to the District Court or the Court of any Judge having jurisdiction in the place where the decree is to be executed to whom power to receive plaints has been delegated by the District Judge of the district in which the decree is to be executed.

(High Court notification No. 72-R-XI-Y-14, dated the 23rd March, 1938).

[RANGOON.] Rule 5. The following Proviso shall be added :—

"Provided that where the Court to which the decree is sent for execution is presided over by the same Judge as the Court which passed the decree such transfer may be effected by recording a formal order of transfer in the diary of the execution proceedings."

Procedure where Court desires that its own decree shall be executed by another Court.

NOTES.

execution to the Court of a Munsiff in another District, the Court to which the decree is sent has no jurisdiction to execute it without an express order of the District Judge under R. 88. 22 C. 764. But see 15 M. 345; 164 I.C. 917 (L.) which held that it was only an irregularity in procedure which could be waived and did not affect the jurisdiction of the transferee Court. A Munsiff transferred a decree for execution to the Subordinate Judge in the same district, though there was no express prayer for the transfer by the decree-holders. There was some irregularity in the manner of transfer but the decree-holders acquiesced in it. Held, that the Munsiff could transfer the decree as both the Courts were situate in the same district, and the irregularity in the manner of transfer did not prevent the Subordinate Judge from having seisin over the execution. 64 C.L.J. 47=1936 C. 571. The provisions of O. 21, R. 5, are mandatory, and a decree cannot but be sent to the District Court. Consequently if it is sent to any other Court that Court has no jurisdiction at all from the very start. 42 P.L.R. 404=A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 394. Transfer of decree to another District—Certificate of non-satisfaction sent to Senior Subordinate Judge instead of to District Judge—Held, that it was only an irregularity, and that the proceedings in execution taken before the Subordinate Court are not illegal and ultra vires, especially when no objection is taken at the earliest opportunity by the judgment-debtor. 164 I.C. 693=38 P.L.R. 505=1936 P. 765. The Court ought to send it back to the Judge that sent it for adopting the correct procedure and not dismiss the execution application. 28 I.C. 682. It is open to the parties to question at any stage the jurisdiction of the Court to execute it. 49 I.C. 374=4 P. L.J. 49. But see 164 I.C. 917 (L.) where it was held that the party who allows the Court to exercise jurisdiction in a wrong way cannot afterwards turn round and challenge the legality of the proceedings due to his own invitation and negligence.

O. 21, Rr. 5 and 8.—Rr. 5 and 8 of O. 21, are distinct and independent. R. 8 applies only to those cases in which a decree is sent for execution to the District Court in the same or another District, in which cases the District Court is not obliged to execute the decree itself. When the decree is not sent to the District Court for execution, but for transmission to a Subordinate Court for execution, the District Court cannot execute decree. In such cases, the order of transfer takes effect from the date on which the order for transfer is made. 1940 Mad. 214=50 L.W. 764.

O. 21, R. 6.—An order of transfer of a decree takes effect from the date on which the order is made and the Court to which the decree is so transferred can from that date entertain an application for execution even though a copy of decree has not been received by it. (35 M. 588, Appr.; 55 M.L.J. 120, Overr.) 56 M. 692=144 I.C. 933 (2)=65 M.L.J. 137. See also 50 L.W. 764. The words "copy of any order for the execution of the decree" in Cl. (c) mean a copy of any subsisting order. 13 B. 371. Judgment of a Native State is a foreign judgment. British Indian Court has power to see whether a foreign Court had jurisdiction. R. 7 applies only to British Court. 40 B. 551=36 I.C. 363. No formal order necessary as to transfer when the transferring Court and the Court to which a decree is transferred are presided over by same Judge. 105 I.C. 654=5 R. 613. Notice to execute can be issued

- (a) a copy of the decree ;
- (b) a certificate setting forth that satisfaction of the decree has not been obtained by execution within the jurisdiction of the Court by which it was passed, or, where the decree has been executed in part, the extent to which satisfaction has been obtained and what part of the decree remains unsatisfied ; and
- (c) a copy of any order for the execution of the decree, or, if no such order has been made, a certificate to that effect.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD, N.-W.F.P. AND OUDH.] Rule 6 to be re-numbered 6 (1) and the following sub-rule (2) to be added :—

(2) Such copies and certificates may, at the request of the decree-holder, be handed over to him or to such person as he appoints, in a sealed cover to be taken to the Court to which they are to be sent.

[RANGOON.] Rule 6. The following proviso shall be added :—

Provided that where a transfer is effected under the proviso to r. 5, it shall not be necessary to send the above documents.

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 6. In r. 6 insert the following words after the word “decree” in cl. (a) :—

“and a copy of the suit register relating to the suit in which the decree was passed and a memorandum showing the costs allowed to the decree-holder subsequent to the passing of the decree.”

(See Notification dated 29th January, 1936, Pt. III, Bihar and Orissa Gazette.)

7. The Court to which a decree is so sent shall cause such copies and certificates to be filed, without any further proof of the decree or order for execution, or of the copies thereof, unless the Court, for any special reasons to be recorded under the hand of the Judge, requires such proof.

Court receiving copies of decree, etc. to file same without proof.

only by Court to which the decree is transferred. 63 I.C. 116=26 C.W.N. 292. Where decree has been transferred to another Court for execution, decree-holder need not make a second application to the latter Court to execute it. Where notice is issued under O. 21, R. 22, the application must have been in form and substance one for execution and not only for transfer. 2 P. 909=74 I.C. 753. Where the Court transmitting a decree for execution to another Court has fully complied with all the requirements of O. 21, R. 6, and the copy of the decree sent to the executing Court contains all the correct particulars as to the number of suit and the names of the judgment-debtors, the mere fact that there is a mistake in the certificate of non-satisfaction of the decree as to the number of the suit and the names of the judgment-debtors would not affect the jurisdiction of the execution Court to proceed with the execution. The mistake is a mere irregularity. Even an omission to send the certificate of non-satisfaction would only be an irregularity and would not affect the jurisdiction of the transferee Court to entertain an application for execution of decree. 1938 P.W.N. 73=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 513. Certificate wrong—Court to which the decree is transferred need not get the certificate amended, but can execute decree. 93 I.C. 257=1927 P. 807. On this section, see also 31 C.W.N. 1052. O. 21, R. 6 (2) (ALLAHABAD).—It is open to a decree-holder, who obtains personally the certificate and copy of the decree in accordance with R. 6 (2), either to take them to the Court to which they are sent, or to return the copy and the certificate to the Court which issued them. If he takes the latter action then the Court which passed the decree becomes again seized of the matter, and is either able to grant execution itself, or to grant a new certificate for transfer. 163 I.C. 231=1936 A.L.J. 254=1936 A. 369.

8. Where such copies are so filed, the decree or order may, if the Court to which it is sent is the District Court, be executed by such Court or be transferred for execution to any subordinate Court of competent jurisdiction.

9. Where the Court to which the decree is sent for execution is a High Court, the decree shall be executed by such Court in the same manner as if it had been passed by such Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTION.

10. Where the holder of a decree desires to execute it, he shall apply to the Court which passed the decree or to the officer (if any) appointed in this behalf, or if the decree has been sent under the provisions hereinbefore contained to another Court then to such Court or to the proper officer thereof.

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 8.—The mode of sending the decree for execution under O. 21, R. 5 is a necessary part of the conferring of jurisdiction and without the mode being carried out as prescribed in the statute no jurisdiction is conferred. 1933 L. 839. Order forwarding a decree for execution need not be signed by the District Judge himself. 23 C. 481. See 22 C. 764. Court having no jurisdiction over a decree transmitted to it cannot execute the same. The rule in execution is, a Court can only act through its officers within its territorial jurisdiction. 33 M.L.J. 750=43 I.C. 79. But see 152 I.C. 891=1934 M. 573=40 L.W. 284, where the words "competent jurisdiction" have been held to mean "competent to sell in execution" and not referable to territorial jurisdiction. The law of limitation prevailing at the time of application must be applied. 1 M. 52. When there are different laws of limitation in force in two Courts, the law applicable is the law of the Court to which the decree is sent for execution. Beng.L.R. Sup., Vol. 970. But see 17 C. at 497. When decree of a Court of a foreign state is being executed in British India the law of limitation applicable is the law which would have been applicable in case the decree had been passed in British India. 14 C. 570.

O. 21, R. 9.—The 'manner' of execution refers to the procedure under which the execution is to be had, and has no reference to limitation. 24 C. 473 (491). When the Original Side of the High Court executes its own decree it is at the same time the Court which passed the decree and the Court which executes it. But in no way can the Original Side of High Court be said to be a Court which passed the decree which actually was passed by the Court of Small Causes. In the case of a decree passed by the Small Cause Court and transferred to High Court for execution High Court cannot exercise its powers under R. 233 of the Original Side Rules and direct the payment of decretal amount by instalments. 149 I.C. 763=1934 R. 197.

O. 21, R. 10.—An application for transfer C. C. M.—120 of a decree for execution by another Court is not a substantive application for execution. The transmission order in such case is a ministerial and not a judicial order. Such an order can be passed ex parte and the Court passing it has no jurisdiction to decide whether a subsequent application in the transferee Court will be within limitation or not. Therefore, an order passed by the transferring Court cannot be regarded as a final adjudication on the question of limitation and an application for execution filed in the transferee Court more than 12 years after the passing of the decree is beyond time and cannot be considered a continuation of the prior applications before the transferring Court. 158 I.C. 127=1935 L. 508. There is nothing in the Code to prevent separate and successive applications for execution in respect of each item decreed. 18 C. 515. Where judgment-creditor has obtained a decree for principal and interest to date of payment and costs and has applied for execution and has executed it in respect of the principal and costs subsequently puts in a fresh application for interest only—a prayer omitted in the prior application—the application is not sustainable. 57 B. 468=35 Bom. L.R. 620=1933 B. 364. Where persons entitled to separate amounts under a decree join in one application for execution, and if one of them withdraws, the application can continue in the name of the remaining applicants. 1935 A. 402=157 I.C. 429. Where in a partition suit which was dismissed, three defendants were allowed separate costs and one decree was actually drawn up, one application by all of them for execution of the decree stating that they are entitled to the separate amounts of costs set forth is maintainable as the law does not require that separate applications should be made. (Ibid.) Rule governs only applications made to continue the suit but not made after the termination of the suit. 48 I.C. 840=41 M. 510. The person appearing on the face of decree as the decree-holder is entitled to execute it unless it be shown by some other person under R. 16, that he has taken the decree-holder's place. 18 C. 639. See also 2

LOC. AMS.—[LAHORE.] Add the following proviso to r. 10 :—

“ Provided that if the judgment-debtor has left the jurisdiction of the Court which passed the decree, or of the Court to which the decree has been sent, the holder of the decree may apply to the Court within whose jurisdiction the judgment-debtor is, or to the officer appointed in this behalf, to order immediate execution on the production of the decree and of an affidavit of non-satisfaction by the holder of the decree pending the receipt of an order of transfer under S. 39.”

[RANGOON.] Add the following, namely :—

“ At the time of presenting the application for execution or at the time of admission thereof the holder of a decree may, if he wishes, deposit in the Court the fees requisite for all necessary proceedings in the execution.

Rule 10-A.—If no application is made by the decree-holder within six months of the date of the receipt of the papers, the Court shall return them to the Court which passed the decree with a certificate stating the circumstances as prescribed by S. 41.”

11. (1) Where a decree is for the payment of money the Court may, on the oral application of the decree-holder at the time of the passing of the decree, order immediate execution thereof by the arrest of the judgment-debtor, prior to the preparation of a warrant if he is within the precincts of the Court.

time of the decree that the attachment effected before the judgment shall continue is not an order in execution. Nor can an application made by the plaintiff under O. 39, R. 6, for sale of the goods attached before judgment be regarded as an application for execution of a decree as contemplated by O. 21, R. 11 or by rule 10 of Ch. 27 of the High Court (O.S.) Rules. 40 C.W.N. 1317. All decree-holders desirous of enforcing their decrees must apply for execution. There is no exception in cases arising under O. 38, R. 11. 12 B. 400. But where the property is described in the plaint and in the mortgage decree and a plan of the property is also on the record, it is doubtful whether an application in the form prescribed under R. 11 is in every case necessary. Where a final decree has been passed and the decree-holder applies to the Court to sell the property, it is the duty of the Court to sell the property on such application after obtaining the necessary particulars from decree-holder. 149 I. C. 1066 (1)=1934 L. 58. Non-compliance with immaterial provisions will not vitiate an execution application. 65 I.C. 14=1922 S. 29; 96 I.C. 554=1926 C. 1146. Mere omission from execution application of particulars required by R. 11, would not always make it otherwise than in accordance with law, if the omissions are not such as to make it impossible for Court to issue execution on it. If application, though defective in some particulars is one on which execution could be lawfully ordered, then the application must be held to be one in accordance with law. What has to be looked at is whether the executing Court would or would not issue execution on the application as preferred to it. An application in substantial compliance with law is effectual to stay the progress of limitation under Art. 182 (5), Limitation Act, whether the Court admits, or rejects, or returns the application or allows it to be amended. 36 Bom.L.R. 643=1934 B. 307. It is only under O. 7, R. 6, that the ground of exemption from the law of limitation should be expressly urged but no corresponding provision is made in the case of applications for execution. Consequently an omission to mention the ground of extension of the period of limitation in an application for execution cannot be treated as fatal. 42 P.L.R. 10=A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 178. Failure to file affidavit and encumbrance certificate along with execution petition in respect of final mortgage decree for sale does not render application not in accordance with law. 1932 A.L.J. 578=1932 A. 484=139 I.C. 201. Nor does failure to specify mode of execution. 1932 L. 534=138 I.C. 249. Nor omission to state names of persons interested in decree. 33 P.L.R. 549=139 I.C. 151. Nor omission to mention uncertified payment out of Court. 151 I.C. 1015=38 C.W.N. 163=1934 C. 465. Application headed as one under R. 11 but not in proper form—Court acting thereon and granting relief—Application is one in execution and order is legal. 1925 M. 129 (2). A person appearing on the face of the decree as the decree-holder is entitled to apply for execution, unless it be shown by some other person that he has taken the decree-holder's place. 18 C. 639. An application for execution made by A as guardian of B, who was a major at the time of execution, cannot be considered as an application of B under this rule. 28 M. 396. But see 1930 L. 603. O. 21, R. 11 (2) only describes the form of an execution application and merely sets out the forms in which the application is to be drafted. Any person acquainted with the facts can sign or verify the written application, but only the holder of the decree can apply to the Court for execution. An execution application which is not signed by the decree-holder and presented by a vakil without proper authority is not a proper application at all. It cannot be regarded as effective as having been presented by a person acquainted with the facts. 1937 M.W.N. 355=A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 760. Where an application for execution was presented by the son of a decree-holder on his behalf and the Court returned the application for amendment as not being made by the proper person under R. 11 (2), no mention being made in the application that the son was acquainted with the facts of the case; Held, that the application was rightly returned by the Court under R. 11 (2), and such application could not be said to be pending in Court when it was not filed afterwards by making proper amendment. 1937 Sind 108=170 I.C. 493. The Code in its provisions relating to execution does not seem to provide for the execution of a conditional decree which is to become absolute upon the failure of defendant to do a certain thing. 10 C.W.N. 306. Application for execution—Decree affirmed on appeal—Appellate decree not expressly mentioned in application—Effect. 9 P. 829.

VERIFIED.—Where an execution application was not verified, nor contained the particulars required by R. 11 of O. 21 it should not be entertained. 1937 A.M.L.J. 89. An application to amend an existing or pending execution application should be in the form prescribed by R. 11. 1937 A.M.L.J. 89. An application to take effect under O. 21 should be presented in accordance with the provisions

- (b) the names of the parties ;
- (c) the date of the decree ;
- (d) whether any appeal has been preferred from the decree ;
- (e) whether any, (and, if any) what payment or other adjustment of the matter in controversy has been made between the parties subsequently to the decree ;
- (f) whether any, and (if any) what, previous applications have been made for the execution of the decree, the dates of such applications and their results ;
- (g) the amount with interest (if any) due upon the decree, or other relief granted thereby, together with particulars of any cross-decree, whether passed before or after the date of the decree sought to be executed ;

NOTES.

as laid down therein, and unless the Court rejects the application or calls upon the decree-holder to amend it under sub-R. (1) of R. 17, there is no proper application before the Court. 40 P.L.R. 857=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 515. An application verified by the general attorney for the decree-holder, is properly verified even if the principal is residing within the jurisdiction of the Court. 26 A. 154. Where there are a number of decree-holders some not acquainted with the facts of the case, all that the law requires is that the application should be verified by some person acquainted with the case. 2 P. 809=4 Pat.L.T. 513. Decree-holder's disappearance—Nothing known as to his death—Pleader can apply. 7 Pat.L.T. 220=1925 P. 692.

O. 21, R. 11 Cl. (b).—When a decree is binding upon a minor, execution might be sought against him through his guardian. 16 C. 40; 18 W.R. 56. All that O. 21, R. 11 (2) (b) requires is that the names of the parties should be specified in the application. It says nothing about the addresses. An application not specifying addresses of judgment-debtors cannot, therefore, be said to be not in accordance with law. A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 152

CLAUSE (d).—Where the judgment-debtor objected to execution of decree on the ground that decree-holders were trying to execute the decree of the first Court, which had been superseded by the appellate decree, which alone could be executed, held, that what the decree-holders were trying to execute was the mandatory part of the decree of the first Court as affirmed by the Court of appeal, and it would be the merest technicality to say under these circumstances that the decree-holders were asking for the execution of the decree of the first Court as something distinct from the decree of the appellate Court. 9 P. 829=129 I.C. 138=1931 P. 27. (Case-law reviewed.)

CLAUSE (e).—All that O. 21, R. 11, sub-Cl. (e) requires is that the payments made should be specified in the application. It says nothing about the dates of these payments. Therefore application not specifying such dates is in accordance with law. A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 152. Decree-holder was bound to state in his application any adjustment between the parties after decree, whether such adjustment had or had not been certified to the Court. 10 B. 288. Sale in execution is invalid where decree-holder ignored part-payment of decree amount and applied for the entire decree amount. 11 P. 796. A certification of payment made by decree-holder after the decree is barred is not a step in-aid of execution and cannot revive limitation. 1933 S. 365=147 I.C. 30.

CLAUSE (f).—O. 21, R. 11 (2) (f) requires an applicant for execution to state whether any and what previous applications have been made for the execution of the decree and their results. The word "result" does not mean completed results and does not imply that no further application for execution can be entertained so long as one is pending. The rule is complied with if in a further application for execution the result of a previous application is stated whatever the result may be, as for instance that it has been completely infructuous. The mere fact that execution has already been levied under the decree does not operate as a stay of execution on the decree in law. 1941 Bom. 37=42 Bom. L.R. 948. An application which does not contain the particulars mentioned in this clause is only formally defective, and substantially complies with the requirements of the rule. 16 M. 142; 65 I.C. 120. Executing Court must either allow a defective application to be amended or reject it. 2 L.L.J. 104=55 I.C. 16. A bona fide mistake can be amended. 26 M.L.J. 83=21 I.C. 782. A defective application is in accordance with law. 40 M. 949=32 M.L.J. 621. See also 96 I.C. 554=1926 C. 1146. Where a person relies upon a particular ground as reviving limitation for an execution application, it is incumbent upon him to specify that ground in the application. If he fails to do so, it is not open to him to take advantage of it subsequently. 1933 S. 365=147 I.C. 30.

CLAUSE (g).—Particulars of interest due are not required by O. 21, R. 11 (g) or by any other provision of the Code; that is to say, as it is not required that applications for execution shall contain these particulars they can be furnished by the decree-holder at any time after issue of notice to the judgment-debtor, when evidence is taken or before orders are passed for the purpose of ascertaining the amount due. 184 I.C. 769=A.I.

- (h) the amount of the costs (if any) awarded ;
 (i) the name of the person against whom execution of the decree is sought ;
 and
 (j) the mode in which the assistance of the Court is required, whether—
 (i) by the delivery of any property specifically decreed ;
 (ii) by the attachment and sale, or by the sale without attachment, of any property ;
 (iii) by the arrest and detention in prison of any person ;
 (iv) by the appointment of a receiver ;
 (v) otherwise, as the nature of the relief granted may require.

(3) The Court to which an application is made under sub-rule (2) may require the applicant to produce a certified copy of the decree.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD]. Rule 11. Substitute for clause (f) of sub-rule (2)—

“(f) The date of the last application, if any” ; and add the following proviso to sub-rule (2) :—

“Provided that when the applicant files with his application a certified copy of the decree the particulars specified in clauses (b), (c) and (h) need not be given in the application.”

NOTES.

R. 1939 Rang. 345. Interest from date of application and date of sale may be ordered, even though not specifically claimed. 36 C. W.N. 404=138 I.C. 718=1932 C. 555. Purchaser under sale in execution is not bound to inquire whether judgment-debtor had a cross-judgment for a higher amount. 14 C. at 25 (P.C.). Omission to state date of prior application is not a material defect but omission to mention the existence of cross-decrees however may be a material defect. 71 I.C. 1054=1924 C. 398.

CLAUSE (h).—If the decree-holder asks for more costs than are actually due to him, that might be another matter, but when he asks for something less, and the difference is of a trivial character, it cannot be held that the application is so vitiated as to be incapable of execution at all. A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 152.

CLAUSE (i).—In the case of a decree against a firm, the decree-holder or a transferee decree-holder has a right to apply for execution against any one or more of the partners of the firm, the firm being only a collective name of the individuals who are the members of the partnership. 39 Bom. L.R. 540=I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 691=1937 Bom. 365.

CLAUSE (j): SCOPE OF.—Any method suggested by the decree-holder for the satisfaction of his decree which method is not actually prohibited by law, falls within the purview of R. 11 (2) (j) (v). 1928 L. 7. As regards proper form of decree, see 19 B. 34. O. 21, R. 11 (2) (j) states nothing about the specification of the property. All that the decree-holder is required to set forth is the mode in which he seeks the assistance of the Court. This mode is sufficiently indicated when he states that he seeks attachment of the movables of the judgment-debtor. It is clear from O. 21, Rr. 11 and 12 that the Code has drawn a distinction between movables in the possession of the judgment-debtor and movables belonging to him but not in his possession and immovable property in his possession. When the Code itself draws such a distinction and does not ask for a list of movables when they are in the possession of the judgment-debtor, it is impossible to state that an application which does just what the Code requires is not in accordance with law. Hence an application which does not specify particulars of movable to be attached is, therefore, in accordance with law. A.I.R. 1941 Nag. 152. The method of executing is one of procedure and not a substantive right. 9 I.C. 800. Judgment-debtor should be arrested only when he shows bad faith or negligence in satisfying decree. 11 I.C. 848=246 P.L.R. 1911. A decree declaring a party entitled to a constantly recurring right to receive certain payments in kind, valued at a certain annual sum, cannot be executed, as the applicant would not be able to state definitely, as required by the Code, to what extent relief was desired. 4 M. at 220. See also 27 I.C. 804=13 A.L.J. 136. In an application for execution of a decree to remove a building, the assistance of the Court should be asked for in the manner provided by R. 32. 8 C. 174; 18 C. at 465; 17 C. 532. “Otherwise as the nature of the relief may require” includes several methods. Sale without attachment is one method of execution; attachment of a decree or debt is another. An application for execution by one method cannot be converted into another method. 91 I.C. 240. Ejectment for money decree is a method under Oudh Rent Act, S. 61. 19 I.C. 38=15 O.C. 381. Rateable distribution is not a form of execution—C. P. Code, S. 73. 25 N.L.R. 94=116 I.C. 665=1929 N. 148. Except in a case where decree itself directs the appointment of a receiver to work out the relief, no decree-holder has a right to ask for appointment of a receiver only under clause 4 of R. 11. It would always be an alternative mode to the relief mentioned in cl. (2) (i) of R. 11, i.e., attachment and sale. 114 I.C. 839=1929 M. 20.

O. 21, R. 11, Cl. (3).—Order for a copy

“In an execution petition praying for relief by way of attachment of a decree of the nature specified in sub-rule (1) of r. 53 of this order, there shall not be included any other relief mentioned in this clause.”

(c) Add the following proviso at the end of sub-rule (2) :—

(2) Substitute the words and figures “sub-rr. (1) and (1-A)” for the word and figure “sub-r. (1)” in line 1 of sub-r. (2) of r. 11.

[SIND.] O. 21, r. 11.—Add the following as clause (ff) to sub r (2) :—

“(ff) Whether the original decree-holder has transferred any part of his interest in the decree and, if so, the date of the transfer and the name and address of the parties to the transfer.”

12. Where an application is made for the attachment of any movable property belonging to a judgment-debtor but not in his possession, the decree-holder shall annex to the application an inventory of the property to be attached, containing a reasonably accurate description of the same.

" 13. (1) When application is made for execution of a decree relating to immovable property included within the cadastral or town Survey and the decree does not contain a plan of the property or for execution of decree by the attachment and sale of such property, the application must be accompanied by a certified extract from the latest kwin or town map with the boundary of the land in question marked with a distinctive colour. The particulars specified in the annexed instructions, which have been issued regarding the filling up of forms of process concerning immovable property must also be furnished so far as they are not given in the plan. In the case of other immovable property a plan is not required, but such of the particulars in the annexed instructions as can be given must be supplied :—(1) If the property to be sold is agricultural land which has been cadastrally surveyed and of which survey maps exist, the area kwin number ; latest holding number (if different kinds of holding ; e.g., rice land and garden holdings, are numbered in different series, the kind of holding must be stated), field numbers (if the property does not coincide with one complete holding year of kwin map from which the holding number is taken), and revenue last assessed upon the land must be given ; (2) in the case of other agricultural land, the area and village tract within which it falls, distance and direction from nearest town or village and boundaries should be specified ; (3) in the case of land in large towns the area, block or quarter, name or number, the lot number (if there are separate series of lots, the series should be stated, and where the land forms part only of a lot particulars regarding that part), the holding number in the latest town survey map if any, and year of the map ; the rent or revenue last assessed on the land, must be given ; (4) in the case of buildings situated in a large town when the land on which such buildings stand is not affected, the name or number of the street, or, if the street has neither name nor number, the quarter or block name or number, the number of the building in the street, or, if it has no number, the lot number must be given ; (5) in the case of immovable property situated in a small town or village, such of the particulars in paragraphs 3 and 4 above as can be given should be given ; (6) the purpose to which land or buildings are put, the material and age of buildings, all incumbrances and municipal taxes should be stated ; (7) the judgment-debtor's share or interest in the property should be specified.

O. 233.

O. 21, R. 15: JOINT DECREES.—The object of R. 15, is clearly to enable the Court to protect the interest of a decree-holder who has not applied for execution when such an application has been made by a co-decree-holder. Where one of several decree-holders applies for execution and the others do not object, it is not for the judgment-debtor to plead that sufficient steps have not been taken to safeguard the interest of the other decree-holders. One of two decree-holders applied to execute the decree and in the appropriate column of the application, the names of both were mentioned. The other decree-holder actually appeared in the execution proceedings. The Court also took steps to protect the interest of the latter. Held, that the execution application was maintainable and it could not be said to be not in compliance with O. 21, R. 15. 1941 P.W.N. 183. R. 15 does not require Application for execution by joint decree-holder. than one, any one or more of such persons may, unless the decree imposes any condition to the contrary, apply for the execution of the whole decree for the benefit of them all, or, where any of them has died, for the benefit of the survivors and the legal representatives of the deceased.

(2) Where the Court sees sufficient cause for allowing the decree to be executed on an application made under this rule, it shall make such order as it deems necessary for protecting the interests of the persons who have not joined in the application.

NOTES.

that any particular form of words should be used to express the undertaking required by Cl. (1) of that rule. Where an application for execution is made by one of two decree-holders stating that the other decree-holder will be produced at the time of the recovery of the money the application must be held to be on behalf of both, and if the undertaking in the application is observed and the other decree-holder is produced when the money is paid, all necessary protection of his interest would be secured. It would make no difference if payment or an adjustment under these conditions is made out of Court and provided that the other decree-holder is produced at the time of any payment or adjustment and is aware that the payment or adjustment is made in satisfaction of the decree, the payment or adjustment would be binding upon him. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 461=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 230. The payment made by a judgment-debtor to one of several joint decree-holders is not binding on others, unless the decree-holder to whom the payment is made represents the other decree-holders in some way or other. But it would be binding on the person to whom it was paid, if he could give a valid discharge of his own share. 1941 O.W.N. 487=1941 O.A. 335=1941 A.W.R. (C.C.) 126. In the case of an execution application by one of joint decree-holders if express authority of the executing decree-holder to receive the decretal amount on behalf of all joint decree-holders is proved or if it is established that in fact all decree-holders have received their shares of the amount, then an adjustment binding all decree-holders can and should be recorded. But when no express authority or receipt by other joint decree-holders has been established then the provisions of O. 21, R. 15 have to be looked to. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 461=A.I.R. 1940 Sind 230. It is not open to one of several decree-holders to apply for execution of a joint decree in respect of his share only; nor can the Court allow such execution for a share only. 1936 A.M.L.J. 32. It is incumbent on the applicant to state specifically in the application that it is filed on behalf of all the decree-holders. Omission to so state is fatal to the application. (Ibid.). Where out of four joint decree-holders two decree-holders have themselves applied for execution and the third decree-holder has admitted payment, and the remaining decree-holder has taken no interest in the proceedings, Court is fully justified in permitting execution by the decree-holders without making any order as to calling the other decree-holders, (ibid.). One of joint decree-holders is entitled to apply for an order absolute without joining the other party, subject to such orders as the Court might see fit to pass to safeguard the other party's rights. 11 I.C. 700=34 A. 72. See also 152 I.C. 443. And the judgment-debtor is entitled to look for a valid discharge to him who executes the decree. 7 Pat.L.T. 708=103 I.C. 75=1927 P. 329. No necessity to state in execution application that it is made by one decree-holder for the benefit of all the decree-holders—Application must not be dismissed merely because the name of one of the decree-holders is not mentioned in it. 1930 L. 603. But see 1936 A.M.L.J. 32 (noted supra); 1937 Pat. 253. The judgment-debtor has no right to object to any one of several joint decree-holders executing the whole decree. 8 N.L.J. 91=54 I.C. 924. Such an objection cannot be raised in appellate Court when it has not been raised in executing Court. 24 L.W. 711=97 I.C. 375=1926 M. 1198. Judge has a discretion to allow one of several decree-holders to execute the decree. 36 M. 357=24 M.L.J. 541. Where two of three decree-holders have certified satisfaction but an assignee from the third applies for recognition of the assignment and execution, Court has a large discretion under R. 15 and though it cannot entertain a plea of uncertified adjustment by judgment-debtor, yet if it smells fraud, Court is entitled to disallow execution. 56 M. 316=1933 M. 157=64 M.L.J. 22. The rule does not contemplate a case where a decree is passed in favour of two Hindu widows, and one of them alone applies for execution of the entire decree. 26 A. 318; 15 M. 343; 25 M. 431 (F.B.) and 7 C. 831. tion, the other brother is also entitled to a share in that property. (42 I.A. 177, Foll.) 157 I.C. 482=1935 L. 484. A member of the joint Hindu firm in whose favour the decree existed is entitled to apply for execution of the whole decree for the benefit of them all, especially when all the other members of the firm have come forward in Court and stated that they had no objection to the execution of the decree by him. 151 I.C. 575=1934 Pesh. 76 (2). In the case of partners who have become joint decree-holders (and are not merely joint private creditors), one of them as such decree-holder is not competent to receive the joint decree debt so as to release the judgment-debtor from liability in execution for even a portion of the decree debt. If satisfaction of a decree should be entered on the report of one of the joint decree-holders it would amount to a violation of O. 21, R. 15, C. P. Code. If, however, express authority of the executing decree-holder to receive the decree amount on behalf of all the joint decree-holders is proved, or if it is established that in fact all the decree-holders have received their shares of the amount, then an adjustment binding on all of them can and should be recorded under O. 21, R. 2, C.P. Code. If no such express authority or receipt be proved, then O. 21, R. 15 has to be looked into. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 461=1940 Sind 230. Decree in favour of firm can be executed by some of the partners. 131 I.C. 376=1931 L. 507. Suit in the name of a firm—Names of partners not disclosed—Payment of decree amount to a partner of the firm after dissolution operates as a valid discharge. 105 I.C. 892=1928 S. 37. Where one or any of the decree-holders file an execution application without stating on that application that they are acting in the interests of the whole body of the decree-holders, their action does not necessarily invalidate the execution application and if any such defect is pointed out amendment of the application should be allowed. But these remarks do not apply strictly where a firm is concerned. So soon as the name of the firm is entered in an application, this entry automatically signifies that the application is being made on behalf, of all the partners in the firm. 1939 A.M.L.J. 154. Court to which a decree is transferred for execution has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for bringing on record the legal representatives of a deceased decree-holder which must be made to the Court passing decree. So the execution of a decree so transferred need not necessarily be stayed. 55 I.C. 156. A decree for costs in favour of 13 defendants cannot be executed by two defendants in respect of their proportionate share of the sum awarded. 18 M. 464. Non-compliance with requirements of R. 15—Court can allow amendment subsequently. 122 I.C. 179=1930 A. 188. As to decree for costs in different Courts, see 58 I.C. 212

16. Where a decree or, if a decree has been passed jointly in favour of two or more persons, the interest of any decree-holder in the decree is transferred by assignment in writing or by operation of law, the transferee may apply for execution of the decree to the Court which passed it; and the decree may be executed in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application were made by such decree-holder :

Application for execution by transferee of decree.

Provided that, where the decree, or such interest as aforesaid, has been transferred by assignment notice of such application shall be given to the transferor and the judgment-debtor and the decree shall not be executed until the Court has heard their objections (if any) to its execution :

Provided also that, where a decree for the payment of money against two or more persons has been transferred to one of them, it shall not be executed against the others.

The Court can inquire into the heirship in the course of execution when any person raises that question. 43 I.C. 1008. A joint decree cannot be executed by one of several joint decree-holders in respect of his own share. 4 Pat. L.J. 575=53 I.C. 803; 2 Luck. 259; 97 I.C. 896=1926 O. 605. But see 32 C. W. One of two joint owners of a decree, though such decree was passed in favour of one single decree-holder, can execute the decree, if the other joint owner refuses to join in executing it. When the latter has been impleaded as a party to the execution and has been served with notice, but takes no interest in the matter, his rights need not be safeguarded as required by R. 15, but the applicant cannot on that ground be refused permission to execute the decree. 39 C. (2). 1933 P. 609.

LIMITATION.—This rule is controlled by S. 7, Limitation Act. 130 I.C. 403=1931 L. 5. Where one only of several joint decree-holders is a minor, S. 7, Limitation Act, saves an application for execution by the minor decree-holder from being barred. 28 C. 465. See also 25 M. 431 (F.B.). Application though defective saves limitation. 1 P. 609=69 I.C. 668. An application for partial execution is a step-in-aid of execution. 15 B. 242. If notice under this section amounts to "revivor", see 15 P. 102. Court can allow execution of cross-claims under the same decree providing safeguards for the rights of other parties. 44 I.C. 445. Similarity between the rights of each of the parties does not make partition decree a joint-decree in favour of co-sharers. 43 M. L.J. 379=70 I.C. 296=1922 M. 456. No appeal is provided against an order under R. 15 or R. 16. 70 I.C. 329=1924 M. 518. Where in execution of a decree for sale in favour of joint decree-holders, one of them purchases the property with previous leave of the Court to execute the decree on behalf of all, the other joint decree-holders have in equity a right to recover from him their share. 11 I.C. 517=33 A. 563. The decree can be executed by the decree-holder or the transferee as per S. 49 and O. 21, R. 16. Although portions of a decree can be legally transferred, the decree must be executed as a whole. 39 I.C. 654=15 P. R. 1917. See also 2 Luck. 259. An assignee of a portion of the decree amount must apply for execution on behalf of all. Where a certificate is issued on behalf of all the decree-holders there is in fact a discharge of the decree and the other decree-holders cannot execute the decree. 49 I.C. 141=1918 M.W.N. 507. Where in a joint and several decree against B and C, they were individually awarded costs as against A, A is entitled to execute his decree against only one of the judgment-debtors without deducting the costs of both, but after deducting the costs due to that judgment-debtor alone. 34 I.C. 388=3 L.W. 267.

O. 21, R. 16: SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF RULE.—This rule does not apply to case of devolution by survivorship. 140 I.C. 393=1932 P. 359. Under R. 16, Court has no discretion and the assignee of decree is entitled to execution as of right, provided the other

“Explanation.—In an application under this rule, any payment of money made under a decree, or any adjustment in whole or in part of the decree arrived at to the satisfaction of the decree-holder, which payment or adjustment has not been certified or recorded by the Court under r. 2 of this order, shall not be recognised by the Court entertaining the application.”

[CALCUTTA.] O. 21, r. 16. In the first proviso to r. 16, O. 21, cancel the words “and the decree shall not be executed until the Court has heard their objections (if any) to its execution” and substitute therefor the following words :—

“and until the Court has heard their objections (if any) the decree shall not be executed provided that if, with the application for execution, an affidavit by the transferor admitting the transfer or an instrument of transfer duly registered be filed the Court may proceed with the execution of the decree pending the hearing of such objections.”

[NAGPUR.] Rule 16. In r. 16, after the words “which passed it” insert the words “or to any Court to which it has been sent for execution.”

conditions mentioned in the rule have been satisfied. 1934 L. 648 (2). R. 16, does not contemplate an order of substitution being made in favour of an assignee on the basis of a deed of assignment in place of the assignor. It gives the transferee the right to apply for execution of the decree directly without the necessity of obtaining a prior order for substitution in his favour. 1941 O.W.N. 488. Where an application for execution of a decree is made by a transferee of the decree, he has to establish his title in the first instance under O. 21, R. 16, he has to apply to the Court which passed the decree, and on the notice being issued on this application, the Court will decide if the applicant is the person entitled to execute the decree. The extent of his right and the conditions on which he may in fact proceed with the execution are not touched by this decision, because the Court does not at this stage decide how far the decree can be executed, or the objections, if any, to the decree being executed. It only decides that the decree may be executed as if the application were made on behalf of the decree-holder himself. On this notice being made absolute, the only right which the transferee acquires is the right to execute the decree in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as the decree-holder himself had. Any objections raised by the judgment-debtor or his legal representatives to the execution of the decree on the score of limitation or satisfaction of the decree, etc., cannot be considered at that stage. Where the decree in question has got to be revived under O. 21, R. 22, the objections can only be considered and disposed of when the notice under O. 21, R. 22, comes to be disposed of. 43 Bom.L.R. 266. Assignee by operation of law (by succession or inheritance) can execute decree. 59 B. 417=37 Bom.L.R. 150=1935 B. 298. A legal representative of a deceased decree-holder is deemed a transferee of the decree by operation of law, and as such is entitled to apply for the execution of the decree to the Court which passed the decree, under R. 16. The transferee of a decree or the heir of a decree-holder cannot present an application for its execution unless he first obtains an order under R. 16, that he is the person entitled to execute the decree as the transferee or the legal representative of the original decree-holder, as the case may be. Where a decree has been transferred for execution to another Court, but the decree-holder dies before starting the execution proceedings in that Court, his legal representative cannot continue the proceedings in the Court to which the decree has been transferred; he has to start fresh proceedings in the Court which passed the decree under R. 16. He has to seek an order under R. 16 from the Court which passed the decree and have that order remitted to the Court to which the decree has been transferred for execution under O. 21, R. 6 (c). If the application under R. 16 is granted by the Court which passed the decree, it may make an endorsement of that order on the decree and send a copy of the order along with the other papers to the Court to which the decree is transferred. It is after such an order is passed that the legal representative is clothed with the status of a decree-holder, and is then empowered to institute execution proceedings in the Court to which the decree is transferred. If the decree has ceased to be capable of execution by being time-barred, then the legal representative is not entitled to have an order passed in his favour under O. 21, R. 16. 41 Bom.L.R. 1190. The sons of a deceased Hindu who was the sole decree-holder are not decree-holders who can execute the decree without recognition by the Court which passed the decree on the devolution upon them of the decree. The decree is, on their father's death, transferred to them by operation of law, and O. 21, R. 16, is applicable. 50 L.W. 605=1939 M.W.N. 1046 (1)=I. L.R. (1940) Mad. 79=1940 Mad. 89=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 758. See also (1938) 2 M.L.J. 156. The phrase “transfer by operation of law” in O. 21, R. 16, should receive a restrictive interpretation and not an extensive or comprehensive meaning. The expression “assignment in writing” cannot be regarded as illustrative of the supposed general term comprised in the expression “operation of law,” the specific import of the two expressions remains unaffected by their connection with one another in R. 16. Transfers “by operation

" Provided that where the decree, or such interest as aforesaid, has been transferred by assignment, notice of such application shall be given to the transferor ; and unless an affidavit by the transferor admitting the transfer is presented with the application, the decree shall not be executed, until the Court has heard his objections (if any) to its execution."

[PATNA.] In r. 16—

(1) Add the words " or to the Court to which the decree has been sent for execution as the case may be " after the words " to the Court which passed it " ;

(2) Delete the words " and the judgment-debtor " from the first proviso, and in the said proviso after the word " transfer " insert the words " unless an affidavit of the transferor admitting the transfer is filed with the application " and substitute the word " his " for the word " their " and the word " objection " for the word " objections."

[RANGOON.] For the first proviso substitute the following :—

" Provided that, where the decree, or such interest as aforesaid, has been transferred by assignment, notice of such application shall be given to the transferor ; and, unless an affidavit by the transferor admitting the transfer is filed with the application, the decree shall not be executed until the Court has heard his objections (if any) to its execution."

of law" are intended to be confined to testamentary and intestate succession, forfeiture, insolvency, and the like. A decree declaring the title of a party to a decree passed previously cannot be regarded as sufficient to effect a transfer "by operation of law" of the right to execute the decree within the meaning of, R. 16; nor does it ipso facto constitute an assignment. At best it creates a right to obtain an assignment of the decree for the purpose of realization of the debt to which the title is conferred. A person who obtains a right to obtain an assignment of a decree already obtained or the monies recoverable thereunder is not a transferee "by operation of law." I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 271=41 Bom.L.R. 371=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 221. The expression "by operation of law" in O. 21, R. 16, means by operation of the appropriate law, but the law in force in a foreign system is not one which Courts in British India will recognise. No Court will recognise the transfer of immovable property situate within its own jurisdiction by the operation of a foreign system of law. The title to immovable property is always governed by the lex loci. To transfer a decree which operates upon immovable property in British India cannot be transferred by the operation of a system of law other than that of British India where the immovable property is situate. 43 Bom.L.R. 724. A person cannot be regarded as transferee of a decree by operation of law by his merely obtaining a decree against the decree-holder entitling him to a certain share in the decretal amount. O. 21, R. 16, is primarily intended for those cases where the name of the applicant for execution of the decree does not appear as a decree-holder in the decree but in which he bases his claim to execute on the ground that he is an assignee or transferee of one or more decree-holders. Where a preliminary decree for mesne profits is assigned pending an inquiry into the mesne profits, and the assignee is substituted and gets a final decree passed, an application by him to execute that final decree is not governed by O. 21, R. 16 or the proviso thereto. 17 Pat. 206=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 462. stating that he had no objection if the decree were executed by the applicant alone. The application ultimately failed for want of prosecution. A question being raised whether application was according to law and served as a step-in-aid of execution held, that the statement made by the other decree-holder in the purshis did not amount to a relinquishment or to an assignment of his interest in the decree. The application made in reliance of the alleged relinquishment was mistaken. It was however made by a person entitled to make it and was thus in accordance with law. 58 B. 428=36 Bom.L.R. 437=1934 B. 216. The rule lays down how a decree has to be transferred in case the transferee desires to have it executed, and recognizes only two modes of transfer, viz., (1) transfer by assignment in writing, and (2) transfer by operation of law. An assignee under an oral assignment has, as such, no locus standi to apply for execution. 15 B. 307. See also 1941 R.D. 605. An execution application based on an oral assignment cannot be a step-in-aid of execution. (1911) 2 M.W.N. 559=13 I.C. 78. No particular form of assignment is prescribed in the case of decrees. Anything in writing which transfers a decree and clearly shows that the intention was to assign the decree is sufficient. What is required is an assignment in substance which is in writing. 44 L.W. 336=1936 M. 543=71 M.L.J. 161. But see also 1937 Cal. 570 (But the writing must contain express words of assignment of decree). Where a joint application is made to the Court by the holder of a decree and another wherein it is stated that the former has no objection to surrender all his rights to the latter and that the Court should confirm that arrangement by a decree declaring the latter's title to the monies claimable under the former's decree, and the Court sanctions such arrangement, there is in effect an assignment in writing as contemplated by O. 21, I. 16. There is no provision in law prescribing a particular form of such an assignment. Some written authority proceeding from the transferor of the decree is sufficient for the Court to take action on the application of the transferee. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 271=41 Bom.L.R. 371=A.I.R. 1939 Bom. 221. Where pending a partnership suit, the Court with a view of protecting the assets of the partnership, itself sells a decree in Court, by auction through Commissioner to the highest bidder from amongst the parties, a formal assignment in the sense of document which in form purports to assign the decree is not required by law provided the orders of the Court amount to an assignment of the decree in substance. 71 M.L.J. 161. A receipt acknowledging money paid for the sale of a decree is not an assignment in writing within the meaning of O. 21, R. 16. 1934 L. 328 (2). A transfer by operation of law means a transfer on the death or by devolution or by succession and a transferee by operation of law would be a legal representative of the deceased decree-holder or the person in whom the interest of the decree-holder has become vested under a statute, e.g., the Official Assignee of an insolvent or the purchaser at a Court sale in execution of a decree. Where the plaintiff's adoptive grandmother had during her management of the estate obtained a money decree against a certain person and plaintiff having subsequently established his right to the estate as against the grandmother sought to enforce the decree obtained by her, held, that the execution proceeding was not legally sustainable and that all he he could do was to apply for the appointment of a receiver or follow the procedure laid down in O. 21, R. 53. 57 B. 513=35 Bom.L.R. 795=1933 B. 367. The words "operation of law" cannot apply to a case where a person has become the owner of a decree by some transaction inter vivos. 44 L.W. 336=1936 M. 543=71 M.L.J. 161. See also 1939 Bom. 221=41 Bom.L.R. 371; 41 Bom.L.R. 1190; 43 Bom.L.R. 724; I.L.R. ing under the power of attorney obtained decrees on mortgages and pending proceedings for the sale of the mortgaged properties, the principal applied under O. 21, R. 2 for satisfaction of the decrees. But the agent assigned the decrees to a third party who applied under R. 16 for recognition of the assignment and for execution. Held, that it was not open to the Court to go into the question whether the alleged satisfaction was bona fide or fraudulent, and that the decree being alleged to have been satisfied, the petition should be dismissed. 144 I.C. 237=1933 M. 523=64 M.L.J. 732.

APPLICATION.—Transferee should apply for execution of decree, and cannot apply merely for recognizing him as transferee. 14 M.L.J. 393; 14 M.L.T. 513=21 I.C. 609; 105 I.C. 611=4 O.W.N. 1021. See also (1939) 2 Cal. 325. The proper procedure to be followed by the transferee of a decree under O. 21, R. 16, is that he must first apply for execution of the decree to the Court which passed the decree, and pray that the usual notice do issue. After the objections, if any, are heard and the notice is made absolute, the decree may be executed by the transferee in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application were by the decree-holder. 39 Bom.L.R. 540=1937 Bom. 365. The notice required by that rule must first be issued by the Court which passed the decree. Such a notice cannot be issued by the transferee Court. It is only when the notice is made absolute that the transferee acquires a right to apply for execution under R. 11 (2). 39 Bom.L.R. 540=1937 Bom. 365. There is no authority for the proposition that from the date of assignment of his decree the assignor-decree-holder is precluded from executing the decree. Until the necessary application under O. 21, R. 16, is made to the Court which passed the decree by the assignee thereof, the only person who can execute it is the person whose name appears on the record as the decree-holder, i.e., the assignor. 1939 Rang.L.R. 152=A.I.R. 1939 Rang. 245. Application by transferee to be brought on the record without asking for execution of decree is not an application in accordance with law, as it is not an application for execution of the decree; (Case-law discussed.) 27 S.L.R. 314=1933 S. 341. See also 1935 S. 26. But see 1933 R. 55. The prayer for substitution is necessarily implied in an application by a transferee for execution of the decree under R. 16 and the substitution of his name is in practice generally made before execution is proceeded with. 1935 N. 230. Application by assignee, for notice to issue under this rule, is an application for execution. 29 C. 235. See also 1936 A.M.L.J. 79. Where a decree is handed over to a trustee by the decree-holder and the trustee makes no application under R. 16, but a joint application for execution is made by the trustee and decree-holder, the joint application can be looked upon as two separate applications of two different sets of persons amalgamated for purposes of convenience and hence even though the trustee can be disallowed to execute the decree, the decree-holder can be allowed to do so. 146 I.C. 872=1933 L. 638. TO WHAT COURT APPLICATION MADE.—Application can be made only to Court which passed the decree. 25 A. 443; 27 C. 448; 132 I.C. 183=1931 L. 499; 11 P. 94=137 I.C. 472=1932 P. 168; 1937 Oudh 111 (noted infra); 39 C.W.N. 961. But an order by a Court to which the decree is sent for execution is not void. 17 M.L.J. 300; 1934 L. 648 (2). The provision contained in R. 16 does not mean that the Court, which passed the decree and to which an application has to be made for execution by a transferee of the decree, ceases to be an execution Court. The application of the transferee must be an application for execution of the decree. 1934 A.L.J. 768=149 I.C. 218=1934 A. 445. The legal representatives of the decree-holder can be brought on record even in the Court to which a decree is transferred for execution. 71 I.C. 409=1923 N. 105; 1935 S. 26. So also the official liquidator of a bank under liquidation. 161 I.C. 662=1936 L. 152. The Court must enquire into the validity of an assignment if questioned. 23 I.C. 951=1 L.W. 206. Objection to execution by transferee of decree on the ground that transferee is merely benamidar for judgment-debtor, should be raised in the course of proceedings taken on the application under R. 16. only against the executing decree-holder and not against the judgment-debtor. 41 L.W. 295=1935 M. 383=68 M.L.J. 392. The executing Court cannot refuse to allow execution at the instance of the transferor till the transferee is formally recognized by the Court by substitution of his name for that of the original decree-holder. Whether such substitution is accomplished by an order of the Court passed upon a separate application made by the transferee under O. 22, R. 10 or upon an application by him for execution of the decree under O. 21, R. 16, C. P. Code, is immaterial. 1935 N. 230. It is also immaterial whether assignment is before filing or during pendency of execution petition. 37 Bom.L.R. 489=1935 B. 331. The judgment-debtor cannot object on the ground that the decree has been assigned. 18 I.C. 97=16 O.C. 70. Auction-purchaser, purchasing certain decrees of his judgment-debtor, is a transferee of those decrees. 22 M. L. J. 161=13 I.C. 324. Judgment-debtor cannot plead uncertified adjustment in opposition to application under R. 16, by the decree-holder. (47 B. 643, Not foll.) 55 M. 720=1932 M. 372=62 M. L.J. 562 (F.B.). But it can be pleaded when the adjustment is recited in the deed of transfer itself. In such cases, transferee cannot execute for whole amount ignoring uncertified payments. (1937) 1 M.L.J. 296.

NOTICE.—The notices to which reference is made in O. 21, R. 16, are merely for the benefit of the transferors and the judgment-debtors and it was apparently the intention of the Legislature to ensure that execution proceedings should not be continued unless the transferors and the judgment-debtors had had a suitable opportunity of coming forward to contest the validity of the assignment if they wished to do so. If, however, the persons directly interested waive their right, acknowledge the validity of the assignment and raise no objection so far as the execution proceedings are concerned, non-compliance with the technical requirements of O. 21, R. 16 would not render a sale a nullity, which had been held in the course of execution proceedings in which notices under O. 21, R. 16 had not been served. 43 C.W.N. 743=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 419. The service of notice under O. 21, R. 16, is an essential pre-requisite to the assumption of jurisdiction by the Court in a proceeding to execute the decree, if the application for execution purports to have been made by one who is not the original decree-holder but describes himself as an assignee of the decree-holder. The non-service of such notice makes the sale held in execution of that decree void ab initio, although the purchaser is not the decree-holder himself but an absolute stranger. 178 I.C. 257=42 C. W. N. 949=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 734. A transfer by operation of law is not an assignment and no notice is necessary under the proviso. 152 I.C. 776=1934 P. 627.

See also I.L.R. (1938) All. 425=1938 A.L.J. 308=1938 All. 256. A decree passed in favour of brothers was allotted to one of the brothers on partition. Execution application was filed by such brother for his own benefit and notice of application was sent only to judgment-debtor. Held, that the case came within R. 16 and not under R. 15, that notice to the other brothers was necessary under law, that failure to issue notice though it affected the validity of the execution proceedings, did not warrant the dismissal of the application and that notice should be sent to the other brothers. 145 I.C. 715=1933 L. 432. See also 1933 P. 658=147 I. C. 101. Where notice of assignment and warrant of attachment were issued, but the judgment-debtor objected, it was held that the attachment ought not to be allowed before hearing the objections. 12 I.C. 547=36 B. 58. The judgment-debtor cannot be said to have acquiesced in an order of attachment, when no notice of assignment is served on him. (Ibid.); 39 I.C. 952=118 P.L.R. 1917. Execution sale by transferee of mortgage-decree—Subsequent mortgagee not served—Sale binds mortgagor though not mortgagee. 1930 A. 627=52 A. 898. Failure to serve notice on the judgment-debtor or his representatives renders void the proceeding in which the failure occurred as well as subsequent proceedings. 1930 M.W.N. 1187=137 I.C. 171=1931 M. 192. But executing Court has to presume that due notice was given to the judgment-debtor. If there is any defect in the execution application the judgment-debtor should make his objection to the Court which passed the decree. Where he does not do so he cannot object that he had no notice of the transfer and that the executing Court was not competent to execute the decree. 30 S. L.R. 249=1936 Sind 191. Omission to object to a notice of assignment amounts to ratification. 83 I.C. 142=1925 A. 206 (2); 8 Pat.L.T. 163=101 I.C. 616=1927 P. 170. Where an assignee of a decree files an application for execution and sends notice to the assignor and judgment-debtor under O. 21, R. 22, but not under R. 16 and the judgment-debtor does not let in evidence challenging the assignment, the assignee is entitled to proceed with the execution without proving, in the first place, the assignment in his favour. 149 I.C. 1003=1934 P. 9. Substituted service of notice is good service. 28 I.C. 219=1 L.W. 351. The notice is not about the assignment but of the execution proceedings. 62 I.C. 30=6 P.L.J. 358. Therefore he can appeal against the order of recognition. 33 I. C. 71. When want of notice is not pleaded in prior execution proceedings, the judgment-debtor cannot do so in his application to set aside sale. 57 I.C. 707=5 Pat.L.J. 639. See also 43 C.W.N. 743=1939 Cal. 419. Sale held in execution of a decree by assignee without notice to assignor is nullity. 54 C. 624=105 I.C. 193=1927 C. 781; 117 I. C. 614=1929 A. 437. If a decree was transferred by assignment after the death of the judgment-debtor notice of the transfer may be served on his legal representatives. (Ibid.) See also 30 M. 541. The proper stage to object to a transfer is when the notice is served, and not when the transferee tries to execute the order. 87 I.C. 436=1925 A. 662; 30 S.L.R. 249=1936 Sind 191. Issue of a combined notice under O. 21, Rr. 22 and 16 upon the judgment-debtor is sufficient under the law to save limitation, 1933 P. 658. Under R. 16, if a person applied to the Court for his being recognised as an assignee decree-holder and for transmission of the decree from that Court to another, it is clearly a petition for execution. A transferee decree-holder must not only ask for his being brought on record but must in the same petition apply for execution of the decree. Where the Court makes an order recognising the assignment to a decree-holder after notice to judgment-debtor, but the decree-holder takes out another application within one year from the date of the last order against the party against whom execution is applied for, no notice is necessary owing to proviso to R. 22, O. 21. 145 I.C. 974 (1)=65 M.L.J. 682=1933 M. 797.

PROVISO (2).—The proviso refers to a decree for money personally due by two or more persons. It does not apply to a case in which nothing is due from the assignee of the decree personally. 11 C. at 396. See also 5 A. 27; 17 Pat. 206=1938 Pat. 462. Nor to a case where decree-holder by inheritance acquires an interest in the estate of one of the judgment-debtors. 54 A. 448=1932 A. 704=137 I.C. 50. "Decree for money against several persons" is not restricted to personal decrees for money. 19 N.L.R. 151=1924 N. 41. But a mortgage decree for sale is not a money decree. 12 I.C. 70=16 C.W.N. 132; 49 M. 508=1926 M. 623=51 M.L.J. 139; 70 C.L.J. 143=1939 Cal. 425. The proviso therefore does not apply to mortgage decrees as such, but it comes into operation only after the property is sold and a personal decree is passed. 1937 Sind 112. The proviso has no application to the converse case where the decree-holder acquires a share in the estate of one of the judgment-debtors. The decree-holder is, however, bound to give credit for a proportionate amount of the decree. 157 I.C. 651=1935 O. W. N. 887=1935 Oudh 449. An agreement between one of several judgment-debtors and an assignee of the decree that the decree should be executed against the remaining judgment-debtors is an agreement in contravention of the express provisions of O. 21, R. 16, second proviso and cannot be enforced or recognised by any Court. 54 L. W. 144=(1941) 2 M. L. J. 167. If the assignee is a joint judgment-debtor, he cannot execute it. 28 I. C. 906. See also 44 I. C. 269=27 C.L.J. 110; but can sue for contribution. 20 I.C. 569=18 C.W.N. 113. But a transfer to the pleader for the judgment-debtor does not satisfy the decree though assigned to him in trust for his clients. If called upon he is bound to assign the decree to them, but upon equitable terms only. 22 C.W.N. 491=44 I.C. 13. Transfer brought about by death is not excluded from the operation of the proviso. 98 I.C. 26 (2)=1926 M. 1141=51 M.L.J. 443. Proviso is one of procedure only and does not create rights and liabilities. 1930 R. 308=128 I. C. 584. Where the Court recognises the original decree-holder on the record as entitled to execute the decree and allows him to proceed with the execution and the decree is satisfied thereby, the transferee decree-holder cannot thereafter apply to execute or be heard to say that he should execute the decree over again, when he has not taken any steps previously to get himself recognised as the transferee decree-holder. Whatever rights he may have are available only against the executing decree-holder and not against the judgment-debtor. 41 L.W. 295=68 M.L.J. 392=1935 M. 383.

A BENAMI ASSIGNEE can execute. 37 A. 414=29 I.C. 593; 20 I.C. 685=18 C.W.N. 450. See also 43 I.C. 801=7 L.W. 201; 62 I.C. 299; 21 M. 388. But where the transferee of a decree is found to be a benamidar for the judgment-debtor, the Court is bound to refuse execution. 32 I.C. 952=40 M. 296. Also 35 M. 659=12 I.C. 657. Whether transferee is benamidar for judgment-debtor must be decided by Court. 95 I.C. 706=1926 L. 666; 131 I.C. 229=1931 L. 545. This is so even though the assignee is benamidar for one of the judgment-debtors. (4 C.W.N. 334, Foll.) 43 M.L.J. 761=1922 M. 510. Also 35 I.C. 624=4 L.W. 534. An objection by a judgment-debtor under the second proviso to O. 21, R. 16, that the purchaser of the decree whose name has been ordered to be substituted is a benamidar for one of the judgment-debtors, is not barred by res judicata by his failure to raise that objection when notice of the application for substitution was served on him, if he was not aware of that fact at that time. 1938 O. W.N. 346=A.I.R. 1938 Oudh 106. An arrangement between decree-holder and some of the judgment-debtors that they must pay the entire decree amount to him and that he must execute the decree against the other judgment-debtors and realise the amount due and pay it to them is not prohibited by this rule. 99 I.C. 902=1927 M. 322=52 M.L.J. 59. A benamidar is competent to take out execution of a decree as the transferee thereof. 39 C.W.N. 1073. The real transferee owner of a decree cannot apply for execution on the ground that the transferee was his benamidar and his agent. Only the benamidar is entitled to execute. 48 M. 553=48 M.L.J. 419; 8 L. 35=100 I.C. 545 (1)=1927 L. 110; 119 I.C. 542. See also

17. (1) On receiving an application for the execution of a decree as provided by rule 11, sub-rule (2), the Court shall ascertain whether such of the requirements of rules 11 to 14 as may be applicable to the case have been complied with; and, if they have not been complied with, the Court may reject the application, or may allow the defect to be remedied then and there or within a time to be fixed by it.

(2) Where an application is amended under the provisions of sub-rule (1), it shall be deemed to have been an application in accordance with law and presented on the date when it was first presented.

(3) Every amendment made under this rule shall be signed or initialled by the Judge.

It can allow an amendment under the rule, where the amendment is applied for after the expiry of the statutory period of limitation, provided the execution application has been made within time. An amendment of the application made after the period of limitation, should not be dismissed on that ground, but must be considered on its merits, having regard to all the circumstances of the case. The Court has a discretion which it must exercise with regard to all the circumstances. O. 21, Rr. 18 and 19—SCOPE OF—IF EXHAUSTIVE.—The provisions of the Code regarding a set-off are contained in Rr. 18 and 19 of O. 21. It is clear that those rules have been specifically restricted in their application and unless a case can be brought strictly within the terms of those provisions, no set-off can be allowed. 173 I.C. 719=A.I.R. 1937

Pesh. 83. Rr. 18 and 19 of O. 21, are not exhaustive of the cases in which a set-off may be allowed in execution proceedings. The Court, apart from these rules; has inherent jurisdiction on equitable principles to allow a set-off of claims arising at different stages in the same suit or proceeding, and this even if the right to recover the claim sought to be set-off is barred by time. Costs payable to one party by another in an appeal from a final decree in a partition suit can be set-off against the amount payable by that party to the other under final decree, when the latter applies to execute the decree in his favour. 32 S.L.R. 162=A.I.R. 1938 Sind 31. See also 41 P.L.R. 385=1939 Lah. 85.

O. 21, Rr. 18—20: PRINCIPLE OF THE RULES.—If X has a decree against A and A and B have a decree against X, it is clear from illustration (b) to R. 18 as well as on principle, that X cannot insist on a set-off. But if B and A both ask for the set-off and it appears that A incurred the debt to X on behalf of himself and B, the set off need not necessarily be refused. It is true that under Rr. 18 to 20 of O. 21, C. P. Code, the set-off of decrees is not a discretionary matter depending upon equitable considerations such Execution in case of cross-decrees. decrees in separate suits for the payment of two sums of money passed between the same parties and capable of execution at the same time by such Court, then—

(a) if the two sums are equal, satisfaction shall be entered upon both decrees; and

(b) if the two sums are unequal, execution may be taken out only by the holder of the decree for the larger sum and for so much only as remains after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered on the decree for the larger sum as well as satisfaction of the decree for the smaller sum.

(2) This rule shall be deemed to apply where either party is an assignee of one of the decrees and as well in respect of judgment-debts due by the original assignor as in respect of judgment-debts due by the assignee himself.

(3) This rule shall not be deemed to apply unless—

(a) the decree-holder in one of the suits in which the decrees have been made is the judgment-debtor in the other and each party fills the same character in both suit; and

(b) the sums due under the decrees are definite.

(4) The holder of a decree passed against several persons jointly and severally may treat it as a cross-decree in relation to a decree passed against him singly in favour of one or more of such persons.

NOTES.

as may emerge from the circumstances that both decrees arise out of the same transaction. Whatever they arise from, circuity of proceedings thereunder can be avoided and should be avoided—this is the principle of the rules. 64 I.A. 67=16 P. 127=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 254 (P.C.). All that R. 20 lays down is that the provisions of Rr. 18 and 19 shall apply to cross-mortgage decrees, i.e., if two contending parties hold mortgage decrees against each other then they will be able to set-off decrees one against the other. There is nothing in the provisions of R. 20 which will warrant the Court in holding that a decree obtained on foot of a mortgage becomes a decree for payment of money and therefore it can be set-off against a simple money decree held by the opposite party. 1936 A.W.R. 405=1936 A.L.J. 562=1936 A. 639.

O. 21, R. 18: CROSS-DECREE AND CROSS CLAIMS.—O. 21, R. 18 is not affected by S. 73 (rule as to rateable distribution). 1937 A.L.J. 1371=1938 All 130. The provisions as to set-off contained in R. 18 are exhaustive and no set-off on grounds other than those mentioned in it is permissible. Nor can S. 151 be invoked for such purpose. 138 I.C. 285=1932 L. 537. The rule deals only with cross-decrees and has no application to cross claims under the same decree. 5 A. 272. To these R. 19 applies, and this rule and R. 19 apply only when a step in execution and a counter-claim have come into existence. 9 A. at 67. This rule applies only where both the decrees which are sought to be set-off against each other are before the Court for execution (i.e. there must be application for execution from the holders of the two decrees) and each of the decrees must be capable of execution at the same time by the Court (i.e., there is no attachment or other impediment). If either of those conditions is not fulfilled, then the prayers to set-off cannot be granted. 156 I.C. 477=42 L.W. 767=1935 M. 587. See also 1935 L. 914. 16 W.R. 303; 24 A. 481; 21 I.C. 32=11 A.L.J. 763; 126 I.C. 516=1930 L. 508; 1933 M. 215=145 I.C. 767. The decrees must also be under execution at the same time. 7 W.R. 535. A decree to be adjusted by set-off must be capable of execution at the time when the adjustment is made. When a decree for maintenance is passed payable partially immediately and partially periodically in favour of a woman and another decree is passed against her in favour of those against whom decree for maintenance is passed, instalments of maintenance which are to become due subsequent to the date of adjustment cannot be adjusted by set-off. Only those instalments which are due and which can be executed on the date of adjustment can be adjusted by set-off. 1933 L. 372. A statute barred debt cannot be set-off against the claim of plaintiff. 40 I.C. 816=21 C.W.N. 1147. When the decrees themselves lead to the construction of a set-off, execution applications under both the decrees are not necessary. 52 I.C. 746=1919 Pat.H.C.C. 372. The parties should not fill distinct characters in the two cases. 38 A. 669=36 I.C. 948. In order to admit of a set-off, the parties must be the same, and the sum due under each decree must be definite. 5 W.R. (Mis.) 12. The moment that cross-decrees such as are mentioned in R. 18 of O. 21, C. P. Code, are in existence the decree-holders become entitled to the right of set-off. It is true that effect cannot be given to the set-off until applications are made to the Court for the execution of the two decrees. The right nevertheless is there, and this right of the holder of one decree cannot be defeated by an attachment in favour of a third party of the other decree made after the right of set-off has arisen. Whatever may be the true position in law of an attaching creditor, it is plain that he can have no higher rights in respect of an attached decree than were possessed by his judgment-debtor. If at the time of the attachment of a decree the decree-holder is liable to have his debt extinguished by being set-off against a cross-decree against him, the attaching creditor is subjected in respect of the decree to the same liability. The right to rateable distribution under S. 73, C. P. Code, is confined to assets held by the Court. Where one of the judgment-debtor's assets is a decree for the payment to him of a sum of money which is liable to be extinguished by being set-off against a cross-decree against him, no assets representing that decree will ever come into the possession of the Court if the right of set-off be exercised. Hence the rule laid down in O. 21, R. 18 must be first applied before any question can arise for rateable distribution under S. 73. 67 I.A. 350=52 L.W. 540=A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 173=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 677 (P.C.). P. Code. 156 I.C. 477=42 L.W. 767=1935 M. 587. There is no room for the application of R. 18 (2) unless the person claiming set-off has come on the scene in time. The assignee claiming set-off must have got the assignment before applications are made to execute the decree. 20 N.L.J. 70. See also 1937 A.L.J. 1371. A judgment-debtor may set-off against the amount of the decree against him, the amount of a decree which he has obtained against the decree-holder and other persons. 9 C. 479. See also 14 A. 339; 2 A. 91. A decree in favour of all the partners of a firm in their individual capacity and a decree by the defendant against the firm can be set-off. 29 Bom.L.R. 396=104 I.C. 319=1927 B. 255. If personal remedy against the mortgagor is barred, decree ceases to be a decree for payment of money and Rr. 18 and 19 of O. 21 will not apply. 143 I.C. 542=14 Pat.L.T. 189=1933 P. 210 (2). It is doubtful whether a mortgage decree is a joint and several decree, for the application of the rule of set-off. 39 I.C. 560=15 A.L.J. 327. See also 57 C. 855; 7 R. 505. O. 21, R. 19.—Executing Court has inherent powers to give effect to a claim to set-off,

(a) if the two sums are equal, satisfaction for both shall be entered upon the decree; and,

(b) if the two sums are unequal, execution may be taken out only by the party entitled to the larger sum and for so much only as remains after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered upon the decree.

NOTES.

although the case does not come within the strict terms of R. 19. 60 C.L.J. 281=39 C.W.N. 106. See also 1936 C. 409. O. 21, R. 19 deals with a case in which only the two parties are entitled to recover sums of money from each other. As such it cannot cover a case in which the creditors of one of the parties are also concerned. 175 I.C. 169=1938 O.W.N. 722=A.I.R. 1938 Oudh 169. R. 19 only requires that the two parties must be held entitled to recover sums of money from each other. A decree to A against B for a sum of money to be recoverable from his property is as much a decree to recover the sum of money from B. The decree need not necessarily be a decree directing A to recover the sum of money from B personally. The section does not say or provide in what manner the decree is to be executed. The rule would apply even to the case of a decree for sale in enforcement of a mortgage or charge. (1938) 1 M.L.J. 417=47 L.W. 382=1938 Mad. 638. R. 19 applies even to a case of a claim by defendant against a plaintiff personally and a claim by the plaintiff against the defendant as legal representative of another deceased defendant. And the mere fact that there has to be some inquiry under S. 50 as to the extent of the property of the deceased in the hands of his legal representative or that the sum may be limited by the provisions of S. 50 does not take the case out of the scope of O. 21, R. 19. 1941 Sind 49. Where a decree provides for the decree of sums by two parties one against the other, if the holder of the larger decree seeks to execute his decree without deducting the amount due to the other party, the holder of the latter party can claim a set-off. The fact that in a prior application by the Government for execution in respect of Court-fee due from the holder of the larger, the holder of the smaller decree fails to prove a right to adjust his decree against larger decree, will not prevent him from putting forward his claim to adjust his decree against the holder of the larger decree when the latter claims to execute his decree at a later date. A. I. R. 1941 Mad. 662=(1941) 1 M. L. J. 641. Under O. 21, R. 19, where a decree provides for the recovery of sums by two parties one against the other, it is only the party to whom the larger amount is due who is entitled to execute the decree. Hence limitation cannot run against the person who is entitled to the lesser decree at a time when that decree is not executable having regard to R. 19. The fact that more than three years have elapsed cannot prevent the holder of the lesser decree to claim set-off when the holder of the larger decree seeks to execute his decree. (1941) 1 M.L.J. 641. R. 19, does not debar the judgment-debtor liable to pay a larger sum than that to which he is entitled from paying the larger sum and then seeking execution of his smaller amount. Where in an execution taken out against another the latter claims to set costs due to him not individually but jointly with another, R. 19 has no application. Nor is such person entitled to relief on the principle of justice, equity and good conscience. 1941 A.W.R. (C.C.) 364=1941 O.A. 954. Decree for specific performance—Direction to plaintiff to deposit certain amount within specified time—Direction that on such deposit defendant was to execute and register deed of conveyance—Costs allowed to plaintiff—Plaintiff deducted costs and interest out of amount to be deposited, and deposited only the balance. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to make the above deductions by way of equitable set-off and that the deposit made was proper; assuming that O. 21, R. 19, C. P. Code, was inapplicable to the case independent of that rule on general principles, and in the exercise of the Court's inherent powers such a claim to set-off could be given effect to. 44 L.W. 34=1936 M. 626=71 M.L.J. 506. Although ordinarily nothing can be set-off against a rent decree, still under O. 21, Rr. (2) (g) and 19, the decree should be executed in respect of only the difference between the amount of arrears of rent awarded to decree-holder and proportionate costs awarded in favour of judgment-debtor by the same decree. 13 L.R. 397 (Rev.)=17 R.D. 46. This rule applies only when a step in execution and a cross-claim have come into existence. 9 A. at 67. See also 1930 A. 726. Rule not limited to cross-claims of precisely same nature. Even costs may be set-off. 24 I.C. 376. In order to render this rule applicable, the parties entitled under the decree must hold the same character and possess identical rights for enforcing execution. 5 A. 272. Where in a suit on a mortgage some of the defendants who were impleaded as subsequent mortgagees were awarded costs against the plaintiff, the plaintiff cannot under R. 19, be allowed to deduct the amount of such costs from his decree amount because the subsequent mortgagees are under no obligation to satisfy the mortgage debt due to the plaintiff. 146 I.C. 525. If execution is taken out for the smaller sum this fact does not render subsequent proceedings void. 14 C. 18 (P.C.). Simultaneous execution against person and property should be encouraged. Refusal to grant both the reliefs should be an exception and not a rule. 6 L. 548=93 I.C. 54=1926 L. 110. Costs awarded to garnishee in original decree—Right to set-off. 152 I.C. 96=1934 A. 1056. #### NOTES.

O. 21, R. 20.—The words, “decrees for sale in enforcement of a mortgage or charge”, cannot be restricted to personal judgments such as may be given under O. 34, R. 6. 64 I.A. 67=16 P. 127=1937 P.C. 39=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 254 (P.C.). The application of R. 20, is not confined to cases where both decrees are mortgage decrees. A decree for sale in enforcement of a charge can, therefore, be set-off against a decree for mesne profits. 16 P. 127 (P.C.). Applicability of rule when one is a money decree and the other a mortgage decree. 140 I.C. 378=63 M.L.J. 722; 143 I.C. 542=14 P.L.T. 189=1933 P. 210 (2). The right of set-off of decree is a right created by law and must be enforced unless it is lost under the law. Right is not lost by merely asking the Court to notify the encumbrance of decree under O. 21, R. 66. 143 I.C. 542=14 P.L.T. 189=1933 P. 210 (2).

O. 21, R. 21.—Code gives decree-holder right to decide whether he should execute the decree in one way or the other or both. If Court considers he should not exercise the right in the manner he desires, it must give reasons. It is not enough to say that there is property against which he may proceed and therefore he must proceed against that first, for that is precisely what the Code states he need not do. 150 I.C. 95=1934 N. 140.

O. 21, R. 22.—The case of a transferee of a decree is not covered by provisions of this rule. 28 O.C. 330=2 O.W.N. 73=1925 O. 448. Provisions, if mandatory. 1928 C. 60=55 C. 96. See also 1935 R. 42. Notice under this rule presupposes the presentation of an application for execution and pendency of such application in a Court. 27 A. 557. R. 22 makes it obligatory on a decree-holder to serve notice of an application for execution on the legal representative of a party to the decree, or where the party to the decree has been declared insolvent, on the Official Receiver in insolvency. A sale held without notice required by O. 21, R. 22 is void. 53 L.W. 498=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 569. Under the amended R. 22, there is no power in a Court to restrict the option of the decree-holder and compel him to purchase property at any minimum price. 26 A.L.J. 1325=112 I.C. 620=1929 A. 85 (1). The decree contemplated in O. 21, R. 22 must be the decree to be executed, not only when it is an appellate decree dealt with in Cl. (2) but also when it is a decree which has been reviewed or amended, as dealt with in Cl. (3) and Cl. (4) of Art. 182, Limitation Act. Hence where a decree is amended the period of one year is to be counted from the date of the amended decree and not the date of the original decree. 187 I.C. 79=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 5. R. 22 does not apply in the case of summary procedure contained in S. 111, Madras Estates Land Act. 118 I.C. 818=1929 M. 517. Last order against party includes order which has been vacated. 9 P. 499. Order under—Judge omitting to record reasons is only an irregularity and does not render order of arrest illegal. 35 C.W.N. 228=58 C. 940. Applicability of rule to award creating mortgage for definite period and in case of failure to pay within certain period. 146 I.C. 681=1933 Pesh. 71. Once the Court has found that the legal conditions do not exist for proceeding with an execution, there is a lack of jurisdiction in the carrying on of that execution; and all the proceedings taken in the execution which was not properly constituted in the absence of proper notice under O. 21, R. 22 must fall to the ground. 21 P.L.T. 864=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 62. As the absence of notice under R. 22 goes to the root of the jurisdiction of the executing Court, the objection can be taken at any time. 174 I.C. 463=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 162.

NOTICE.—Object and scope of. 146 I.C. 1024=1933 L. 826. See also 1926 C. 86. Simultaneous issue of notice under this rule and order for arrest, is not illegal. 58 C. 940=35 C.W.N. 228=132 I.C. 244=1931 C. 443. But see also 11 P. 143; 1932 P. 315; 1932 A. 692. Provisions are mandatory and proceedings without notice are void. 105 I. C. 65=46 C.L.J. 579; 95 I.C. 711=1926 C. 539; 35 C.W.N. 220; 58 C. 825; 144 I.C. 14=1933 Pesh. 41; 1935 R. 42. But see 60 C.L.J. 584=39 C.W.N. 510. Where one of the judgment-debtors has died at the time of the execution of the decree, and one of his sons is substituted for him in the application for execution, but another son is left out, the sale must be held to be void for want of notice under R. 22, in so far as the share of the latter son is concerned. But as regards the shares of other judgment-debtors the sale cannot be held to be void. 187 I.C. 121=A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 23. When an application is made simply to transfer decree for execution to another Court, no notice appears to be necessary. 22 C. at 924. Reasons must be recorded if notice is dispensed with under Cl. (2). 40 I.C. 670=33 M.L.J. 539; 30 L.W. 230=1929 M. 718. But see 34 Bom.L.R. 987 (where it was held that omission to record reason does not invalidate proceedings). The notice must issue from the executing Court.

(a) more than one year after the date of the decree, or

(b) against the legal representative of a party to the decree <sup>1</sup>[or where an application is made for execution of a decree filed under the provisions of section 44-A]

the Court executing the decree shall issue a notice to the person against whom execution is applied for requiring him to show cause, on a date to be fixed, why the decree should not be executed against him :

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of more than one year having elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for execution if the application is made within one year from the date of the last order against the party against whom execution is applied for, made on any previous application for execution, or in consequence of the application being made against the legal representative of the judgment-debtor, if upon a previous application for execution against the same person the Court has ordered execution to issue against him.

(2) Nothing in the foregoing sub-rule shall be deemed to preclude the Court from issuing any process in execution of a decree without issuing the notice thereby prescribed, if, for reasons to be recorded, it considers that the issue of such notice would cause unreasonable delay or would defeat the ends of justice.

NOTES.

To decide whether a decree is capable of execution is a judicial act and cannot be delegated. 43 C. 903=20 C.W.N. 889 (F.B.). Irregular service has a different effect from that of non-service. 6 P.L.J. 319=61 I.C. 823. See also 149 I.C. 828=13 P. 467=15 P.L.T. 273=1934 P. 274; 60 C.L.J. 584=39 C.W.N. 510; 48 L.W. 586. In order to be valid notice must give sufficient time to enable judgment-debtor to come and oppose the application. 1928 M. 1052=116 I.C. 363. Case as to sufficiency of notice. 35 C.W.N. 332=134 I.C. 80=1931 C. 546. Objection to the sufficiency of notice should be taken at the earliest opportunity. 21 W.R. 148. As to waiver, objection for want of notice, see 1935 R. 42=155 I.C. 959. Where the judgment-debtor has put in appearance and repeatedly asked for adjournment of the sale, obviously with the knowledge of the sale, he cannot plead want of notice under R. 22 for setting aside the sale. 187 I.C. 121=A.I.R. 1940 Cal. 23. Ordinarily, the failure to issue a notice under R. 22, or to record reasons for not issuing such notice would be fatal, and a sale concluded in such circumstances would be void. But where notice of the execution proceedings and sale thereunder is issued under O. 21, R. 66 and the judgment-debtor appears and contests these proceedings, it is unnecessary to give the judgment-debtor notice of proceedings that he is already well aware of, and failure to give notice under R. 22 and the omission to record reasons dispensing with this notice is no more than an irregularity which does not take away the jurisdiction of the Court. I.L.R. (1940) Lah. 231=41 P. L.R. 632=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 473. Objection may be raised even in the appellate Court for the first time. 9 I.C. 584=13 C. L.J. 162. The judgment-debtor will not be bound, where service of notice has not been in accordance with law and where he has not been aware of the execution proceedings.

C. C. M.—123

32. I.C. 744. The issue of a notice to a major judgment-debtor as if he were a minor is not necessarily fatal to further proceedings in execution, and a sale in execution cannot be held to be null and void on that ground. If no notice of any kind is issued to a judgment-debtor, there is a refusal to carry out the plain duty imposed upon the Court by O. 21, R. 22, and the Court has no jurisdiction to conduct the sale subsequently. But there is a very clear distinction between a case in which no notice is issued at all to a particular defendant and a case in which notice is issued to him as if here were still a minor. 48 L.W. 586=1938 M.W.N. 586. Where a defendant judgment-debtor is in fact a major but is described in the execution application as a minor represented by his guardian ad litem without any objection being raised by him, and notice under O. 21, R. 22, is sent not to him direct, but to his guardian ad litem, he cannot be heard to say that O. 21, R. 22, has not been complied with and therefore the execution sale held under such circumstances is a nullity. He himself having led the Court to believe that a notice directed to the guardian ad litem would be properly served, by holding himself out to be a minor, cannot turn round and challenge the sale on that ground. There is no non-compliance with O. 21, R. 22 in such a case. 19 Pat. 393=21 Pat.L.T. 223=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 303. See also 21 Pat. L.T. 864=1940 Pat. 62. Non-service of notice will vitiate the sale. 28 I.C. 898=19 C.W.N. 152; 15 I.C. 506=40 C. 45. But if judgment-debtor appears and contests the execution application the objection of non-service of notice cannot be given effect to. 40 C. 59; 35 C.W.N. 9. One notice is sufficient. Once a notice is served, no fresh notice need be served for every execution application made more than one year after the last order. 2 P. 916=4 P.L.T.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD, NAGPUR AND OUDH.] (1) Substitute the words "three years" for "one year" both in r. 22 (1) (a) and in the second line of the proviso to r. 22.

The following proviso is added to sub-rule (2):—"Provided that no order for the execution of a decree shall be invalid by reason of the omission to issue a notice under this rule, unless the judgment debtor has sustained substantial injury by reason of such omission."

[BOMBAY AND N.-W.F.P.] In r. 22 of O. 21, the words "two years" shall be substituted for the words "one year" wherever they occur.

[CALCUTTA.] Add the following as sub-rule (3) to r. 22, O. 21:—

"(3) Omission to issue a notice in a case where notice is required under sub-rule (1), or to record reasons in a case where notice is dispensed with under sub-rule (2), shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Court in executing the decree."

[LAHORE.] In r. 22 the words "two years" shall be substituted for the words "one year" wherever they occur.

Add the following proviso at the end of the rule:—

"Failure to record such reasons shall be considered an irregularity not amounting to a defect in jurisdiction."

(a) more than two years after the date of the decree, or

(b) against the legal representative of a party to the decree, or

(c) where the party to the decree has been declared insolvent, against the Assignee or Receiver in Insolvency the Court executing the decree shall issue a notice to the person against whom execution is applied for requiring him to show cause, on a date to be fixed, why the decree should not be executed against him :

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of more than two years having elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for execution, if the application is made within two years from the date of the last order against the party against whom execution is applied for, made on any previous application for execution, or in consequence of the application being made against the legal representative of the judgment-debtor, if upon a previous application for execution against the same person the Court has ordered execution to issue against him.

(1-A) Where from the particulars mentioned in the application in compliance with r. 11 (2) (ff) supra, or otherwise, the Court has information that the original decree-holder has transferred any part of his interest in the decree, the Court shall issue notice of the application to all parties to such transfer, other than the petitioner, where he is a party to the transfer.”

(ii) Add the following proviso to sub-rule (2) of r. 22 :—

“Provided that no order for execution of a decree shall be invalid owing to the omission of the Court to record its reasons unless the judgment-debtor has sustained substantial injury as the result of such omission.”

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 22. For sub-r. (1) of r. 22 substitute the following sub-rule :—

“Where an application for exception is made in writing under r. 11 (2) the Court executing the decree shall issue a notice to the person against whom execution is applied for requiring him to show cause on a date to be fixed, why the decree should not be executed against him.”

[RANGOON.] R. 22 (1). In clause (a) for the words “one year” substitute “three years.”

In the second line of the proviso to sub-rule (1) of r. 22 for the words “one year” substitute “three years.”

NOTES.

whom the Court regards as the proper recipient of the notice. If no notice is served at all, the sale is wholly ineffective. The failure to serve the notice is not a mere irregularity in the publication or conduct of the sale. A sale without notice is in the eye of the law a nullity. 194 I.C. 372=22 Pat.L.T. 520. Judgment-debtor dying during execution—Person already on record sufficiently representing the estate—Fresh notice under R. 22 is not necessary. 30 L.W. 995=117 I.C. 705. But see contra 11 I.C. 893=20 C.L.J. 337. Where it is said it is only voidable and not void. If the judgment-debtor had been given an opportunity to show cause why the decree should not be executed, absence of notice is not very material. 55 I.C. 816=5 Lah.L.J. 67. Where a decree is passed against father and son and son dies before institution of execution proceedings and execution is taken out against father not as heir of his son but against him personally, notice under R. 22 is not necessary. 162 I.C. 482=1936 P. 253. Non-service of notice on a defendant after attaining majority is a serious irregularity and will vitiate subsequent proceedings, until met by a valid defence. 63 I.C. 903=14 L.W. 638. Judgment-debtor's father and son—Son becoming major at execution though minor at trial of suit—Fact of majority not brought to Court's notice—Notice under R. 22 served on father but not on the son—There is no illegality and son is estopped from challenging sale. 117 I.C. 705=1929 M. 275. It is a serious irregularity to proceed in execution against the property of a deceased judgment-debtor or in the absence of his proper legal representative. The executing Court is not precluded from deciding that a person is not the proper legal representative by reason of the fact that the Court which passed the decree has already substituted that person as legal representative after notice to him but in his absence. When the proper legal representative is some other person, namely the widow of the judgment-debtor, the order substituting a wrong person cannot be taken to be a decision to the effect that the widow is not the legal representative of the judgment-debtor. 19 Pat. The bailiff has power to delegate the execution of the warrant to the process-server. But where the bailiff did not delegate his authority to arrest to the process-server but merely returned the warrant to him for endorsement and not for further execution and the process-server re-executed the warrant instead of endorsing it, the re-arrest is unlawful. But the process-server would be protected under S. 79, I.P. Code, if he made a genuine mistake of fact and thought that the process was returned to him for re-execution and was not actuated by malice. 1940 Rang.L.R. 253=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 112. Ministerial acts can always be delegated where such acts do not require the exercise of any discretion or judgment. A Nazir, can, therefore, delegate the execution of the process to his subordinates. 1940 Lah. 30=41 P.L.R. 838. See also 1932 All. 227=1932 A.L.J. 179. (2) Add the following proviso to r. 25 (2):—"Provided that an examination of the officer entrusted with the execution of a process by the Nazir or the Deputy Nazir under the general or special orders of the Court shall be deemed to be sufficient compliance with the requirements of this clause."

"(3) Where the endorsement of such officer is to the effect that he is unable to execute the process, the Court shall examine him or cause him to be examined by any other Court touching his alleged inability, and may if it thinks fit, summon and examine witnesses as to such inability, and shall record the result:

Provided that an examination of the officer entrusted with the execution of a process by the Nazir or the Deputy Nazir under the general or special orders of the Court shall be deemed to be sufficient compliance with the requirements of this clause.

Where the inability to execute the process is stated to be due to the satisfaction of the decree and such satisfaction has been endorsed on the process as mentioned in sub-rule (2) above, the Court shall issue notice to the decree-holder to show cause on a day to be fixed by the Court, why such satisfaction should not be recorded as certified, the Court shall record the same accordingly.

A record of satisfaction under the provisions of this sub-rule shall have the same effect as one under the provisions of Order XXI, rule 2, sub-rule (2)."

(2) Where the property or person of the judgment-debtor has been seized under an execution the Court which issued the execution may order the restitution of such property or the discharge of such person pending the result of the application.

(3) Before making an order to stay execution or for the restitution of property or the discharge of the judgment-debtor, the Court may require such security from, or impose such conditions upon, the judgment-debtor as it thinks fit.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD, NAGPUR, N.-W.F.P. AND OUDH.]—In Allahabad, Oudh and Nagpur for "may" in sub-rule (3) read "shall unless good cause to the contrary is shown."

Stay of execution pending suit between decree-holder and judgment-debtor.

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 28.—An ex parte decree obtained at L was transferred to P for execution and certain property belonging to judgment-debtors was sold. Judgment-debtors put in objections before executing Court for setting aside the sale and at the same time applied in the Court at L for setting aside the ex parte decree. The Court at L, at the instance of the judgment-debtors issued a robkar to Court at P directing that proceedings with respect to the confirmation of the sale should be stayed, the words used being 'karwai i-manzuri multawi ki jawe'. Executing Court ordered that confirmation of the sale was to be postponed but rejected the objections by judgment-debtors. The sale was confirmed by successor of the Judge. It was held, that the robkar clearly meant that all proceedings leading up to the confirmation of the sale were to be stayed and not merely postponement of confirmation of sale; that executing Court had no jurisdiction to consider the objections of judgment-debtor after it had received the robkar and its order dismissing the objections was ultra vires and the order of confirmation of sale was also without jurisdiction. The executing Court having assumed jurisdiction not vested in it, the orders were open to revision. 162 I.C. 416=1936 Pesh. 97.

O. 21, R. 29.—A stay under this rule is purely a matter of discretion; the appellate Court, as a rule, will not interfere with the discretion of the Judge who passed it. 159 I.C. 495=1935 R. 389. R. 29 is permissive. Thereunder the Court is given the discretion of staying the execution whereas R. 92 is imperative by enacting that in the absence of an application under R. 89, R. 90 or

R. 91 or where such application has been disallowed, the Court is bound to order confirmation of the sale. When these two rules are read together as they should be, the result is that the Court may in its discretion stay execution under R. 29 only before the operation of R. 92 takes place, i.e., before the sale of the property in question where the execution is by sale of the property attached. Hence an application for stay of execution after the sale of it but before confirmation is not maintainable. 13 R. 351=156 I.C. 521=1935 R. 151. Principles of the rule have no application to the granting of an injunction to postpone sale. 148 I.C. 727=1933 N. 153. Liability of a surety for satisfaction of a decree does not cease on a decree in a suit by the judgment-debtor to set aside the decree but he will be liable if the suit be dismissed in appeal unless there is a limitation as to his liability in the surety bond. 3 R. 496=105 I.C. 602=1927 R. 321. The words "until the pending suit has been decided" mean after all rights of appeal have been exhausted and not merely until a decree has been passed by the Court. 32 C.W.N. 181. See also 41 Bom.L.R. 463 (Power of Court to sell without attachment). The words “attachment and sale” must be taken together and not distributively. 8 W. R. 415. C. 921. Where a judgment-debtor conceals himself, arrest and attachment of his property can simultaneously be made in execution of a decree against him even though he owns considerable property and is a lambardar and kursinashin. 145 I.C. 609=34 P.L.R. 856=1933 L. 307 (2). Where there is already sufficient security for the realisation of the decretal amount and the procedure of the decree-holder savours rather of harassment than a genuine desire to realise the decretal amount, the Court may in its discretion refuse the relief against the person of the judgment-debtor. 160 I.C. 685=1936 P. 28. Decree-holder made an application for execution of his simple money decree by attachment and sale of property. Judgment-debtor filed objection stating that he had hypothecated a certain house which had been attached in lieu of the amount due to the decree-holder by a security bond and that as long as the decree-holder did not file a suit in Court on the basis of the security bond and obtain a decree for sale and enforcement of the hypothecation lien, the said house could not be sold in execution of the decree for the amount according to law. Held, that although it was open to the decree-holder to proceed on the security, if he desired to do so, his rights under the simple money decree did not cease to exist by reason of the hypothecation lien. 153 I.C. 422=1935 A. 179.

O. 21, Rr. 30 and 21.—The discretion given to the Court by O. 21, R. 21, to refuse simultaneous execution against the person and the property does not extend to compelling the decree-holder to take either one of these methods. The executing Court should not disallow an application for the arrest of a defaulting judgment-debtor on the ground that the latter has sufficient properties against which the decree-holder might proceed in the first instance. A debtor who is able to pay but does not pay is in the position of a person in contempt of Court. The proper course for such a person is to purge his contempt by fulfilling the order of the Court and pay the decretal amount. 18 Pat. 366=1939 P.W.N. 604=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 380.

O. 21, R. 32.—Applicability to Scheme decree—Clause in decree directing payment by trustee—Executability. 71 M.L.J. 87. There is no provision of law which entitles holder of a decree for an injunction to apply to Court for the issue of a special order or notice embodying the terms of the decree and for having it served through Court on the defendant. It may be that Court has an inherent power to do so, but decree-holder has no right to ask Court to do so. Where it is not shown that defendant has done any act which can be construed as disobedience or failure to obey the decree of Court, no such application is maintainable, under R. 32, especially when it is admitted that the time for enforcing the injunction has not yet arrived. 44 L.W. 308=1936 M. 706=71 M.L.J. 286. It is futile to argue that the only remedy of a decree-holder is to bring a separate suit for damages, where the judgment-debtor deliberately chooses to disobey the injunction issued by the Court permanently prohibiting him from holding a fair on certain lands. O. 21, R. 32 (4).—A wife sued her husband for return of her jewels or their value and obtained decree in December, 1928. Prior to that the husband sued his wife for restitution of conjugal rights and obtained a decree therefor in March, 1929, and he also got an attachment of the wife's decree in March, 1929. In 1930, both parties applied to execute their respective decrees. Court while allowing the husband's prayer for attaching the wife's decree rejected the wife's prayer to allow execution against the person of her husband for money due to her under her decree, apparently on the ground that her decree was under attachment. The wife having appealed against both orders, held, that the attachment effected in March, 1929, by the husband had ceased under R. 32 (4) after one year and that the new attachment ordered in 1930, was not therefore bad; that the fact that her decree was under attachment was no bar to her executing that decree, so long as R. 53 (2) that the proceeds are to go in satisfaction of the decree against her is not disregarded. 41 L.W.

When at the time of suit the husband is out of caste, the Court can pass a decree conditioned on plaintiff's obtaining restoration to caste. 8 A. 78. Ordinarily a decree for restitution of conjugal rights against a wife should direct that it should not be executed by detention of the wife in prison. 44 B. 972=59 I.C. 361; 73 I.C. 716=1924 L. 244. Also 10 I.C. 177. In an action for specific performance of a contract to sell certain property with cultivating rights Court can compel defendant under Cl. (2) Where the Court has made an order under sub-rule (1) <sup>1</sup>[* * *], it may order that, in the event of the decree not being obeyed within such period as may be fixed in this behalf, the judgment-debtor shall make to the decree-holder such periodical payments as may be just, and, if it thinks fit, require that the judgment-debtor shall, to its satisfaction, secure to the decree-holder such periodical payments.

(3) The Court may from time to time vary or modify any order made under sub-rule (2) for the periodical payment of money, either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount, or may temporarily suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, and again revive, the same, either wholly or in part as it may think just.

(4) Any money ordered to be paid under this rule may be recovered as though it were payable under a decree for the payment of money.

34. (1) Where a decree is for the execution of a document or for the endorsement of a negotiable instrument and the judgment-debtor neglects or refuses to obey the decree, the decree-holder may prepare a draft of the document or endorsement in accordance with the terms of the decree and deliver the same to the Court.

(2) The Court shall thereupon cause the draft to be served on the judgment-debtor together with a notice requiring his objections (if any) to be made within such time as the Court fixes in this behalf.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor objects to the draft, his objections shall be stated in writing within such time, and the Court shall make such order approving or altering the draft, as it thinks fit.

(4) The decree-holder shall deliver to the Court a copy of the draft with such alterations (if any) as the Court may have directed upon the proper stamp-paper if a stamp is required by the law for the time being in force; and the Judge or such officer as may be appointed in this behalf shall execute the document so delivered.

Where a decree absolute for divorce directs the judgment-debtor to secure to his wife a certain amount and to execute a proper instrument securing that payment, and the judgment-debtor does not take any steps to comply with the direction, the Court can under O. 21, R. 34, execute a special power of attorney in favour of the wife authorising her on behalf of the judgment-debtor to withdraw the amount decreed out of the provident fund of the judgment-debtor in a railway company in which he was employed. The execution of such a special power of attorney does not contravene the provisions of S. 3 (1) of the Provident Funds Act. 13 Luck. 466=1938 O. 48. There is no foundation for the view that an order under O. 21, R. 34, can be made only when a decree for execution of a document is made in a suit for specific performance of contracts. The rule simply contemplates that there should be a decree for execution of a document. It may be passed in any suit 67 C.L.J. 235=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 767.

and shall have the same effect as the execution of the document or the endorsement of the negotiable instrument by the party ordered to execute or endorse the same.

(6) The Court, or such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, shall pass the document to be registered if its registration is required by the law for the time being in force or the decree-holder desires to have it registered, and may make such order as it thinks fit as to the payment of the expenses of the registration.

(2) Where a decree is for the joint possession of immovable property, such possession shall be delivered by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place on the property and proclaiming by beat of drum, or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree.

But the fact that the person in possession continues to be in enjoyment of the property just after the formality under R. 35 is over, does to all intents and purposes amount to an immediate dispossession of the decree-holder after he has been put in possession. The decree-holder must under Art. 142, Limitation Act, come within 12 years to recover possession again and if he does not, his suit is time barred. 160 I.C. 441=1936 Pesh. 7. Actual possession must be given if the judgment-debtor is in possession. A decree for joint possession can be executed only in the mode prescribed by O. 21, R. 35 (2). Such possession cannot be actual physical possession. Nor can such a decree entitle one to take actual physical possession to the ouster of the persons in actual possession of the plot in dispute. If such a decree-holder wishes to obtain actual physical possession he has to bring a suit for partition. 1939 A.L.J. 375. The prescribed procedure for symbolic delivery must be followed. When no actual or symbolic delivery has been obtained, no subsequent suit lies for fresh possession. 20 P.R. 1917=39 I.C. 753. Failure to affix warrant of delivery vitiates symbolic delivery. 1923 L. 693=74 I.C. 1; 55 I.C. 19=2 Lah.L.J. 202. But where with the approval and consent of the judgment-debtor, delivery of possession was proclaimed merely by beat of drum without affixing a copy of the warrant on the property as required by R. 35 (2), the delivery of possession must be deemed to be valid and effective as against the judgment-debtor. 166 I.C. 404=1937 O.W.N. 58=1937 Oudh 275. Joint possession of one co-sharer as against another in actual enjoyment can only be symbolical. 19 A.L.J. 783=63 I.C. 806. It is neither real possession nor equivalent to it. 36 B. 373=14 I.C. 447. Delivery of symbolical possession—Decree providing for khas possession—Remedy of decree-holder. 35 C.W.N. 12=131 I.C. 698=1931 C. 427. The conditions precedent for effecting delivery of possession under O. 21, R. 35 (2) are the affixing of the warrant to the property and the beat of drum. The omission to take any one of these two steps is fatal to the proceedings and there is no delivery in law. A.I.R. 1941 Pesh. 25. Presumption that formalities as to delivery have been complied with, see 31 P.L.R. 1001=132 I.C. 181. Where judgment-creditor fails to apply for removal of an obstruction under O. 21, R. 97 within 30 days he is not debarred from making an application under R. 35 to obtain a fresh warrant for possession. He need not file a suit for that purpose. Article 165 of the Limitation Act has nothing to do with such an application for warrant for possession but it will be applicable notwithstanding the fresh order for possession to a subsequent application in respect of the same obstruction. And if the obstruction is by the same person and in the same character, the mere fact that the decree-holder is applying under a fresh warrant for possession would not make the obstruction a fresh obstruction. 146 I.C. 112=35 Bom.L.R. 1033=1933 B. 457 (F.B.).

O. 21, Rr. 35 & 36.—The delivery of symbolical possession of land in execution of a decree for possession amounts to delivery of actual possession so far as the judgment-debtor and his representatives are concerned. It breaks the continuity of the adverse possession of the judgment-debtor in spite of the technical irregularities, if any, committed in the delivery of possession. A transferee of the land during the pendency of the suit, being a representative of the judgment-debtor, is under the rule of lis pendens as much bound by the symbolical possession delivered as the judgment-debtor himself. I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 428.

O. 21, R. 36.—Rule applies only to person holding exclusive possession of property and not bound by the decree. 97 I.C. 170=1926 L. 668. There is nothing in this rule to prevent the applicant from obtaining possession without the aid of the Court. 22 W. R. 406; 15 W.R. 99; 18 C. 520; 13 M.L.J. 375. No delivery is effected when the

(8) Sums disbursed by the decree-holder under sub-r. (6) shall be deemed to be costs in the suit : Provided that the judgment-debtor shall not be detained in the civil prison or arrested on account of any sum so disbursed."

Attachment of Property.

41. Where a decree is for the payment of money the decree-holder may apply to the Court for an order that—

(a) the judgment-debtor, or

(b) in the case of a corporation, any officer thereof, or

(c) any other person, be orally examined as to whether any or what debts are owing to the judgment-debtor and whether the judgment-debtor has any and what other property or means

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 41.—This rule applies to all the properties of judgment-debtor out of which decree can be satisfied either by delivery in obedience to decree or by sale. 17 B. 514. In a suit for recovery of money due on settled accounts, an application was filed for appointing a receiver and for an order directing defendant to produce certain books of account not connected with the suit in order that plaintiff, if he gets a decree, may be in a better position to realise his decree debt. Held, the Court cannot order the production. 57 M. 635=148 I. C. 79=1934 M. 199=66 M.L.J. 498. Court cannot prescribe to decree-holder what property he is to attach. 3 W.R. Miss. 16. Judgment-debtor can be examined at any stage of the execution proceedings. Order for such examination may be made ex parte. On proper cause being shown, such order may be set aside. It is not necessary that all usual methods of execution should be exhausted before applying this rule. 34 I.C. 287=43 C. 285.

O. 21, R. 41 (c).—Garnishee should deny or admit the debt in express words in the affidavit and in the event of admitting the debt, the extent of such debt. 1933 S. 350. Rule 41 of O. 21, is in effect a provision to obtain delivery in aid of the execution of the decree which the decree-holder has obtained. The expression "any other person" might include a garnishee, i.e., a person who owes or is alleged to owe a debt to the judgment-debtor. The Court is empowered to summon any person including the garnishee whom it thinks necessary and may require the person summoned to produce any document in his possession or power. But this power should be cautiously exercised. The discretionary power vested in the Court under R. 41 of O. 21, to examine the garnishee must ordinarily be limited to cases where the garnishee admits the debt, and the Court may find out the exact amount of the debt before ordering the execution. But if the debt is totally denied, the Court ought not ordinarily to examine the garnishee or direct him to produce account books unless it is satisfied on the affidavits or on the examination of the judgment-debtor that in the interests of the decree-holder the garnishee should be examined and his books produced to better enable him to proceed with the execution and to prevent a possible fraud or collusion between the judgment-debtor and the garnishee. For that purpose the alleged garnishee may be examined with reference to the books or other documents which he may be directed to produce for finding out whether there were dealings between him and the judgment-debtor probalising a debt. The garnishee ought not to be subjected to any examination or cross-examination for the purpose of determining whether the liability subsists or not. Further only those books or documents, which would throw light on the question of debt should be ordered to be produced. Any order for further production would be oppressive. 48 L.W. 157=1938 M.W.N. 702=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 771. There is no rule under which a copy of the petition by which a garnishee had denied the claim of judgment-debtor, could be required to be given by him to decree-holder. Even if there is such a rule, it is the duty of Court to investigate the claim and not to dispose of the matter summarily without hearing the garnishee. O. 17, R. 3, gives a discretion to Court in the matter and does not make it obligatory to proceed forthwith. 151 I.C. 679=1934 L. 560. A decree directing an inquiry as to damages is a decree for money within the meaning of O. 21, R. 42, of satisfying the decree; and the Court may make an order for the attendance and examination of such judgment-debtor, or officer or other person, and for the production of any books or documents.

Attachment in case of decree for rent or mesne profits or other matter, amount of which to be subsequently determined.

42. Where a decree directs an inquiry as to rent or mesne profits or any other matter, the property of the judgment-debtor may, before the amount due from him has been ascertained, be attached, as in the case of an ordinary decree for the payment of money.

43. Where the property to be attached is movable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Attachment of movable property, other than agricultural produce, in possession of judgment-debtor.

Provided that, when the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

NOTES.

and a plaintiff who has obtained such a decree directing an inquiry as to damages is entitled to invoke the aid of O. 21, R. 41 and apply for an order for the examination of the judgment-debtor in order to enable him to effect an attachment in pursuance of the right given to him under O. 21, R. 42. The Court is vested with the discretion whether to give the relief under R. 41 or not, and it must exercise its discretion after considering the circumstances of the case. 49 L.W. 696=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 699=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 80.

O. 21, R. 42.—The Court has no jurisdiction on an application under O. 21, R. 42 to enter into an investigation of claims and objections to the proposed attachment at the stage the application is made. The only question then before the Court is one between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor, and if the property to be attached is specified by the decree-holder in his application as the property of the judgment-debtor, the Court is bound to make an order for attachment as if the attachment was being asked for in the ordinary course of execution of a decree for the payment of money, leaving it to the parties concerned to prefer such claims or objections after the attachment as were open to them under the provisions of O. 21, R. 58 or otherwise. The Court cannot apply to an application under O. 21, R. 42 the considerations which would govern an application for attachment before judgment. 45 C.W.N. 323. The rule does not apply to a suit for partnership accounts. 93 I.C. 306=1926 S. 178. The words "any other matter" in the rule cannot include a preliminary decree directing the taking of accounts in a partnership suit. 40 C.W.N. 1393. This rule covers also an enquiry into accounts in a scheme suit under S. 92. 41 I.C. 89. On this section, see also 19 C. 139; 45 C.W.N. 323.

O. 21, R. 43.—A person who attaches under a warrant must have the warrant with him. Else the taking of the property is not lawful. 27 A. 258. As to responsibility of attaching officer, see 1931 A. 567=134 I.C. 836=1931 A.L.J. 865 (F.B.) (Overruling 48 A. 510). "Seize," meaning of—Removal of articles with help of coolies—Amin present—Attachment deemed to be effected. 1930 M.W.N. 487. Attachment of cattle—Actual physical seizure not necessary. Where cattle have already been tied and secured, it is sufficient if the officer goes sufficiently near them to explain to others that he has come to attach the property and to intimate his intention to do so. 32 L.W. 23=1930 M. 670. Removal of property by attaching officer is illegal. 1928 C. 815=56 C. 460=48 C.L.J. 288. A warrant of attachment affixed to the outer door of a warehouse in which goods belonging to the judgment-debtor were stored, constitutes a good attachment although the door is not broken open and goods taken physical possession of. 27 M. 346. See also 11 B. at 454; 30 M. 207. The rule does not affect the liability of a surety for attached movables if he fails to produce them. 62 I.C. 719=19 A.L.J. 247. The watchmen appointed by the Commissioner to look after the attached property are not liable at the instance of the judgment-debtor for the value of missing articles, either as custodians or as sureties. The person responsible for the safe custody of the articles is the attaching officer himself. 144 I.C. 364=1933 A.L.J. 579=1933 A. 385. A suparddar of attached property must produce them when called upon, even though the execution application is dismissed for default, and the attachment ends. 51 I.C. 653=60 P.R. 1919. He is bound to hold the property till the amin asks for it or directs him to hand it over to the judgment-debtor. If the same property is re-attached pending the first attachment, it is not necessary that the fresh order of

43. Where the property to be attached is movable property other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and save as otherwise prescribed, the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Provided that, when the property seized does not, in the opinion of the attaching officer, exceed twenty rupees in value or is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

[LAHORE.] O. 21, r. 43. The Rule was numbered as sub-rule (1) and the following further proviso and sub-rules (2) and (3) were added:—

“and provided also, that, when the property attached consists of live-stock, agricultural implements or other articles which cannot conveniently be removed and the attaching officer does not act under the first proviso to this rule, he may at the instance of the judgment-debtor or of the decree-holder, or of any person claiming to be interested in such property, leave it in the village or place where it has been attached—

(a) in the charge of the person at whose instance the property is retained in such village or place, if such person enters into a bond in the Form No. 15-A of Appendix E to this Schedule with one or more sufficient sureties for its production when called for; or

(b) in the charge of an officer of the Court, if a suitable place for its safe custody be provided, and the remuneration of the officer for a period of fifteen days at such rate as may from time to time be fixed by the High Court be paid in advance; or

(c) in the charge of a village lambardar or such other respectable person as will undertake to keep such property, subject to the orders of the Court, if such person enters into a bond in Form No. 15-B of Appendix E with one or more sureties for its production.

(2) Whenever an attachment made under the provisions of this rule ceases for any of the reasons specified in r. 55, or 60 of this Order, the Court may order the restitution of the attached property to the person in whose possession it was before attachment.

(3) When property is made over to a custodian under sub-clause (a) or (c) of clause (1), the schedule of property annexed to the bond shall be drawn up by the attaching officer in triplicate, and dated and signed by—

- (a) the custodian and his sureties;
- (b) the officer of the Court who made the attachment;
- (c) the person whose property is attached and made over;
- (d) two respectable witnesses.

One copy will be transmitted to the Court by the attaching officer and placed on the record of the proceedings under which the attachment has been ordered, one copy will be made over to the person whose property is attached and one copy will be made over to the custodian.”

Rules 43-A to 43-D—

“43-A. (1) Whenever attached property is kept in the village or place where it is attached, the attaching officer shall forthwith report the fact to the Court and shall with his report forward a list of the property seized.

attachment should be communicated to suparddar. It is enough if the order is communicated to the amin. Consequently where the suparddar having no knowledge of the subsequent attachment of the property in his custody, makes over the property to judgment-debtor on satisfaction of the decree in which it was first attached, he cannot plead want of notice of the second attachment so as to escape his liability. 149 I.C. 950=1934 A.L.J. 1200=1934 A. 357. The proper execution procedure against a surety for attached property is to sue on the security bond first having it assigned in the decree-holder's name. 39 M.L.J. 472=60 I.C. 134. See also 47 I.C. 956=16 N.L.R. 178. Attachment of movables—Bond executed by attaching creditor on taking possession of goods—Subsequent sale—Order for production of goods—Non-compliance—Forfeiture of bond is illegal. 1927 M.W.N. 919. Mere application for attachment of “movable property” is not sufficient to attach a debt due from third parties. 9 I.C. 240. A right to sue for breach of contract cannot be attached. 1925 S. 98. The attaching officer entrusting the attached property to a third person, without the permission of the Court must, if the property be lost, make good the loss himself. 95 I.C. 828=48 A. 510=1926 A. 406. See also 1934 A. 357; 1933 A. 385. Attachment removed—Suit for declaration by decree-holder that property belonged to judgment-debtor—Decree not by itself effective to restore attachment—Fresh seizure necessary. 1930 R. 247=8 R. 491. A roving commission for seizure of property belonging to the judgment-debtors wherever it may be found is not contemplated by the Code of Civil Procedure and is entirely illegal. Where such a warrant for attachment of movable property is resisted there is no offence committed under S. 353 read with S. 114, I. P. Code. 1941 Rang.L.R. 592.

(3) A custodian appointed under the second proviso to r. 43, may at any time terminate his responsibilities by giving notice to the Court of his desire to be relieved of his trust and delivering to the proper officer of the Court the property made over to him.

(4) When any property is taken back from a custodian, he shall be granted a receipt for the same.

43-B. (1) Whenever attached property kept in the village or place where it is attached is live-stock, the person at whose instance it is retained shall provide for its maintenance, and, if he fails to do so and if it is in charge of an officer of the Court, it shall be removed to the Court-house.

Nothing in this rule shall prevent the judgment-debtor, or any person claiming to be interested in such stock, from making such arrangements for feeding the same as may not be inconsistent with its safe custody.

(2) The Court may direct that any sums which have been expended by the attaching officer or are payable to him, if not duly deposited or paid, be recovered from the proceeds of property, if sold or be paid by the person declared entitled to delivery before he receives the same. The Court may also order that any sums deposited or paid under these rules be recovered as costs of the attachment from any party to the proceedings.

43-C. When an application is made for the attachment of live-stock or other movable property, the decree-holder shall pay into Court in cash such sum as will cover the costs of the maintenance and custody of the property for 15 days. If within three clear days, before the expiry of any such period of 15 days the amount of such costs for such further period as the Court may direct be not paid into Court, the Court on receiving a report thereof from the proper officer, may issue an order for the withdrawal of the attachment and direct by whom the costs of the attachment are to be paid.

43-D. Any person who has undertaken to keep attached property under r. 43 (1) (c) shall be liable to be proceeded against as a surety under S. 145 of the Code and shall be liable to pay in execution proceedings the value of any such property wilfully lost by him."

[MADRAS.] For O. 21, r. 43, substitute the following rules, viz.:—

43. (1) Where the property to be attached is movable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Provided that, when the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once; and

Provided also that, when the property attached consists of live-stock, agricultural implements or other articles which cannot conveniently be removed and the attaching officer does not act under the first proviso to this rule, he may at the instance of the judgment-debtor or of the decree-holder or of any person claiming to be interested in such property leave it in the village or place where it has been attached—

(a) in the charge of the person at whose instance the property is retained in such village or place, if such person enters into a bond in the Form No. 15-A of Appendix E, to this Schedule with one or more sufficient sureties for its production when called for; or

(b) in the charge of an officer of the Court, if a suitable place for its safe custody be provided and the remuneration of the officer for a period of 15 days at such rate as may from time to time be fixed by the High Court be paid in advance.

(2) Whenever an attachment made under the provisions of this rule ceases for any of the reasons specified in r. 55 or r. 57 or r. 60 of this order, the Court may order the restitution of the attached property to the person in whose possession it was before attachment.

43-A. (1) Whenever attached property is kept in the village or place where it is attached, the attaching officer shall forthwith report the fact to the Court, and shall with his report forward a list of the property seized.

(2) If attached property is not sold under the first proviso to r. 43 or retained in the village or place where it is attached under the second proviso to that rule, it shall be brought to the Court-house and delivered to the proper officer of the Court.

43-B. (1) Whenever attached property kept in the village or place where it is attached is live-stock, the person at whose instance it is so retained shall provide for its maintenance, and, if he fails to do so and if it is in charge of an officer of the Court, it shall be removed to the Court-house.

Nothing in this rule shall prevent the judgment-debtor, or any person claiming to be interested in such stock from making such arrangements for feeding the same as may not be inconsistent with its safe custody.

(2) The Court may direct that any sums which have been expended by the attaching officer or are payable to him, if not duly deposited or paid, be recovered from the proceeds of property, if sold, or be paid by the person declared entitled to delivery before he receives the same. The Court may also order that any sums deposited under these rules be recovered as costs of the attachment from any party to the proceedings.

[Note.—An additional Form, being Form No. 15-A has been inserted in App. E.]

[N.-W.F.P.] Add the following further proviso :—

Provided further that when the attached property consists of live-stock or articles which cannot conveniently be removed, and the attaching officer does not act under the first proviso to this rule, he may leave it in the village or place where it has been attached in the charge of a village lambardar or such other respectable person as will undertake to keep the property, subject to the orders of the Court, if such person enters into a written bond for its production.

Any person who has so undertaken to keep attached property may be proceeded against as a surety under S. 145 of the Code and shall be liable to pay in execution proceedings the value of any such property wilfully lost by him.

[PATNA.] Substitute the following for r. 43 of O. 21 :—

43. Where the property to be attached is movable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of the judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the attaching officer shall be responsible for the due custody thereof :

Provided that, when the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

O. 21, r. 43-A. Insert the following as r. 43-A below r. 43 in O. 21 :—

43-A. (1) The attaching officer shall, in suitable cases, keep the attached property in the village or locality either—

(a) in his own custody in any suitable place provided by the judgment-debtor, or in his absence by any adult member of his family who is present, on his own premises or elsewhere ;

(b) in the case of live-stock, and provided the decree-holder furnishes the necessary funds, in the local pound, if a pound has been established in or near the village, in which case the pound-keeper will be responsible for the property to the attaching officer, and shall receive the same rate for accommodation and maintenance thereof as are paid in respect of impounded cattle of the same description, or such less rate as may be agreed upon ;

(c) in the custody of a respectable surety, provided the decree-holder furnishes the cost of maintenance and other costs, if any.

(2) If in the opinion of the attaching officer the attached property cannot be kept in the village or locality, through lack of a suitable place, or satisfactory surety, or through failure of the decree-holder to provide necessary funds, or for any other reason, the attaching officer shall remove the property to the Court at the decree-holder's expense. In the event of the decree-holder failing to provide the necessary funds, the attachment shall be withdrawn.

(3) Whenever attached property is kept in the village or locality as aforesaid, the officer shall forthwith report the fact to the Court, and shall with his report forward an accurate list of property seized, such that the Court may thereon at once issue the proclamation of sale prescribed by r. 66.

(4) If the debtor shall give his consent in writing to the sale of the property without awaiting the expiry of the term prescribed in r. 68, the officer shall receive the same and forward it without delay to the Court for its orders.

(5) When the property is removed to the Court it shall be kept by the Nazir on his own sole responsibility in such place as may be approved by the Court. If the property cannot, from its nature or bulk, be conveniently kept on the Court premises, or in the personal custody of the Nazir, he may, subject to the approval by the Court, make such arrangements for its safe custody under his own supervision as may be most convenient and economical, and the Court may fix the remuneration to be allowed to the persons, not being officers of the Court, in whose custody the property is kept.

(6) When the property remains in the village or locality where it is attached and any person other than the judgment-debtor shall claim the same, or any part of it, the attaching officer shall nevertheless, unless the decree-holder desires to withdraw the attachment of the property so claimed, maintain the attachment, and shall direct the claimant to prefer his claim to the Court.

(7) (a) If the decree-holder shall withdraw an attachment or it shall be withdrawn under sub-rule (2) or sub-rule (9) the attaching officer shall inform the debtor, or in his absence, any adult member of his family, that the property is at his disposal.

(b) In the absence of any person to take charge of it or in case the officer shall have had notice of claim by a person other than the judgment-debtor, the officer shall, if the property has been moved from the premises in which it was seized, replace it where it was found at the time of seizure.

(8) Whenever live-stock is kept in the village or locality where it has been attached, the judgment-debtor shall be at liberty to undertake the due feeding and tending of it under the supervision of the attaching officer ; but the latter shall, if required by the decree-holder, and on his paying for the same at the rate to be fixed by the District Judge, and subject to the orders of the Court under whose orders the attachment is made, engage the services of as many persons as may be necessary, for the safe custody of it.

(9) In the event of the judgment-debtor failing to feed the attached live-stock in accordance with sub-rule (8), the officer shall call upon the decree-holder to pay forthwith, for feeding the same. In the event of his failure to do so, the officer shall proceed as provided in sub-rule (2), and shall report the matter to the Court without delay.

(10) When attached live-stock is brought to Court, the Nazir shall be responsible for the safe custody and proper feeding of it so long as the attachment continues.

(11) If a pound has been established in or near the place where the Court is held, the Nazir shall be at liberty to place in it such attached live-stock as can be properly kept, in which case the pound-keeper will be responsible for the property to the Nazir and shall receive the same rate for accommodation, and maintenance thereof as are paid in respect of impounded cattle of the same description or such less rate as may be agreed upon.

(12) If there be no pound available, or if, in the opinion of the Court it be inconvenient to lodge the attached live-stock in the pound, the Nazir may keep it in his own premises, or he may entrust it to any person selected by himself and approved by the Court. The Nazir will in all cases remain responsible for the custody of the property.

(13) Each Court shall, from time to time, fix the rates to be allowed for the custody and maintenance of the various descriptions of live-stock with reference to seasons and local circumstances. The District Judge may make any alteration he deems fit in the rates prescribed by Courts subordinate to him. Where there are two or more Courts in the same place, the rates shall be the same for each Court.

44. Where the property to be attached is agricultural produce, the attachment shall be made by affixing a copy of the warrant of attachment—

(a) where such produce is a growing crop, on the land on which such crop has grown, or

(b) where such produce has been cut or gathered, on the threshing floor or place for treading out grain or the like or fodder-stack on or in which it is deposited, and another copy on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which the judgment-debtor ordinarily resides or, with the leave of the Court, on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which he carries on business or personally works for gain or in which he is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain; and the produce shall thereupon be deemed to have passed into the possession of the Court.

LOC. AM.—[BOMBAY.] After r. 44 of O. 21, the following shall be inserted, as r. 44-A, namely:—

44-A. Where the property to be attached is agricultural produce, a copy of the warrant or order of attachment shall be sent by post to the office of the Collector of the District in which the land is situate.

(2) Subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the Court in this behalf either in the order of attachment or in any subsequent order, the judgment-debtor may tend, cut, gather and store the produce and do any other act necessary for maturing or preserving it; and if the judgment-debtor fails to do all or any

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 44.—An attachment which is not in accordance with the provisions of R. 44, would no doubt, not operate to transfer possession of the property to the Court. But the presumption of law is that anything which is done by the officer of the Court is properly done until the contrary is shown. 162 I.C. 653=1936 A.L.J. 283=1936 A. 364; 1935 A.L.J. 390=1935 A. 436; 1935 A.L.J. 63=1935 A. 214; 156 I.C. 697=1935 R. 186. Where attachment of movable crops is made by beat of drum and the procedure prescribed by R. 44 is not followed, the produce cannot be deemed to have passed from the possession of the judgment-debtor into that of the Court. 129 I.C. 715=1931 A. 142. See also 145 I.C. 818=1933 R. 267; 1935 A. 218=153 I.C. 428. Where the bailiff executing the warrant of attachment does not affix a copy thereof on the residential house of the judgment-debtor, there is no compliance with R. 44, and the attachment is not a legal or valid attachment. 29 S.L.R. 190.

O. 21, R. 45 (2).—A judgment-debtor is at liberty, notwithstanding the attachment, to cut and gather the produce and store the same in default of any conditions imposed or orders passed by the Civil Court, in view of O. 21, R. 45 (2). But he is not entitled to take the crops away as is shown by sub-R. (3) of O. 21, R. 45. If after attachment, and after the crops have passed into the custody of the Court peon, the judgment-debtor and his men not only cut and gather the produce but also take them away, they would be guilty of theft. If in the course of such removal they obstruct the Court peon in the discharge of his duty of holding the crop, they would be also liable under S. 186, I. P. Code. 1940 P.W.N. 980.

of such acts, the decree-holder may, with the permission of the Court and subject to the like conditions, do all or any of them either by himself or by any person appointed by him in this behalf, and the costs incurred by the decree-holder shall be recoverable from the judgment-debtor as if they were included in, or formed part of, the decree.

(3) Agricultural produce attached as a growing crop shall not be deemed to have ceased to be under attachment or to require re-attachment merely because it has been severed from the soil.

(4) Where an order for the attachment of a growing crop has been made at a considerable time before the crop is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered, the Court may suspend the execution of the order for such time as it thinks fit, and may, in its discretion make a further order prohibiting the removal of the crop pending the execution of the order of attachment.

(5) A growing crop which from its nature does not admit of being stored shall not be attached under this rule at any time less than twenty days before the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered.

LOC. AMS.—[BOMBAY.] The following words shall be added to sub-rule (1) of r. 45 of O. 21 after substituting a semicolon for the full stop :—“and the applicant shall deposit in Court at the time of the application such sum as the Court shall deem sufficient to defray the cost of watching and tending the crop till such time.”

[CALCUTTA.] O. 21, r. 45 (1). Add the following to sub-rule (1), r. 45, O. 21 :—
“and the applicant shall deposit in Court such sum as the Court shall require in order to defray the cost of watching or tending the crop till such time.”

[LAHORE.] O. 21, r. 45. Add the following proviso to sub-r. (1) of r. 45 :—
“and with every such application such charges as may be necessary for the custody of the crop up to the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered shall be paid to Court.”

[MADRAS.] Substitute the following for sub-rule (1) :—
“Where agricultural produce is attached, the Court shall make such arrangements for the custody thereof as it may deem sufficient, and, for the purpose of enabling the Court to make such arrangements, every application for the attachment of a growing crop shall specify the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered ; and the applicant shall deposit in Court within a date to be fixed by Court, such sum as the Court may deem sufficient to defray the cost of watching and tending the crop till such time.”

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 45. Add to sub-r. (1) of r. 45 after deleting the full stop at the end of the sub-rule :—

“and the applicant shall pay into Court such sums as he may from time to time be required by the Court to pay in order to defray the cost of such arrangements.”

[RANGOON.] After r. 45, O. 21, insert the following as rules 45-A and 45-B :—

45-A. (1) Before issuing a warrant for the attachment of movable property which it will be necessary to place in charge of one or more peons, permanent or temporary, the Court shall satisfy itself that the attaching decree-holder has produced a receipt in Form 15-A, Appendix E, from the Bailiff that he has paid in cash as process-fees under r. 17 (1) (e) (ii) (2) of the Process-Fees Rules not less than Rs. 10, for each person whom the Bailiff considers should be employed.

(2) In sending the warrant for execution to the Bailiff, the Court Clerk shall certify at the foot of the warrant that the receipt granted by the Bailiff for the necessary fees has been filed in the record. The Bailiff shall then endorse on the warrant the name of the process-server to whom it is issued for execution. If a temporary peon is employed for the custody of the attached property, the process-server shall state in his report of the attachment the name of the temporary peon employed and the date from which his duties commenced.

(3) At the time of granting the receipt in Form 15-A, for payments made by the decree-holder as required by sub-rule (1), the Bailiff shall state in the lower portion of the Form the date on which the fees paid will be exhausted, warning the decree-holder that the property will not be kept under attachment after the date, unless further fees are paid before that date.

If the further fees required are not paid, the attachment shall cease as soon as the period for which fees have already been paid expires. In such a case the amount paid prior to the cessation of the attachment shall not be allowed to the attaching decree-holder as costs.

(4) The payment of fees under sub-rule (1) shall be made in cash to the Bailiff and the amount shall be at once entered in Bailiff's Register in No. II. The Court Clerk shall on receipt of the Bailiff's acknowledgment. (Form 15-A) file it in the record and make an entry to that effect in the diary.

(5) Temporary peons employed for the custody of the attached property shall be remunerated at the rate provided for in r. 15 of the Rules regarding process-serving establishments, provided that the total remuneration disbursed shall in no case exceed the amount of the process-fees actually paid under the foregoing sub-rules. Permanent peons shall be presumed to be remunerated at the same rate as temporary peons but if the services of the former are utilized, the fees paid shall be credited direct into the Treasury to "Process-servers' Fees"—"XVI-A, Law and Justice"—"Courts of Law"—"Court-fees realized in cash."

(6) The remuneration of temporary peons employed to take charge of attached property shall be paid direct by the Bailiff to them on the order of the Judge.

Before passing such order, the Judge must verify the name of the payee from the report of the attachment and must satisfy himself that the amount proposed to be paid does not exceed the amount of the fees deposited with the Bailiff, or, if any payments have already been made in the case of the unexpended balance of such deposits and that all amounts previously drawn have been disbursed to the proper persons.

(7) When the order has been signed by the Judge, the money shall be disbursed by the Bailiff at once to the peon or peons concerned, whose acknowledgment of receipt shall be taken in Bailiff's Register II. If, however, the amount has been transferred to Bailiff's Register I, the Bailiff shall draw the amount necessary for payment from the Treasury as if it were a re-payment of deposit and shall then disburse the amount due to the peon or peons concerned, whose acknowledgment of receipt shall be taken in Bailiff's Register I.

(8) When the attachment is brought to a close or has not been effected, if the Judge finds, at the time of calculating the amount paid in and properly chargeable for peons, that the total amount of the fees actually paid under sub-rr. (1) and (3) exceeds the total amount that is chargeable for peons including the amount of the last payment he shall direct that the excess be refunded to payer.

(9) The Judge shall, in all cases in which a refund is to be made, issue to the Bailiff an order, a copy of which shall be placed on the record, to make such refund. If a sufficient portion of the amount paid by the decree-holder to pay such refund is in the hands of the Bailiff, that officer shall make the refund in the ordinary way prescribed in his Register II for repayments. If the amount has been credited into the Treasury, he shall prepare a bill for the amount to be refunded in the prescribed Treasury form and shall lay it before the Judge for signature with the record of the case in the same way as a bill for the remuneration of temporary peons. Before signing the refund order, the Judge must satisfy himself that the amount is available for refund by examining Bailiff's Register I, and the record. The bill when signed by the Judge will be given to the payee, with instructions to present it for payment at the Treasury or sub-treasury.

45-B. (1) In addition to the fees payable before a warrant issues for the attachment of movable property under r. 45-A, the Bailiff shall require the attaching decree-holder to deposit a sum of money sufficient to cover the cost of attachment other than the pay of peons employed to take charge of it, for such period as the Bailiff may think fit.

Explanation.—The costs in question might be, for example, (a) rent of building in which to store attached furniture, (b) cost of conveying the attached property from the place of attachment to Court or to a secure place of custody, (c) cost of feeding and tending live-stock, (d) cost of proceeding to the place of attachment to sell perishable property.

(2) If the attaching decree-holder fails to comply with the Bailiff's requisition, the warrant shall not be issued.

(3) Sums thus deposited shall be entered in the Bailiff's Registers I and II and any repayments thereof shall be made according to existing orders. A receipt for such sums shall be granted by the Bailiff in Form 15-A, Appendix E.

(4) In the receipt given for the sums deposited, the Bailiff shall state the period for which such sums will last, and if the attaching decree-holder does not deposit a further sum before the expiry of such period, the attachment shall cease when the sum deposited is exhausted.

(5) The officer actually attaching the property shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, give the debtor, or, in his absence, any adult member of his family who may be present, the option of having the attached property kept on his premises or elsewhere, on condition that a suitable place for its safe custody is duly provided. The option so given may be subsequently withdrawn by order of the Court. Where the attached property consists of cattle, these may be employed, so far as is consistent with r. 43, in agricultural operations.

(6) If no such suitable place be provided, or if the Court directs that the property shall be removed, the officer shall remove the property to the Court unless the property attached is a growing crop, when r. 45 applies. Whenever live-stock is placed at the place where it has been attached, the judgment-debtor shall be at liberty to undertake the due feeding and tending of it under the supervision of the attaching officer.

(7) Whenever property is attached, the officer shall forthwith report to the Court, and shall with his report forward an accurate list of the property seized.

(8) If the judgment-debtor shall give his consent in writing to the sale of property without awaiting the expiry of the term prescribed in rule 68, the officer shall receive the written consent and forward it without delay to the Court for its orders.

(9) When the property is removed to the Court it shall be kept by the Bailiff, on his own sole responsibility, in such place as may be approved by the Court. If the property cannot, from its nature or bulk, be conveniently kept on the Court premises, or in the personal custody of the Bailiff, he may, subject to the approval of the Court, make such arrangement for its safe custody under his own supervision as may be most convenient and economical.

(10) If there be a cattle-pound maintained by Government or any local authority in or near the place where the Court is held, the Bailiff shall be at liberty to place in it such attached live-stock as can be properly there kept, in which case the pound-keeper will be responsible for the property to the Bailiff and shall receive the same rates for accommodation and maintenance thereof as are paid in respect of impounded cattle of the same description.

(11) Whenever property is attached, and any person other than the judgment-debtor shall claim the same, or any part of it, the officer, shall nevertheless, unless the decree-holder desires to withdraw the attachment of the property so claimed, remain in possession and shall direct the claimant to prefer his claim to the Court.

(12) If the decree-holder shall withdraw an attachment or if it shall cease under sub-r. (2) or (4), the Bailiff's officer shall inform the debtor, or, in his absence an adult member of his family that the property is at his disposal.

(13) If any portion of the deposit made under sub-r. (1) or (4) remains unexpended, it shall be refunded to the decree-holder in the manner prescribed for such refunds in sub-r. (9) of r. 45-A. Any difference between the cost of attachment of movable property (other than the costs referred to in r. 45-A) and the sums deposited by the attaching decree-holder shall, unless the difference is due to the default of the Bailiff, be recovered from the sale proceeds of the attached property, if any, and if there are no sale-proceeds, from the attaching decree-holder on the application of the Bailiff. If there is still a deficiency, the amount shall be paid by Government.

Attachment of debt, share and other property not in possession of judgment-debtor.

46. (1) In the case of—

(a) a debt not secured by a negotiable instrument,

(b) a share in the capital of a corporation,

(c) other movable property not in the possession of the judgment-debtor, except property deposited in, or in the custody of, any Court, the attachment shall be made by a written order prohibiting,— under its terms was in possession of the property. Plaintiff obtained a decree against him, attached his interest in the mortgage under R. 46, and purchased it in Court auction. In a suit by him, as purchaser of the mortgage interest, for possession and mesne profits it was contended by the lessee of the property that though under R. 46 the mortgage debt was validly attached there was so far as the right to possession was concerned no legal attachment. Held, that the security followed the debt and it was difficult to distinguish between one part of the security, i.e., the right of bringing the property to sale and the other part of it, namely, the right to possession. 39 L.W. 792=1934 M. 498=66 M.L.J. 695. Where a garnishee denies the debt and objects to jurisdiction of Court to compel him to deposit the debt, but does not ask to have the matter investigated and there is no investigation or decision on the point raised by him, and Court orders sale of the debt for whatever it is worth, the garnishee can raise the matter in the subsequent suit by the purchaser. 1936 N. 218. O. 21, R. 46 (3).—In case the debtor admits the debt, Court should order debtor to pay the debt to the decree-holder. 97 I.C. 467. A debtor can always get a valid discharge by payment into Court if any dispute exists as to persons entitled to the money. 112 P.L.R. 1913=18 I.C. 205. Payment contemplated in R. 46 (3) is payment into the attaching Court so as to be available for the attaching decree-holder and not payment into the particular Court even when the payment is earmarked for some other purpose. If a debtor pays the amount not in attaching Court but in another Court not under compulsion on behalf of the judgment-debtor, such payment is not sufficient to discharge him from his liability to the attaching creditor. 43 L.W. 713=1936 M. 251=71 M. L.J. 243. If decree-holder was not entitled to recover his debt, the debtor of judgment-debtor must contest his liability and will not be absolved from the liability if he pays the amount. 28 I.C. 317=50 P.L.R. 1915. The debtor can plead that one claimant and not another is entitled to the debt. 15 I.C. 193. In a garnishee proceeding, the attaching creditor stands in the shoes of the judgmentdebtor. No attachment could be made, when there is no existing debt due by the garnishee to the judgment-debtor, and if the judgment-debtor has already parted with his interest in the debt by assignment or created an equitable charge in respect of the same in favour of another person, the attaching creditor acquires no larger rights than his debtor. An agreement between a debtor and a creditor that a fund should be applied in a particular way will not create a valid equitable charge upon the fund. It is further necessary that an obligation should be imposed in favour of the creditor to pay the debt out of the fund. The test really is whether there was an intention to assign or create a charge, which will give the assignee an equitable interest in the fund itself. An assignment by way of charge on future property is a perfectly valid assignment in equity, which will attach to the property, when it comes into existence. 68 C.L.J. 97=42 C.W.N. 971=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 606.

RIGHT OF SUIT.—A judgment-debtor whose debt has been attached can sue for his debt though he cannot recover it until the decree against him is satisfied. 10 I.C. 569; also 49 I.C. 88=5 O.L.J. 766. When a debt due from a third party to judgment-debtor is attached but the liability is denied, a receiver with power to sue may be appointed or the debt may be sold. 35 I.C. 469=10 Bur.L.T. 6; 1927 A. 41=97 I.C. 467. Vide 84 I.C. 1022=1924 C. 1068. A suit by an alleged assignee of a debt when it has been realised by a decree-holder is governed by Art. 62 or 120 of the Limitation Act and time begins to run from the date of receipt of money from Court. 38 M. 972=26 M.L.J. 166. In a suit on bond debts purchased, evidence to identify debt can be let in when it has been wrongly described in execution. 6 L.W. 712=42 I.C. 609. In the suit garnishee can show that no debt was due. 1926 M. 1011=97 I.C. 780.

O. 21, Rr. 46-47.—R. 46 must be read with Rr. 43 and 47. R. 46 applies even if the ownership of the judgment-debtor is fractional instead of being integral. Consequently, where the judgment-debtor owns a share or interest in some property which is in the possession of a stranger, R. 46 as well as R. 47 must come into operation so as to necessitate prohibitory orders being issued not only to the judgment-debtor but also to the stranger who is in possession of the property the judgment-debtor's share in which is intended to be attached. 46-A. The Court may in case of a debt, other than a debt, secured by a mortgage or a charge or by a negotiable instrument, which has been attached under r. 46 or 51 of this Order, upon the application of the attaching creditor, issue notice to the garnishee liable to pay such debt calling upon him either to pay into Court the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree and costs of execution, or to appear and show cause why he should not do so :

Provided that, if the debt in respect of which the application aforesaid is made is in respect of a sum of money beyond the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court, the Court shall send the execution case to the Court of the District Judge to which the said Court is subordinate, and thereupon the Court of the District Judge or any other competent Court to which it may be transferred by the District Judge will deal with it in the same manner as if the case has been originally instituted in that Court.

Such application shall be made on affidavit verifying the facts alleged and stating that in the belief of the deponent the garnishee is indebted to the judgment-debtor.

46-B. Where the garnishee does not forthwith pay into Court the amount due from him to the judgment-debtor or so much thereof as is sufficient to satisfy the decree and the costs of execution or does not appear and show cause in answer to the notice, the Court may order the garnishee to comply with the terms of such notice, and on such order execution may issue as though such order were a decree against him.

46-C. Where the garnishee disputes liability, the Court may order that any issue or question necessary for the determination of liability shall be tried as if it were an issue in a suit, and upon the determination of such issue shall make such order or orders upon the parties as may seem just.

46-D. Where it is suggested or appears to be probable that the debt belongs to some third person, or that any third person has a lien or charge on, or other interest in, such debt, the Court may order such third person to appear and state the nature and particulars of his claim (if any) to such debt and prove the same.

46-E. After hearing such third person and any other person or persons who may subsequently be ordered to appear, or where such third or other person or persons do not appear when so ordered, the Court may make such order as is hereinbefore provided, or such other order or orders upon such terms, if any, with respect to the lien, charge or interest, if any, of such third or other persons as may seem fit and proper.

46-F. Payment made by the garnishee on a notice under r. 46-A or under any such order as aforesaid shall be valid discharge to him as against the judgment-debtor and any other person ordered to appear as aforesaid for the amount paid or levied although such judgment may be set aside or reversed.

46-G. The costs of any application made under r. 46-A and of any proceeding arising therefrom or incidental thereto, shall be in the discretion of the Court.

46-H. An order made under rr. 46-B or 46-E, shall be appealable as a decree.

47. Where the property to be attached consists of the share or interest of the judgment-debtor in movable property belonging to him and another as co-owners, the attachment shall be made by a notice to the judgment-debtor prohibiting him from transferring the share or interest or charging it in any way.

NOTES.

O. 21, Rr. 46-A and 49.—Garnishee proceedings cannot be taken under O. 21, R. 46-A, C. P. Code, in respect of a debt which cannot be attached under R. 46. A debt due to a firm from a customer is the property of the firm within the meaning of R. 49 and it cannot be attached in execution of a decree obtained not against the firm or the partners as such but against one or some of them in his or their individual capacities. A garnishee order in respect of that debt made in execution of such a decree is, therefore, illegal. 45 C.W.N. 333=LL.R. (1941) 1 Cal. 389=1941 Cal. 364.

O. 21, R. 46 and S. 64.—After attachment and before its purchase in Court-auction by the decree-holder of certain mortgagee rights, the mortgagor applied for liquidation of his debts under C. P. Debt Conciliation Act. As the mortgagee did not appear, though noticed, the debt was discharged. In a suit on the mortgage by the auction-purchaser of the mortgagee rights ignoring the discharge of the debt as not binding inasmuch as it was made during the subsistence of the attachment—it was held that O. 21, R. 46 did not vest the attaching creditor with any right, title or interest in the debt except the negative right to see that it was not paid (except into Court) without an order of the Court and that the attachment could not prevent a conciliation of the debt between the creditor and the debtor before the Board. It was further held that both S. 64 and O. 21, R. 64 were limited so far as the debt was concerned, to its payment and not to its settlement, and that the statutory extinction of the debt in the interval could not be prevented. 1941 N.L.J. 593.

Lah. 65. Mode of recovery of fine levied on a Hindu coparcener is that prescribed by this rule, by issuing a prohibitory order or appointment of receiver, and there cannot be attachment of moveables by way of seizure. 55 M. 1041=63 M.L.J. 142=1932 M. 538. See also 1938 Lah. 65 (interest of partner in partnership assets is to be treated as movable property). Where on objection under O. 21, R. 58 Courts finds that claimant has half-share in moveable property attached, it would be the better course to release the entire property and to proceed by way of attachment under this rule. 59 C. 808=1932 C. 408=137 I.C. 672. Quære.—Whether R. 47 applies to the members of a Hindu coparcenary, one of whom happens to be a judgment-debtor? 43 L.W. 760=1936 M. 560=70 M.L.J. 717. O. 21 deals separately with different kinds of property and lays down different modes of attachment in respect of each. In view of the special provisions, decrees cannot be dealt with as 'movable property' and are not so treated for the purpose of the special provisions which relate to attachment. Again, R. 47 which contemplates two or more 'co-owners' in the property sought to be attached, can have no application where according to the special rules obtaining in the C. P. Tenancy Act the lambardar alone is the decree-holder. 1940 N. L.J. 56=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 270.

Prohibitory order on an Auditor of a Railway Company not to pay out security deposited will bind the company subject to its lien if any. 7 Bur.L.T. 238=24 I.C. 725. No order under sub-r. (3) can be made against Government without bringing the Government on record as a party. 93 P.R. 1912=14 I.C. 737. As soon as the notice of the order issued by the Court under O. 21, R. 48 is served on the disbursing officer and accepted by him, the attachment becomes complete and effective. of pay is one under S. 47 and hence appeal lies thereon, and no revision. 144 I.C. 897=35 Bom.L.R. 360=1933 B. 185. A Court acting under O. 21, R. 48 must follow the Code. Sub-R. (2) of R. 48 speaks of the attachable portion of the salary. It would be better for the Court, in the interests of all concerned, to obtain on the application of a decree-holder, the relevant materials from the disbursing officer in order to work out the figures itself and then issue an attachment for a definite, specified amount so that the parties and the disbursing officer may be under no misapprehension, especially when there is more than one execution case pending against the same judgment-debtor. 1941 Pat. 157=21 Pat.L.T. 776. Order attaching pay of Government servant in spite of objection raised by Secretary of State that the pay was not attachable, is not subject to revision, whether it is treated as an order under O. 21, R. 58 or as under S. 47. 1936 L. 761.

O. 21, R. 48 and S. 60.—A public officer whose salary is exempt from attachment under S. 60 (i) cannot contract himself out of this statutory provision. This exemption cannot be waived, because there is a question of public interest and policy involved. The privilege being one conferred for reasons of public policy, it cannot be waived. If the public officer whose salary is attached in contravention of S. 60 (i), submits to the attachment or agrees to a deduction of a part of the salary which is below the minimum prescribed by S. 60 (i), the disbursing officer can object to the attachment and apply to the Court to vacate the order of attachment, and the Court can give effect to the objection. Every Court trying civil causes has inherent jurisdiction to take cognizance of questions which cut at the root of the subject-matter of controversy between the parties. Where an order is made against Government or a public body, and when the law imposes liability in case the order is not obeyed, it would be unreasonable and unjust to hold that it is not open to Government or to the public body, as the case may be, to move the Court and contend that the order is not justified by the law, and there must be inherent power in the Court to consider such an application. 43 Bom.L.R. 758.

O. 21, R. 48 and Ss. 73 and 151.—Where on the application of one of the decree-holders a prohibitory order under O. 21, R. 48 attaching a portion of the salary of the judgment-debtor has been issued, that decree-holder is lawfully entitled to receive the whole amount deducted from the judgment-debtor's salary under the prohibitory order, save and in so far as a proper order under S. 73, C. An assignee of a share in partnership who has also obtained a decree against a partner cannot (except to the limited extent provided in R. 49) force the other partners to account by securing the appointment of a receiver especially when the partnership is still subsisting and the partnership has not been dissolved. 10 P. 792=133 I.C. 40=12 Pat.L.T. 361. As to partnership property, it is only the interest of the partner who is the judgment-debtor which vests in the receiver, and not the entire partnership. 1932 A.L.J. 516=1932 A. 468=141 I.C. 128. Unless the questions whether the judgment-debtor was a partner of the partnership and whether any money was due to him from it, are decided, no receiver could be appointed. Further any order passed would be unsupportable, if notice of the application had not been served as required by R. 49 (4). 1940 A.L.J. 120=A.I.R. 1940 All. 250. O. 21, R. 49 (2) charges the interest of the partner in the partnership property and profits. The partner's interest is his right to participate in the net assets of the firm, that is, in the value or proceeds of the assets less the liabilities to third parties and not less any liability to himself; for any liability to himself only increase his interest in the property at the expense of other partners. An advance is but an item in the partnership account. The Court charges and orders the sale of whatever the partner is entitled to from the partnership business as between that partner and the other partners, as if on dissolution of the firm 189 I.C. 446=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 153. Where the interest of a partner extends only to the profits and has nothing to do with the assets and such partner overdraws his share of the profits, then the remaining partners are entitled to reimburse themselves from the overdrawn partner's share of the profits before handing over any part of such share to the overdrawn partner. A judgment-creditor of such a partner can have no higher rights than his judgment-debtor and hence the remaining partners will get priority over the overdrawn partner's judgment-creditor or assignee. A receiver appointed under O. 21, R. 49 (2) in respect of such a partner's share in the profits though in no better position, has a right to accounts and can insist that nothing be paid over to the judgment-debtor partner for his private and personal purposes as distinct from payments made for business purposes. 1941 Nag. 63=1940 N.L.J. 596.

O. 21, R. 50 (1).—This rule applies to a joint Hindu family firm. 184 I.C. 701=1940 Pat. 149=21 Pat.L.T. 618. No order under this rule could be passed making the shareholders liable when the decree is against a limited liability company. Such an order must be deemed to be a nullity and must be ignored by the executing Court. 164 I.C. 513 (Lah.). R. 50 does not require the holder of a decree against a firm to first exhaust his remedy provided in cl. (a) of the rule and then proceed under cl. (b), and failing satisfaction under those two clauses, proceed under cl. (c). Under the rule he has three courses open to him, any of which he may pursue regardless of the order in which they are set out. 141 I.C. 453=34 P.L.R. 190=1933 L. 472. Provided that nothing in this sub-rule shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect the provisions of section 247 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

(2) Where the decree-holder claims to be entitled to cause the decree to be executed against any person other than such a person as is referred to in sub-rule (1), clauses (b) and (c) as being a partner in the firm, he may apply to the Court which passed the decree for leave, and where the liability is not disputed, such Court may grant such leave, or, where such liability is disputed, may order that the liability of such person be tried and determined in any manner in which any issue in a suit may be tried and determined.

A. I.R. 1941 Sind 8. O. 21, R. 50 (2), is sufficiently wide to permit a person desiring to dispute his liability as a partner to do so not only on the ground that he is not a partner, but on other grounds as well. He can dispute his liability by establishing that a contract of sale was beyond the scope of the partnership. He can also contend that the individual partners had no authority on behalf of the partnership to refer disputes between the firm and persons with whom the firm had dealings, to arbitration. I.L.R. The Court which passed the decree is competent and has jurisdiction to grant leave to the decree-holder under O. 21, R. 50 (2), even after the decree has been transferred for execution to another Court. The term "partner" in R. 50 (2), includes his legal representative; and the question of the liability of the legal representative of a deceased partner of a firm can therefore be raised and decided in execution proceedings. 30 S.L.R. 6=1936 S. 211. Contra 41 C.W.N. 566. The sub-rule covers also the case of a deceased partner. 24 Bom.L.R. 1037=1923 B. 66. A decree against a firm after death of a partner can be executed against his legal representative. 100 I.C. 204=1927 S. 130 (F.B.); 1927 S. 247. See also 29 Bom.L.R. 1296. R. 50 (2) would apply only when the decree is sought to be executed against any person as being a partner in the firm. O. 30, R. 4 only gives legal representatives a right to apply to be made party to suits in the name of the firms. But it does not enable a decree-holder to claim the right claimed in the present case. 119 I.C. 603=57 M.L.J. 344 (F.B.). See also 1935 S. 12. If the decree is against a firm and personally against some specified partners, unnamed partners can be made liable under this rule. 18 S.L.R. 146=1925 S. 317. For the purpose of sub-R. The provisions of this rule apply to proceedings to enforce an award against a firm. 35 Bom.L.R. 941=1933 B. 433. The question whether all or any of the persons served with notices of an award or of its filing in Court are partners in a firm can only be litigated when an application under R. 50 is made against persons alleged to be partners and permission is sought to enforce the award against them. Such a question cannot be gone into in proceedings for filing the award and the hearing of objections directed against it. 29 S.L.R. 292=1936 S. 121. Difference between an order under O. 21, R. 50 (2) and an order under S. 47 is that an order under S. 47 may be passed by the Court executing the decree whereas an order under O. 21, R. 50 (2) may be passed only by the Court which passed the decree. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 589=1939 Sind 161 (F.B.).

O. 21, R. 50 (3).—The exact meaning of the words "conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree" is "the conditions whether as to appeal or in other respects as if it were decree". They consequently include conditions imposed by orders or rules outside of the Civil Procedure Code. Held, that an appeal from an order made under R. 50 (2) is an appeal from an original decree and is as such liable to ad valorem Court-fee. 37 C.W.N. 227=60 C. 530=146

LOC. AM.—[PATNA.] Order XXI, r. 50. In sub-rule (2) of r. 50 add the words "or to the court to which it is sent for execution" after the words "passed the decree" and before the words "for leave."

51. Where the property is a negotiable instrument not deposited in a Court, nor in the custody of a public officer, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the instrument shall be brought into Court and held subject to further orders of the Court.

52. Where the property to be attached is in the custody of any Court or public officer, the attachment shall be made by a notice to such Court or officer, requesting that such property, and any interest or dividend becoming payable thereon, may be held subject to the further orders of the Court from which the notice is issued :

Provided that, where such property is in the custody of a Court, any question of title or priority arising between the decree-holder and any other person, not being the judgment-debtor, claiming to be interested in such property by virtue of any assignment, attachment or otherwise, shall be determined by such Court.

PRIORITY.—When certain property belonging to judgment-debtor was in the hands of the Tahsildar, two creditors obtained decrees against him, one of them in a Munsiff's Court and the other in a sub-Court, within the same district. The former obtained an order for attachment earlier in date than the latter but before the money could be received from the Tahsildar, the latter also applied for attachment. Held, that (i) the words “in the custody of the Court” in R. 52 imply actual custody; (ii) the property could not be deemed to be “assets held by a Court” on the date when the attachment order was issued by the Munsif to the Tahsildar or even when it was received by the Tahsildar; (iii) therefore the decree-holder in the Munsif's Court was not entitled to priority merely on the ground of his being the first attaching decree-holder. 1933 M. 342 (2)=65 M.L.J. 347. A custody Court has no authority to make any rateable distribution unless it be the attaching Court as well. Under R. 52 it can only determine the question of priority and thereafter act under the instructions of the attaching Court. 146 I.C. 791 (1)=37 C.W.N. 820=1933 C. 814. Priority of payment is in favour of those applying for execution by attachment of a fund, see 44 M. 100=39 M.L.J. 608 (F.B.); 42 M. 692=50 I.C. 925; also 29 I.C. 239=38 M. 221. A decree-holder attaching is entitled to complete payment, even though a prior attachment before judgment subsists in favour of a suitor. 37 A. 578=29 I.C. 622. Attachment of a decree debt when a prior order appointing a receiver has been made is invalid. 102 I.C. 413=29 Bom.L.R. 409. Notice attaching money in the hands of the receiver in a pending administration suit—Priority conferred by—Question arises only if estate proves insolvent. 32 Bom.L.R. 1315.

APPLICATION OF THE RULE.—An execution application and notice to judgment-debtor are necessary to effect an attachment. 1926 M. 1104=51 M.L.J. 436. When the money of a judgment-debtor who has not yet been declared insolvent is in Court, it should be made available to an attaching decree-holder. 33 I.C. 723=14 A.L.J. 236. A letter containing currency notes sent by a third person to a judgment-debtor can be attached under this rule while it is still in the Post Office. 13 M. 242; 21 C. 85. Creditors of a partnership can attach partnership assets even before account is settled among the partners. 29 Bom.L.R. 689=1927 B. 405. Rule not intended to apply to a case where Court appoints a receiver of rents of immovable property. 60 C. 345=1933 C. 417=144 I.C. 142. See also 1936 R. 83.

RIGHT OF SUIT.—A regular suit will lie for setting aside an order contemplated by the proviso. The mode of investigation and the nature of the order to be made is provided for in Rr. 58 to 63. 19 C. 286; 7 C. 553; 19 B. 710. Any decision in a proceeding under O. 21, R. 52, proviso, between the decree-holder and third person would not be a decision under S. 47, and therefore a regular suit would not be barred. 69 C.L.J. 108=1939 Cal. 413.

APPEAL.—Where the order of payment is made by a Sub-Court, an appeal lies to the District Court from that order. If presented in a wrong Court, it ought not to be dismissed but returned for presentation to the proper Court. 38 I.C. 772=5 L.W. 264.

O. 21, R. 53: SCOPE.—See 58 C. 934=133 I.C. 181. Under R. 53 it is open to execute the decree. An attachment obtained by the judgment-debtor does not prevent the holder of decree from proceeding with execution after allowing the decree of the judgment-debtor to be set-off. 58

(a) if the decrees were passed by the same Court, then by order of such Court, and

(b) if the decree sought to be attached was passed by another Court, then by the issue to such other Court of a notice by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, requesting such other Court to stay the execution of its decree unless and until—

(i) the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed cancels the notice, or

(ii) the holder of the decree sought to be executed or his judgment-debtor applies to the Court receiving such notice to execute its own decree.

C.L.J. 150=38 C.W.N. 67. Where a decree in favour of a judgment-debtor is attached in execution of a decree against him it is open to the judgment-debtor as judgment-creditor of his decree to execute that decree even during the pendency of the attachment, subject to the condition that the amount realized by him by the execution of that decree would not be paid to him but would have to be deposited in Court for the benefit of his judgment-creditor. 159 I.C. 170=37 Bom.L.R. 747=1935 B. 416. Money decree cannot be sold, and procedure laid in this rule should be followed. 13 P. L.T. 612=1932 P. 349. The rule does not render the decree attached under it permanently incapable of execution. It merely operates as a stay of execution. 13 M.L.J. 265. The rule applies only to cases where the right attached is a right expressly settled by the decree, and not a right arising from the decree by way of restitution. 24 M. 341. A proceeding in execution and subsequent sale are not invalid, merely because Court treated the decree as not being covered by this rule when really this rule applies. 85 I.C. 660=1925 A. 264. creed. 17 I.C. 323. A decree for unascertained mesne profits is a decree for money. 2 M.L.J. 288. A preliminary decree for accounts in a suit for dissolution of partnership is not a decree for the payment of money within the meaning of R. 53, and is therefore not attachable and saleable in execution. 40 C.W.N. 1393. A certificate under O. 21, R. 71 is attachable as a decree for payment of money. 95 I.C. 1033=24 A.L.J. 385=1926 A. 379. See also 68 M. L.J. 461. O. 21, R. 53 (1) (b).—The provisions of O. 21, R. 53 (1) (b) are mandatory. The only manner in which a decree is to be attached is by issuing a notice by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed to the Court, which passed the decree sought to be attached and further if the latter decree had been transferred for execution to another Court, by a further notice to that Court. If such notices are not issued, there is no legal attachment, and the holder of the decree sought to be executed does not become the representative of the holder of the decree sought to be attached and he cannot therefore, execute the same. 43 C.W.N. 374. The dismissal for default of an application to execute an attached decree does not put an end to the attachment of the decree itself, the attachment having been made by order of Court which passed the decree in favour of the attaching decree-holder. Nor does the attachment cease under R. 53 (1) (b) (ii), when attaching decree-holder applies to execute the attached decree. The attached decree does not cease to be such when the attaching decree-holder makes an application to execute it. R. 53 (1) (b) (ii) relates not to the date of cessation of attachment, but only the manner in which the attachment is to be effected. 15 L. 910=1935 L. 194 (2). See also 1939 Cal. 465; 31 P.L.R. 583=1937 Lah. 368. ## NOTES.

L. 910=1935 L. 194. A decree for arrears of rent against a tenant whose tenure is governed by the C. P. Tenancy Act is a simple money decree and in itself does not differ from any other decree of that character. There is nothing special or peculiar to it qua decree. It can therefore, so far as Civil Procedure Code is concerned be executed in the same way as any other decree. Hence it is also attachable as any other decree under O. 21, R. 53; 1940 N.L.J. 56=1940 Nag. 270.

O. 21, R. 53 (2).—Cross-decrees between husband and wife for restitution of conjugal rights and for money—Execution of. See 68 M.L.J. 461.

O. 21, R. 53 (3).—RIGHTS OF ATTACHING DECREE-HOLDER.—Under R. 53 (3) a person who attaches a decree before judgment must be deemed to be the representative of the holder of the attached decree and is, therefore, a person entitled to make an objection in the execution proceedings of that decree. 1935 A. 125. See also 43 C.W.N. 1076. A preliminary decree for sale of property covered by a security bond cannot be regarded as one for the payment of money, or for enforcement of a mortgage or charge nor is it capable of execution. An attaching creditor of such a decree has no locus standi as regards the execution of the final decree that is subsequently passed in favour of a transferee from the decree-holder. 1937 O.W.N. 519=A.I.R. 1937 Oudh 365. An attaching decree-holder in R. 53 of O. 21, C.P. Code, or the certificate-holder in S. 19 of the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, is by a legal fiction the representative or agent of the holder of the attached decree for the limited purpose of executing the decree (i.e.) enforcing it by process of the Court and of satisfying his own decree out of the proceeds of such execution. He is not an assignee of the decree, so as to acquire all the rights of the original decree-holder in the decree. Nor can he adjust the attached decree. 1940 A.L.J. 617=A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 167=67 I.A. 360=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 952 (P.C.). O. 21, R. 53 (1) (b) does not purport to prohibit the Court to which it is addressed from executing the decree unless the conditions contained in the request are fulfilled. The object of the request is to ensure that the holder of the decree does not himself proceed to execution without the leave of the Court making the attachment. It is not intended to prevent other attaching creditors from asking for execution of the decree. 67 I.A. 350=

A.I.R. 1940 P.C. 173=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 677 (P.C.). The attaching decree-holder has the same remedies against sureties of the judgment-debtor as the decree-holder himself has. 44 P.R. 1919=46 I.C. 584. Where a person attaches the interest which the judgment-debtor has in a certain decree he becomes the representative of the latter on the day when the attachment was ordered and not on the day when he applied for the same. In such a case the person applying for attachment cannot exercise any right such as filing a suit for a declaration that a certain property was liable to attachment at the instance of the judgment-debtor unless the suit by the latter had not itself become time barred. 6 O.W.N. 710=1929 O. 413. Revival of attachment—Attachment of ex parte decree passed in favour of judgment-debtor—Ex parte decree set aside but decree again passed on merits. 1933 R. 346. The mere use of the word representative in O. 21, R. 53 (3), C. P. Code, cannot be taken as justifying the conclusion that the attaching decree-holder is the representative of the holder of the attached decree for all purposes. The holder of the attaching decree can be treated as the representative of the holder of the attached decree only for the purpose contemplated in O. 21, R. 53 (3), namely for the purpose of execution, but he cannot exercise the power conferred under O. 21, R. 2 upon the decree-holder himself of certifying an adjustment made out of Court as a satisfaction of the decree. 51 L.W. 148=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 534=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 292. There is no reason for thinking that a judgment-creditor who has succeeded in attaching a decree is unable to apply to the Court for execution of the decree without obtaining the concurrence or consent of other attaching creditors. On the contrary R. 53 (3) of O. 21, provides in terms that an attaching creditor shall be deemed to be the representative of the holder of the attached decree and to be entitled to execute the attached decree in any manner lawful for the holder thereof. The fact that there may be other attaching creditors in the same position is immaterial. Any money recovered by the execution creditor will be held by the Court and be subject to the provisions of S. 73 of the Code. Any payments made out of Court to the attaching creditor as representative of the holder of the attached decree would be avoided as against the other attaching creditors by S. 64 of the Code. The other attaching creditors are therefore adequately protected, and their concurrence in or consent to the execution representative of the holder of the attached decree and to be entitled to execute such attached decree in any manner lawful for the holder thereof.

(4) Where the property to be attached in the execution of a decree is a decree other than a decree of the nature referred to in sub-rule (1), the attachment shall be made, by a notice by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, to the holder of the decree sought to be attached, prohibiting him from transferring or charging the same in any way; and, where such decree has been passed by any other Court, also by sending to such other Court a notice to abstain from executing the decree sought to be attached until such notice is cancelled by the Court from which it was sent.

SALE OF ATTACHED DECREES.—Per Nazim Ali, J.—Where a plaintiff in a suit attaches before judgment a decree that the defendant had obtained in his favour against another, the attachment, after a decree is passed in the suit, operates as an assignment of the attached decree in favour of the plaintiff-decree-holder for the pro tanto satisfaction of his decree. Money realised in execution of the attached decree must be taken as lying in Court to his credit for pro tanto satisfaction of his decree, at any rate, after he applies for payment of the money to him. 43 C.W.N. 1076. Per Mitter, J.—When the plaintiff obtains a decree against the defendant and attaches the decree which the defendant had obtained against another, he becomes entitled to all the rights which are given to the attaching decree-holder under O. 21, R. 53. Any payment by the judgment-debtor of the attached decree would go to satisfy not only that decree but also the decree of the attaching decree-holder. 43 C.W.N. 1076. SAVING OF LIMITATION.—Since an attached decree can be executed, an application for execution even though dismissed will save limitation. 11 M.L.T. 144=13 I.C. 659.

O. 21, R. 53 (4).—The words “the Court which passed the decree” in O. 21, R. 53 (4), C.P. Code, include the Court to which the decree has been sent for execution, and such Court, and not only the Court which actually passed the decree, has jurisdiction to attach a decree passed in favour of a judgment-debtor, in the manner laid down by O. 21, R. 53 (4). Having regard to the terms of S. 42, C. P. Code, the Court to which the decree has been sent for execution is empowered to execute it in any of the ways prescribed by S. 51, C.P. Code, that is applicable to the particular kind of decree, and in the case of a partition decree, the executing Court is empowered, by reason of S. 42, to effect attachment in the manner prescribed by O. 21, R. 53 (4). 1940 Pat. 557. Rowland, J.—The steps contemplated by O. 21, R. 53 (4), C. P. Code, are things to be done in executing the decree, and, therefore, in this matter the powers of the Court to which a decree has been sent are co-extensive with the powers of the Court which passed the decree even without the addition in the rule of words specifically permitting the Court to which the decree has been sent to do a particular thing. 19

(5) The holder of a decree attached under this rule shall give the Court executing the decree such information and aid as may reasonably be required.

(6) On the application of the holder of a decree sought to be executed by the attachment of another decree, the Court making an order of attachment under this rule shall give notice of such order to the judgment-debtor bound by the decree attached; and no payment or adjustment of the attached decree made by the judgment-debtor in contravention of such order after receipt of notice thereof, either through the Court or otherwise, shall be recognized by any Court so long as the attachment remains in force.

O. 21, R. 53, Cls. (4) and (6).—A purchaser of an attached decree has no right to execute that decree for himself, although no notice of attachment was served upon his vendor previous to the sale by him of his decree. Sub-Cl. (6) of R. 53 of O. 21, affords no help to the purchaser at all. Its purpose is to protect payments made by the judgment-debtor of the attached decree to his creditor before he receives notice of the attachment. Nor is sub-Cl. (4) of any avail to the purchaser. The mere fact that the decree was sold after the attachment would not prevent the attaching creditor from executing the decree himself. 66 C. L.J. 459=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 401. When a decree-holder seeks to execute his decree by attachment of another decree, in order that the attachment may be effective notices to the decree-holder and judgment-debtor of the attached decree are imperative and the mere order communicating the fact of attachment to the Court passing the decree is not enough. 1939 N.L.J. 73=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 17.

O. 21, R. 53 (6) applies to attachment before judgment as well. 14 I.C. 285=22 M.L.J. 394. See also 1939 Pat. 81. The transfer of a decree by the holder thereof, after it has been attached in execution of another decree passed against him and in a fraudulent and dishonest way, is invalid and confers no rights on the transferee. 18 R.D. 606=15 L.R. 703 (Rev.). If no notice under O. 21, R. 53 (6) is issued on the judgment-debtor and bound by the attached decree, an adjustment between him and his decree-holder would be valid.

43 C.W.N. 374. See also 18 Pat. 688. Attachment is complete without notice to judgment-debtor. Any adjustment after attachment is invalid. 48 I.C. 109=9 L.W. 32. See also 50 M. 677=1927 M. 728=53 M.L.J. 150 (F.B.); 9 R. 140=1931 R. 185; 1933 A. 82=1932 A. L.J. 792. A compromise between parties can be regarded as an adjustment of a decree although it is presented to the Court of appeal instead of being presented to the original Court in the course of execution proceedings. 43 P.L.R. 471=A.I.R. 1941 L. 402. Payment to the judgment-debtor while the attachment of the decree subsists is invalid. 24 I.C. 795 (A.). On payment of attached decree amount into Court interest on both the decree cease. 64 I.C. 780=35 C.L.J. 901. A Court, merely because a decree has been attached, will not recognize a payment or adjustment of that decree which has not been duly certified or recorded under O. 21, R. 2. 145 I.C. 525=1933 R. 239.

ATTACHMENT—CLAIM BY THIRD PARTY—REVISION.—A decree-holder has a right to ask that the property of the judgment-debtors should be attached in execution of his decree. If the property did not belong to them, then it is open to the person claiming to be owner of the property to come forward and file objections. The only method by which a third person can object to an attachment is to file objections after the attachment had been made. He can come to Court and file objections under R. 58. There is nothing in the Code which allows a third party to come forward with objections before an attachment has been made. Where, therefore, the lower Court permits the objections of a third party to be filed before attachment and allows them, the procedure adopted by it as altogether wrong and ultra vires and the case is one in which the High Court will interfere in revision. 1935 A.L.J. 344=1935 A. 343.

(ii) Substitute the following for sub-rule (1) (b) (ii) :—

"(ii) the holder of the decree sought to be executed or his judgment-debtor if he has obtained the consent in writing of the decree-holder or the permission of the attaching Court, applies to the Court receiving such notice to execute the attached decree."

O. 21, Rr. 53 and 54.—When a decree is for possession by partition of property, it is not even a preliminary decree for partition and hence if such a decree is to be attached, one has to proceed under R. 53 and attachment under R. 54 is invalid as it deals with attachment of immovable property. 166 I.C. 867=1937 Pesh. 13.

(2) The order shall be proclaimed at some place on or adjacent to such property by beat of drum or other customary mode, and a copy of the order shall be affixed on a conspicuous part of the property and then upon a conspicuous part of the Court-house, and also, where the property is land paying revenue to the Government, in the office of the Collector of the district in which the land is situate.

O. 21, R. 54: SCOPE.—Rent in a shrotriam village is 'revenue' under this rule. 46 M. 736=45 M.L.J. 263. Land includes sites as well as buildings thereon. 1925 L. 583. Under the Code, property may be attached without view to immediate sale. 14 M.I.A. 529. A debt secured by a mortgage, by a lien upon immovable property cannot be regarded as immovable property within the meaning of this rule. 12 C. 546 (550). See also 9 M. 5; 1933 R. 61=144 I.C. 175. But it is otherwise if it is a purely usufructuary mortgage. 1931 P. 63. This rule has no application to the attachment of a decree for redemption. 10 B. 444; 20 C. 895. The attachment of the equity of redemption of the mortgagor can be effected under this rule. 21 B. 226; also 62 I.C. 167=33 C.L.J. 7. A judgment-debtor, whose property is under attachment, cannot transfer it privately to another. 16 L. 328=157 I.C. 806=1935 L. 71. See also 42 P.L.R. 356 (Effect of a portion of attached property vesting in judgment-debtor only after attachment).

REQUIREMENTS OF A VALID ATTACHMENT.—As to how an attachment is to be effected, see 1925 L. 583. Attachment is complete only when the procedure prescribed by this rule is followed. 39 I.C. 562; also 42 M. 844=37 M.L.J. 375 (F.B.); 51 M. 349 (P.C.); 151 I.C. 337=1934 R. 207. See also 34 I.C. 34. But see 42 M. 1=35 M. L.J. 387; 39 P.L.R. 887=1937 Lah. 671. In order to effect an attachment of immovable property, it is necessary (1) to pass an order prohibiting the judgment-debtor from transferring or charging the property in any way, and (2) to have that order proclaimed by beat of tom-tom near the property and to have copies of the order affixed on a conspicuous part of the property, of the Court house, and also in the office of the Collector of the district. The prohibitory order must be passed by the Court, and it is not enough for the Court to say "attach" and for the Amin to say "I have attached," to constitute a valid attachment. 50 L.W. 656=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 793=(1939) 2 M. Under O. 21, R. 54, personal service of the prohibitory order on the judgment-debtor is not necessary. 1939 Rang. L.R. 594=A.I.R. 1939 Rang. 434 (S.B.). There is no warrant for the proposition that an attachment is not complete until notice of the prohibitory order is served upon the owner of the property. There is no direction in O. 21, R. 54 that a copy of such order shall be served upon the defendant. All that is enjoined is that the order shall be proclaimed and affixed. O. 21, R. 54 (3) (Allahabad).—Sub-R. (3) added by Allahabad High Court to O. 21, R. 54, speaks of the ‘date’ but makes no provision as to the ‘time’ from which the order shall take effect as against the person mentioned therein. The word “date” in the rule, must be interpreted to mean ‘time’. Therefore where the execution of the sale deed and the attachment of the same property take place on the same date, there is no statutory provision for priority as between the two. As such, rules of justice, equity and good conscience must be followed. 1939 A.L.J. 7=1938 A.W. R. (H.C.) 876=A.I.R. 1939 All. 154.

“(3) The order of attachment shall be deemed to have been made as against transferees without consideration from the judgment-debtor from the date of the order of attachment, and as against all other persons from the date on which they respectively had knowledge of the order of attachment, or the date on which the order was duly proclaimed under sub-r. [NAGPUR.] Rule 54.—The following amendment is made to sub-r. (2) of r. 54 under S. 122, C. P. Code :—

Delete the full-stop at the end and add the following words :—

“and also where the property is situate within cantonment limits, in the office of the local Cantonment Board and the Military Estates Officer concerned.”

After sub-r. (2) of r. 54, insert the following sub-rule :—

“(3) The order shall take effect as against purchasers for value in good faith from the date when a copy of the order is affixed on the property and against all other transferees from the judgment-debtor from the date on which such order is made.”

(Notification No. 5834, dated 20-9-40, C. P. and Berar Gazette, dated 27-9-40, Pt. III, p. 1533.)

[PATNA.] Insert a comma in place of the full-stop at the end of sub-r. (2) of r. 54 and add the following :—

“and also where the property is situate within cantonment limits, in the office of the local Cantonment Board and the Military Estates Officer concerned.”

(High Court Notification No. 21-B, dated 28—1—1941.)

[RANGOON.] Add as sub-r. (3) to O. 21, r. 54 :—

“(3) The order of attachment shall take effect, as against transferees without consideration from the judgment-debtor from the date of the order of attachment, and as against all other persons from the date on which they respectively had knowledge of the order of attachment, or the date on which the order was duly proclaimed under sub-r. (2), whichever is the earlier.”

Removal of attachment after satisfaction of decree.

an amount higher than his pre-existing debt. Such a mortgage cannot be held to be one not made in good faith—When such a mortgage is effected and completed before the attachment of the property is actually effected by affixing the order on the property in question, the mortgage is not void under S. 64. 19 N.L.J. 94.

O. 21, R. 54 and O. 38, R. 5: CONDITIONAL ORDER OF ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT.—Where there was a conditional order of attachment before judgment and no order absolute was later on made and where though no process was issued under O. 21, R. 54, all other requirements were observed. Held, that the attachment was validly made and that the mere omission to record an order absolute does not make the attachment ineffectual. 66 C.L.J. 222=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 236.

(b) satisfaction of the decree is otherwise made through the Court or certified to the Court, or

(c) the decree is set aside or reversed, the attachment shall be deemed to be withdrawn, and, in the case of immovable property, the withdrawal shall, if the judgment-debtor so desires, be proclaimed at his expense, and a copy of the proclamation shall be affixed in the manner prescribed by the last preceding rule.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] O. 21, r. 55.—Substitute the following for r. 55 :—

“55. (1) Notice shall be sent to the sale officer executing a decree of all applications for rateable distribution of assets made under S. 73 (1) in respect of the property of the same judgment-debtor by persons other than the holder of the decree for execution of which the original order was passed.

(2) Where—

(a) the amount decreed [which shall include the amount of any decree passed against the same judgment-debtor, notice of which has been sent to the sale officer under sub-s. (1)] with costs and all charges and expenses resulting from the attachment of any property are paid into Court, or

(b) satisfaction of the decree [including any decree passed against the same judgment-debtor, notice of which has been sent to the sale officer under sub-s. (1)] is otherwise made through the Court or certified to the Court, or

(c) the decree [including any decree passed against the same judgment-debtor, notice of which has been sent to the sale officer under sub-s. (1)] is set aside or reversed, the attachment shall be deemed to be withdrawn, and, in the case of immovable property, the withdrawal shall, if the judgment-debtor so desires, be proclaimed at his expense, and a copy of the proclamation shall be affixed in the manner prescribed by the last preceding rule.”

O. 21, R. 55 (a), should be read in such a way that it does not conflict with S. 73, C. P. Code. Attachment shall be deemed to be withdrawn on payment under O. 21, R. 55 (a), only when the decree has been satisfied, and the decree can be satisfied only if the amount deposited is available to the decree-holder in full satisfaction of the decree. This result cannot ensue in cases falling under S. 73 which are imperative. The law intervenes in such a case and directs that although the full amount is intended to be paid to the particular decree-holder whose attachment is sought to be got rid of, it has to be diverted by reason of S. 73. 18 Pat. 404 = 20 P.L.T.

646 = A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 392. If the reversed decree on first appeal raises the attachment, the confirmation of the decree on second appeal revives the attachment. 48 I.C. 386. Where an attachment is released owing to the reversal of the decree, it should not be deemed to have revived on the passing of the decree once again after remand, and to relate back to the date of the original attachment. O. 21, R. 55 (2) (b) (as amended by Oudh Chief Court).—Rule 55 (2) (b), as amended by the Oudh Chief Court, undoubtedly means that unless along with the decree of the attaching creditor, the decree of an applicant for rateable distribution is also satisfied, the attachment shall not be deemed to be withdrawn. In other words, the meaning is that the original attachment shall enure for the benefit of the decree-holder who has applied for rateable distribution of assets under S. 73 of the Code. This, however, does not and cannot mean that the attachment will enure for the benefit even of those who may apply for execution by rateable distribution of assets in future. The words “notice of which has been sent to the sale officer under sub-rule (1)” clearly show that R. 55 (2) can be availed of only by those decree-holders who have applied for rateable distribution prior to the satisfaction of the decree. 164 I.C. 1031 = 1936 O.W.N. 861.

[OUDH.] Substitute the following for r. 55 :—

“ 55. (1) Where an application has been made to the Court under S. 73, sub-s. (1), for rateable distribution of assets in respect of the property of a judgment-debtor by a person other than the holder of the decree for the execution of which the original order of attachment was passed, notice shall be sent to the sale officer executing the decree.

(2) Where—

“57. Where any property has been attached in execution of a decree, and the Court for any reason passes an order dismissing the execution application, the Court shall direct whether the attachments shall continue or cease. If the Court omits to make any such direction, the attachment shall be deemed to have ceased to exist.”

Applicability—Attachment before judgment—Passing of decree—Dakhasts claiming relief against movables—Dismissal—Effect—Application for rateable distribution of sale proceeds—Whether amounts to application for sale. 53 B. 543=31 Bom.L.R. 652=119 I.C. 769=1929 B. 321. R. 57 of O. 21, deals in terms with a case where on the petition which is ultimately dismissed an attachment has taken place. In such case the execution petition must ex hypothesi have been taken cognizance of and execution ordered and it is only at a later stage that it must be dismissed as contemplated by R. 57. The words of the rule must be applied with caution to cases in which an attachment has taken place before judgment or on a prior execution application. In these classes of cases, if an application for execution is rejected under R. 17 of O. 21, in limine as not complying with the formal requirements of law, it does not amount to a “dismissal” within the meaning of O. 21, R. 57. The legal position is that no execution application in accordance with law must be deemed to have been filed; and therefore an attachment effected before judgment and existing does not come to an end. 1940 M.W.N. 69=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 615. When a suit is dismissed attachment before judgment terminates without any order of the Court and if the judgment is reversed on appeal or annulled on review the judgment does not revive it so as to affect alienations made before the date of such reversal. Even where the plaintiff on the reversal of the decree of the first Court dismissing his suit appeals and on appeal gets a decree in his favour and re-attaches the property in suit, his claim is not one enforceable under the original attachment. 1933 A.L.J. 1501. See also 16 Pat. 589=1937 Pat. 626. But see 48 I.C. 386. “Default” means want of prosecution and not merely default in appearance. Thus where a decree-holder admitted mistake in property sold, and agreed to apply again, there is default. 41 A. 157=49 I.C. 113. See also 150 I.C. 1053=36 P.L.R. 241=1934 L. 395; 39 Bom.L.R. 1105; 3 L. 7=1922 L. 108; 1929 N. 82; 35 P.L.R. 604=1934 L. 697. When the judgment-debtor accepts part satisfaction and agrees to give time, this amounts to default. 4 Pat.L.T. 418=71 I.C. 881. See also 40 L. W. 883=67 M.L.J. 801. Omission to apply for issue of notice under R. 66 is default. 38 C. 482=15 C.W.N. 428. The decree-holder's refusal to proceed with his execution application amounts to a “default” as contemplated by O. 21, R. 57. 189 I.C. 810=A.I.R. 1940 Pesh. 29. There is no default by decree-holder when the Court strikes off execution proceedings to suit its own convenience. 48 A. 698=97 I.C. 102=1926 A. 734. See also 107 I.C. 574. Nor a bare omission to carry out a direction of Court, constitutes default. 40 L.W. 263=1935 M. 275. The inability on the part of the decree-holder to get the property attached would not amount to default contemplated by O. 21, R. 57 and the consignment of the execution case to the record room would not amount to a dismissal of the application so as to attract the penal provisions of O. 21, R. 57. A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 123, (Reversed). 1938 Lah. 728; see also 40 P.L.R. 473=1938 Lah. 590. The question whether a particular order is or is not to be taken as tantamount to dismissal has to be decided on facts of each case. A decree-holder who had attached property made a statement to the effect that the proceedings might be consigned to the record room for the time being, the attachment being kept intact and that certain documents on the record might be returned to him and that he would present an application again within two days. The Court accordingly passed an order consigning the proceedings to the record room and directing that the attachment would continue. Held, that the order consigning the case to the record

Judgment-debtors objecting to proceedings in execution must state at the earliest opportunity all their objections to the execution and cannot be allowed to delay proceedings by putting forward their objections piecemeal at whatever time they think most convenient to themselves. 121 I.C. 845=1930 M. 303. Attachment of property in execution of decree—Mortgage of such property after attachment has ceased and before fresh attachment. DISMISSAL OF EXECUTION APPLICATION.—Until the formal order dismissing the application, all executions are pending. 39 M. 570=29 M.L.J. 96. In connection with execution petitions, the legal result of orders, such as "rejected," "struck off," "closed," "recorded" and "dismissed," is a matter to be ascertained with reference to the attendant circumstances and not merely from the form of the order. Under O. 21, R. 57, C. P. Code, the Court, where it is unable to proceed further with an execution application, even when it is by reason of the decree-holder's default, can either adjourn the matter or dismiss the petition. Where the order is "Adjourn—Rejected," the order does not amount to a dismissal, but is clearly one of adjournment only. The petition does not cease to be pending and the attachment does not terminate. 1937 M.W.N. 480. It is clear from the language of R. 57 of O. 21, that before a pending attachment shall cease, there must be a dismissal of the application for execution in which the attachment was effected. As long as that application for execution is pending and no final orders have been passed on it, any order of dismissal passed on an interlocutory application in the pending execution petition would not terminate the attachment. The fact that owing to a mistake or ignorance of legal rights the decree-holder obtains a fresh attachment would not terminate the previous attachment which is already subsisting. The fresh attachment is a superfluity. 1939 M.W.N. 1157=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 916. An order dismissing an execution application for non-payment of process-fees and for non-prosecution falls under O. 21, R. 57, and the attachment therefore terminates in spite of the fact that the Court orders that the attachment will continue. The order continuing the attachment in such a case is illegal and invalid. There is no legal and valid attachment after that dismissal, and if the judgment-debtor alienates the property, the alienation would not be void by reason of the attachment, because the attachment has ceased. The fact that the Court passed the order of dismissal under a misapprehension because the execution application only contained a prayer for attachment and not any prayer for sale does not make the order of dismissal any the less binding on the decree-holder. If it is not set aside by appeal or review, it stands as a final order and binds the decree-holder and would operate as res judicata, in subsequent applications for execution. 43 Bom.L.R. 727=A.I.R. 1941 B. 395. An adjudication of the judgment-debtor as an insolvent does not automatically raise an attachment effected on his properties prior to the adjudication, and it cannot be said that there will be no attachment if and when the adjudication is annulled. Where the executing Court on being informed of the insolvency erroneously passes an order dismissing the execution petition then pending, instead of staying the proceedings as it should under S. 29 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, it cannot be said that the order of dismissal is an order of dismissal for default of the decree-holder within the meaning of O. 21, R. 57, so as to have the effect of automatically terminating the attachment. In such a case, where there has been an attachment at the time of the adjudication, and the insolvency is not prosecuted with the result that the adjudication is annulled, subject to the special contingencies contemplated by S. 37 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, the property goes back to the debtor with any burdens which existed upon it at the time of the adjudication. His interest in the property would still be bound by the attachment on the date of the annulment. 50 L.W. 716=1940 M. 129=(1939) 2 M. L.J. 786. An attachment is not disturbed by an order for stay of execution. 46 C. 64=44 I.C. 249. In execution proceedings, the Court finding that all the representatives of the deceased decree-holder were not included in the application for substitution, passed an order consigning the application to the record room, though the attachment in that execution was to remain in force. Held, that the order was erroneous to the extent that instead of consigning the proceedings to the record room, it should have got the application for substitution amended. But the order was not tantamount to dismissal of the application for execution, nor did it have the effect of terminating the prior attachment. All that the order meant was that execution proceedings should stand adjourned sine die. (1922 All. 62 and 1926 All. 734, Rel. on.) 1936 Lah. 873. See also 23 O.C. 166=57 I.C. 509. Where an objection is filed by a person to an attachment of property in execution of decree on the ground that he has a lien over it, the Court should investigate into the matter and not hastily allow the objection and dismiss the execution application. 145 I.C. 730=1933 L. 421. An order "proclamation not filed" amounts to dismissal and the attachment ceases. 18 I.C. 441=17 C.W.N. 204. REVIVAL OF ATTACHMENT.—Restoration of an execution application to file revives attachment. 18 N.L.R. 152=64 I.C. 420. On a sale being set aside, a fresh execution application revives the old attachment. 45 I.C. 589=3 Pat.L.J. 310. O. 21 R. 57: Nagpur.—Under R. 57 of O. 21, as it now stands after its amendment in Nagpur in 1930, a Court has power to dismiss an execution application and to continue the attachment. Where a Court passes an order to the effect that "the case is struck off as wholly infructuous at the instance of the decree-holder; house shall remain under attachment for three months," it must be held, that the Court dismisses the application and not merely adjourns it. The execution application in such a case cannot be held to be pending for the purpose of enabling the decree-holder to claim rateable distribution of assets received on a date subsequent to such dismissal. The expression "struck off" is ambiguous and unauthorized and should not be used. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 346.

O. 21, R. 57: Oudh Chief Court.—Where further execution proceedings after attachment are stayed on account of insolvency application filed by judgment-debtor, held, that the attachment did not absolutely cease to subsist during the pendency of the insolvency proceedings, but was merely dormant, and there was no bar to the application of the decree-holder being regarded as being in continuation of the former execution application, the obstacle to the continuance of the previous execution proceedings having been removed by the order annulling the adjudication of the insolvent. 158 I.C. 807=1935 O.W.N. 1107.

O. 21, Rr. 57, 58 and 63.—R. 57 of O. 21, is not exhaustive of all the ways in which an attachment can be raised. It must be held that when an execution petition has been in fact and intention dismissed finally, even though the dismissal might be due to causes which cannot be described as the default of the decree-holder, then the attachment made under that petition must automatically cease to operate. When an attachment ceases to operate there is no longer any occasion for a defeated claimant to file a suit under O. 21, R. 63. Nor can it be contended that when there is a subsequent attachment and a claim against such attachment, the claim must be related back to the prior attachment; the claim under the subsequent attachment is not barred by the claimant's failure to file a suit to set aside the dismissal of the claim under the earlier attachment which has come to an end owing to an order dismissing the execution petition. 1940 M.W.N. 459=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 763.

Investigation of claims and objections.

58. (1) Where any claim is preferred to, or any objection is made to the attachment of, any property attached in execution of a decree on the ground that such property is not liable to such attachment, the Court shall proceed to investigate the claim or objection with the like power as regards the examination of the claimant or objector, and in all other respects, as if he was a party to the suit :

O. 21, R. 58: SCOPE.—Nature of objection under this rule. 1936 A.L.J. 142=161 I.C. 107=1936 A. 378. Rule of res judicata in execution proceedings. 26 L.W. 106. The rule is only permissive. Such a claim is never compulsory. 40 C. 598=40 I.A. 56 (P.C.). Also 18 A 410; 23 B. 266; 18 M. 13 (17); 4 A.L.J. 574; 20 B. 403 (407). See also 41 L.W. 550=68 M. L.J. 518. Deposit in connection with cash certificate attached—Application of Post Master-General—Duty of Court to adjudicate. See 1938 Cal. 445. Where an applicant under O. 21, R. 58 claims that he has a share in, and is in joint possession with the judgment-debtor along with certain other members of the family, of the attached property, as provided by R. 58, the Court should proceed to investigate the claim. No doubt the extent of the investigation to be carried out would depend upon the circumstances of each case, but a refusal to make any investigation at all is a failure to exercise jurisdiction vested in the Court. 1938 A.M.L.J. 23. See also 1938 Cal. 445. This rule does not contemplate the investigation of a claim by a tenant of the judgment-debtor to occupancy rights in the property advertised for sale and an order on that claim directing it to be notified and stating that the sale shall not prejudice the rights of the claimant is not conclusive under O. 21, R. 63. 58 M. 936=1935 M. 547=68 M.L.J. 518; 153 I.C. 577=1935 A. 183; 39 C. W.N. 457. A Small Cause Court can neither attach immovable property nor investigate claim resulting therefrom. 28 C. W.N. 16=1924 C. 198. The rule does not apply in the case of a mortgage decree for sale. 1925 N. 185. See also 68 I.C. 271=26 C.W.N. 50; 18 I.C. 215; 55 I.C. 895; 58 P.R. 1918=44 I.C. 986; 50 I.C. 448=1919 P. 79; 117 I.C. 815=1929 L. 167; 1929 L. 760=116 I.C. 882; 1930 M. 712; 1932 L. 618. But see 8 Bur.L.T. 214=29 I.C. 941. A mortgagee in possession is not entitled to object under O. 21, R. 58, to the attachment of the property at the instance of a person who holds a decree against the mortgagor. His proper remedy is to wait and to take action under O. 21, Rr. 100 and 103, at the proper time, provided always that he does not in the meantime bring a suit to have the property sold. I. L. R. (1938) Lah. 593=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 568. When an attachment of mortgaged property in a decree for its sale has actually been made although such an attachment was unnecessary, an objector is entitled to come into Court and make an objection under R. 58. Objection can be prepared under this rule only after attachment and not before. 156 I.C. 801=1935 A.L.J. 344=1935 A. 343. This rule applies only to attachments after decree. 58 P.R. 1918=44 I.C. 986. It does not apply to attachment before judgment. 41 M. 849=35 M.L.J. 231 (F.B.). Also 42 I.C. 554=6 L.W. 518. Objection can be taken to an attachment after the decree even though an attachment before judgment was not objected to. 38 C. 448=10 I.C. 305. A claim preferred within a reasonable time after the decree and the application for execution is not "designedly or unnecessarily delayed" within the meaning of proviso to R. 58. The question of delay should be decided with reference to the date of the application for execution made by the decree-holder and it is only according to that date that conditions laid down in the proviso to R. 58 (1) should be decided. (38 C. 448 and 1921 N. 57, Foll.; 1929 L. 865; 1927 A. 593 and 41 M. 849=35 M.L.J. 231, Dist.) 31 N.L.R. 426=158 I.C. 353=1935 N. 222. The words "possessed" and "possession" in these rules include constructive possession or possession in lieu of debts and other intangible property. 27 M. 67 (F.B.). But see 22 W.R. 36 and 4 B. 323. As to extent of investigation necessary when judgment-debtor is in possession and claim made by third party, see 156 I.C. 586=1935 R. 161. When an objection is raised under O. 21, R. 58 the Court dealing with it has to concentrate its attention only to the question of possession and to decide whether the judgment-debtor, is in possession of the property on his own behalf or on account of or in trust for some person. If the property is found to be in possession of somebody else, then it has to be decided whether it is in trust or on behalf of the judgment-debtor. The question of title to the property, is not the Court's concern, nor is it competent to consider and decide it. The order of the Court must be based entirely upon the finding on the question of possession. 1938 A. L. J. 1118=1939 All. 117. It is not a condition precedent in all cases for a claimant to show that he was in possession before he could attack the validity of an attachment. 119 I.C. 33=1929 M. 383. In a claim arising under O. 21, R. 58, the Court is not entitled to go into the questions of benami. 119 I.C. 909=1929 P. 273. But see 155 I.C. 419=1935 P. 267. Where a claim is made by a Hindu wife to a house purchased in her name, which is attached in execution of a decree against her husband, if she is found to be in possession on the date of the attachment her claim should be allowed. It is not enough for the decree-holder to plead that she is only a benamidar for her husband, the judgment-debtor. Nor will the suspicion that it is a benami transaction be a ground for the Court disallowing the claim, when the claimant's possession has been made out. 64 C. L.J. 399=1937 Cal. 639; 188 I.C. 481; 19 Pat. 494. In a claim case under R. 58, the Court must come to a finding as to whether the claimant had at the date of attachment some interest in or was possessed of the property attached. When the Court is satisfied that the property was in possession of the claimant it must be found whether he held it on his own account or in trust for the judgment-debtor and in certain cases in order to determine this question it may be necessary incidentally to go into the basis of the claim put forward by claimant. 119 I.C. 909=1929 P. 273; 155 I.C. 419=1935 P. 267; 14 R. 516=164 I.C. 608=1936 R. 306. Where the objector is in possession of the property, the burden of proving that that property is in fact that of the judgment-debtor is on the decree-holder. It is not sufficient for him merely to show that it is not the objector's property. 146 I.C. 1023=10 O.W.N. 1017=1933 O. 473. See also 1937 Cal. 639. The proviso regarding delay applies even to cases where the executing Court not having jurisdiction over the property, exercises it. 41 I.C. 446. The fact that an execution sale of the attached property has already taken place does not deprive the Court of jurisdiction to hear the claim petition under O. 21, R. 58, so long as the sale is not confirmed by the Court. ## NOTES.

Pat. 812. An objection to the sale of a property by a third person on the ground that subsequent to its attachment he has purchased it at an auction sale in execution of another decree against the same judgment-debtor is, no debt, not maintainable under O. 21, R. 58. Although the objection is wrongly put in under that rule, the executing Court will be justified in taking notice of it. For as the judgment-debtor has no longer any saleable interest in the property owing to the valid title acquired by the objector by a prior sale in execution in his favour, the property is not "liable to sale" under O. 21, R. 64, and therefore could not be sold again. The objection could at least be entertained in the exercise of inherent powers under S. 151, and it would be desirable to do so to prevent unnecessary complication. 41 P.L.R. 305=1939 Lah. 380. It is not competent to a Court to order the issue of proclamation of sale while a claim petition is pending. 1940 Mad. 6=50 L.W. 338 (1)=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 505.

PARTIES TO CLAIM.—Judgment-debtor is not a necessary party to a claim. 22 B. 875 (882); 15 C. 674. A defendant, discharged, not because he was an unnecessary party, is discharged not from the suit but from liability and it is the decree itself that discharges him from liability. He therefore continues to be a party to the suit. See also 10 Pat.L.T. 75=1929 N. 179. A Co-operative Society has an interest in the shares of a member as these shares form part of its capital. Hence where three shares are attached by a person in execution of a decree against the member, the Society has locus standi to object to the attachment of these shares. Apart from this when the Society is being made personally liable it has a right to show that the attachment order was ultra vires as the shares held by a member are not liable to attachment and sale under S. 20, Co-operative Societies Act. A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 305.

APPEAL.—Order of dismissal of objection by judgment-debtor stating that he has no saleable interest, is appealable. 28 O.C. 175=85 I.C. 997. See also 1927 L. 895=28 Punj.L.R. 121. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 211; 194 I.C. 45. Where a joint application was made by a party and another not a party, objecting to the attachment, and the parties acquiesced in the application being heard under this rule, an order on the application under these circumstances is appealable. 5 R. 110=101 I.C. 794=1927 R. 137. See also 57 M. 822=40 L.W. 144=151 I.C. 24=1934 M. 435 (1)=67 M.L.J. 36. But see 1933 S. 126=143 I.C. 702. An order on the original side dismissing an application under R. 58 is not appealable under cl. 15, Letters Patent, because of the prohibition contained in R. 63. 60 C. 915=37 C.W.N. 641=1933 C. 715.

AMENDMENT.—This can be allowed by substituting the name of the real claimant, where Court is satisfied that the wrong name has been used through a bona fide mistake, and where the other parties are in no way misled or prejudiced. 21 B. at 210.

EFFECT OF ORDER.—See 45 M. 84=41 M.L.J. 393; 24 A.L.J. 334=1926 A. 244. An order in favour of a claimant must be the result of an investigation. 118 I.C. 634=1929 R. 123. The claimant whose claim was rejected as too late is incompetent again to apply under R. 100, praying to be restored to possession. The finality of the order rejecting claim petition subject only to the result of a suit under R. 63 is not affected by the fact that the order dismissing the claim was irregular. 148 I.C. 334. LIMITATION for fresh suit begins to run from the time of refusal to investigate. Art. 11 of the Limitation Act applies. 45 A. 438=21 A.L.J. 342. But see 43 M.L.J. 467=45 M. 827. When once a claim order is made, limitation begins to run. Unless a claim is put in under this rule a suit for bare declaration would be barred by S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. 5 R. 699. A defeated claimant cannot re-agitate his claim in a suit by the successful party. 1925 M. 368=92 I.C. 737. REVISION.—A wrong order can be set aside in revision. 1925 M. 588=48 M.L.J. 603; 103 I.C. 12; 1929 P. 746; 7 R. 132; 132 I.C. 666=1931 L. 666; 145 I.C. 444=1933 A.L.J. 1177=1933 A. 751 (1). But see 151 I.C. 668=1934 R. 230; 1934 R. 212=154 I.C. 123; 1935 A. 343. The powers of the High Court to interfere in revision with an order under O. 21, R. 58 is not precluded by the fact that a remedy by suit is available to the applicant under O. 21, R. 63. 1938 A.L.J. 1118=A.I.R. 1939 All. 117. In a proceeding under O. 21, R. 58, Court should not allow the parties to go into questions of benami to the practical rejection of the direct evidence of possession. The claimants are after all merely advancing claims and not bringing title suits. If a claim case is treated as a title suit, the claimant is taken by surprise, and if the claim case is dismissed, the onus on him in the suit that he may have to bring under O. 21, R. 63 would be rather heavier than in an ordinary title suit. Where although purporting to deal with the question of possession the Court has really been considering the question of benami, the High Court will interfere with its order in revision. 188 I.C. 481. See also 1938 A.M. L.J. 23; 1938 Rang. 319; 19 Pat. 494=1940

Pat. 653. The remedy by way of objection under R. 58 is a summary remedy provided by legislature in lieu of a suit, and a refusal of the Court to entertain an objection under the rule can be legitimately considered in revision. 164 I.C. 1012=1936 Pesh. 185. Dismissal of an objection summarily on the ground that there is an unnecessary delay without giving an opportunity to the objector or his Counsel to explain the delay is open to revision. 166 I.C. 337=1937 O.W.N. 48=1937 O. 268. Where a claim is based on a sale deed and possession, and it appears on the facts appearing on the face of the sale deed itself that the sale is invalid in passing any title, the Court must in order to determine whether possession of claimant is on his own behalf or on behalf of the judgment-debtor inquire into the question of title. And where the Court fails to consider the question of the validity or otherwise of the sale deed and refuses to go into the question of title, it fails to exercise jurisdiction vested in it by law and its order is open to revision. 14 R. 516=1936 R. 306.

APPEAL.—An order passed by the Court under R. 58, is conclusive and can only be challenged in a suit brought under R. 63. No appeal lies against such order. 165 I.C. 519=9 R.L. 254=1936 L. 830. O. 21, R. 58 (2) (All.): AMENDMENT.—The addition by the Allahabad High Court to sub-cl. (2) of R. 58 of O. 21, to the effect, that the Court may in its discretion make an order 'postponing the delivery of the property after the sale pending such investigation and that in no such case shall the sale become absolute until the claim or objection has been decided,' obviously contemplates the decision of a claim after the sale. Sale can go on and confirmation can be stayed pending decision of claim or objections. 1939 A.L.J. 622=A.I.R. 1939 All. 598. But see 160 I.C. 383=1936 S. 2.

O. 21, Rr. 58 and 63.—The order for release from attachment in a case

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD AND OUDH.] O. 21, r. 58 (2).—In Allahabad and Oudh, add, "or may in its discretion make an order postponing the delivery of the property after the sale pending such investigation. And in no case shall the sale become absolute until the claim or objection has been decided" at the end of sub-cl. (2) in r. 58, O. 21.

[CALCUTTA.] Add the following words at the end of sub-r. (2), r. 58, O. 21 :—
"upon such terms as to security, or otherwise, as to the Court, shall seem fit."

[LAHORE.] Add the following proviso under sub-rule (1) :—
"and that if an objection is not made within a reasonable time of the first attachment the objector shall have no further right to object to the attachment and sale of the same property in execution of the same decree, unless he can prove a title acquired subsequent to the date of the first attachment."

[NAGPUR.] In sub-rule (2) of r. 58, after the word "objection" where it occurs for the second time, insert the following words :—

"or, where the property to be sold is immovable property, the Court may, in its discretion, direct that the sale be held, but shall not become absolute until the claim or objection is decided."

"58. (1) When any claim is preferred to any property, the subject-matter of execution proceedings, or any objection is made to the attachment thereof, on the ground that the applicant has an interest therein which is not bound under the decree, or that such property is not liable to attachment, the Court shall proceed to investigate the claim or objection with the like power as regards the examination of the claimant or objector, and in all other respects, as if he was a party to the suit :

Provided that no such investigation shall be made where the Court considers that the claim or objection was designedly or unnecessarily delayed.

(2) Where the property to which the claim or objection applies has been advertised for sale, the Court ordering the sale may in its discretion make an order postponing the delivery of the property after the sale pending the investigation of the claim or objection. And in no case shall the sale become absolute until the claim or objection has been decided."

59. The claimant or objector must adduce evidence to show that at the date of the attachment he had some interest in, or was possessed of, the property attached.

NOTES.

under O. 21, R. 58 does not put an end to the attachment. If a suit is subsequently brought under O. 21, R. 63 and decreed, the effect of the decree is to set aside the order of release and to maintain uninterrupted the attachment originally made. Hence any alienation in the interim period is void by reason of S. 64. 14 Luck. 543=A.I.R. 1939 Oudh 178. See also 1941 N.L.J. 593. Where a sale has actually taken place the executing Court has no jurisdiction to investigate a claim or objection filed under O. 21, R. 58, even though it was filed before the sale was actually held and the sale has not yet been confirmed. It follows, therefore, that an order of dismissal of the claim petition for default passed after the sale is without jurisdiction. 65 C.L.J. 353=41 C.W.N. 845. Where subsequent to the dismissal of a claim under O. 21, R. 58, the attachment ceases within one year from the date of the order, for whatever reason, it is not necessary for the claimant to file a suit under O. 21, R. 63, and the order dismissing the claim is of no effect. 1941 Oudh 95=1940 O.W.N. 1057. Where a mortgagee makes an application under O. 21, R. 58, in respect of the mortgaged property as against the purchaser of that property in execution, and that application is dismissed, whether for default or not the mortgagee must bring a suit on his mortgage within one year. A suit by him on the mortgage more than one year after the disposal of his application under O. 21, R. 58 is barred and must fail as against the purchaser. 19 Pat.L.T. 746=1938 P.W.N. 752.

O. 21, Rr. 58 and 90.—A third party objecting to the sale of his property for the judgment-debt of another person cannot disregard R. 58 of O. 21, and apply after the sale under R. 90 of that order, treating the case as one of irregularity in publishing or conducting the sale. 1941 O.W.N. 949=A.I.R. 1941 P.C. 45=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 227 (P.C.).

O. 21, Rr. 59-63.—Nowhere is the Court given power to declare in the course of proceedings under Rr. 59, 60, 61 and 63 that a person who has applied for removal of attachment is subject to a decree which was not passed against him. 154 I.C. 1045=1935 R. 11.

O. 21, R. 59.—Principles of Rr. 59 to 61 govern investigation of claims as to property attached before judgment. 146 I.C. 9=1933 N. 297. The rule does not mean that if the claimant establishes that he has some interest he can succeed irrespective of the question of possession; nor should his claim be disallowed if he fails to establish the interest set up, irrespective of the question of possession of judgment-debtor. 24 I.C. 62. Ordinarily Court enquires into possession only, occasionally into title as well. 39 I.C. 275=13 Bur.L.T. 14. But the enquiry is not necessarily confined only to possession. 10 I.C. 994; also 48 I.C. 182=11 Bur.L.T.

Where upon the said investigation the Court is satisfied that for the reason stated in the claim or objection such property was not, when attached, in the possession of the judgment-debtor or of some person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, or that, being in the possession of the judgment-debtor at such time it was so in his possession, not

Where judgment-debtor claims to hold under a title of his own and the claimant sets up an adverse title and is not in possession of the property at the time of attachment, he has so far as R. 59 is concerned, no interest in the property. 146 I.C. 9=1933 N. 297. See also 1934 R. 212=154 I.C. 123.

EVIDENCE.—The applicant has a right to establish what the law requires, by any evidence sufficient for the purpose, and the Court has no power to require from him any particular kind of evidence. 22 W.R. 392. If no evidence of possession is adduced the Court should deal with the question of title only. 32 I.C. 34. When a Judge refuses to receive evidence, any order passed by him is ultra vires. 22 W.A. 422; 27 A. 16 (F.B.). A revision lies if the Court acts with material irregularity. 76 I.C. 677=1 R. 276. See also 60 I.C. 616.

O. 21, Rr. 59 and 60: SCOPE AND EFFECT.—The 'interest' referred to in R. 59 is not necessarily an interest in land in the sense that expression is used in S. 54, Transfer of Property Act. The C.P. Code and the Transfer of Property Act are not in pari materia and there is no reason to suppose that it was within the contemplation of the legislature that the interest referred to in R. 59 should exclude all rights which are not interests in land. On the contrary, R. 60 shows beyond a possibility of doubt that the word 'interest' is used in a wider sense. A party, in whose favour there is a contract of sale, can enforce specific performance of that contract against a transferee with notice. 41 L.W. 739=1935 M. 193=68 M.L.J. 67.

O. 21, R. 60: SCOPE OF RULE.—As the provisions of R. 60 are clearly mandatory and any breach of those provisions is at the very least a material irregularity. 1938 A.L.J. 1118=1939 All. 117. An order for release has not the effect of putting an end to an attachment duly made. 33 C. 1158. When crops were wrongly attached but were subsequently released from attachment on claim preferred by an objector and the crops were accidentally burnt and destroyed during attachment, and while in the custody of the supratdar, the objector would be entitled to recover the value of the crops burnt. 1936 N. 257. On this rule see also 1940 N.L.J. 561.

NATURE OF INVESTIGATION.—The investigation under this rule should be confined to determining whether or not the property attached was in the possession of the claimant on his own account. 10 C. 1057. See also 18 C. 290; 110 I.C. 365. All that a Court has to find under O. 21, R. 60, is whether the properties in respect of which the claim is preferred were, on the date of the attachment, in the possession of the claimant on his own account or on account of the judgment-debtor or in trust for him. The question of title may be only relevant to determine this matter. 1937 M.W.N. 320 (1). The Court should decide on merits when a claim is put in and not drive the claimant to a regular suit. 248 P.L.R. 1914=27 I.C. 256. The extent to which the investigation should be carried out depends on the circumstances of each case. 15 C. 521 (P.C.); 1 C.W.N. 617. See also 29 C. 543; 18 M. 265; 12 C. 108. If a claim is made by the decree-holder that the persons in possession are only in possession on behalf of the judgment-debtor, the Court should investigate the claim of title. 1934 R. 212=154 I.C. 123. When an intervener claims a share of attached property the Court should determine the respective shares of the debtor and intervener. 27 A. 464. See also 29 M. 225. A conditional order on a claim should not be passed. 44 I.C. 1007. On this rule, see also 91 I.C. 414=1926 M. 355. Building contract—Builder assigning moneys due under Loan Society—Attachment of such moneys by creditors of builder—Validity. 49 C.L.J. 51=115 I.C. 362=1929 C. 225.

APPLICATION OF THE RULE.—A mortgagee in possession holds the property in trust for the mortgagor to the extent of his interest therein, and so far it must be released from the attachment. 10 I.C. 994. When a claimant has a half share in attached movable property the proper procedure is to release the entire property and to proceed by way of attachment under O. 21, R. 47. 59 C. 808=1932 C. 408. See also 1935 R. 11.

IN TRUST.—These words apply to cases in which the possession of a claimant as a trustee is of such a character as to be really the possession of the debtor, and not to cases in which very intricate questions of law may arise as to whether valid trusts may result in particular instances. 14 C. 617 on his own account or as his own property, but on account of or in trust for some other person, or partly on his own account and partly on account of some other person, the Court shall make an order releasing the property, wholly or to such extent as it thinks fit, from attachment.

LOC. AM.—[PATNA.] <sup>1</sup>Substitute the following for existing r. 60 :—

"R. 60. Where upon the said investigation the Court is satisfied that for the reasons stated in the claim or objection such property was not, at the date of the decree, or when attached, as the case may be, in the possession of the judgment-debtor or of some person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, or that, being in the possession of the judgment-debtor at such time, it was so in his possession, not on his own account or as his own property but on account of or in trust for some other person or party on his own account and partly on account of some other person, the court shall make an order releasing the property, wholly or to such extent as it thinks fit, from the execution proceedings, or from attachment.

Where the property has been sold, such order shall have the effect of setting aside the sale, and if it has been purchased by a third party in good faith, the Court may make such order for his compensation by the decree-holder or objector to an extent not exceeding  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. of the purchase price, as it thinks fit."

61. Where the Court is satisfied that the property was, at the time it was attached, in the possession of the judgment-debtor as his own property and not on account of any other person, or was in the possession of some other person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, the Court shall disallow the claim.

"R. 61. Where the Court is satisfied that the property was, at the time of the decree, or of the attachment, as the case may be, in the possession of the judgment-debtor as his own property and not on account of any other person, or was in the possession of some other person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, the Court shall disallow the claim."

62. Where the Court is satisfied that the property is subject to a mortgage or charge in favour of some person not in possession, and thinks fit to continue the attachment, it may do so, subject to such mortgage or charge.

sells under the judgment-debtor's equity of redemption and the purchaser takes the property subject to the mortgage and he is not entitled to question the mortgage. In the latter case, the executing Court does not decide whether the mortgage exists or not. If there is really a mortgage, the purchaser has to redeem it; but if the mortgage notified in the proclamation of sale turns out to be invalid the purchaser takes the property free of the mortgage. 10 Luck. 343=153 I.C. 57=11 O.W.N. 1475=1935 O. 23; 1939 A.L.J. 622=1939 All. 598. Property sold subject to mortgage and notice of encumbrance given in proclamation—Distinction between. 38 L.W. 813=1933 M. 879=65 M.L.J. 819. The expression 'subject to such mortgage' occurring in O. 21, R. 62, means that what is sold is the equity of redemption. There is a distinction between an express order directing the property to be sold 'subject to a mortgage' and cases where notice of an alleged mortgage is given in the sale proclamation. While in the former case the would-be purchaser is made aware of what exactly he is purchasing in the latter case he merely takes a chance of the mortgage being either not in force or enforceable. The price would vary considerably according as to whether a sale is 'subject to a mortgage' or whether a mortgage is merely notified in the sale proclamation. An auction-purchaser who is the decree-holder cannot challenge the finding that a mortgage subsists when the sale is 'subject to a mortgage.' I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 665=1939 N.L.J. 487=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 305.

O. 21, R. 62: SCOPE.—Code makes a distinction between a case in which property is sold subject to a mortgage and a case in which notice of an alleged mortgage is given in a proclamation of sale. The former is provided by this rule, the latter by R. 66. 28 A. 418 at 420; 10 Luck. 343=153 I.C. 57=11 O.W.N. 1475=1935 O. 23. See also I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 291=1939 Cal. 620=43 C.W.N. 999; 41 B. 64=36 I.C. 627; 132 I.C. 767=1931 O. 157. Comparison of this rule with O. 23, R. 1. 20 N.L.R. 106=1925 N. 2. The question whether an order by the executing Court with reference to an attached property is conclusive unless set aside within a year or not depends upon the nature of the petition on which the order is made. If a mortgagee files a petition of objection or claim then an order adverse to the mortgagee is conclusive unless set aside within a year. But where the mortgagee apart from informing the Court about his encumbrance and praying that it may be notified in the auction notification does nothing more, but the Court on the allegation of the judgment-debtor goes into the question of the satisfaction of the mortgage and finds that it is discharged and dismisses the mortgagee's petition, the order is not one passed under O. 21, R. 62, and hence the mortgagee is not bound to bring a suit to set it aside within a year. A.I.R. 1939 All. 657. See also 43 C.W.N. 999=1939 Cal. 620. If a person prefers a claim on the ground that the properties attached in execution of a rent decree are subject to a mortgage in his favour, the Court must proceed to investigate the claim and cannot order simply without investigation that the sale would be held with notice of the mortgage. Such an order is not one contemplated by O. 21, R. 62, and cannot be sustained. 67 C.L.J. 79.

APPLICATION OF THE RULE.—A mortgagee in possession can prefer a claim. 10 Bom. H.C.R. 100. But see 40 P.L.R. 522=1938 Lah. 568. A sale subject to a charge, on the application of a person in possession claiming a charge of maintenance on the property is valid. 44 B. 860=58 I.C. 217. See also 35 B. 275=10 I.C. 913. A purchaser under a sale subject to a mortgage, cannot dispute the mortgage. 47 C. 446=24 C.W.N. 269. See also 29 I.C. 690=21 C. W.N. 401; 50 I.C. 909; 15 N.L.R. 15=1923 N. 282; 30 I.C. 238; 2 O.L.J. 225; 50 I.C. 580; 12 Bur.L.T. 43. A decree-holder purchaser can contest the declaration of lien under this rule, by a suit brought within one year of the declaration. 1931 A. 139=52 A. 1032=131 I.C. 674. But where Court did not direct the sale of the property subject to a mortgage, but the mortgage is simply declared at the time of sale, the auction-purchaser is not precluded from questioning the validity of the mortgage. 36 I.C. 732=3 O.L.J. 422. Order for sale with notice of mortgage—Property—Proper order to be passed. 34 C.W.N. 254=1930 C. 390; 9 R. 367=134 I.C. 746=1931 R. 310. A purchaser of property subject to a mortgage can plead limitation in a suit by the mortgage. 23 I.C. 448=17 O.C. 38.

O. 21, Rr. 62 to 63.—An application made by a mortgagee after attachment heading it to be one under O. 21, R. 62, and praying that the fact of the property attached being subject to a mortgage might be notified and proclaimed at the time when the sale takes place, is really a claim petition made under O. 21, R. 62. It is not a mere application for insertion of an incumbrance in the sale proclamation under O. 21, R. 66. If, therefore, it is dismissed, the order is conclusive unless it is set aside by a suit under O. 21, R. 63. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 291=43 C.W.N. 999=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 620. See also 1939 All. 657.

O. 21, R. 63: OBJECT AND SCOPE.—Suit to show that claimant has a title to the property and that order of attachment was not an order is made may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the property in dispute, but, subject to the result of such suit, if any, the order shall be conclusive.

LOC. AMS.—[CALCUTTA.] Add the following as r. 63-A :—

"63-A. When an attachment of movable property ceases, the Court may order the restoration of the attached property to the person in whose possession it was before the attachment."

[LAHORE.] R. 63-A which had been added previously was deleted by High Court Notification No. 106-R-XI-y-14, dated 27th April, 1937.

Garnishee Orders.

63-A. Where a debt (other than a debt secured by a mortgage or a debt recoverable only in a Revenue Court or a debt the amount of which exceeds the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court) has been attached under r. 46 and the debtor prohibited under cl. (i) of sub-r. (1) of r. 46 (hereinafter called the garnishee) does not pay the amount of the debt into Court in accordance with r. 46, sub-r. (3), the Court on the application of the decree-holder may order a notice to issue calling upon the garnishee to appear before the Court and show cause why he should not pay into Court the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor. A copy of such notice shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court, be served on the judgment-debtor.

NOTES.

properly made would lie under the rule. 37 L.W. 437=1933 M. 328=142 I.C. 395. Terms of R. 63 are wide enough to include a suit based on title; and in order to prove that the claimant has a right to the property in dispute, a consideration of his title as well as of possession will be relevant. The two questions cannot be separated from each other. 68 M.L.J. 590. See also 41 L.W. 550=68 M.L.J. 518. O. 21, R. 63 does not itself confer a right but only gives the creditor the opportunity of enforcing whatever rights he has by a civil suit. I.L.R. (1940) All. 542=1940 A.L.J. 470=A.I.R. 1940 All. 407. Per Mitter, J.—The claimant cannot be allowed in a suit under O. 21, R. 63, C.P. Code, to question the validity of the decree under execution to which he was not a party and by which he is not directly affected. 74 C.L.J. 261. The object of the suit is to get rid of the attachment. Therefore no suit need be filed when attachment is raised and suit abates on removal of attachment. 1917 M.W.N. 851=42 I.C. 683. But see 26 I.C. 532=26 M.L.J. 499. See also 1926 N. 197=93 I.C. 997; 7 L. 235=1926 L. 348. No suit where decree-holder himself withdraws the attachment. 110 I.C. 511; 122 I.C. 865; 41 L.W. 578=156 I.C. 880=1935 M. 544. But see 1929 R. 228. In a suit by a defeated decree-holder under O. 21, R. 63, the plaintiff should not be forced to try out the suit in which he has already obtained a decree. It may be that the decree which is the basis of the execution is not a justifiable decree; but that is not the question for decision in the suit under O. 21, R. 63. 1939 P.W.N. 229=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 430. An order passed by executing Court on an objection filed under R. 58 which is not pressed subsequently and is therefore dismissed is an order covered by O. 21, R. 63. 7 O.W.N. 1173=1931 O. 1 (F.B.). A regular suit is a continuation of the claim proceedings. 1925 N. 82; 17 Pat. 588=1939 Pat. 138. The institution of a suit by the attachment creditor under R. 63 is not merely a continuation of the original claim proceedings, but is really in part a new legal proceeding. Nature of suit under R. 63 considered with reference to provisions of S. 16 (2) (b), Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. 119 I.C. 46 (2)=1929 M. 323=56 M.L.J. 489. It is in the form of an appeal because the summary investigation might not have furnished sufficient material for decision. 90 I.C. 196. A suit can be instituted even when the attachment had virtually ceased the decree having been satisfied from other properties of the judgment-debtor. 9 C. 10; 18 B. 241; 21 B. 58; 31 C. 228; 29 M. 225. But see 27 C. 714; 16 A. 165 (169) (F.B.); 18 B. 260; 12 C. 696 (701); 17 C. 436; 22 B. 640. See also 1940 Mad. 763=1940 M.W.N. 459. There is no doubt or difficulty in applying R. 63 to a case of attachment before judgment. 49 C.L.J. 51=115 I.C. 362=1929 C. 225. When attachment before it does not effect an abatement of a suit it does not effect an abatement of a suit, under this rule. 27 I.C. 800. Whether suit decides the question of title arising in execution. 43 M. 760=39 M.L.J. 350 (F.B.) overruling 43 I.C. 651=33 M.L.J. 705=41 M. 612 (F.B.) and 34 I.C. 778=30 M.L.J. 565. The Court is not restricted to determine only the question of the attachability of the property but can also question the validity of the decree itself. 23 I.C. 755. Rule covers not merely a declaratory suit, but also one for consequential relief. 40 M. 733=31 M.L.J. 394. If attaching creditor withdraws the attachment a suit by him is maintainable not under this rule but under S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. 33 I.C. 124=9 Bur.L.T. 89; 29 M. 151 (F.B.). See also 41 L.W. 500=1935 M.W.N. 331=34 I.C. 125=9 Bur.L.T. 19; 5 R. 699. A suit under S. 42, Specific Relief Act, before sale would be premature. 52 I.C. 157. Non-objection does not amount to consent, and suit under this rule is not one to set aside a consent order. 28 I.C. 536=1915 M.W.N. 237. Cause of action

63-B. (1) If the garnishee does not pay into Court the amount of the debt due into Court the amount of the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor, and if he does not appear in answer to the notice issued under r. 63-A, or does not dispute his liability to pay such debt to the judgment-debtor, then the Court may order the garnishee to comply with the terms of such notice, and on such order execution may issue against the garnishee as though such order were a decree against him.

(2) If the garnishee appears in answer to the notice issued under r. 63-A and disputes his liability to pay the debt attached, the Court, instead of making an order as aforesaid, may order that any issue or question necessary for determining his liability be tried as though it were an issue in a suit, and may proceed to determine such issue, and upon the determination of such issue shall pass such order upon the notice as shall be just.

63-C. Whenever in any proceedings under the foregoing rules it is alleged by the garnishee that the debt attached belongs to some third person, or that any third person has a lien or charge upon or interest in it, the Court may order such third person to appear and state the nature and particulars of his claim, if any, upon such debt, and prove the same, if necessary.

Decree against firm—Decree-holder seeking to attach property of respondent on ground that he was joint with one of judgment-debtor—Objection by respondent under R. 58 that it was his exclusive property upheld—No suit filed—Decree-holder subsequently obtaining leave to execute decree against respondent under O. 21, R. 50 (2)—Execution against same property—Permissibility. Held, that all that was decided in the previous execution proceeding was that the property sought to be attached was the exclusive property of the respondent, and that although after that order the property could no longer be attached in execution of the decree as it originally stood, that order could not stand in the way of the appellant executing the decree against the property of the respondent after he had obtained an order from the trial Court that he was entitled to proceed against the respondent and his property as he was a partner in the judgment-debtor firm. 14 P. 857=1935 P. 409. An order on the Original Side dismissing an application under R. 58 is not appealable under Cl. 15, Letters Patent, because of the prohibition contained in R. 63. 60 C. 914=37 C. Where a person has been actually in possession of certain properties adversely to the owner thereof, the dismissal of a claim petition preferred by him under R. 63 does not operate as an interruption of that adverse possession by operation of law especially when the attachment is raised subsequently. 1936 M.W.N. 1113=44 L.W. 617. The fact that the attachment is raised only beyond a year of the dismissal of the claim does not make any difference, because once it is raised, it ceases to be effective even from the date of the attachment itself. An attachment further does not operate as a disturbance of the possession. 44 L.W. 617. The words "the right which he claims to the property in dispute" show that it is not necessary for the plaintiff to establish his own "title" in the property in question, but what he has to establish is, either the claim to have the property attached, or to have it released from attachment. 17 L. 668=1936 L. 524. Per Nasim Ali, J.—An order in a claim case is conclusive as against the party against whom it is made and is conclusive only as regards the properties which are the subject-matter of the claim case. Where a claim is allowed but the judgment-debtor is not a party in the claim case, it cannot be said that the order in the claim case, is against the judgment-debtor. 74 C. L.J. 180.

63-D. After hearing such third person and any other person who may subsequently be ordered to appear, or in the case of such third or other person not appearing as ordered, the Court may pass such order as is provided in the foregoing rules, or make such other order as the Court shall think fit, upon such terms in all cases with respect to the lien, charge or interest, if any, of such third or other person as shall seem just and reasonable.

63-E. Payment made by or levied by execution upon the garnishee in accordance with any order made under these rules shall be a valid discharge to him as against the judgment-debtor and any other person ordered to appear under these rules, for the amount paid or levied, although such order or the judgment may be set aside or reversed.

63-F. The costs of any application for the attachment of a debt or under the foregoing rules and of any proceedings arising from or incidental to such application, shall be in the discretion of the Court. Costs awarded to the decree-holder shall, unless otherwise directed, be retained out of the money recovered by him under the garnishee order and in priority to the amount of his decree.

NOTES.

the dismissal of a claim petition for want of jurisdiction does not come under this rule. 41 M.L.J. 198=63 I.C. 431. The order is conclusive even when the claim is rejected as no evidence is adduced to prove it. 32 C. 527. Also 17 M.L.T. 223=28 I.C. 244. An order for removal of attachment is final even though passed ex parte. 2 Bur.L.J. 60=1923 R. 156. Order under this rule is conclusive. 66 P.R. 1916=35 I.C. 321; 8 N.L.J. 170=1925 N. 390. The word "conclusive" means final, i.e., not appealable. 1 R. 276=1923 R. 195. The order in a claim case is conclusive only with regard to the parties to the claim and the disputed property. 44 C. 698=21 C.W.N. 222. Also 18 A. 413. The judgment-debtor when a party is bound by a claim order only to the extent of the adjudication. The purchaser takes it subject to rights as determined by the Court. 37 M.L.J. 547=54 I.C. 530. When a claim that attached properties should be sold as subject to a mortgage or lease has been decided by an executing Court, the provisions of O. 21, R. 63 apply to the decision. (1926 N. 423, Overruled.) 26 N. L.R. 136=123 I.C. 474=1930 N. 116 (F. B.). Such an order would bind the judgment-debtor if he is a party to it, and the question whether he was a party to it, will depend upon the circumstances under which it was made and the terms of it. 13 M.L.J. 367. But decree-holder purchaser can impeach validity and bona fides of the mortgage within a year. 52 A. 1032=131 I.C. 674=1931 A. 139. Even an order passed without investigation is conclusive. 27 I. An order dismissing an objection under R. 58 whether it is an order disposing of the case on the merits or whether it is an order which held that the objection was not entertainable on the preliminary ground that a certain legal provision was a bar to the maintainability of the application is a disposal of the application under R. 58 after hearing the parties and therefore is an order contemplated in O. 21, R. 63 and Art. 11 Limitation Act. 115 I.C. 703=1929 P. 116. See also 1937 Pat. 63 (F.B.). Dismissal of claim petition by Court having no jurisdiction—Finality. 112 I.C. 619. Mere recording of objections without an adjudication does not amount to an order against the objector. 52 I.C. 938=1919 M.W.N. 805. But see 37 M.L.J. 159=52 I.C. 720. Where a claim petition is summarily rejected on the ground that "the execution has already been transferred to the Collector," the order is an ambiguous order which must be construed in favour of the claimant; it is not an order "against" the claimant within the meaning of R. 63. 19 N.L.J. 308=1937 N. 170. An order that the allegation of the claimants will be notified to bidders is one made against the claimants and amounts to a rejection of a claim petition. 41 M. 985=35 M.L.J. 335 (F.B.). 63-H. (1) Where the liability of any garnishee has been tried and determined under these rules the order shall have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeals or otherwise as if it were a decree.

(2) Orders not covered by cl. (1) shall be appealable as orders made in execution.

order under R. 63, because he was acting only in his personal capacity in the claim proceedings, whereas in the insolvency proceedings he was acting in representative capacity, that is, on behalf of all the creditors. The personal disability of the creditor arising from the prior adverse claim order cannot bar the right of the creditors to re-agitate the question. 42 L.W. 215=1935 M. 670=69 M.L.J. 120.

CLAIM NOT CONTESTED—No BAR TO SUIT—An executing Court cannot go into the question as to whether a transaction is benami or not in summary proceedings under R. 58. The fact that the decree-holder does not contest a claim to attached property preferred by the person in whose name the attached property stands and agrees to the claim being allowed does not debar him from bringing a suit for a declaration under R. 63 that the property really belongs to the judgment-debtor and liable to attachment and the purchase in the name of the claimant is only benami and a fraudulent and colourable transaction. Where a decree-holder cannot successfully hope to resist a claim under R. 58, because the question cannot be gone into and decided by the executing Court, he may well ask the Court to allow the claim in order to enable him to bring proceedings under R. 63 without delay. Where he does not give up his right to contest the matter by means of a suit, his admission in the claim must be confined to the claim only and he does not lose his right of suit under R. 63. A party who realises the hopelessness of resisting a claim in summary proceedings and consents to the claim being allowed is nevertheless a party against whom an order is made and consequently he can bring a suit under R. 63; unless a party has clearly contracted himself out of his statutory rights given to him by R. 63, he cannot be debarred from instituting a suit under the rule to obtain the appropriate relief. 19 Pat. 494=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 653.

SUIT IS THE ONLY REMEDY.—An unsuccessful party must bring a suit to establish his right. He cannot be permitted to raise any defence in any other way. 1922 C. 164; 71 I.C. 45 (1). See also 6 L.W. 281=41 I.C. 684; 1928 A. 327; 115 I.C. 912=1929 R. 104. He must impeach the validity of the order directly as a plaintiff and not indirectly as a defendant. 156 I.C. 586=1935 R. 161. On dismissal of an execution petition on an objection, an appeal or a suit lies, but no revision. 38 I.C. 299. But if the claim is disallowed no appeal lies. 38 A. 537=35 I.C. 6; 38 I.C. 152; 34 I.C. 759=3 L.W. 377. Since no proper order without proper investigation can be passed, the findings are subject to question in second appeal being mixed questions of law and fact. 37 I.C. 92=19 O.C. 357. A suit under O. 21, R. 63 has nothing to do with S. 52 and the question under S. 52 must be decided by the Court executing the decree and not by a separate suit. A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 531.

APPLICABILITY OF THE RULE.—Where the attachment is raised within a year from the date of the order, no suit need be filed. 97 I.C. 178=22 N.L.R. 94=1926 N. 423; 94 I.C. 120=1929 R. 228; 1931 L. 74. Attachment raised after a year but decree satisfied otherwise. No difference. 131 I.C. 225=1931 L. 74. So also in the case of a summary order of dismissal of objections when the attachment itself is subsequently released owing to the reversal of the decree, and the property in question is not sold. 163 I.C. 892 (L.). A suit by a decree-holder under this rule against a reversioner claimant is not barred under S. 47, C.P.Code. 71 I.C. 1012=1923 A. 192. A suit against judgment-debtor for refund of consideration by an unsuccessful claimant is not a suit under this rule and need not be brought within a year. 46 A. 45=1924 A. 302. The rule applies even when a garnishee objects but his objection is overruled. If he does not bring a suit, to declare that he does not bring a suit to declare, the claim order would be final and conclusive. 44 M.L.J. 588=1923 M. 562; 1931 M.W. N. 259=1931 M. 570. Attachment of pronote—Objection by executant that debt discharged—Order for sale without investigation—Subsequent suit on pronote by purchaser in execution—Plea of discharge. Held, that in the execution proceedings there was no order under R. 61, and therefore R. 63 did not apply. Therefore it was open to the executant to take the same objection again. 1937 N. 149. A suit for bare declaration under this rule would be barred by S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act unless a claim has been put in under R. 58. 5 R. 699. See also 103 I.C. 763=1927 L. 631; 1937 Rang. 133; 1937 Rang. 249. The order of rejection of a claim need not be set aside within one year when there is only

Garnishee Orders.

63-A. Where a debt has been attached under r. 46, the debtor prohibited under cl. (i) of sub. r. (1) of r. 46 (hereinafter called the garnishee) may pay the amount of the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor into Court, and such payment shall discharge him as effectually as payment to the party entitled to receive the same.

63-B. Where a debt has been attached under r. 46, and the garnishee does not pay the amount of the debt into Court in accordance with the foregoing rule, the Court, on the application of the decree-holder, may order a notice to issue calling upon the garnishee to appear before the Court and show cause why he should not pay into Court the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree together with the costs of execution. A copy of such notice shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court, be served on the judgment-debtor.

63-C. (1) If the garnishee does not pay into Court the amount of the debt due from him to the judgment-debtor, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree and the costs of execution, and if he does not appear in answer to the notice issued under r. 63-B, or does not dispute his liability to pay such debt to the judgment-debtor then the Court may order the garnishee to comply with the terms of such notice, and on such order execution may issue against the garnishee as though such order were a decree against him.

NOTES.

an order of attachment, but no actual attachment effected. 51 M. 349=55 M.L.J. 122=1928 P.C. 139 (P.C.). So also in the case of absence of valid attachment. 160 I.C. 835=1936 Pesh. 41.

LIMITATION.—The suit must be brought within one year from the passing of the order complained of. 15 C. 521 (P.C.); 22 B. 640; 20 B. 801; 11 C. 673 (678); 26 C. 778; 35 Bom.L.R. 147. Art. 11 of the Limitation Act does not come into operation until an adjudication on the merits of an objection is made. 3 L. 7=1922 L. 108. Also 44 M.L.J. 141=1923 M. 295. Plaintiff's suit for a declaration that the defendant has no title in the property is one falling under R. 63 and governed by Art. 11 of the Limitation Act. 130 I.C. 200=1930 A.L.J. 1322. A mortgage suit more than one year after claim was disallowed, would be barred, even though no actual attachment was made in pursuance of an order of attachment. 41 M.L.J. 594=45 M. 90. See 38 M.L.J. 397=56 I.C. 481. See also 37 M.L.J. 159=52 I.C. 720; 1927 A. 593. Where a suit in which an attachment before judgment was obtained was dismissed, but on appeal the decree was reversed, the reversal does not restore the attachment. The period of limitation therefore starts from the date of dismissal of a fresh claim at the time of executing the appellate decree. 87 I. C. 756 (2)=1925 C. 1147. Where claim is disallowed on the ground that claimant's interest accrued only after the attachment, such an order is not one under this rule. 152 I.C. 902=1934 P. 511. Where the claim is disallowed but the attachment ceases under R. 57, the question of title can be raised even after a year. 1925 M. 1113=48 M.L.J. 616. See also 104 I.C. 424=1927 M. 893; 133 I.C. 318=1931 A.L.J. 856=1931 A. 608; 56 A. 537=148 I.C. 676=1934 A.L.J. 19=1934 A. 267 (F.B.); 1937 Pesh. 97. The conclusiveness of an order on a claim petition is conditional on the continuance of the execution proceedings and of the attachment issuing therefrom.

Where after the disallowance of a claim, the execution proceedings come to an end by reason of the execution sale being set aside, the attachment goes and with it the order disallowing the claim also goes and becomes useless and inoperative. A suit brought by the defeated claimant for declaration of his title to the property in question beyond one year is not therefore barred under Art. 11 of the Limitation Act, as the order on the claim is no longer a bar. 165 I.C. 84=40 C.W.N. 146. Art. 11, Limitation Act, will have no application whether the execution proceedings terminate as a result of the setting aside of the sale, within or beyond one year after the adverse claim order. (Ibid.) Claim on behalf of idols—Dismissal of—Suit by prospective representative—Limitation. 1928 C. 514. Where an attachment is released as invalid and claim accepted—Suit to declare gift in favour of claimant invalid—Suit is not one under this rule—Art. 11, Limitation Act, does not apply, but only Art. 120. 144 I. C. 378=38 P.L.R. 443=1933 L. 449. A suit under O. 21, R. 63, is in form and substance a declaratory suit, and it would be an unreasonable exercise of discretion by the Court to make a declaration of the decree-holder's right to attach if the period of limitation of 12 years has expired between the date of attachment and the date of the suit unless the property in question has already been sold in time. The suit is often but a step to enable the decree-holder to bring the property to sale; if by reason of the extinction of the title of the judgment-debtor before the sale, there would be nothing to be sold, as declaration in the decree-holder's favour in a suit under O. 21, R. 63, would not only be futile but sometimes even be mischievous, as it may lead an unwary purchaser into thinking that he is buying a subsisting interest. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 803=1939 Mad. 456= (1939) 1 M. L. J. 802 (F. B.). Order dismissing claim by person in adverse possession—Omission to file suit—Sale in execution subsequently set aside—Decree satisfied otherwise—Effect—Order of dismissal

(2) If the garnishee appears in answer to the notice issued under r. 63-B and disputes his liability to pay the debt attached, the Court, instead of making an order as aforesaid, may order that any issue or question necessary for determining his liability be tried as though it were an issue in a suit, and may proceed to determine such issue, and upon the determination of such issue shall pass such order upon the notice as shall be just.

63-D. Whenever in any proceedings under the foregoing rules it is alleged by the garnishee that the debt attached belongs to some third person, or that any third person has a lien or charge upon or interest in it, the Court may order such third person to appear and state the nature and particulars of his claim, if any, upon such debt and prove the same if necessary.

63-E. After hearing such third person and any other person who may subsequently be ordered to appear, or in the case of such third or other person not appearing as ordered the Court may pass such order as is provided in the foregoing rules, or make such other order as the Court shall think fit, upon such terms in all cases with respect to the lien, charge or interest, if any, of such third or other person as shall seem just and reasonable.

does not break adverse possession or estop claimant from pleading it. 49 L. W. 671=1939 Mad. 456=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 802 (F.B.).

FOR COSTS OF CLAIM PETITION.—See 20 L. W. 557=83 I.C. 89=1925 M. 233 (1). Where a claim is preferred under O. 21, R. 58, and is rejected with costs and the defeated claimant files a suit under O. 21, R. 63, it is substantially one to set aside the summary order and where the suit is decreed, each party being directed to bear its own costs it amounts to a setting aside of the summary order, and superseding of the prior order as to costs and hence the prior order as to costs is unexecutable. The prior summary order must be deemed to have been set aside wholly and not in part. 175 I.C. 753=I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 519=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 376. Suit by defeated claimant—Cost of claim proceedings—If can be decreed. 119 I.C. 213 (1)=1929 R. 128 (1); 1933 R. 91=144 I.C. 315.

JURISDICTION.—In a suit to establish a right to attached property the value of the subject-matter of the suit for determining jurisdiction will be the amount of the decree in satisfaction of which it is sought to bring the property to sale. 2 A. 799; 9 A. 140; 17 A. 69. The valuation for jurisdiction of a suit, involving avoidance of transfer under S. 53, T.P. Act, must be the value of the properties transferred and not the amount of the decree sought to be executed. This valuation cannot be the sum-total of the debts due to all the existing creditors for the term 'creditor' includes not only creditors at the time of the assignment but also those who subsequently become creditors. But when the suit of the attaching creditor does not involve the avoidance of any transfer of property, the Act has no application and the suit need not be brought as a representative suit, and its valuation for jurisdiction would be the amount of the decree sought to be executed or the value of the property whichever is less. 152 I.C. 555=1934 R. 302. See also 12 R. 670=1934 R. 332. The value of the declaratory suit is the value of the decree in execution of which the property was sold and not the value of the property sold. 40 A. 505=

The valuation of the suit in cases where the value of the property is greater than the amount of the decree, is the amount of the decree. (38 A. 72, Appr.; 17 A. 69, Overruled.) 55 A. 315=1933 A.L.J. 222=1933 A. 249 (F.B.). The amount which settles jurisdiction is the amount which the execution creditor will recover if he is successful, and not the value of the property attached. 15 C. 104. The nature of the claim and the right sought to be enforced, determine the Court in which the suit has to be instituted. 7 C. 608. A Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to try a suit under R. 63 of the Code (51 M. 774 and 1932 M. 716, Rel. on). 146 I.C. 600=1933 M. 865=65 M.L.J. 775. See also 1937 O.W.N. 1164. Where in execution of rent decree a certain land was attached but, on intervention of an objector, the land was held not liable to attachment, a suit by the decree-holder to determine the rights between the objector and himself is not one which the Revenue Court, the jurisdiction of which is strictly limited, is competent to entertain under S. 77 of the Punjab Tenancy Act. Having regard to S. 88 of the same Act and the rules made thereunder, O. 21, Rr. 58 to 63, apply to the case and the matter could only be determined by a suit under R. 63 brought in a Civil Court. 15 L. 836=61 I.A. 371=1934 P.C. 217=67 M.L.J. 641 (P.C.).

The value of a suit under O. 21, R. 63, for purposes of jurisdiction, is its value to the plaintiff. If the value of the property is less than the value of the decree, the value of the action to the plaintiff would be not the decretal amount but the market-value of the property. If, however, the value of the decree is less than the value of the property, then the value of the decree affects the value of the suit. If the property has already been sold in execution of the decree before 63-F. Payment made by or levied by execution upon the garnishee in accordance with any order made under these rules shall be a valid discharge to him as against the judgment-debtor, and any other person ordered to appear under these rules, for the amount paid or levied, although such order or the judgment may be set aside or reversed.

63-G. The cost of any application for the attachment of a debt or under the foregoing rules, and of any proceedings arising from or incidental to such application, shall be in the discretion of the Court. Costs awarded to the decree-holder shall unless otherwise directed be retained out of the money recovered by him under the garnishee order and in priority to the amount of his decree.

the suit, the value of the suit to the plaintiff is the value of the property which he has lost by reason of the execution proceedings. 43 C.W.N. 609. If an objection made in the executing Court under O. 21, R. 58, is dismissed, the sole remedy of the objector is a suit under O. 21, R. 63, and such a suit falls within Art. 17 of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act. I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 342=A.I.R. 1937 Nag. 253. In order to bring a case within the purview of O. 21, R. 63, the question as to whether the claim was investigated or not is immaterial. Even if a claim is dismissed for non-prosecution, the claimant is bound to institute a suit under O. 21, R. 63, failing which the order becomes conclusive and final. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 291=43 C.W.N. 999=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 620.

RIGHT TO SUE.—The proper procedure for a party to adopt, when the objection to his right to attach is made and it is found on enquiry that there has been no valid attachment, is not to institute a suit under R. 63, but to apply to Court for the issue of a fresh warrant of attachment. 156 I. C. 697=1935 R. 186. A receiver appointed by High Court brought a suit against a father and son. The father was exonerated and a decree obtained against the son. The father and the second son put in a claim which was dismissed and thereupon filed a suit under R. 63 without obtaining sanction to sue the receiver. Held, that the rule forbidding the bringing of a suit against a Receiver is a mere procedure of Court not resting on any statutory authority, whereas the right to bring a suit under R. 63 was statutory; that statutory right to sue cannot be defeated by any rule of practice; that proceedings under R. 63 being only a continuation of the suit, no sanction was in fact necessary; and that even if sanction was necessary, the sanction by the Sub-Judge was sufficient. 37 L.W. 346=1933 M.W.N. 152=1933 M. 340. Where the occupancy rights held by a judgment-debtor are attached in execution of a decree against him, the landlord of the land in which the occupancy rights are held, is entitled to bring a suit under O. 21, R. 63 for a declaration that the occupancy rights cannot be attached and sold in execution of the decree. 40 P.L.R. 946=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 677. of her husband. held, that that did not remove the case from the operation of S. 47, and no separate suit will lie, but that the matter has to be determined in execution proceedings and an appeal will lie in the ordinary course. 58 B. 513=152 I.C. 168=36 Bom.L.R. 608. See also 1935 A.L.J. 74=1935 A.W.R. 39=153 I.C. 577=1935 A. 183 (Case of objection by legal representative); 179 I. C. 538. A sale in execution of a decree in a suit based on the personal debt of a Hindu widow, can only convey her life-interest in the property. On her death, the interest of an auction-purchaser of such property, will terminate. If he remains in possession, he does so without any right or title, and his sale need not be set aside. A creditor of the estate whose attachment of such property has been released on objection by the auction-purchaser, can sue for a declaration under O. 21, R. 63. 1937 O.W.N. 1181=A.I.R. 1938 Oudh 35. Where in claim proceedings the objectors have impleaded both the decree-holders and the judgment-debtor but an order is passed on the failure of the judgment-debtor to appear even though he was served, the proceedings would be ex parte so far as he is concerned; the order passed in the claim objections is one made against both the judgment-debtor and the decree-holders. That being so, R. 63 gives him right to institute a regular suit for a declaration without having to do anything more. 158 I.C. 825=1935 L. 534. Decree benami—Attachment in execution of decree against real owner—Objection by benamidar allowed—Suit by decree-holder for declaration—Maintainability. 41 L.W. 34=1935 M. 140=68 M.L.J. 129. A creditor having attached and brought to sale the one-third share of the judgment-debtor which he had inherited from his mother, the latter's daughter objected under R. 58 on the ground that he was a mortgagee of the whole property from the mother. Her objection was upheld and the share was sold subject to her mortgage. She filed a suit on her mortgage whereupon the creditor objected to the mortgage and also brought a suit under R. 63, for a declaration that the mortgage was collusive and without consideration. It was contended that the creditor firm had no locus standi and could not be allowed to challenge the mortgage as being without consideration. Held, that the firm by purchasing land at the Court auction succeeded to the rights of the judgment-debtor his mother's property and he being the representative of his mother, the firm was also a representative of the mother and therefore had a right to challenge the mortgage and to assert that it was a sham and collusive transaction and without consideration. 161 I.C. 342=1936 R. 2.

FRAME OF SUIT.—Suit under this rule by defeated decree-holder—If and when one under S. 53, T.P.Act. 62 C.L.J. 548. A suit by the judgment-creditor under O. 21, R. 63, C.P.Code, praying for a declaration that a sale-deed, on which the successful claimant based his claim, is void, and that the property covered by it is liable to attachment and sale in execution of his decree, need not necessarily be one on behalf of himself and all other creditors of the judgment-debtor, as falling under S. 53, T.P. Act. The creditor should not be compelled to prove that the sale-deed was made with intent to defeat and delay creditors generally, when he only wants a declaration in a limited form that the transfer is void as against him. 39 Bom.L.R. 917=A.I.R. 1937 Bom. 476. See also 17 Pat. 588=180 I.C. 983=1939 Pat. 138; 1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 798=1939 A.L.J. 1020=1940 All. 72; 51 L.W. 608=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 872. A judgment-creditor who is defeated at the instance of an intervener in proceedings taken in execution of his decree is not bound necessarily to file a suit under S. 53 of the T.P.Act. He is entitled under R. 63, to bring a suit for a declaration that the intervener-claimant has no title and that he (the decree-holder) has the right to attach the property and bring it to sale in execution of his decree. R. 63 does not say that the suit by the defeated decree-holder must be a representative suit brought by the judgment-creditor for and on behalf of the general body of creditors of the judgment-debtor. The rule is not subject to S. 53 of the T.P.Act. All that the last paragraph of S. 53 (1), T.P.Act, says is that if a creditor (which term includes a decree holder) wants to avoid a transfer on the ground that it has been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor, then he must sue on behalf and for the benefit of all the creditors. But it does not say that a creditor who wants to enforce his own right to property as against another creditor or a transferee must bring a representative suit. A suit to establish the decree-holder's priority need not be a representative suit. (Point fully discussed.) I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 445=40 Bom.L.R. 371=A.I.R. 1938 Bom. 289. See also 1937 O.W.N. 1169=1938 Oudh 33. A creditor proceeding under R. 63, who does not know of the existence of other creditors is not bound to bring a representative suit to represent persons of whose existence he is not aware. It is for the defendant who as debtor knows whether he has other creditors to object that there are other creditors and that a representative suit should be filed. If no such objection is raised by him, the Court is entitled to hold that there are no other creditors and that the plaintiff can sue for himself alone. 15 Luck. 503=1940 O.W.N. 285=A.I.R. 1940 Oudh 200. The terms of R. 63, are wide enough to include a suit based on title; and in order to prove that the claimant has a right to the property in dispute, a consideration of his title as well as of possession will be relevant. The two questions cannot be separated from each other. 1935 M. 596=41 L.W. 726=68 M.L.J. 590. See also 20 N.L.J. 199. In a suit under this rule the attachment is the cause of action, and different purchasers of the attached property can be joined as defendants in the same suit. 27 M. 94; 28 A. 41; 16 B. 615. See also 17 C. 436 (P.C.); 23 B. 266; 4 M. 131; 13 B. 72; 10 B. 659; 17 M. 389; 7 C. 608. An ordinary creditor, much less an attaching decree-holder, need not sue in a representative character to set aside a fraudulent alienation. 42 M. 143=36 M.L.J. 231. Also 59 I.C. 947=43 M. 760 (F.B.); 71 I.C. 20; 133 I.C. 118=1931 L. 430. When a suit is brought under the provisions of R. 63, by an attaching creditor to establish his right to attach and bring to sale certain property, and in order that he may succeed it is necessary to avoid a transfer of the property on the ground that the transfer has been made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors of the transferor, the suit must be brought in the form of a representative suit, on behalf of or for the benefit of all the creditors of the transferor, and the provisions of O. 1, R. 8 will be applicable, and the transferee and the judgment-debtors as transferors, will be necessary defendants in such a suit. 12 R. 670=1934 R. 332. See also 1937 Rang. 249; 152 I.C. 555=1936 A.M.L.J. 104. O. 21, R. 63, is clearly intended to apply only to claims and objections which can properly be preferred under R. 58. A mortgagee cannot come to Court under R. 58 and argue that the mortgaged property is not liable to attachment. If a mortgagee who is not in possession of the property files a suit for possession after the dismissal of the objection preferred by him under R. 58, the suit cannot properly be described as one under O. 21, R. 63, but it is simply one for possession on the footing of the alleged mortgage. To such a suit, the rule that the onus of proving title lies on the plaintiff who had raised an unsuccessful objection before the executing Court has no application. 40 P.L.R. 682=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 760. A plaintiff suing under O. 21, R. 63, is only required to obtain a declaration of his rights or title in so far as it is affected by the order which he seeks to impeach. He is not bound to ask for a consequential relief. The proviso to S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act does not operate to take away from a party against whom an adverse order is made on a claim petition the special right conferred by O. 21, R. 63 to sue for a declaration. 47 L.W. 724=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 741=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 803. See 20 P.L.T. 640. It is not obligatory on a plaintiff in a suit under R. 63 to press the whole of the claim raised by him in the objection under R. 58. If he realises that part of his claim in objection cannot be sustained, he is entitled to omit it when bringing a suit under R. 63. 1936 Pesh. 206.

PARTIES TO THE SUIT.—When after a claim is disallowed, the claimant sells his interest in the property to a third person, the rule does not prevent the purchaser from bringing a suit. 26 A. 89. The auction-purchaser is a necessary party and if there is no suit in which he is a party until more than a year after the dismissal of objection to the attachment, the order dismissing the objection is conclusive in favour of the auction-purchaser. 155 I.C. 272=1935 Pesh. 29. Per Nasim Ali, J.—Where a claim is allowed the attaching decree-holder is the person against whom the order in the claim case is made. He is, therefore, entitled in a suit under O. 21, R. 63, to establish the right which he claims to the property attached. In such a suit the judgment-debtor may not be a necessary party. But whether he is a proper party in such a suit would depend upon the pleadings. 74 C.L.J. 180. A decree-holder is not a necessary party to a suit under R. 63, O. 21, by an unsuccessful objector. 105 I.C. 799. But see 165 I.C. 252=1936 Pesh. 189, where attached property was sold in execution. Where a claim petition falling within the purview of O. 21, R. 58, objecting to an attachment is dismissed as not pressed, the order is one "against" the claimant even though there has been no investigation of the claim and an adjudication on the merits. It is necessary for such a claimant to file a suit within one year of such order as provided under O. 21, R. 63 if he wishes to reopen the matter. [35 M. ## NOTES.

785=1937 P. 76; 167 I.C. 48=1937 N. 1. In such suit if he once establishes the consideration, good faith follows, as a matter of course, except in cases of exceptional nature. 1937 N. 85. See also 18 N.L.J. 329. In cases under R. 63 the burden of proving validity of the alienation is on the plaintiff. Defendant however cannot escape the burden at some stage or other. If plaintiff produces his deed and swears that it is genuine and for full consideration and defendants have nothing to say to the contrary plaintiff will succeed and where the burden of plaintiff is so light, it is scarcely worth enquiring whether it is more correct to say that the burden is originally on the defendants or upon the plaintiff. But where defendant has something substantial to say to the contrary, the real burden must inevitably fall upon plaintiff to establish the right which he claims. 55 M. 748=137 I.C. 879=1932 M. 302=62 M.L.J. 236=1937 N. 9; 1937 N. 143. Where the judgment debtor has sold his property to another person, the fact that he was seriously embarrassed at that time by pressing creditors and had motive for disposing of the property to persons out of their reach does not prevent the burden from still lying on decree-holder to show that the transaction of sale was not a real transfer. 182 I.C. 748=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 81. Where the facts are fully established and the inference from them is clear, the question of onus is not material. 1938 O.W.N. 1248=A.I.R. 1938 P.C. 290 (P.C.). Where an order has been made rejecting a claim to attached property, based on a registered sale deed obtained by the claimant, it is not enough for the defeated claimant suing to set aside the claim order, to produce and prove a duly registered deed executed by the owner of the property. He must show, in order to succeed in the suit, that the sale in his favour was a genuine transaction and that he had purchased the property for valuable consideration. That is a fact specially within the plaintiff's knowledge and the burden of proving it must obviously lie on him. The recital as to the passing of consideration in the sale deed cannot be of any evidentiary value by itself against a person who was not a party to the deed. 1940 M.W.N. 557=51 L.W. 34=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 444. Onus—Gift held to be fraudulent—Fraud not pleaded or raised in issue—Dismissal of suit—Correctness of. 34 P.L.R. 205=1933 L. 550. The onus of proving that the property is the judgment-debtor's lies on plaintiff, and whether or not defendant has a title, the plaintiff must prove the title of the judgment-debtor. 17 B. 94 (99). As to burden of proof in suit by creditor and in suit by claimant, see 157 I.C. 309=16 Pat.L.T. 367=1935 P. 231. Transfer to another creditor after decree but before attachment by itself is no indication of fraud. 100 I.C. 993 (1)=1927 R. 168. But if the plaintiff adduces evidence sufficient to raise a presumption that the alienation to defendant might be fraudulent, then the onus lies upon the defendant to prove bona fides. 67 I.C. 876. Proof by unsuccessful claimant is required not only of execution of document but of the passing of consideration and delivery of possession. 4 O.W.N. 794=105 I.C. 208=1927 O. 440. And also that the transaction was genuine. 142 I.C. 112=34 P.L.R. 363=1933 L. 537. See also 32 C.W. Regarding proof and shifting of onus, see 1926 L. 25; 143 I.C. 419=1933 N. 185. When passing of consideration and transfer of possession is proved, the onus is shifted on the defendant to show that a fraud was intended. 55 I.C. 72; 1926 N. 293. Also 89 I.C. 953 (1); 1937 Rang. 362. The onus of proving mala fides and want of consideration on the plaintiff's part is on those who resist the claim. 55 I.C. 205. Plaintiff can also show that there was no attachment or that it was invalid. 1927 M. 450=99 I.C. 989. But see 44 L.W. 728=1936 M. 971=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 133, where it was held, that the fact that the attachment is invalid will not absolve the plaintiff from proving his title to the property.

DEFENCES.—The defendant may impeach a transaction voidable as against him. 55 I.C. 752. A plea of fraudulent transfer is a good defence to a suit by a transferee. 57 I.C. 430=22 Bom.L.R. 743. Also 43 M. 760=36 M.L.J. 350 (F.B.), overruling 41 M. 612=43 I.C. 651 (F.B.) and 34 I.C. 778=30 M.L.J. 565. See also 54 I.C. 798=16 N.L.R. 3. An auction purchaser cannot question the title of the mortgagee when his purchase is subject to the mortgage. 51 I.C. 100=45 P.L.R. 1919. Suit under R. 63 is in essence a continuation of the execution proceedings. Such a suit is for decision of a question of title and there is no reason for holding that a plaintiff may not rely upon points which he had not raised in the summary objection proceedings to begin with but which he urged during these proceedings later on. 166 I.C. 869=1937 Pesh. 13. Right to transferred decree—Plea in defence open. Where a transferee of a decree sues under R. 63 to establish his right thereto, it is open to those impugning the transfer to allege either that the transfer was a sham transaction executed without consideration and not intended to take effect or that it was a transaction executed for a consideration and intended to take effect, but made with a view to defraud the creditors of the transferor by removing the property out of their reach. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 316=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 249.

PROCEDURE IN THE SUIT.—The question of title of claimant should be enquired into as on the date of claim. In a suit to set aside claim order, subsequent perfection of title is not a valid defence. 33 M.L.J. 316=42 I.C. 438. It is irregular to admit the depositions of parties in the claim investigation. The finding in the suit must be based on the evidence tendered and taken in the suit itself. 22 I.C. 676; 14 W.R. 95. In the suit, though the claim was with reference to the whole of the property, the Court can pass a decree declaring a partial interest. 28 I.C. 576=21 C.L.J. 302. Where certain property is attached and ordered to be sold but before sale a suit is filed under O. 21, R. 63, for a declaration that he has a subsisting and valid mortgage over the property and that the property should be sold subject to his mortgage the Court should enquire into the existence and genuineness of the mortgage set up and should not leave it to the bailiff to make intimation to the bidders that there is a claim that the mortgage existed. 157 I.C. 507=1935 R. 207.

EFFECT OF DECREE IN THE SUIT.—The decree in the suit by a decree-holder revives the attachment. 48 I.C. 386=5 O.L.J. 647; 1929 C. 524; 7 O.W.N. 887. A transfer of property pending a suit is lis pendens. 38 M. 535=26 M.L.J. 449. The decree that the property could not be sold, renders void all proceedings taken in execution. 20 I.C. 790=18 C.W.N. 910. Where after a claim to attached property under O. 21, R. 58, is rejected the attached property is put up for sale and purchased by the decree-holder and full satisfaction of the decree is entered, and subsequently a suit brought by the defeated claimant under O. 21, R. 63 is decreed, the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor both being parties to such suit, the effect of the decree obtained by the claimant is to set aside the sale, and no formal order to that effect is required. When the order passed in execution proceedings is subsequently set aside, the foundation upon which the sale stands in favour of the decree-holder purchaser disappears and the sale ipso facto stands vacated, no formal order by the executing Court being necessary to set aside the sale. the decree-holder auction-purchaser should in such cases be allowed to execute his decree afresh, provided there is a total failure of consideration, that is to say, he loses by the suit the entire property purchased by him in auction. The absence of a formal order of the executing Court setting aside the sale is no bar, and it is the duty of the executing Court in the exercise of its inherent powers to grant relief. 20 Pat. 261. Where suit under this rule to declare a mortgage has been dismissed, fresh suit to enforce the mortgage is barred. 44 M. 268=40 M.L.J. 7. Declaratory suit dismissed on ground of ceasing of attachment due to dismissal of execution proceedings does not decide title to the attached property. 146 I. C. 758=1933 R. 190. Claim petition was subject to the "result of the suit" and that expression included the result of the appeal against the decree in the suit. 7 O.W.N. 213=121 I.C. 902. See also 54 L.W. 45. In a suit to set aside a claim order, the rights of the parties on the date of the attachment or on the date of the order on the claim petition are the rights which have to be taken into consideration. Where an unsuccessful claimant has not been in possession of the property in dispute which he claims to have purchased, for 12 years on the date of the attachment or on the date of the order dismissing his claim, and has not perfected his title by prescription on either of those dates, he cannot by waiting for some months and then bringing his suit, be permitted to say that on the date of the suit he has completed twelve years and thereby got a title by prescription. It is not possible for the plaintiff to clothe himself with additional rights by waiting for some months and then compel the rightful owner (the judgment-debtor) to lose his right to the property. 48 L.W. 375=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 857=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 430.

O. 21, R. 63 (b) and (c): RANGOON AMENDMENT.—R. 63 (b) of O. 21, (Rangoon High Court) is designed to give the garnishee ample opportunity of disputing his liability to pay the amount or disputing his liability to pay anything or of showing that the amount of the debt is less than that mentioned in the notice. When a garnishee fails to appear in answer to the notice under R. 63 (b) and an order under R. 63 (c) (1) is made, it is the final determination of the question as to the liability of the garnishee to pay the debt and as to the fact that the debt is not less than the amount mentioned in the notice of attachment and hence the garnishee is not entitled to raise those questions thereafter. 1941 Rang.L.R. 177. Until there is a definite order against the garnishee to pay under O. 21, R. 63 (c) (1), there is nothing executable directly against the garnishee as a decree. 1939 Rang.L.R. 694=187 I.C. 105=A.I.R. 1940 Rang. 34.

O. 21, Rr. 63 and 66: SUMMARY ORDER ON AN OBJECTION TO SALE PROCLAMATION—EFFECT. The mere question of whether there was a prior charge would not be an objection to the attachment. It is only when an inquiry is held and an order is passed under one of the Rr. 60 or 61, that there is an order which is conclusive under R. 63; and without an inquiry there can be no such conclusive order. Hence a summary order passed on an objection to the sale proclamation does not have any of the effects of an order under R. 63. 1938 A.L.J. 940=A.I.R. 1938 All. 542.

O. 21, R. 63 (A): LAHORE.—See 191 I.C. 612. O. 21, R. 63-A contemplates an inquiry only where the judgment-debtor claims a debt from a garnishee. Where money due to a member from Co-operative Society is attached and prohibition order is issued to the Society but the member does not claim any debt from the Co-operative Society but claims to be a shareholder of the Society at the time when the prohibitory order was issued there is no dispute as regards any debt between the judgment-debtor and the alleged garnishee, which can be inquired into under O. 21, R. 63 (A). It follows therefore that the finding given in the proceedings relating to the objection raised by

Sale generally.

64. Any Court executing a decree may order that any property attached by it and liable to sale, or such portion thereof as may seem necessary to satisfy the decree, shall be sold, and that the proceeds of such sale, or a sufficient portion thereof, shall be paid to the party entitled under the decree to receive the same.

Power to order property attached to be sold and proceeds to be paid to person entitled.

the judgment-debtor in connection with the attachment of his shares cannot bind the Society. 42 P.L.R. 225=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 305. There is an implied contract in the case of a mortgage that the mortgagee is to pay the whole of the amount for which the land is mortgaged, and that a suit is maintainable by the mortgagor to recover the unpaid balance of the mortgage-money from the mortgagee. Where money is reserved with the mortgagee in trust for payment to the creditors of the mortgagor, a suit by the mortgagor to recover the money so reserved on default of payment is maintainable and therefore money so left with mortgagee becomes a debt due to the mortgagor and the mortgagee becomes a garnishee within the meaning of R. 63-A. 159 I.C. 763=1935 L. 26. Where the garnishee in the above case objected to the attachment of the money on the ground that the amount had been adjusted in some other account with the mortgagor and there was no money left with him to be attached and his objection was rejected and he filed a suit for declaration that the money left with him had been adjusted and there was no money to be attached. Held, that his remedy was to file an appeal from the order of the executing Court and the suit was incompetent under R. 63-A. 159 I.C. 763=1935 L. 26. Attachment of debt due to judgment-debtor—Judgment-debtor's claim against garnishee becoming barred during investigation by Court. Held, that it was competent to the Court to order the garnishee to pay the amount in spite of the expiry of limitation after attachment or at any rate during investigation under R. 63 (A). 1937 L. 255. On an application by the decree-holder under R. 63 (A) to secure adjudication as to the indebtedness of other persons to his judgment-debtor, a Court-fee stamp of only one rupee is payable, and the decree-holder cannot be required to pay an ad valorem Court-fee on such an application. 17 L. 467=38 P.L.R. 199.

O. 21, R. 63-H: (PATNA AMENDMENT).—The new rule of O. 21, R. 63-H does not confer a right of appeal in garnishee matters in cases where no appeal ordinarily lies, e.g., in the execution of a decree of the Court of Small Causes by that Court itself. 22 Pat. L.T. 396=196 I.C. 66.

O. 21, R. 64.—This rule does not apply to a money decree. It cannot be sold in execution. Once such a decree is attached the procedure indicated in O. 21, R. 53 should be followed. 13 P.L.T. 612=1932 P. 349. A Court cannot refuse to sell on the ground that a stranger to the suit impeaches the decree. 5 B. 532; 15 B. 98. The material date for determining the status of a defendant in execution as to whether he is an agriculturist or not, under the Dekkan Agriculturists' Relief Act, is the date of the order for sale under R. 64, and not the date of the order subsequently made after notice under R. 66. 152 I.C. 589.

AN APPEAL will lie from an order passed under this rule. 4 C.L.R. 27. Order under Rr. 64 and 66 directing properties to be sold in a particular order—Appeal. 156 I.C. 141=1935 M. 714. Under O. 21, R. 64, C. P. Code, it is not incumbent upon the executing Court to value the property to be sold, except in cases where the Bihar Money Lenders Act applies, and to order a sale of part only of the property, if the proceeds of such part would, in the opinion of the Court, be sufficient to satisfy the decree. The Court has no doubt a discretion to order the sale of part only of the property. Where the Court is not asked to act under O. 21, R. 64, by exercising its discretion to sell part only of the property attached, it is not open to the judgment-debtor to raise that point in second appeal and complain that the executing Court has failed to exercise its discretion and therefore the case should be remanded. The High Court will not in second appeal entertain a new point for the first time, where that involves any further investigation of facts. 22 Pat.L.T. 855.

LOC. AM.—[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 64.—In r. 64 for the words “attached by it” substitute the words “in respect of which it has made an order of attachment.”

Insert the words “which is” between the words “and” and “liable.”

65. Save as otherwise prescribed, every sale in execution of a decree shall be conducted by an officer of the Court or by such other person as the Court may appoint in this behalf, and shall be made by public auction in manner prescribed.

LOC. AMS.—[NAGPUR.] Rule 65.—In r. 65 of O. 21, the following sentence shall be added, namely:—

“Such officer or person shall be competent to declare the highest bidder as purchaser at the sale, provided that, where the sale is made in, or within the precincts of the Court-house, no such declaration shall be made without the leave of the Court.”

[RANGOON.] In O. 21, the following shall be substituted for r. 65:—

“65. (1) Sales shall be conducted by Bailiff, or Deputy Bailiff, but the duty may be entrusted to a process-server when the property is movable property not exceeding Rs. 50 in value and when, in the opinion of the Court, for reasons recorded in the diary of the case, the Bailiff or Deputy Bailiff cannot personally conduct the sale.

(2) Subject to the terms of the proviso to r. 43 and of r. 74, some one day in each week shall be set apart and regularly observed for holding sales in execution of decrees; and some well-known place in the vicinity of the Court-house or the public bazaar shall be selected for the purpose.

(3) Subject as aforesaid, and unless the Court is of opinion that for any special reason a sale on the spot where the property is attached or situated will be more beneficial to the judgment-debtor, all property, whether movable or immovable, attached in execution of decree shall be sold at the time and place selected.

The day to be set apart, and the place selected for holding the sales, and any changes therein shall be reported for the information of the High Court.

(4) The following scale is laid down as to the amount which may be deducted from the proceeds of the sale of property sold in execution of the decree, as the expenses of sale, and paid to the officer conducting the sale under the orders of the Court as his authorized commission:—

When the proceeds of sale do not exceed Rs. 500—5 per cent.

Where they exceed Rs. 500 and do not exceed Rs. 5,000—5 per cent. on the first Rs. 500 and 2 per cent. on the remainder.

Where they exceed Rs. 5,000—at the above rate on the first Rs. 5,000 and one per cent. on the remainder. The calculation of the commission shall be on the whole amount realized in pursuance of one application for execution.

(5) Subject to the provisions of sub-rule (13) of r. 45-B, no further sum beyond this authorized commission and the cost of conveyance of property to the place of sale shall be deducted from the sale proceeds.

O. 21, R. 66.—Per Sulaiman, J.—An order under O. 21, R. 66 is not a judicial adjudication of any question arising between the parties to the execution, but merely the issuing of directions as to the mode of proclamation of sale. The approximate estimation of the value of the property cannot ever be regarded as a determination of any question arising between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor within the meaning of S. 47, C. P. Code, and such an order is not appealable as a decree. 2 Fed.L.J. 183=A.I.R. 1939 F.C. 74=(1939) 2 M.L.J. (Supp.) 45. Court is entitled to presume that the provisions of this rule have been complied with. 9 A. 690. The words 'part of the estate' mean aliquot part of an estate. 11 Bom.L.R. 56. Where a debt is to be sold, and the debtor says that no debt exists, the Court should satisfy itself that a debt exists, before ordering its sale. 4 B. 323. See also 10 M. 194; 28 A. 262. No duty is cast by this rule on the judgment-debtor to help Court by particulars. 105 I.C. 335. But see 27 A.L.J. 619=116 I.C. 448. The obligation of settling a sale proclamation really rests on the Court. It is incumbent on the Court to see that all the particulars required under O. 21, R. 66 are given properly so as to enable intending bidders to know exactly what they are going for. It is very undesirable that properties should be sold in large lots. The Court would do well to group the lands into small and convenient lots after notice to the parties and settle the sale proclamation with proper upset prices and have the properties sold. 47 L.W. 773=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 720. Under O. 21, R. 66, the executing Court has to insert in the sale proclamation the valuation given by the judgment-debtor, and that valuation has to be inserted as given by the judgment-debtor and must not be altered or corrected by the decree-holder before insertion. Where in execution of a final decree on a mortgage, a number of villages in an estate constituted into a separate mahal by collectorate partition are proclaimed for sale as a single block with a single upset price, and the judgment-debtor puts in a separate valuation of each village and prays that the sale should be held village by village, the Court must accept the same and order a sale village by village, and the mahal should, for purposes of sale, be broken up into lots, although the sale is the sale of a single mahal. It is not, however, necessary that the proclamation should be separately published in every village affected, but the sale should be directed on the valuation as given by the judgment-debtor for each village, and village by village. 189 I.C. 355=21 Pat.L.T. 108=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 422. The failure to issue any proclamation at all does not ipso facto vitiate the sale. [21 C. 66 (P.C.), Rel. on.] 151 I.C. 382=1934 R. 188.

NOTICE.—Irregularity in service of Notice—Burden of proof. 145 I.C. 915=1933 P. 640. The provisions under this rule for notice are directory and not mandatory. They are not for the benefit of the judgment-debtor but with a view to ascertain exact rights. 44 I.C. 252. But see 181 I.C. 542=1939 Pesh. 9. Omission to issue notice on a fresh execution application for settlement of terms of proclamation does not constitute an irregularity. 65 I.C. 988=24 O.C. 291; also 90 I.C. 351=1926 O. 76; 1939 Pesh. 9. Omission to give notice of sale to the judgment-debtor renders the sale void. 38 I.C. 98=11 Bur.L.T. 40. But see contra 99 I.C. 515=1927 L. 84. So also want of notice to legal representative of judgment-debtor. 49 A. 830=102 I.C. 239=25 A.L.J. 507. See also 145 I.C. 731=1933 A. 654. The fact that the judgment-debtor has not appeared at any previous stage of the proceedings does not absolve the Court from complying with the O. 21, R. 66 (2) which requires a notice to be sent to the judgment-debtor. Omission to give such notice is a material irregularity. 20 N.L.J. 283. An ex parte order settling the terms of a proclamation does not operate as res judicata in an application for release of property which had been attached without notice to him. 46 M. 768=45 M.L.J. 346. The failure to pass a formal order under O.

(2) Such proclamation shall be drawn up after notice to the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor and shall state the time and place of sale, and specify as fairly and accurately as possible—

(a) the property to be sold ;

(b) the revenue assessed upon the estate or part of the estate, where the property to be sold is an interest in an estate or in part of an estate paying revenue to the Government ;

(c) any incumbrance to which the property is liable ;

NOTES.

TIME AND PLACE.—The time of sale which is required to be set out means the time at which the sale would begin. Bidding ought not therefore to start until the advertised time arrives. 1936 A.M.L.J. 13. No sale can take place except at the time advertised. 16 C. at 798. Date of proclamation is the day on which the public are made known of its subject-matter. Court can fix another date when the due date has already expired. 39 I.C. 715. A proclamation which does not state the place of sale is irregular. 9 A. 511. See also 5 Bur.L.J. 183. The sale should ordinarily be held at some place within the jurisdiction of the Court ordering the sale. 13 B. 22. A sale held at a time or place different from the one mentioned in the proclamation is not an illegality that invalidates sale in toto. It is only an irregularity which only makes the sale voidable at the instance of the debtor, if it has caused substantial loss. 1933 Pesh. 57. Where the judgment-debtor objects to the order of sale on the ground of material defect in the sale proclamation at a time when he was not prevented under law from raising such objection, but the application is dismissed solely on the ground that the remedy under O. 21, R. 90 is open to him and if it is eventually found that that remedy is not available to him under the law, the judgment-debtor is entitled to claim an adjudication upon the objections taken by him at an earlier stage. 177 I.C. 116=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 65.

O. 21, R. 66 (2) (a).—Absence of plan of house does not vitiate sale. 1925 O. 150 (1). Omission to mention that the interest of the judgment-debtor was only one third does not amount to misdescription and does not vitiate sale. 134 I.C. 692=33 Bom.L.R. 750=1931 B. 367. Where after due notice and with his full knowledge, judgment-debtor allows properties to be sold in execution, he is precluded from afterwards impeaching the sale on the ground that the mortgagee has caused to be sold in execution properties, which were not comprised in the mortgage and which could not therefore be lawfully sold. 40 C.W.N. 428.

O. 21, R. 66 (2) (b).—Omission of statement of revenue assessed, in a sale proclamation is an irregularity on which a sale can be set aside. 45 M.L.J. 403=28 C.W.N. 593=75 I.C. 546=1923 P.C. 93 (P.C.). At an execution sale, the mining rights which the judgment-debtor had under a certain document of lease were sold. In the sale proclamation, the boundaries of the area covered by the document were indicated but not its extent. Further no indication was given of the nature of the coal deposits. There was also no extract of the document of lease. As regards valuation of the property, there were contradictory statements. Held, that the sale proclamation did not comply with the terms of O. 21, R. 66 (2). 42 C.W.N. 661.

O. 21, R. 66 (2) (c).—It is the duty of Court to obtain from all available sources, a list of existing encumbrances, but the Court does not and cannot guarantee that the list published contains all existing encumbrances or that the incumbrances notified are valid. 27 A. 97 (110) (F.B.). Where property is in possession of a third person who has a valid title to the same to the knowledge of decree-holder, failure on the part of the decree-holder to make mention of such person's claim to property brought to sale amounted to neglect of the statutory duty imposed on him. 20 N.L.J. 111=1937 N. 140. Arrears of rates due to the corporation in respect of property are, under the Calcutta Municipal tax, a statutory charge on the premises. It is therefore the duty of the party having the carriage of the execution proceedings to find out any arrears of taxes and to have them mentioned in the proclamation of sale. 40 C.W.N. 41=63 C. 621. It is not necessary that the amount of interest on incumbrances should be calculated actually and the figure given. 150 I.C. 1134=1934 M. 260=66 M.L.J. 464. Non-mention of restrictive clauses in the matter of redemption, in the case of mortgages which were mentioned in the sale proclamation, does not render the sale liable to be set aside. 13 L.  (e) every other thing which the Court considers material for a purchaser to know in order to judge of the nature and value of the property.

mention incumbrances in sale proclamation cannot by itself be injurious to judgment-debtor. Whether or not those rights subsist cannot and should not be decided at that stage. 1933 A. 287=1933 A.L.J. 89=146 I.C. 477.

O. 21, R. 66 (2) (d).—Court is entitled to specify in the sale proclamation, and direct execution for, not only the sum due under the decree and interest to the date of the application for execution but also the further interest due from the date of the application to the date of actual sale, though the latter is not expressly included in the application. 36 C.W.N. 404=1932 C. 555.

Valuation given by both the parties being inserted in the sale proclamation. See 83 I.C. 430=1924 C. 589. It cannot be laid down as a general proposition that Court must enquire and give a definite valuation of the property sought to be sold. Court might in the circumstances of a given case state two separate valuations of the property to be sold as given by the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor as it may not be possible to estimate the value even on an elaborate inquiry. 58 C. 577=132 I.C. 687=35 C.W.N. 142=1931 C. 520. If Court does not consider that value of the property should be mentioned in the proclamation on account of the peculiar nature of the property it may not do it; but if on the other hand it considers that the value is a material piece of information for an intending purchaser it should be put "as fairly and accurately as possible". Except in exceptional cases where it is not possible to ascertain the value or where it may be found that in the circumstances of the case the value need not be ascertained, Court is bound to put a fair and accurate value in the proclamation. Where the valuation put by the parties was not satisfactory and it appeared that the approximate valuation could be otherwise ascertained, it is a case wherein the Court should determine the valuation by summary inquiry and insert the same in the sale proclamation. 35 C.W.N. 907. As to the duty of Court in regard to valuation, see 37 C.W.N. 231=60 C. 581=144 I.C. 892=58 C.L.J. 218=1933 C. 511. Also 36 C.W.N. 347=1932 C. 576; 37 C.W.N. 622=60 C. 636. The Court is not at liberty to take any imaginary figure, or to state the value of the property at any figure it thinks to be proper; and though the judgment-debtor who objects to the decree-holder's valuation may fail to lead evidence on the point the Court cannot ignore the enquiry or materials directed by it and which are before it. 159 I.C. 358=37 Bom.L.R. 489=1935 B. 331. (3) Every application for an order for sale under this rule shall be accompanied by a statement signed and verified in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for the signing and verification of the pleadings and containing, so far as they are known to or can be ascertained by the person making the verification, the matters required by sub-rule (2) to be specified in the proclamation.

NOTES.

see 105 I.C. 212=1927 M. 943. In order that a plea of under-valuation should be upheld it must not only be shown that there was under-valuation in fact but also that it prejudiced the judgment-debtor. 32 C.W.N. 309. Lease-hold right in mill—Determination of value. 149 I.C. 1043=1934 L. 146.

O. 21, R. 66 (2), Proviso (N.-W.F.P.) and R. 90.—Proviso to O. 21, R. 66 (2) does not condone the failure of the execution Judge to mention the correct estimate of the value of property proposed to be auctioned. When the decree-holder and judgment-debtor give their respective estimates of the value at two different figures, failure to give both the estimates in the proclamation is serious omission likely to influence the minds of those who propose to buy the property and therefore amounts to material irregularity referred in O. 21, R. 90. 181 I.C. 542=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 9.

O. 21, R. 66 (3).—O. 21, R. 66 (3) makes it mandatory that an application by the decree-holder under R. 66 should be given, as it gives advantage to the Court of enabling it to obtain all necessary information required for drawing up a proclamation of sale. Therefore failure of the decree-holder to present an application under O. 21, R. 66 (3) is a material irregularity contemplated by O. 21, R. 90. 181 I.C. 542=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 9. Verification by a person acquainted with the facts is enough. 59 I.C. 282=1 Pat.L.T. 647. Non-filing of verified statement is mere irregularity. 105 I.C. 335. But see 116 I.C. 65=1929 N. 305. When the proclamation is ambiguous, the decree must be looked into to see what was actually sold. 96 I.C. 771=1926 A. 730.

ESTOPPEL.—The mere fact that a mortgage is noted in a sale proclamation does not establish that the property is sold subject to that mortgage, and the auction-purchaser is not therefore estopped from raising the question of the validity of the mortgage. 171 I.C. 233=1937 O.W.N. 944=A.I.R. 1937 Oudh 493. (4) For the purpose of ascertaining the matters to be specified in the proclamation, the Court may summon any person whom it thinks necessary to summon and may examine him in respect to any such matters and require him to produce any document in his possession or power relating thereto.

“Provided that it shall not be necessary for the Court itself to give its own estimate of the value of the property ; but the proclamation shall include the estimate, if any, given by either or both of the parties.”

[LAHORE.] After sub-rule (2) of r. 66, add the following as sub-rule (3), and re-number the existing sub-rules (3) and (4) as (4) and (5) respectively :—

“(3) Where the property to be sold is movable property which has been made over to a custodian under sub-clauses (a) or (c) of clause (1) of r. 43 of this order, the Court shall also issue a process by way of notice to the custodian, directing him to produce the property at the place of sale, at a time to be specified therein with a warning that if he fails to comply with the directions, he shall be liable to action under S. 145 of the Code of Civil Procedure.”

REVISION.—An order for issue of proclamation is subject to revision by High Court. 2 P.L.J. 130=1917 P. 105.

APPEAL.—An order under this rule is not appealable under O. 43, R. 1. 59 I.C. 282=1 Pat.L.T. 649. See also 1926 C. 1184; 1937 Rang. 157. As to what kinds of orders under this rule are appealable, see 96 I.C. 492=1926 M. 834=51 M.L.J. 135. An appeal lies against an order disallowing the objection of the judgment-debtor. 30 C. 617. But see 27 M. 259 (F.B.). No appeal lies against an order under sub-R. (4). 36 I.C. 402=10 Bur.L.T. 115. No appeal lies against an order overruling objections as to inadequacy of price and as to the sale of the properties in separate lots. 134 I.C. 833=1931 A.L.J. 1084. An order for issue of sale proclamation when a stay has been ordered at the instance of the judgment-debtor is not appealable. 64 I.C. 547=35 C.L.J. 170. A liquidator is not a representative of the judgment-debtor within the meaning of S. 47. Where a liquidator of a co-operative society applied claiming priority over a mortgage decree and the Court passed an order under O. 21, R. 66 giving priority, held, that the order was not appealable. 30 N.L.R. 240=148 I.C. 714=1934 N. 201.

SECOND APPEAL.—If under-valuation and want of notice of sale are the grounds of a petition under R. 90, they properly come under R. 66 and a second appeal is competent. 1925 M.W.N. 701=1925 M. 1142.

STEP-IN-AID.—An oral application for the settlement of terms of proclamation is a step-in-aid of execution. 2 P.L.J. 5=38 I.C. 540.

O. 21, R. 66 (Lahore).—Under O. 21, R. 66, as amended by the Lahore High Court, it is incumbent upon the Court issuing the proclamation to include the estimate of the value of the property, if any, given by either or both the parties. 191 I.C. 612=42 P.L.R. 404=A.I.R. 1940 Lah. 394.

[NAGPUR.] Rule 66.—In cl. (c) of sub-rule (2) of r. 66, after the word “property” insert the words :—

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 66.

Omit the words “shall be drawn up after notice to the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor and” from sub-rule (2) of r. 66, and add the following proviso after sub-clause (c) of sub-rule (2) :—

“Provided that no estimate of the value of the property, other than those, if any, made by the decree-holder and judgment-debtor respectively together with a statement that the Court does not vouch for the accuracy of either, shall be inserted in the sale proclamation.”

[RANGOON.] In O. 21, r. 60, the following shall be added at the end of sub-rule (2) :—

Mode of making proclamation.

67. (1) Every proclamation shall be made and published, as nearly as may be, in the manner prescribed by rule 54, sub-rule (2).

(2) Where the Court so directs, such proclamation shall also be published in the Official Gazette or in a local newspaper, or in both, and the costs of such publication shall be deemed to be costs of the sale.

(3) Where property is divided into lots for the purpose of being sold separately, it shall not be necessary to make a separate proclamation for each lot unless proper notice of the sale cannot, in the opinion of the Court, otherwise be given.

LOC. AMS.—[MADRAS.] Add the following as sub-rule (4) :—

(Vide Fort St. George Gazette, dated 20th October, 1936, Part II, pp. 1394-1396.)

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 67.

Add the following words at the end of sub-r. (1) of r. 67 after deleting the full-stop at the end of the sub-rule :—

“and may, if the Court so directs, on the application of the decree-holder, be proclaimed and published simultaneously with the order of attachment.”

68. Save in the case of property of the kind described in the proviso to rule 43, no sale hereunder shall, without the consent in writing of the judgment-debtor, take place until after the expiration of at least thirty days in the case of immovable property, and of at least fifteen days in the case of movable property, calculated from the date on which the copy of the proclamation has been affixed on the Court-house of the Judge ordering the sale.

Time of sale.

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 66 (Patna).—Where the valuations placed on the property by the decree-holder and by the High Court in an earlier proceeding are entered in the sale proclamation by agreement of both parties, it is not open to the judgment-debtor to contend subsequently that the entries regarding valuation in the sale proclamation constitute a substantial irregularity in the proceedings for sale. 185 I.C. 404=21 P. L.T. 541=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 286.

O. 21, R. 66 (Patna), Proviso.—If repealed by Bihar Money Lenders' Act, S. 16—Repugnancy—Latter section—If void on ground of repugnancy to O. 21, R. 66. 19 Pat.L.T. 760.

O. 21, Rr. 66 and 90, O. 30, R. 3.—Where several judgment-debtors are sued not as partners in the name of their firm but as individuals and the decree directs all of them to pay the decretal amount, notices in execution under O. 21, R. 66 must be served on all judgment-debtors. Failure to serve such notice on any of them amounts to an obvious breach of O. 21, R. 66, which cannot be cured under O. 30, R. 3 and which therefore amounts to a material irregularity within the meaning of O. 21, R. 90. 181 I.C. 542=A.I.R. 1939 Pesh. 9.

O. 21, R. 67.—Omission to fix a copy of the sale proclamation in the Collector's office does not render the sale ipso facto void. 18 C. 422 (F.B.); 12 B. at 370. Failure to publish a sale proclamation by beat of drum, where it is possible to proclaim the sale in that manner, is a material irregularity, though the sale will not be set aside unless loss is proved to have been caused to judgment-debtor. 1933 A.L.J. 73=55 A. 182=1933 A. 747.

O. 21, R. 68.—A sale held in contravention of this rule should, on the application

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD AND OUDH.] O. 21, r. 68.—For the words "fifteen days" read the words "seven days."

[LAHORE AND N.-W.F.P.] In r. 68 for the word "thirty" read "fifteen" and for the word "fifteen" read "one week."

69. (1) The Court may, in its discretion, adjourn any sale hereunder to a specified day and hour, and the officer conducting any such sale may in his discretion adjourn the sale, recording his reasons for such adjournment:

Adjournment or stoppage of sale.

Provided that, where the sale is made in, or within the precincts of, the court-house, no such adjournment shall be made without the leave of the Court.

(2) Where a sale is adjourned under sub-rule (1) for a longer period than seven days, a fresh proclamation under rule 67 shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it.

NOTES.

of judgment-debtor or decree-holder, be set aside. 7 A. 289; 21 C. 66 (P.C.). But the sale is not ipso facto void. 31 C. 385.

CONSENT.—An application made on the day of sale by judgment-debtor, that a part only of his property may be sold instead of the entirety, cannot be considered as such a "consent" as would do away with the necessity of proclamation being issued, 30 days before the day fixed for sale. 5 C. 259. See 6 C.W.N. at 57.

REVISION.—An order under this rule can be set aside on revision. 5 C. 878.

O. 21, R. 69: SCOPE.—The rule has no application to a case where sale is postponed on the ground that decree has been satisfied. 4 Pat.L.T. 495=75 I.C. 676. Rule applies to sales held in virtue of an order absolute for sale under S. 89 of the T. P. Act (O. 34, R. 5). 19 A. 205; 20 A. 354. But see 31 C. 373. When a sale is adjourned under this rule its provisions must be followed with exactitude. 20 M. 159. When a sale is adjourned the officer conducting the sale must record his reasons for such adjournment. 1932 A.L.J. 357=1932 A. 369. Sale not held on date fixed, but subsequently held on date not advertised—As to validity. See 11 Pat.L.T. 743; 1937 Pat. 386 (Sale commenced on date fixed, not finished on that date, but continued next day). O. 21, R. 69 (1) only provides that where the Court adjourns a sale the Court should specify the day and hour, but it does not provide that the officer making an adjournment should also specify the hour. Further, omission to specify hour is not a material irregularity. 4 A.W. R. 1465=1935 A. 182=153 I.C. 410. See also I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 530=1939 Cal. 369. The failure to comply with the provisions of O. 21, R. 69 would not alone render a Court sale a nullity, but it would be necessary for a person who is aggrieved to treat such non-compliance as a material irregularity which he must urge in a properly constituted application under O. 21, R. 90. If, therefore, the judgment-debtors themselves take no steps to have the sale set aside on the ground of non-compliance with O. 21, R. 69, it is not open to the Court to treat the sale as a mere nullity. 67 C.L.J.

96. Sale could be adjourned on application by third party, although the rule does not specifically refer to such a case. 156 I.C. 492=1935 M.W.N. 200=41 L.W. 192=1935 M. 295. Condition imposed on third party applicant for adjournment of sale to deposit money—Legality. (Ibid.)

ADJOURNMENT.—Bidding by decree-holder—Sale kept open for some days to get higher bids—Does not amount to adjournment but is a continuous sale and no fresh proclamation is necessary. 6 P. 432=104 I.C. 215=8 Pat.L.T. 796=1927 P. 312. See also 1928 L. 699=115 I.C. 541; I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 530=43 C.W.N. 539=1939 Cal. 369. Sale should be adjourned to a specified day and hour and omission to specify this is a material irregularity. 31 C. 815 (818); 29 A. 196 (P.C.); 7 C. 34. See also 13 I.C. 337=14 C.L.J. 541; 49 A. 402=25 A.L.J. 302=1927 A. 241. Omission to specify hour is not material irregularity. 153 I.C. 410=4 A.W.R. 1465=1935 A. 182. But see 19 N.L.J. 103; 1937 M. W. N. 1223. But it would not be material irregularity where debtor has agreed to forego proclamation or notice, and hour of sale is not mentioned in adjournment order. 55 A. 519=1933 A.L.J. 1273=143 I.C. 673=1933 A. 546; 1937 M.W.N. 1223. Adjournment sine die is irregular and sale is liable to be set aside. 41 I.C. 68=3 Pat.L.W. 357. As to whether a sale can be adjourned to a holiday, see 3 A. 333. When Court adjourns a sale, but the information not reaching Nazir in time, sale is concluded, the sale is void. 12 A. 96; 12 M.L.J. 97; 1935 L. 694. See 17 C. 152. But see 1930 L. 17. Where execution sale is not conducted within precincts of Court-house the officer conducting it has a discretion to adjourn the sale to next day. 107 I.C. 274.

O. 21, R. 69 (2).—To adjourn an execution sale from time to time beyond the period of seven days is not anything more than an irregularity. 117 I.C. 727=1929 M. 624. Non-issue of fresh proclamation under R. 69 (2) is a mere irregularity and in the absence of proof of substantial injury, sale cannot be set aside. 38 I.A. 200=39 C. 26=16 C.W.N. 1 (P.C.). Also 43 A. 433=19 A.L.J. 262; 2 Luck. 490=100 I.C. 787=4 O.W.N. 273. But see 25 I.C. 17. Even though judgment-debtor consents,

(3) Every sale shall be stopped if, before the lot is knocked down, the debt and costs (including the costs of the sale) are tendered to the officer conducting the sale, or proof is given to his satisfaction that the amount of such debt and costs has been paid into the Court which ordered the sale.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] For r. 69 (2) substitute the following:—

"(2) Where a sale has been once adjourned under sub-rule (1), a fresh proclamation under r. 67 shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it:

Provided that where the adjournment is for a period not longer than 14 days from the date originally fixed for sale, no fresh proclamation shall be necessary:

Provided also that the Court may dispense with the consent of any judgment-debtor who has failed to attend in answer to a notice issued under r. 66."

[BOMBAY.] In sub-rule (2) of r. 69 of O. 21 "thirty days" shall be substituted for "seven days."

[CALCUTTA.] O. 21, r. 69 (2).—Substitute the words "one calendar month" for the words "seven days."

[LAHORE.] In sub-r. (2) of r. 69 "thirty days" shall be substituted for "seven days."

[MADRAS.] Substitute the following for sub-r. (2):—

"(2) Where a sale is adjourned under sub-r. (1) for a longer period than thirty days, a fresh proclamation under r. 67 shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it." (Vide Fort St. George Gazette, dated 20th October, 1936, Pt. II, pp. 1394-1396.)

[NAGPUR.] In sub-r. (2) of r. 69, for the words "seven days" substitute the words "fifteen days."

[N.-W.F.P.] In sub-r. (2), for the word "seven," substitute the word "thirty" and add the following proviso:—"Provided that the Court may dispense with the consent of any judgment-debtor who has failed to attend in answer to a notice issued under r. 66."

[ODISHA.] In r. 69 (2) for the word "seven" read the word "fourteen" and to the existing proviso, substitute the following proviso:—

"Provided that the Court may dispense with the consent of any judgment-debtor who has failed to attend in answer to a notice issued under r. 66."

NOTES.

Court must issue a fresh proclamation in case judgment-creditor requires it. 24 M. at 316. A fresh proclamation is essential. 2 Bur.L.J. 54=1923 R. 154. A waiver of fresh proclamation on postponement of sale does not amount to waiver of objections to the previous one. 14 C.L.J. 346=16 C. W.N. 704. The waiver of the necessity for a fresh proclamation necessarily implies a waiver of objection to any defect appearing on the face of the sale proclamation. But the waiver of any necessity for a fresh sale proclamation would not imply a waiver of the right to object to any irregularities in the attachment. 1938 P.W.N. 612=A. I.R. 1938 P.C. 230 (P.C.). The provisions of R. 69 (2) are modified in the Central Provinces by R. 10 of the rules in the Revenue Book Circular, Vol. 2-III, framed by the Local Government; R. 10 (2) of the said rules makes it clear that the final bid is not accepted and the purchaser is therefore not declared until the proceedings are adjourned to, and the bid approved by the Collector. Till the Collector accepts the bid, it is only an offer. 20 N.L.J. 80.

NAGPUR AMENDMENT.—In a Collector's sale, it is the Collector who has to accept the bid though it may be the Tahsildar who holds the sale. The period of seven days in O. 21, R. 69 (2) has been extended to 15 days in Nagpur, and the fact that the Collector accepts the bid beyond 7 days of the sale does not make such acceptance illegal as beyond time and does not render a fresh proclamation of sale necessary. An order of acceptance within 15 days is in time. 1938 N.L.J. 10.

O. 21, R. 69 (3).—A bid may be retracted at any time before the hammer is down. 14 M. 235. The sale of a third lot is not vitiated by irregularity under sub-R. (3) when money due under the decree is paid only after knocking down of the first two lots. 26 I.C. 273=1914 M. W.N. 873. A payment made under this rule cannot be called voluntary payment. 18 W.R. 503. When sale is so held, the person holding the equity of redemption can, at any time before sale, pay the decretal sum and costs and stop execution proceedings. 26 A. 28; 31 C. 863; 11 C.W.N. 495. Notice to the clerk in the Collector's office is not sufficient notice to the Collector that the amount has been paid into Court. It is the officer conducting the sale who has to be satisfied as to that or to whom the full amount must be tendered. 1935 L. 694.

O. 21, Rr. 69 and 90.—An execution sale could not be held on the date specified in the sale proclamation. On that date the Court stayed the sale until further orders and directed the matter to be put up before it on a later date, when the Court vacated the stay order and fixed a date for sale. As the bid was too low on the date so fixed, the sale was held on the following day. Held, that the sale was not a nullity out and out, but that there was undoubtedly a material irregularity which would entitle the judgment-debtor to get the sale set aside in an appropriate proceeding under O. 21, R. 90. 45 C.W.N. 987.

In r. 69 (2) for the word "seven" read "fourteen" and add the following proviso:—

"Provided that the Court may dispense with the consent of any judgment-debtor who has not appeared in the proceedings."

[RANGOON.] In r. 69 (2) for the words "seven days" the words "thirty days" shall be substituted.

Saving of certain sales.

70. Nothing in rules 66 to 69 shall be deemed to apply to any case in which the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector.

71. Any deficiency of price which may happen on a re-sale by reason of the purchaser's default, and all expenses attending such re-sale, shall be certified to the Court or to the Collector or subordinate of the Collector, as the case may be, by the officer or other person holding the sale, and shall, at the instance of either the decree-holder or the judgment-debtor, be recoverable from the defaulting purchaser under the provisions relating to the execution of a decree for the payment of money.

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 71: SCOPE.—See 1940 Mad. 566=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 537. Intended to minimise hardship from purchaser's default. It applies unless defaulting purchaser would be substantially prejudiced. Omission of time and place of sale, and date of re-sale are mere irregularities. 21 L. W. 232=87 I.C. 1=1925 M. 631. Decree-holder misleading defaulting purchaser—Suppression of existence of encumbrance—Re-sale—Property purchased by decree-holder—Application to recover deficiency from defaulting purchaser—Not maintainable. 6 O.W.N. 407=118 I.C. 833=1929 O. 294. Rule is not exhaustive. Other remedies are also open. 50 I.C. 59=1919 P. 210. Court and not the Collector has jurisdiction to order recovery of the deficiency of price from defaulting purchaser, even where property was sold by Collector. 32 Bom.L. R. 750=134 I.C. 692. Judgment-creditor is not bound to proceed under this rule, and may proceed against other property belonging to judgment-debtor. 8 C. 291. See also 21 W.R. 149 and 2 B. 562. Provisions of this rule extend to all sales, whether of movable or immovable property and also to re-sales held under Rr. 77, 84 and 86. 7 C. 337. Also to sales under the Provincial Insolvency Act. 62 I.C. 307=17 N.L. R. 49. Also when there is default, either in the initial deposit under R. 84 or of the balance under R. 85. 44 A. 266=20 A.L. J. 105 (F.B.). See also 1937 A.L.J. 495=1937 All. 556. No deficiency of price, which may happen on a re-sale by reason of purchaser's default can be claimed from him unless his bid has been finally accepted by Court. 118 I.C. 901=1929 L. 673. As to the effect of permission to bid given to decree-holder, when a heavy upset price was fixed, see 83 I.C. 379=1924 B. 515. Only decree-holder or judgment-debtor can apply under this rule. Attachment of the deposit by defaulting decree-holder enures for the benefit of all who are entitled to rateable distribution. 49 M. 570=97 I.C. 86=1926 M. 872.

RE-SALE.—Loss arising on a re-sale contemplated by R. 71 is not limited to a default in the payment of the whole purchase money; it includes a default in the payment of the 25 per cent. deposit required under R. 84. 141 I.C. 367=29 N.L.R. 52=1933 N. 198. At an execution sale the deficiency on re-sale by reason of purchaser's default was not certified by the officer holding the sale in accordance with Form No. 31 in App. E of the Code. Held, that the absence of such a certificate would not prevent decree-holder from recovering the deficiency arising on re-sale. (Ibid.) Re-sale contemplated by this rule must be of the same property that was first sold, and under the same description. 16 C. at 58; 16 W.R. 14. Property re-sold must be substantially the same, and any difference will not matter, if that would occur in the ordinary course of things, or was brought about by the first purchaser's default. 41 M. 474=34 M.L.J. 156. It must be held forthwith and no fresh proclamation is necessary. Auction-purchaser is not liable to pay deficiency when the re-sale is after six months. 32 I. C. 907. See also 28 O.C. 327=1925 O. 397; 1929 L. 744; 1937 Lah. 924; 51 L.W. 739=1940 Mad. 566=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 537.

DEFAULTING PURCHASER.—A purchaser of property who fails to pay the deposit directed to be paid by R. 84, is a defaulting purchaser. 5 B. 575. Decree-holder may himself be the defaulting purchaser. 12 M. 454. Purchaser is liable only for the deficiency of price and the expenses attending re-sale and is not liable to pay interest. 9 W.R. 500; 3 W.R. 3; 16 W.R. 14; 14 M. 454. The real and not the ostensible purchaser is liable. 20 W.R. 80; 12 W.R. 236. The decree-holder who can recover the deficiency in price is not any decree-holder of the judgment-debtor or any decree-holder who is entitled to share rateably under S. 73 but the decree-holder who brings the property to sale. (49 M. 570, Foll.) 163 I.C. 175 (2)=1936 O.W.N. 559=1936 O. 277. order under this rule is one under S. 47. A separate suit does not lie. 87 I.C. 284=1925 O. 360 (2).

AN APPEAL and a second appeal will lie against an order passed under this rule. 25 C. 99. See also 18 M. 439; 23 N.L.R. 14=100 I.C. 691 (2)=1927 N. 112. No second appeal lies when the decree is for less than Rs. 500. 59 I.C. 192=45 B. 223.

O. 21, Rr. 71, 86 and 87.—Where there has to be a re-sale as the result of the default of the decree-holder under O. 21, R. 86, the decree-holder has to apply for a re-sale, which under O. 21, R. 87 has to be made after the issue of a fresh proclamation. The Code contains no provision as to when the application for a re-sale shall be made; the decree-holder is therefore entitled to make the application at any time within three years. Art. 181 of the Lim. Act applies to such an application. If there is a deficiency in the re-sale, the auction-purchaser is responsible for the deficit under R. 71 of O. 21. Under O. 21, R. 71, the liability of the defaulting purchaser is unqualified and hence it cannot be said that the decree-holder is bound to apply for re-sale within a reasonable time of the default in payment of the balance of price under R. 85. In any case, where a decree-holder takes prompt steps for the securing of an order of re-sale, but the re-sale does not take place early because of erroneous orders passed by the Court, not in a judicial capacity, but in pursuance of a wrong administrative practice, e.g., striking off an application for statistical reasons, the decree-holder cannot be held responsible for the delay in re-sale, so as to disentitle him to an order calling upon the defaulting purchaser to pay the deficit. 51 L.W. 739=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 566=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 537.

Persons with rights under S. 73 not existing on date of sale or within fifteen days thereafter—Order under this rule is not subject to S. 73. 1931 M. 103=130 I. C. 458. When decree-holder has been given permission to bid and to set-off the amount of his bid and when his bid is less than the decree amount, the whole of the set-off must be deemed as made on the date of sale and the whole of the amount must be deemed to have been received or realised eo instanti the sale is made. In such a case S. 73 will give no benefit to other decree-holders who apply for rateable distribution after the conclusion of the sale, however soon after its conclusion their application may be made. 145 I.C. 957=38 L.W. 579=65 M. Decree-holder, allowed to purchase in full satisfaction of decree, must pay poundage. 27 A.L.J. 243=118 I.C. 378=1929 A. 266 (1). If Court permitted a decree-holder to bid at the sale and consequently allowed him to set-off the purchase-money towards his decree, it is open to the Court afterwards on a good case being made out to withdraw that order and order him to deposit the purchase-money in cash for rateable distribution. Such an order to refund can be enforced by process in execution. The purchase-money is in such a case in the power and at the disposal of Court within the meaning of S. 73. 134 I.C. 616=1931 P. 405. See also 10 P. 830; 1937 Nag. 383. Executing Court has power under this rule to impose a condition to the permission given to decree-holder to bid, namely, that he must bid up to the decretal amount. But when his bid does not go up to that amount, executing Court, though it can refuse his bid, has no power to dismiss the execution case. Proper course is either to put the property again then and there for sale or to direct the decree-holder to take steps for the issue of a fresh proclamation. 39 C.W.N. 1293. A purchase made by a

- (3) Where a decree-holder purchases, by himself or through another person, without such permission, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the judgment-debtor or any other person whose interests are affected by the sale, by order set aside the sale; and the costs of such application and order, and any deficiency of price which may happen on the re-sale and all expenses attending it, shall be paid by the decree-holder.

[BOMBAY.] After r. 72 of O. 21, the following shall be inserted :—

"72-A. If leave to bid is granted to the mortgagee of immovable property a reserve price as regards him shall be fixed (unless the Court shall otherwise think fit) at a sum not less than the amount then due for principal, interest and costs in case the property is sold in one lot, and not less in respect of each lot (in case the property is sold in lots) than such figure as shall appear to be properly attributable to it in relation to the amount aforesaid."

NOTES.

decree-holder in violation of O. 21, R. 72, is no doubt a fraud upon the Court, but such purchase is only voidable and not void; in other words it is valid until set aside on an application under Cl. (3) of O. 21, R. 72. If no such application is filed within the time limited, the purchaser is entitled to realise his rights under the sale; and it is not open to the judgment-debtor to plead O. 21, R. 72 in bar of a suit for possession irrespective of limitation and of the Court which tries that suit. 1941 M.W.N. 988=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 943.

O. 21, R. 72 (2).—An order under R. 72 (2), allowing a decree-holder to set-off the amount of his decree against the purchase-money is mere machinery which does not affect the rights of third parties who are entitled to rateable distribution. He cannot set-off against a portion of the proceeds of the sale which belongs to other parties. 37 Bom.L.R. 78=159 I.C. 505=1935 B. 176=59 B. 310. Right of set-off—When to be allowed—Attachment of same property under decree of another Court effected prior to attachment under decree under execution—When a bar. 1937 C. 55. See also 166 I.C. 873=17 Pat.L.T. 847=1937 P. 50; 40 P.L.R. 544; 38 N.L.J. 180. Decree-holder was allowed by Court to bid and to set-off the purchase price against his decree. Before sale was held, judgment-debtor applied for insolvency. Later on he was adjudicated. Official Receiver without challenging validity of the sale applied that purchaser should submit purchase price to the Official Receiver. Held, that the Court could not go behind its previous order by ordering the purchaser to deposit the purchase-money with the Official Receiver. 159 I.C. 244=1935 M. 907. Where a decree-holder was given leave to bid on condition that he does not bid for any amount less than the upset price, actually as a matter of fact bids for a much smaller amount and the bid is accepted, the sale cannot be allowed to stand. To do so would be to deprive R. 72 (1) of its value. The conditions cannot be disregarded. 1938 N. L.J. 180. The decretal amount is set-off against the purchase price automatically by operation of law and no order of the Court is necessary in order that the respective amounts may be set-off against each other. The Court executing the decree has only to enter up satisfaction of the decree in whole or in part after the setting off has taken place. 1935 L. 690 (57 M. 38=68 M.L.J. 569, Foll.). Hence when a decree-holder has been given permission to bid and set-off, and when the amount of the successful bid is less than the decretal amount, the whole of the set-off must be deemed as made on the date of sale, and the whole of the amount must be deemed to have been received or realised eo instanti the sale is made. (Ibid.) See also 1939 Lah. 210.

O. 21, R. 72 (3).—The sons of a judgment-debtor are not persons interested in the sale of ancestral property held in execution of a money-decree against their father so as to be entitled to apply under this rule to set aside a sale. 13 M.L.J. 231 at 235. See also 11 M. 356 (359); 16 M. 287; 22 B. 271; 5 B. 130; 10 C. 757; 14 M. 498; 11 C. 731. There should be a reasonable probability of the debt being discharged within a reasonably short period. 21 W.R. 146. In 15 W. R. 322 six months' time was given. Sanction must be given by the Court which passed the order for sale. The sanction of any other Court is of no use. 23 B. 287. Where a property is purchased on the basis of Court's certificate granted before an attachment by another decree-holder, purchaser gets a good title. No formal confirmation is necessary. Order to pay the money to the creditor amounts to confirmation. 21 I.C. 210. But see 40 L.W. 720=1934 M. 727=67 M.L.J. 741. See also 19 B. 539. Guardian of a minor also cannot alienate property of the minor without the sanction of Court. To have such a transfer set aside, guardian must return the consideration. 36 C.L.J. 326=49 C. 911. Where decree was against two divided brothers, and the elder alone obtained permission to sell by private sale, he could not sell the younger's share as well. The younger on payment of half the purchase-money could get back his half-share from the purchaser. 11 L.W. 213=52 I.C. 956.

(2) In such case the Court shall grant a certificate to the judgment-debtor authorizing him within a period to be mentioned therein, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 64, to make the proposed mortgage, lease or sale :

Provided that all monies payable under such mortgage, lease or sale shall be paid, not to the judgment-debtor, but save in so far as a decree-holder is entitled to set-off such money under the provisions of rule 72, into Court :

Provided also that no mortgage, lease or sale under this rule shall become absolute until it has been confirmed by the Court.

(3) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to apply to a sale of property directed to be sold in execution of a decree for sale in enforcement of a mortgage of, or charge on, such property.

84. (1) On every sale of immovable property the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of his purchase-money to the officer or other person conducting the sale, and in default of such deposit, the property shall forthwith be re-sold.

(2) Where the decree-holder is the purchaser and is entitled to set-off the purchase-money under rule 72, the Court may dispense with the requirements of this rule.

Grant of qualified permission to judgment-debtor—Subsequent cancellation—Rights of prospective purchaser. 151 I.C. 528=1934 Pesh. 76. Where there are several decree-holders and attachments, the Court should, while granting permission under R. 83, order the judgment-debtor to deposit entire sale proceeds in Court. 1935 L. 481.

APPEAL.—Order under O. 21, R. 83 is not appealable. 109 I.C. 524.

O. 21, R. 84.—SCOPE.—The rule does not prevent judgment-creditor from proceeding against other properties belonging to his debtor. 8 C. 291. The conditions of this rule are indispensable, and there is no sale where they are not followed. 5 A. 316. See also 16 C. 33 and 14 M. 227.

CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION.—Cl. 2, R. 84 must be construed in such a way as to be consistent with R. 72, Cl. (2) and with the proviso to R. 85 of the same order. 159 I. C. 228=42 L.W. 564=1935 M. 893. Where the second part of R. 84 is put into operation, the first part ceases to apply, and hence the use of the word "immediately" in the first part cannot be relied upon in order to ascertain the precise meaning of the second part. The second part must be interpreted according to the plain meaning of the words contained in it alone. There is nothing in those words precluding the Court from passing an order with retrospective effect. Hence where an auction-purchaser delays in applying under this second part, he should not be allowed the privilege which it empowers the Court to extend. But where the auction-purchaser applied to the Court immediately upon the very same day as the auction and the subsequent delay of four days was not due to the action of the auction-purchaser, but to the proceedings of the Court. Held, that the Court could dispense with the deposit under R. 84 (2). 157 I.C. 748=1935 Pesh. 123.

DEPOSIT.—The deposit is to be made only after the bid is accepted and the person bidding declared to be the purchaser. No deposit can be required from intending bidders. 9 M.I.A. 328; 118 I.C. 901. An offer may be retracted at any time before it is accepted. 14 M. 235. Sale is complete not on the acceptance of the deposit by the officer conducting the sale, but when an order accepting the bid is made by the presiding officer. 2 P. 548=76 I.C. 113; 1929 L. 673; 6 R. 609=114 I.C. 522. But see 1931 L. 78. See on this point also 9 R. 608 (overruling 6 R. 609) and 1932 L. 525. But see 148 I.C. 1082=1934 Pesh. 25. Where Judge refuses to accept the bid because he has got a higher bid it is open to him to order a re-sale and original bidder is not entitled to notice in that re-sale. 58 C. 788. If the deposit is not made under this rule, the sale is not null and void. It is a mere irregularity. 67 I.C. 427; 144 I.C. 314=10 O. W.N. 440=1933 O. 345. See also 150 I.C. 733=1934 P. 329. But see 9 I. C. 66=15 C.W.N. 350. The omission to pay 25 per cent. of the sale money amounts only to an irregularity and a sale can be set aside on this ground only if it is proved that substantial injury has been caused by it. 176 I.C. 609=A.I.R. 1938 Pesh. 36. The officer conducting sale cannot extend time for payment of deposit and failure to deposit immediately annuls sale. 30 I.C. 230=2 O.L.J. 216. But see 67 I.C. 427; 140 I.C. 98=1932 P. 342. Decree-holder can withdraw the deposit only after confirmation of sale and is entitled to interest. 25 I.C. 859. Deposit compulsory unless dispensed with by Court. 116 I.C. 212=1929 L. 492. As to effect of permission to bid and set off dispensing with the deposit of 25 per cent. See 1939 Lah. 210. LOC. AM.—[OUDH.] O. 21, r. 84 (2).—The Court shall not dispense with the requirements of this rule in a case in which there is an application for rateable distribution of assets.

85. The full amount of purchase-money payable shall be paid by the purchaser into Court before the Court closes on the fifteenth day from the sale of the property:

Time for payment in full of purchase-money. Provided that, in calculating the amount to be so paid into Court, the purchaser shall have the advantage of any set-off to which he may be entitled under rule 72.

LOC. AMS.—[MADRAS.] Substitute the following for the existing rule:—

Time for payment in full, purchase-money and of stamp certificate. “85. The full amount of purchase-money payable and amount required for the general stamp for the certificate under r. 94 shall be paid by the purchaser into Court before the Court closes on the fifteenth day from the sale of the property:

Provided that in calculating the amount to be so paid into Court, the purchaser shall have the advantage of any set-off to which he may be entitled under r. 72.”

sale is held, the liability in respect of the deficit is not that of the bidder personally, but only as a representative of the temple and hence is recoverable out of the temple funds. 1939 N.L.J. 504=I.L.R. (1941) Nag. 485=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 269.

BID UNDER MISAPPREHENSION—RESTORATION OF DEPOSIT—POWER OF COURT.—Where a person bids at an execution sale for a certain property under a misapprehension that he is bidding for another property and deposits 25 per cent. of the price, it is open to Court on his application to pass an order, before the sale is sanctioned by it, that the sale should not be enforced and to direct the restoration of the deposit. 1935 A.W.R. 29=1935 A.L.J. 249=1935 A. 204.

RE-SALE.—See 1937 A.W.R. 426. Any one who is interested in having the property re-sold can move Court for the purpose. He need not necessarily be the decree-holder. 138 I.C. 103=1932 A.L.J. 501. The word ‘forthwith’ indicates that no fresh proclamation is necessary. 12 M. 454. An auction sale is complete when the final bid is accepted by the Sale Amin who conducts it, and to make it binding on the parties, it is not necessary to obtain the permission of the Court ordering the sale. The deposit of 25 per cent. has to be paid to the person conducting the sale, ‘immediately’ after a person is declared to be the purchaser. If it is not so paid the property shall ‘forthwith’ be resold. That word in R. 84 governs the time at which the resale is to be held and an officer is justified in holding a resale the same day and is not bound to wait for the payment of 25 per cent. If there is any deficiency by reason of the purchaser’s default it can be recovered from him. 1939 N.L.J. 504=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 269=I.L.R. (1941) Nag. 485. As to whether the sale can be adjourned, see 16 C. 33 (38); 12 M. 454; 107 I.C. 274. When property is put up again forthwith and sold under this rule, it is re-sold within the meaning of R. 71. 12 M. 454. If the re-sale is held after a fresh proclamation, the sale is not held “forthwith” and the bidder cannot be held liable for the deficiency. 107 I.C. 274=1928 L. 249. Contra 1930 M. 761=59 M.L.J. 267 (F.B.). Defaulting purchaser is not absolved from liability for want of bidders at re-sale. 95 I.C. 865 (2)=1926 M. 739=51 M. L. J. 658. Where the highest bidder dies, to require the next higher bidder to deposit the money is illegal and open to revision. 42 M. 776=37 M.L.J. 274. In a re-sale the officer conducting the sale need not commence from the next highest bid below that made by the defaulter. 1 W.R. Mis. 11. See 7 C. 337. Default of purchaser in payment of deposit—No certificate by officer holding sale in form prescribed—Right of decree-holder to recover deficiency. 141 I. C. 367=29 N.L.R. 52=1933 N. 123. According to O. 21, R. 72, as applicable to N. W.F. Province, no permission to bid is necessary. But this does not impliedly dispense with the requirement of this rule which requires 25 per cent. deposit. 165 I.C. 554 (Pesh.). The sale is not completed until such deposit is made; for, if such a deposit is not made, it is the duty of the officer conducting the sale to put the property up to auction again immediately. His action in doing so is not really a resale of the property but a continuation of the previous auction (ibid).

APPEAL.—An order setting aside sale on default to deposit purchase-money is not appealable. 58 I.C. 597. See also 41 P.L. R. 568=1939 Lah. 210; 1937 Pesh. 64.

O. 21, R. 85.—The words “into Court” have been added to remove the distinction which was drawn in 20 B. 745 between days on which the Court and those on which the Court’s office, respectively, is closed or open. When the time for payment expires during the recess, the money may be paid on the day the Court re-opens. 13 M.L.J. 271; 116 I.C. 65=1929 N. 305. Rules 85 has no application to a case where the purchaser had duly deposited the price but had withdrawn it on the sale being set aside. 1938 N.L.J. 207. The sending of a postal money order by the purchaser does not satisfy the rule. He is bound to see that the money reaches the Court in time. 22 B. 415; 7 M. 211. See 7 C. 337. The fifteen days’ time does not apply on confirmation of sale by appellate Court to re-payment of money.

[NAGPUR.] Rule 85.—Add the following explanation:—

“Explanation.—When an amount is tendered on any day after 1 P.M., but paid into Court on the next working day between 11 A.M. and 1 P.M., the payment shall be deemed to have been made on the day on which the tender is made.”

[PATNA.] In r. 85 of O. 21 for the words beginning with “the full amount” and ending with “sale of property” the following is substituted:—

“The purchaser shall pay into Court the full amount of the purchase-money and shall also tender the stamp necessary for the certificate referred to in r. 94 before the Court closes on the fifteenth day from the sale of the property.”

[BOMBAY.] The following shall be added as r. 85-A after r. 85 of O. 21:—

“85-A. In cases where execution has been transferred to the Collector, for the purposes of rr. 84 and 85, the purchaser shall be deemed to be entitled to a set-off under r. 72 if he produces a certificate to that effect from the Court executing the decree.”

86. In default of payment within the period mentioned in the last preceding rule, the deposit may, if the Court thinks fit, after defraying the expenses of the sale, be forfeited to the Government, and the property shall be re-sold, and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may subsequently be sold.

LOC. AM.—[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 86.—Insert the words “or tender of stamp” between the words “payment” and “within.”

which had been withdrawn on sale being set aside by the lower Court's order. 42 I.C. 552=1917 M.W.N. 861. Court has no jurisdiction to extend the time when default is made in depositing the balance of the purchase-money within 15 days as required by R. 85. Court ought to order re-sale of the property and the only discretion is as regards the forfeiture of the deposit of 25 per cent. 57 A. 658=153 I. C. 910=1935 A. 243=1935 A.W.R. 28=1935 A.L.J. 167. Extension of time can be granted with consent of parties. 100 I.C. 800=1927 L. 337. See also 122 I.C. 561. Yet when no objection was made when it was extended and the sale confirmed and money drawn out, the sale cannot be set aside on account of want of consent. 43 M.L.J. 477=69 I.C. 1001=1923 M. 48. See also 35 C.W.N. 877. The property is liable to be re-sold when the decree-holder purchaser does not deposit the balance after deducting the decree amount. 51 I.C. 316. Tender in Court of balance on 15th day—Payment into Treasury on next day—Tender amounted to payment. 148 I.C. 348=1934 A.L.J. 71=1934 A. 817. In Collector's sales, the non-payment of three-fourths of the sale price within the time limited by R. 85, is a mere irregularity and does not automatically involve the holding of a sale afresh. 20 N.L.J. 80.

O. 21, Rr. 85 and 86.—The “publishing” of the sale has reference to all proceedings that take place till the sale is actually held. Any proceedings that take place after the deposit of 25 per cent. of the purchase money has been made cannot be regarded as falling within the meaning of the words “publishing” or “conducting the sale”. The failure to deposit 75 per cent. of the sale price within a fortnight as required by O. 21, R. 85, does not therefore amount to a material irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale within the meaning of O. 21, R. 90. When default is made by the auction-purchaser in paying into Court full amount of the purchase money within the time allowed by O. 21, R. 85 the Court has no jurisdiction to extend the time but must order a re-sale under R. 86. The only discretion given by R. 86 is in the matter of forfeiture of the deposit of 25 per cent. made by the auction-purchaser, and not in the matter of re-sale. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 97=40 P.L.R. 509 & 1004=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 198. See also (1938) 2 M.L.J. 833.

O. 21 (Mad. H.C.), Rr. 85 and 86.—Where default is committed in respect of the cost of the general stamp to be affixed to the sale certificate only the initial deposit of 25 per cent. can in any case be forfeited. The whole amount cannot be forfeited. 48 L. W. 416=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 905=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 529.

The deposit alone can be forfeited and not the right which the decree-holder has under the decree. 7 W.R. 110. The words “if the Court thinks fit” are inserted to remove the hardship caused in certain circumstances, vide 25 M. 535; 95 I.C. 46=1926 A. 509. See also 1937 Sind 311. O. 21, R. 8 makes it obligatory on the Court to re-sell the property in case default is made in payment of the balance of the purchase money as required by O. 21, R. 85. The discretion vested in the Court is only as regards the forfeiture of the deposit. 1938 M.W.N. 1031=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 833; see

87. Every re-sale of immovable property, in default of payment of the purchase-money, within the period allowed for such payment, shall be made after the issue of a fresh proclamation in the manner and for the period hereinbefore prescribed for the sale.

LOC. AM.—[MADRAS.] O. 21, r. 87.—Substitute the following for the existing rule:—

87. Every re-sale of immovable property, in default of the payment of the amounts mentioned in r. 85 within the period allowed for such payment, shall be made after the issue of a fresh proclamation in the manner and for the period hereinbefore prescribed for the sale."

also 1938 Lah. 198. If a purchaser makes default of payment of the balance of the purchase-money, he forfeits all claim to the property purchased, whether the deposit made by him under O. 21, R. 85, C. P. Code, be forfeited or not, and the auction sale at which he purchased becomes a nullity. 1941 Cal. 85=72 C.L.J. 129. Decree-holder himself, even though the purchaser at the re-sale, can apply to attach the deposit made by the first defaulting purchaser. 48 M. L.J. 335=86 I.C. 373=1925 P.C. 61 (P.C.). The deposit should be refunded on good grounds shown for failure to pay the balance. 59 I.C. 705=17 N.L.R. 15. In execution of his money decree, A purchased the property, and deposited the amount of the purchase price minus the amount of the decree into Court. Prior to the sale, B another decree-holder had also applied for execution, and a second sale was held and B purchased the property. The Court thereupon passed an order confirming the sale in favour of A cancelling that in favour of B and directing A to pay the entire purchase price in cash. On default by A, the Court further ordered that B was entitled to recover the amount by execution. Held, that the order was erroneous. As between two rival decree-holders against the same judgment-debtors, the Court had no authority to order that one decree-holder should pay another. The correct order should be to annul the sale and direct the re-sale of the property with a view to enable all persons entitled to rateable distribution to share in the proceeds. 142 I.C. 577=1933 A.L.J. 336=1933 A. 337. O. 21, R. 88: SCOPE.—The ordinary law of pre-emption is inapplicable to sales in execution of decrees, and hence this rule which affords a remedy. 13 A. 224 (228). See also 27 A. 670 (677). O. 21, R. 88 is intended to safeguard the rights of the co-sharers in undivided immovable property. The executing Court is to act judicially and not arbitrarily and particularly when the law gives a co-sharer a right of pre-emption, it is necessary for the Court to interpret the rule in such a manner as will protect that right and not in a manner as will have the effect of depriving co-sharers of their right. 1940 N.L.J. 453=A.I.R. 1940 Nag. 337. The object of the rule is to enable a co-sharer to keep out strangers. 26 I.C. 95=12 A.L.J. 1148. A pre-emption suit will not lie against such a bidder. (Ibid.) The requirements of the rule are satisfied if the co-sharer asserts his right of pre-emption when bidding for the same amount 36 I.C. 654=3 O.L.J. 405.

WHO ARE CO-SHARERS.—Members of a joint Hindu family, other than that member who is recorded in the Collector's register as sharer in the mehal are co-sharers. 7 A. 184. A Hindu widow holding by inheritance her deceased husband's share in a village is also a co-sharer. 1 A. 452. But possession by her for life of a share in a village, in lieu of maintenance, does not make her a co-sharer. 6 A. 17. See also 7 A. 860. O. 21, R. 89: SCOPE.—See 58 I.A. 50 = 35 C.W.N. 81 = 60 M.L.J. 423 (P.C.). The intention of R. 89 of O. 21, C. P. Code, is to provide a simple procedure where at the last moment a judgment-debtor may come and deposit without condition the full decretal sum and five per cent. penalty and save his property. There is to be no room for argument or doubt or question or enquiry. It is not for the Court to enquire where the judgment-debtor got the money. He may get it from a purchaser of his property after the sale, it matters not; the Court will not inquire, but the judgment-debtor must not deposit the money under protest, he cannot impose conditions. WHO CAN APPLY.—The expression "by virtue of a title acquired before purchase" does not qualify "any person owning such property". A third party who has acquired an interest in the property sold by reason of a contract of sale made by the judgment-debtor pending attachment is competent to apply to set aside the sale under O. 21, R. 89. Such a person is not seeking to enforce any claim against the auction-purchaser to his detriment, and S. 44, C. P. Code, should not be invoked to disentitle the applicant to apply. He having acquired an interest in the property by virtue of the contract of sale should be allowed to deposit the amount required under O. 21, R. 89, if he applies within 30 days of the sale. In an application to set aside a sale under R. 92 read with R. 89 which is otherwise in order and in time, the omission to implead the auction-purchaser till after the expiry of 30 days allowed for the application is not fatal to it. LIMITATION.—The fact that the deposit is not made within 30 days of the sale makes no difference, where the deposit cannot be so made on account of the Court being closed. What is done by consent of parties as a substitute for the deposit is to be regarded as its equivalent in every respect and judged by the same principles as those applicable to a deposit. Where the decree-holder is paid most of the amount due to him by the judgment-debtor assigning a mortgage in his favour out of Court, and a small balance due to him is deposited by the judgment-debtor into Court at the time he makes the application to Court for setting aside the sale, that would be sufficient compliance with O. 21, R. 89. 1940 Mad. 427=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 629 (F.B.). But see 13 P. 641=151 I.C. 618=1934 P. 336. The extent of deposit is the amount of decree in execution of which the sale was made, and not those of other decree-holders claiming rateable distribution. 17 I.C. 920=23 M.L.J. 585; also 37 B. 387=15 Bom. Money once paid to set aside sale cannot be recovered from decree-holder after sale on the ground that judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in the property. 45 B. 1094=23 Bom.L.R. 455. See also 13 I.C. 144=16 C.L.J. 156. But (irrespective of the applicability of R. 89) a third party purchaser before attachment, if he subsequently succeeds in his suit for declaration of his right to the property is entitled to refund of the deposit from the decree-holder auction-purchaser under S. 72, Contract Act. 34 L.W. 399=1931 M. 753. When the mortgagor pays the amount, it has the effect of redeeming the properties. 60 I.C. 560=7 O.L.J. 620. The acceptance by a landlord of a deposit from a transferee means a recognition of the transferee as tenant. 36 I.C. 701. Deposit must not be made subject to any condition or under protest. 58 M. 972=42 L.W. 307=158 I.C. 207=1935 M. 842=69 M.L.J. 349 (F.B.). Where a conditional deposit was made, but the condition was withdrawn before an application to draw the money was filed, it was held that the deposit was a valid one. 2 P. 534=72 I.C. 907. Two deposits by both the judgment-debtor and a mortgagee after sale, each depositing a portion of sale amount and two applications by them, can be treated as one proceeding and the sale be set aside. 49 A. 839=25 A.L.J. 576=102 I.C. 471=1927 A. 561. Sale set aside—Purchaser is entitled to interest and costs besides the 5 per cent. deposited under R. 89. 57 C. 676. A judgment-debtor who wishes to take advantage of R. 89 must strictly comply with the same by paying all amounts as directed by the rule. Hence a deposit of merely 5 per cent. without the sum mentioned in Cl. (b) for payment to the decree-holder is not sufficient even though the decree in execution of which the sale has been held has been set aside. (39 M. 429, Foll.) (Case-law reviewed.) 56 M. 808=1933 M. 598=65 M.L.J. 253.

O. 21, R. 89 (1) (b).—An amount which has been deposited in Court cannot be said to have been received within the meaning of this section. Received cannot mean "virtually or constructively received". 1933 M. 265=36 L.W. 967=141 I.C. 167. The words "less any amount which may, since the date of such proclamation of sale, have been received by the decree-holder" in O. 21, R. 89, refer to a payment made to the decree-holder out of Court and not to the withdrawal by the decree-holder of the sale proceeds deposited in Court by the auction-purchaser. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 456=1938 Nag. 54. Under O. 21, R. 89, the person who seeks to set aside a sale must deposit the amount of the decree unless the decree-holder may have received any sum. The decree-holder cannot be said to have notionally received a sum equal to the amount for which he (the decree-holder) purchased one of the properties, and a deposit of a sum less than that amount would not, therefore, be sufficient. 188 I.C. 467=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 612. R. 89 has to be strictly construed and even a mistake cannot be availed of as justifying a departure from the requirements of the rule. The judgment-debtor cannot be allowed to take credit for any amount which he might have deposited in Court behind the back and without the consent of the judgment-creditor and which the judgment-creditor has refused to accept. The only deduction allowed by the rule is the amount

(2) Where a person applies under rule 90 to set aside the sale of his immovable property, he shall not, unless he withdraws his application, be entitled to make or prosecute an application under this rule.

Where therefore two applications are made, one by the judgment-debtor's mortgagee under R. 89, making the necessary deposit, and another by the judgment-debtor under R. 90, and both are allowed by the Court on the same day and the sale is set aside, the decree-holder is entitled to payment out of the decree amount deposited by the mortgagee, and he cannot be refused payment on the ground that the sale was set aside under R. 90 or that the deposit was made by the mortgagee under R. 89, under protest. REVIEW.—Whether restoration of an application under this rule to set aside order of dismissal for default, if possible, is doubtful.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD AND OUDH.] R. 89 (1).—For the words “any person . . . such sale” in sub-r. (1), substitute “the judgment-debtor, or any person deriving title through the judgment-debtor, or any person holding an interest in the property.”

[CALCUTTA.] O. 21, r. 89 (1):—

In sub-r. (1), r. 89, O. 21, cancel the words “either owning such property, or holding an interest therein by virtue of a title acquired before such sale” and substitute the words “whose interest is affected by such sale (provided that such interest has not been voluntarily acquired by him after such sale).”

[LAHORE.] In sub-r. (1) of this rule for the words “any person . . . acquired before such sale,” substitute the words “any person claiming any interest in the property sold at the time of the sale or at the time of making the application under this rule or acting for or in the interest of such a person.”

[MADRAS.] Substitute the following for sub-r. (1):—

“(1) Where immovable property has been sold in execution of a decree, the judgment-debtor, or any person deriving title from the judgment-debtor, or any person holding an interest in the property may apply to have the sale set aside on his depositing in Court—

(a) for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to 5 per cent. of the purchase-money, and

(b) for payment to the decree-holder, the amount specified in the proclamation of sale as that for the recovery of which the sale was ordered, less any amount which may, since the date of that proclamation of sale, have been received by the decree-holder;

Provided that where the immovable property sold is liable to discharge a portion of the decree debt the payment under Cl. (b) of this sub-rule need not exceed such amount as under the decree the owner of the property sold is liable to pay.”

[NAGPUR.] Rule 89.—In sub-rule (1) for the words “any person either owning such property or holding an interest therein by virtue of a title acquired before such sale” substitute the words “any person claiming any interest in the property sold at the time of the sale or at the time of the petition, or acting for, or in the interest of, such person.”

REVISION.—Revision lies when the lower Court improperly refuses to set aside sale. 21 A.L.J. 162=1923 A. 315. But see 40 A. 425=16 A.L.J. 433. See also 118 I.C. 805; 152 I.C. 259=15 Pat.L.T. 511=1934 P. 540; 18 Pat. 210. If a Court considers on the merits an application under O. 21, R. 89, there is no failure to exercise jurisdiction even if the prayer is rejected. The exercise of jurisdiction would then be a consideration of the application made and the decision on it whether the relief claimed was granted or not. 1941 R.D. 555=1941 A.W.R. (H.C.) 327=1941 O.W.N. 835.

O. 21, R. 89 (Lahore H. C. Amendment): RIGHT TO APPLY UNDER—INTEREST AT TIME OF APPLICATION—SUFFICIENCY.—Under R. 89, as amended by the Lahore High Court in 1932, it is not necessary that the applicant desiring to have a sale set aside, should either own the property or hold an interest therein prior to the sale. It is sufficient if he claims an interest in such property at the time of making the application under the rule. 1935 L. 51. A person who has obtained a mortgage of the property after attachment can come forward under R. 89, as amended by the Lahore High Court, and by making the necessary payments save the property and prevent its sale from taking place. 1936 L. 561.

O. 21, R. 89 (Nagpur).—Provisions of the nature of R. 89 (2) must be construed with reference to the usual rules that the singular includes the plural, the male the female, and in all cases where the law allows devolution, the assignee or other person on whom the rights in question have devolved has to be substituted, as far as may be, for the original owner of the interest, subject of course to any express or implied prohibition to the contrary. Although this rule finds no place in the General Clauses Act, yet it is a principle of general application nevertheless. The difficulty usually lies in determining when the law permits of devolution, and not in applying this principle once that is ascertained. 1937 N. 161. Sale by judgment-debtor after application by him under O. 21, R. 90—Purchaser depositing amount under O. 21, R. 89 and applying for sale being set aside—Maintainability—Procedure. (Ibid.)

O. 21, Rr. 89 and 90.—A sale in execution can only be set aside if the ground mentioned in R. 89, 90 or R. 91 of O. 21, be established as the case may be. If no such application is made, the Court has no option but to confirm the sale. If any such application is made and the ground mentioned in those rules be not established, the onus being on him who applies for reversal of the sale, the Court has no option but to confirm the sale under O. 21, R. 92. 1938 Cal. 798. But see 1938 All. 89. While R. 89 of O. 21, C. P. Code, does indeed provide for a last minute indulgence to the judgment-debtor, that rule must be strictly complied with. Sub-R. (2), for instance has to be strictly complied with and the judgment-debtor cannot prosecute two remedies at one and the same time. Two simultaneous applications under R. 89 and R. 90 cannot be made or prosecuted. R. 89 prohibits not only the making or prosecution of an application under it unless a previous application under R. 90 has been withdrawn but it also excludes an application already made. Where an application is made under

[N.-W.F.P.] In sub-rule (1) for the words "either owning . . . before such sale," substitute "either claiming any interest in such property at the time of sale or at the time of application, or acting for or in the interest of such person."

[PATNA.] O. 21, r. 89.—In sub-rule (1) of r. 89 for the words "any person, either owning such property or holding an interest therein by virtue of a title acquired before such sale" substitute the words "the judgment-debtor or any person deriving title through the judgment-debtor, or any person holding an interest in the property at the date of the application under this rule."

90. (1) Where any immovable property has been sold in execution of a decree, the decree-holder, or any person entitled to share in a rateable distribution of assets, or whose interests are affected by the sale, may apply to the Court to set aside the sale on the ground of a material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting it :

Application to set aside sale on ground of irregularity or fraud.

Provided that no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity or fraud unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or fraud.

NOTES.

Rr. 89 and 90, and subsequently the prayer for relief under R. 90 is abandoned, the application under R. 89 can be deemed to have been made only on the date on which the prayer for relief under R. 90 is abandoned. And if that date is beyond 30 days of the date of sale, it must be held to be barred by limitation. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 360=1940 Sind 181. See also 177 I.C. 952=1938 Sind 177. It cannot be said that in no circumstances can a Court refuse to confirm a sale upon grounds other than those mentioned in Rr. 89, 90 and 91 of O. 21, C. P. Code. If it is brought to the notice of the Court that the execution application on which the sale is held was obviously barred by limitation under S. 48, C. P. Code, the Court is entitled to refuse to confirm the sale on being satisfied that the application is barred. It is the duty of the Court to see that the application is within time, and when the matter is brought to its notice before it finally disposes of the proceedings, the Court must take notice of it and is justified in giving effect to it. 1937 A.L.J. 1349=A.I.R. 1938 All. 89.

O. 21, Rr. 89 and 92.—Where prior to the confirmation of an execution sale the judgment-debtor is adjudicated insolvent and the decree-holder fails to prove his debt in insolvency and the judgment-debtor obtains his discharge in due course, the failure of the decree-holder to prove his debts in insolvency could not have the effect of setting aside the sale. 1941 O.A. 539.

O. 21, R. 90: SCOPE OF RULE.—The scope of Rr. 90 and 91 is entirely different. The words "material irregularity" in R. 90 governed as they are by the words "in publishing or conducting it" refer only to an irregularity in the procedure to be followed before a property is put up to sale and R. 91 comes into operation in those cases where in spite of the prescribed procedure having been regularly followed, property has been sold in which the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest. 12 P. 665=14 P.L.T. 388=1933 P. 435 (S.B.). Objections relating to the failure to deposit 25 per cent. of the purchase money in the first instance and the balance of the purchase money later and the acceptance of an improper bid, come within the purview of R. 90. 38 P.L.R. 839=163 I.C. 765=1936 L. 969. R. 90 does not refer only to an irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting the auction-sale. The decree-holder is also responsible for any irregularity or fraud occurring in the sale proclamation which is itself prepared from the sale statement for which the decree-holder himself is responsible. 20 N.L.J. 111=1937 N. 140. Proceedings under this rule also come within the scope of S. 47. 34 I.C. 829=30 M.L.J. 611; but are not proceedings in execution. 62 I.C. 608=6 P.L.J. 253. But see 87 I.C. 413=1925 M. 1142. In order to entitle the judgment-debtor to have the sale set aside, it has to be established that there has been some illegality or irregularity in the publication and conduct of the sale which has resulted in the property being sold at an inadequate price to the prejudice of the judgment-debtor. 193 I.C. 124. Order 9 does not apply, but an application dismissed for default can be restored under S. 151. 1931 A.L.J. 622=1931 A. 594. See also 53 C. 679=1926 C. 773. The addition of words "or fraud" takes the case out of S. 47 and brings it under this rule. 4 L. 243. A sale can be partially set aside under this rule. 44 C.L.J. 167=98 I.C. 206=1926 C. 1219. R. 90 of O. 21 which taken with the three sub-rules of R. 92 gives the general ground on which the executing Court, and that Court alone is specifically empowered and required to set aside a sale, is confined to "the ground of a material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting it." As regards material irregularities or fraud committed otherwise than in publishing or conducting an execution sale, fraud would, generally speaking, make the sale voidable only, and if the question should arise in the conditions laid down in S. 47, C. P. Code, it would be under this section, and under this section alone, that the sale would be set aside. A.I.R. 1941 Pat. 566. Where, in an application to set aside sale on the ground of fraud and substantial injury, these allegations are found against, it is the duty of the Court to confirm the sale. 58 I.A. 50=1931 P.C. 33=60 M.L.J. 423 (P.C.). Before setting aside a sale on the ground of irregularity under R. 90, Court must give decree-holder an opportunity to show that no substantial injury had resulted; and when Court decides the application and orders the sale to be set aside in the absence of evidence which the parties wish to adduce, the order cannot stand. 152 I.C. 259 = 15 P. It would be an irregularity. 37 Bom.L.R. 489 = 159 I.C. 358 = 1935 B. 331. Where after dismissing the applications under O. 21, R. 90 made by some of the judgment-debtors, the Court passes an order setting aside the sale on an application by another judgment-debtor under the same rule, the order will take effect only so far as the share and interest of that judgment-debtor are concerned and the sale will stand confirmed so far as the share and interest of the other judgment-debtors are concerned. 41 C.W.N. 224. MEANING OF TERMS—DECREE-HOLDER.—This expression is not limited to the decree-holder at whose instance the property was first attached. 10 M. 57. The "interest" contemplated is interest at the time of sale and not at the time of application. 87 I.C. 94. The use of the plural "interests" in O. 21, R. 90 obviously means more than one interest which may be of the same kind or different kinds, which may be held by one or more persons. The "interests" may be interests in the property as that of a mortgagee or lessee, or it may be pecuniary interest in respect of property as that of the decree-holder. I.L.R. (1939) Nag. 357 = 1939 N.L.J. 238 = A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 179. It is now settled that the word "interests" as used in O. 21, R. 90 are not limited to proprietary or possessory interests in the property itself but extends to other kinds of interests pecuniary or otherwise which is in any way affected by the sale. But whatever the nature of the interest might be, it must be in existence at the time when the sale takes place and must be prejudicially affected by it and if it is created after the sale, it is inconceivable how it can be affected by the sale, and give the person a right to set it aside. Consequently a person who purchases the property from the judgment-debtor after the execution sale has no locus standi to make an application under O. 21, R. 90. I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 273 = 43 C.W.N. 189 = 68 C.L.J. 516 = A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 146. The expression "whose interests are affected by the sale" in O. 21, R. 90, C. P. Code, must be construed in their ordinary sense, and it is too much to say that merely because a person is adjudicated insolvent his interests are not adversely affected by the sale of property that belonged to him before adjudication. 51 L.W. 600 = A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 569 = (1940) 1 M.L.J. 711. A person who has obtained an attachment before judgment is, by virtue of the attachment itself, a "person whose interests are affected by the sale" within the meaning of O. 21, R. 90, where the property attached by him is later sold in execution of a decree obtained by another person. The fact that he has not obtained a decree in his suit at the date of the application does not make any difference. The words "person whose interests are affected by the sale" are not restricted to persons having a proprietary or possessory title in the property, but are intended to apply also to persons whose pecuniary interests are affected by the sale. Where a person, therefore, obtains an order for attachment before judgment and in due course obtains a decree, but before the date of such decree the attached properties are sold in execution of a decree obtained by another creditor, the former attaching creditor is a person entitled to apply under O. 21, R. 90, though the decree in his suit is obtained after the sale. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 374 = 49 L.W. 110 = A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 250 = (1939) 1 M. L. J. 163 (F.B.). A decree-holder who attaches the property after it has been sold in execution of another decree and pending confirmation of sale is not a person whose interests are affected by the sale so as to give him a right to apply under O. 21, R. 90 to set aside the sale. In order to entitle a person to apply under O. 21, R. 90, he must be damnified by the actual sale, and nothing that the applicant himself does after the sale can give him a higher right than he had at the time of the sale. If at the time of the sale he has no locus standi to apply to have the sale set aside, he cannot, by attaching the property after the Court sale, acquire any right to apply. 1939 M.W.N. 297 = 49 L.W. 458 = 1939 Mad. 501 = (1939) 1 M.L.J. 608. Persons claiming by title adverse to and paramount to that of the judgment-debtor are not persons whose interests are affected by the sale within the meaning of O. 21, R. 90, C. P. Code, and such persons are not therefore entitled to maintain an application under O. 21, R. 90 to set aside the sale. (1941) 2 M.L.J. 63. "Interest" means interest in the property sold. The general creditors expecting a higher dividend have not such an interest as is contemplated by the rule. 39 I.C. 932=10 S.L.R. 189. But see contra 103 I.C. 499=1927 M. 783=53 M.L.J. 229; 1928 M.W.N. 216.

APPLICABILITY.—The subsequent setting aside of an ex parte decree, after sale in pursuance of the decree, does not affect the title of the purchaser. 38 C. 622=15 C. W.N. 875. Rule does not apply when a sale of one decree sold in execution of another is sought to be set aside. 64 I.C. 388. The rule applies when the ground of setting aside sale is fraud. 1 L.W. 1033=26 I.C. 369. Also 66 I.C. 220. Fraud after publication of sale proclamation is covered by this rule. 48 I.C. 560=3 P.L.J. 645. Question of jurisdiction cannot be raised in an application under this rule. 3 A.L.J. 140. Nor that decree was partly satisfied, which can be raised only by a separate application under S. 47. 152 I.C. 1014=1934 P. 664. See also 18 A. 141 (144). An application for setting aside a sale and for re-sale under O. 21, R. 86 on the ground that the decree-holder purchaser has defaulted to pay into Court the surplus sale price after deducting the decree amount due to him, cannot be regarded as an application under O. 21, R. 90. 22 Pat.L.T. 313. Where after dismissing the applications under R. 90, made by some of the judgment-debtors, the Court passes an order setting aside the sale on an application by another judgment-debtor under the same rule, the order will take effect only so far as the share and interest of that judgment-debtor are concerned, and the sale will stand confirmed so far as the share and interest of the other judgment-debtors are concerned. 41 C.W.N. 224. When sale is held in different lots, and irregularity and loss is proved only as regards the sale of some lots, the sale of the other lots must be confirmed. 59 M. 438=43 L.W. 32=1936 M. 121. When setting aside the sale, the Court has power to order interest on the purchase-money as well to be paid to the purchaser. 48 I.A. 24=40 M.L.J. 141=25 C.W.N. 366 (P.C.). An objection that the property attached and sold is not by law saleable, cannot be entertained under this rule. See 1938 N.L.J. 389=1938 Nag. 558; 7 A. 641; 7 A. 365; 21 B. 463; 6 M. 237; 20 C. 8 (P.C.); 7 C. 63; 24 M. 311 (315). See also 6 C.W.N. 42; 6 C.W.N. 48 (57); 30 C. 152; 8 C. 932; 25 M. 244 (F.B.); 6 C.W.N. 5; 1 P.L.T. 742=57 I.C. 261. An objection that a minor was not properly represented does not come under this rule. 9 I.C. 252=9 M.L.T. 260. But see contra 64 I.C. 25=35 C.L.J. 9. Also 29 I.C. 211. The rule applies to Receivers appointed by Court. 6 Bom.L.R. 1140.

When Receiver applies to have the sale set aside it is not open to judgment-debtor to file an independent application for the same purpose. 37 C.W.N. 146. An application to set aside a sale held by a Collector cannot be entertained under this rule. 11 A. 94 (F.B.). This rule will not apply if the sale itself is a nullity. 35 I.C. 404. A sale held even on the face of an injunction to stop it, is a nullity. 88 I.C. 532=1925 O. 424. Where judgment-debtor did not until after the sale had been completed put forth the plea that he was an agriculturist, held, that the plea could not be allowed to be raised. 32 Bom.L.R. 436. Where the date fixed for sale was a holiday and the sale was held the next day the sale is not a nullity. 37 C.W.N. 146. O. 21, R. 90, C. P. Code, does not apply to sales in execution of decrees for rent passed under the Madras Estates Land Act. The rule is not made applicable to such sales by S. 192 of the Estates Land Act. S. 132 of the Estates Land Act, by making the provisions of Ch. VI of the Act applicable to the execution by a Revenue Court of any decree for arrears of rent, provides a complete Code of Procedure, and S. 192 which applies the provisions of the C. P. Code to proceedings under the Act, must be read subject to S. 132. 52 L.W. 505=1940 M. W. N. 976=1941 Mad. 72=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 584. See also 49 L.W. 649=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 130. Sale of a decree by liquidators of a company during the winding up to the highest bidder—Decree assigned in his favour—Sanction of Court got—Irregularity in contract of sale alleged. (1937) 2 M.L.J. 926.

INVALID SALES.—See 10 C. 410; 7 A. 676; 12 A. 96; 16 A. 5; 11 A. 333; 21 A. 311; 10 A. 506; 1941 Pat. 566. Where decree-holder himself is the auction-purchaser, it is open to judgment-debtor to assail the validity of the sale on grounds apart from those specified in R. 90, e.g., that the sale of ancestral property which ought under the G. O. to have been conducted by the Collector, having been conducted by the Amin of Civil Court, was without jurisdiction. 143 I.C. 122=1932 A.L.J. 1118=1933 A. 192. Where the deposit of 25 per cent. of the purchase-money is not made by auction-purchaser at the time of sale but three days after it, and it is accepted by the Court it is a mere irregularity and cannot vitiate the sale. 171 I.C. 932=A.I.R. 1937 Lah. 113. Sale conducted at a time and place other than that notified, is not a sale at all. 7 A. 676; 50 L.W. 867. But see also 187 I.C. 584; 1940 Cal. 265 cited infra. A sale which is held on a day on which it has been expressly proclaimed that it shall not take place is not a valid sale at all. Where an execution sale is held on a day which was not a day on which it had been advertised to take place or a day to which it had been adjourned, the sale is vitiated by illegality and is altogether null and void. In such a case, in order to set aside the sale on the ground of illegality, it is not necessary for the Court to hold that the judgment-debtor has been materially prejudiced by the sale. 50 L.W. 687. So also is sale held before the expiration of the 30 days required by R. 68, and without the consent of the judgment-debtor. 11 A. 333; 21 C. 66=20 I.A. 176 (P.C.); 1933 L. 186=145 I.C. 125. But see 68 I.C. 363=2 P. 207. Effect of sale held without the property being attached. 5 A. 86; 21 A. 311; 10 A. 506. See also 32 C. 296 at 314; 68 I.C. 843=1923 N. 18; 18 C. 188; 34 C. 787; 1 R. 533=1924 R. 124; 21 I.C. 46; 36 I.C. 292. Where a person is not aware of the sale proclamation and false representations are made to him by the bailiff as to the nature and interest put to sale and he purchases the property relying on those representations, the sale must be set aside. 164 I.C. 202=1936 R. 327. A summary rejection of an application under this rule without an investigation is improper and will not be sustained. 85 I.C. 779=1925 N. 289. An omission by the officer conducting an execution sale to record the bid of a bidder is an irregularity; but when there is nothing to show that the judgment-debtor suffered substantial injury on account of such omission and there is not even any allegation that intending purchasers were dishonestly sent away by the decree-holder or the sale officer or any one else, the sale will not be set aside. 11 O.W.N. 1618=153 I.C. 853=1935 O. 154.

NOTICE.—When no notice is given under R. 150 of the Civil Rules of Practice (M.), the sale is void. 16 M.L.T. 353. Also when no notice is given under O. 21, R. 22. 91 I.C. 711=1926 C. 539; 146 I.C. 681=1933 Pesh. 71; but not mere irregularity in the service of notice. 13 P. 467=149 I.C. 828=15 P.L.T. 273=1934 P. 274; nor error in giving wrong address in the notice, specially when it is the same address as in the plaint, for the decree-holder has not acted mala fide. (Ibid.) The provisions of O. 5, R. 19 are imperative and when there is no declaration that the service is due service, the service cannot be held to have been duly effected at all. 156 I.C. 699=42 L.W. 39=1935 M. 438. Application for setting aside—Receiver not in possession—Whether entitled to notice. 7 R. 425=1929 R. 311. The Code does not lay down that the parties who would be affected by an order setting aside a sale under R. 90, should be formally impleaded as parties to the application made for the purpose. It is sufficient if notice is issued to them before the sale is set aside. 62 C. 286=157 I.C. 637=39 C.W.N. 186=1935 C. 502.

DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT.—Where the applicant fails to appear in support of his application under O. 21, R. 90, it is open to the Court acting under its inherent powers to dismiss the application for default. A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 495=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 255.

LIMITATION.—When an application to set aside a sale in execution is time barred, the Court has no jurisdiction to set aside the sale. (1926 L. 379, Rel. on.) 1935 L. 972. The application must be made within 30 days of the date of sale. The period might be extended under S. 18 of the Limitation Act on the ground of fraud. 14 C. 679. See also 1926 C. 229; 30 C. at 153; but not under S. 4 of the Limitation Act. 92 I.C. 839. Whether benefit of S. 6, Limitation Act, is available to application under this rule. 1935 P. 450. See 29 C. 626, as to what day is to be taken as the "date of sale". Time runs not from the date of sale but from the date of knowledge of fraud. 60 I.C. 801=48 C. 119. But see 48 I.C. 970. Also 60 I.C. 529 (P.). It is sufficient if the application is in time. It does not matter if the particulars of the irregularities are filed more than 30 days after sale. 48 A. 286=24 A.L.J. 286=1926 A. 305. Where a void sale is sought to be set aside, then the application would not be under R. 90, but will be deemed to be an application made in execution governed by S. 47, to which Art. 181, Limitation Act, would be applicable. 151 I.C. 244=1934 A.L.J. 859=1934 A. 314. Where the real purchaser was included as a party after 30 days, while the application was within time against the ostensible purchaser, the application is within time, if the applicant did not know of the existence of a real purchaser at the time of the application. 76 I.C. 507=1923 A. 462. As to whether an application by a bona fide purchaser on the ground of fraud is barred, see 27 C.W.N. 587=1923 C. 538. When a purchaser can apply, see 38 M.L.J. 228=55 I.C. 333; 47 A. 479=1925 A. 459. Also 18 N.L.R. 98=1922 N. 113; 5 Pat.L.T. 41=74 I.C. 760 (2); 107 I.C. 494. But see 47 C.L.J. 62, contra. Dismissal of prior application under this rule is not a bar to an application under O. 34, R. 5 before confirmation of sale. 38 C.W.N. 924=152 I.C. 1059=1934 C. 822.

FORM OF APPLICATION.—A formal array of parties is not an absolute necessity in an application under this rule. 25 I.C. 907=17 O.C. 306. See also 7 Pat.L.T. 532=1926 P.H.C.C. 83=94 I.C. 31=1926 P. 266. It is not the duty of the judgment-debtor to name in his application all the auction-purchasers. 49 A. 788=25 A.L.J. 524=102 I.C. 126=1927 A. 513. Separate applications by different judgment-debtors can be consolidated and heard together and the whole sale set aside. 14 C.L.J. 346=16 C.W.N. 704. The Court cannot set aside a sale upon other grounds not pleaded by the applicant. 21 A. 140. See also 53 I.C. 794. Absence of application bars defence of invalidity of sale in a suit by non-transferable occupancy tenant. 28 C.W.N. 821=1925 C. 81.

PARTIES TO THE APPLICATION.—The decree-holder is a necessary party to an application under this rule. 15 A. 407. A beneficial owner is not a necessary party. 29 A. 682. The purchaser is a necessary party. 1891 A. W. N. 121. Also 50 I.C. 5; 8 L.R. 199 (Rev.); but see contra in 39 C.

NOTES.

687=16 C.W.N. 570. See also 62 I.C. 61=2 Pat.L.T. 386. Auction-purchaser is not a necessary party. 107 I.C. 494=1928 L. 413. An application to set aside the sale was made under R. 90 but that was refused and sale was confirmed. An appeal was preferred against this order but the auction-purchaser was not made a respondent. Afterwards he was sought to be impleaded as a respondent but the time fixed for filing the appeal had expired. Held, that as the auction-purchaser was a necessary party and was not impleaded within time, the appeal should be dismissed. 163 I.C. 698=1936 L. 478. When there is a specific provision in O. 21, R. 90, enabling a decree-holder to apply to set aside a sale, his application can only be under R. 90 of O. 21, and S. 47, C. P. Code, could not possibly apply to it. The fact that the auction-purchaser was not made a party to that application could not in any way affect the question as it could not have the effect of converting the application into one under S. 47. 1939 N.L.J. 344=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 241.

WHO CAN APPLY.—(1) The decree-holder, (2) any person entitled to share in a rateable distribution of assets, and (3) any person whose interests are affected by the sale. Under S. 146 any person claiming under any of the persons aforesaid can also apply. 3 A. 554 (559) (F.B.). See also 1927 M. 67; 17 Pat.L.T. 847; 1938 M.W.N. 1225=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 940. An attaching decree-holder can apply. 47 A. 479; 133 I.C. 426=1931 A.L.J. 880. Other co-sharer landlords can apply under this rule when a defaulting tenure is sold. 50 I.C. 329=23 C.W.N. 619. A co-sharer landlord who claims pre-emption under the Bengal Tenancy Act, in respect of property sold in execution of a money-decree can apply. 151 I.C. 1088=59 C.L.J. 417=1934 C. 795. Where there is only one house which is sold and the irregularity in the conduct of the sale could not be apportioned and it is such an irregularity as to amount to an illegality, the sale cannot be set aside in part and it is immaterial in such a case whether both judgment-debtors objected or not. 1939 N.L.J. 319=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 258. The words "whose interests are affected" are wide enough to include pecuniary interests. Mortgagee entitled to claim surplus proceeds of a rent-sale in satisfaction of his debt can apply under this rule. 126 I.C. 295=1930 P. 451. See also 154 I.C. 721=16 Pat.L.T. 216=1935 P. 210. Mortgagee of item (2) can apply to set aside sale of item (1) on the ground that owing to fraud and collusion item (1) had been sold for a low price with the result that item (2) had been ordered to be put up for sale. 1933 A.L.J. 3=1933 A. 54=55 A. 121. See also 154 I.C. 721=16 Pat.L.T. 216. When a minor was not represented by a guardian ad litem in execution proceedings, his mother can apply to have the sale set aside as natural guardian. 40 C. 635=40 I.A. 140=25 M.L.J. 140 (P.C.). See also 21 Pat.L.T. 864=1940 Pat. 62. Whether the auction-purchaser himself may apply, see 105 I.C. 465=1927 R. 301=5 R. 516; overruled by 6 R. 621=114 I.C. 538 (1) contra. See also 1939 N.L.J. 238=1939 Nag. 179. An auction-purchaser is not competent to apply to set aside the sale under R. 90 on the ground that an encumbrance existing on the property was not disclosed in the proclamation of sale and that he was unaware of it. 60 B. 750=38 Bom.L.R. 589=1936 B. 311. Also a person who has purchased the property at a prior execution sale, may apply, such prior sale not having been confirmed. 8 C. 367; 12 P. 665=14 Pat.L.T. 388=1933 P. 435 (S.B.). Even a defaulting auction-purchaser. 37 C.W.N. 766=146 I.C. 879=1933 C. 815. A purchaser from the judgment-debtor prior to attachment. 15 C. 488 (F.B.). Person purchasing property after attachment but before sale. 146 I.C. 339=37 C.W.N. 912=1933 C. 788. Also a person who obtains an order for attachment before judgment, and subsequently obtains a decree in his suit prior to an execution sale of the property of the judgment-debtor at the instance of another decree-holder. 40 C.W.N. 1338=63 C.L.J. 560; 37 L. The judgment-debtor who sold the property prior to execution sale can apply where the properties are sold as his. 22 L.W. 872=92 I. C. 597 (1)=1926 M. 217. Judgment-debtor not appearing though served to settle terms of proclamation of sale—Still he is not estopped from applying to set aside sale. 1930 N. 191. But see 130 I.C. 265=1931 P. 63; 131 I.C. 721=1931 Rang. 179; 1925 C. 552=79 I.C. 369; 21 I.C. 780. A judgment-debtor who owns only a share in one of the several lots of property sold in execution is a "person whose interests are affected by the sale". If the other lots are wrongly sold for a lower amount, the burden on the applicant's share would to that extent be increased. Hence he can challenge the sale of the whole property including lots with which he is not concerned. 58 B. 564=36 Bom.L.R. 681=1934 B. 348. See also 145 I.C. 884=1933 A.L.J. 3=1933 A. 54. Decree against Hindu father and sons—Insolvency of father—Sale in execution of shares of sons—Application by Official Receiver to set aside sale—Held, that the Official Receiver was competent to make the application, because he was "a person whose interests are affected by the sale", under R. 90, as the sale of the sons' shares affected the interests of the general body of creditors whom the Receiver represented; and that notice of the settlement of the sale proclamation ought to have been given to the Receiver under R. 66, and the omission to do so was a material irregularity. 157 I.C. 251=41 L.W. 309=1935 M. 459. A mortgagor judgment-debtor is entitled to maintain an application under O. 21, R. 90, for setting aside the sale in execution of the mortgage decree, although a receiver has been appointed by Court in respect of the mortgaged properties. 41 C.W.N. 1246. A mortgagee purchaser of an entire non-transferable holding can apply this rule to set aside a sale in execution of a subsequent rent decree. 31 I.C. 359=22 C. W. N. 143. See also 86 I.C. 612=1925 C. 925; 6 P.L.T. 295=1925 P. 461. A Hindu reversioner can apply. 4 P.L.J. 360=1919 P. 303=51 I.C. 359. See also 1926 M. 959. As the entire ancestral property including the interest of the sons can be sold in execution of a decree obtained against a Hindu father, the interest of the sons is affected by the sale and they are competent to apply to set aside the sale. 14 P. 436=16 P.L.T. 680=1935 P. 205. WHO CANNOT APPLY.—A stranger cannot apply. 1927 C. 82=97 I.C. 757 (2). A judgment-debtor duly served cannot apply under this rule. 1925 C. 552. A person who has filed a declaratory suit regarding the property ordered to be sold cannot apply under this rule, while his suit is pending. 38 A. 358=34 I.C. 272. The holder of a Kudivaram interest in land has no locus standi to apply under O. 21, R. 90, to set aside a sale where it is of the melwaram interest only. (1941) 1 M.L.J. 831. A person not a party to a mortgage suit cannot apply. 20 I.C. 16. A decree-holder for money against the mortgagor cannot set aside a mortgage sale. 1925 S. 101. Objection to a purchase without leave of Court cannot be raised by strangers to the suit. 17 I.C. 126. Judgment-debtors or sham alienees from them who knew but kept quiet at the time of sale that the property was not attached or that the property was not within the Court's jurisdiction, are estopped from objecting to the sale. 24 M.L.J. 70=18 I.C. 498. Non-appearance of judgment-debtors after notice at the time of fixing of terms of sale proclamation will bar them from raising objections later on. 22 I.C. 780. Where judgment-debtor has knowledge of irregularities and stands by without raising any objection at the time, he will not be permitted to take advantage of them in an application under this rule. 32 I.C. 990. Where purchaser is the decree-holder himself, he will be deemed to have notice of the charges to which the property is subject. 57 I.C. 1004=48 C. 93. Where a judgment-debtor having knowledge of irregularities gave an undertaking not to question the sale later, he will be bound by his undertaking. 47 I.C. 831; 9 I.C. 698=13 C.L.J. 192. ## NOTES.

MATERIAL IRREGULARITY.—The word “irregularity” is wide enough to include an illegality; 11 A. 342; and connotes want of conformity to some recognized rule of procedure. 5 M.L.J. 70. O. 21, R. 90 does not refer only to an irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting the auction-sale. The decree-holder is also responsible for any irregularity or fraud occurring in the sale proclamation which is itself prepared from the sale statement for which the decree-holder himself is responsible. 20 N.L.J. 111=A.I.R. 1937 Nag. 140. Irregularities appearing during the course of investigation as well as those alleged in the application are to be taken into consideration. 103 I.C. 532=1927 N. 319. Sale in contravention of terms of decree is a material irregularity. 33 I.C. 692=(1916) 1 M.W.N. 256. Villages to be sold in one lot, but proclamation showing each village separately as for sale. 56 M. 356=144 I.C. 414=37 L.W. 188=1933 M. 225=64 M.L.J. 539. Where on account of defective plan, bidders are misled, 148 I.C. 135=35 P.L.R. 309=1934 L. 413. Omission to mention rent payable in respect of one of the lots in the sale proclamation. 147 I.C. 629=1934 P. 186. The fact of a sale being held before the period of 30 days has elapsed as required by O. 21, R. 68 although a material irregularity does not make the sale a nullity without proof of substantial injury thereby to the judgment-debtor (21 C. 66, Foll.) 1935 L. 962. See also 39 P.L.R. (J. & K.) 127 (non-compliance with O. 21, R. 66). Sale proclamation giving two valuations. 152 I.C. 259=15 P.L.T. 511=1934 P. 540. Gross under-valuation of the properties in the sale proclamation is a material irregularity. 157 I.C. 251=41 L. W. 309=1935 M. 459; 1937 P.W.N. 205=1937 Pat. 493. Want of notice under O. 21, R. 22, does not make the sale void, but only voidable. 159 I.C. 299=60 C.L.J. 584=39 C. W.N. 510=1935 C. 356. See also 175 I.C. 919=1928 Pat. 289; 48 L.W. 586. The omission to issue or serve the notice contemplated by O. 21, R. 22, C.P. Code, is not a mere irregularity in publishing and conducting a sale falling under O. 21, R. 90. There can be no sale without such notice, and if a sale is held under such circumstances, it is a nullity being a case of no sale at all in the eye of law. A separate suit therefore lies to declare the sale void and ineffective. 194 I.C. 372=22 Pat.L.T. 520. Non-compliance with provisions of O. 21, R. 84. 144 I.C. 314=10 O.W.N. 440=1933 O. 345. Irregularity in service of notice of attachment. 37 C.W.N. 1164. Non-compliance with provisions of O. 21, R. 66. 145 I.C. 915=1933 P. 640. See also 39 P.L.R. (J. & K.) 127; 20 N.L.J. 283. The fact that no notice was issued under R. 66, though a material irregularity does not of itself vitiate the sale. (1927 L. 84, Foll.) 1935 L. 962. Omission in adjournment of sale to specify hour. See 1935 A. 182=4 A.W. R. 1465. But see 1935 L. 992. In order that there may be an illegality proved there must be shown some breach of a definite rule of law. 30 L.W. 995=117 I.C. 705=1929 M. 275. There is no basis for making a distinction between a material irregularity and an illegality in the conduct of a sale. In one sense whatever is irregular is also illegal. 5 M.L.J. 70. As to irregularities in conducting the sale, see 7 A. 641. Sale will be set aside if there is (a) collusion between judgment-debtors and decree-holders, (b) when the value of property is grossly inadequate, and (c) when price fetched is very low. 6 Pat.L.T. 295=1925 P. 461. When it has been agreed to between the parties that a sale of certain properties in execution of a decree shall be free of encumbrances, it is a material irregularity that a statement to the contrary in the sale proclamation should be allowed to stand without any correction either in the proclamation or verbally made at the sale and the sale should be set aside under R. 90. 157 I.C. 982=1935 M.W.N. 496=1935 M. 607. The holding of an execution sale fixed for a particular date in the following date because it could not be held earlier, when the scales are held in due order, is not illegal and void. It is not even a material irregularity. 17 Pat.L.T. 712; 167 I.C. 63=1937 P. 104. The holding of a sale before the time fixed is not merely an irregularity but an illegality which in itself renders the sale void. An irregularity which renders impossible the publicity which affords one main security for the fairness of public sales must be deemed to be an illegality. Holding the sale at a time earlier than that advertised would result in the intending bidders arriving too late. Such a sale can be set aside under O. 21, R. 90, by the Court itself, even if the objection is not raised by the applicant himself. 1939 N.L.J. 319=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 258. Where the auctioneer conducting an execution sale, arbitrarily closes the auction either before or as soon as it is 4 o'clock although a bidder is willing to purchase the property for a much larger sum than the price realized, and although the bid for the larger sum even if made after 4 o'clock is made immediately after bid for which the property is knocked down, it amounts to a material irregularity in conducting the sale. 1936 L. 555. Where according to the sale proclamation the sale was to commence at 10 o'clock and the officer who was to conduct the sale reaches the spot at 12 o'clock with the result that the intending bidders depart after waiting, the sale cannot be said to have been properly and regularly conducted. When the intending bidders depart, it follows that there was no proper competition in bidding and the property would naturally be sold at an inadequate price. 38 P.L.R. 515.

WHAT ARE IRREGULARITIES.—On proof of irregularities sale must be set aside, though

Where the Naib Tahsildar holding a sale adjourns it to another date, but informs no one but the decree-holder about the adjournment and does not specify the hour to which the sale is adjourned, that amounts to a material irregularity. The order of adjournment must be announced to all persons who have attended the sale and not merely to the decree-holder. 20 N.L.J. 283.

O. 21, Rr. 90 and 69.—O. 21, R. 69, no doubt directs the sale officer to record his reasons for the adjournment of the sale. But his failure to record his reasons would not amount to a material irregularity, for it cannot be said to go to the root of the matter. I.L.R. When the Code directs a specific hour to be named, it is not fulfilling its directions to say in a vague way that the sale will be "resumed in an hour or so". But this is not enough to justify setting aside the sale unless the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity. I.L.R. WHAT ARE NOT IRREGULARITIES.—The absence of attachment prior to the sale of immovable property in execution of a decree amounts to no more than an irregularity and is not sufficient to vitiate the sale in the absence of any substantial loss resulting from such want of attachment. The use at a sale, of language by an intending bidder in disparagement of the property, is a "material irregularity". 5 C. 308; 7 C. 346; but such remarks made by by-standers or by purchasers other than the decree-holder do not constitute such an irregularity. 17 C. 152. The sale on a closed holiday is not always an irregularity. 3 A. 333. Nor when on account of holiday, sale was held on the next day. 144 I.C. 779=37 C.W.N. 146=1933 C. 486. Omission to state value of property is not material irregularity. 1927 M. 1009 (1). Though there was an under-valuation, yet if the price fetched was adequate, the sale cannot be set aside on the ground of under-valuation. 57 I.C. 892; 16 I.C. 394; see 10 I.C. 475=15 C.W.N. 577. See also (1937) 2 M.L.J. 936 (Mere inadequacy of price not sufficient to set aside sale); 20 M. 159; 30 Cal. 1; 31 Cal. 815 Ref.) Where in a sale proclamation a certain property was included in a wrong lot by mistake, it is not such an irregularity as to entitle the sale to be set aside. 32 I.C. 990. The practice in the Madras Presidency in execution sales is to sell the lots in the order in which they appear in the sale proclamation. A departure from that order may amount to a material irregularity, and if substantial injury is occasioned by such irregularity, the sale is liable to be set aside. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 216=49 L.W. 502=A.I.R. 1939 Mad. 303=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 38. If the Nazir sells properties in a different order than that indicated in the list prepared by the District Judge under R. 233 of the Civil Rules and Circular Orders issued by the Calcutta High Court, there is only an irregularity in conducting the sale, and the sale is not void but voidable if that irregularity has resulted in loss to the judgment-debtor or the decree-holder. I.L.R. (1939) 1 Cal. 530=43 C.W.N. 539=70 C.L.J. 97=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 369. There is no doubt that where the sale proclamation stated that the entire house would be sold but in fact only a portion of it was sold, it does constitute an irregularity and perhaps even a material irregularity; but whether substantial injury would flow from that, is another matter. The tracing of the injury to the irregularity must depend on facts of each case. 1939 N.L.J. 344=A.I.R. 1939 Nag. 241. See also 1937 A.L.J. 288=1937 All. 407. Where an entire holding is sold, the giving of wrong numbers of lots is not a sufficient irregularity. 41 I.C. 282=2 P.L.J. 623. A compromise, in which all persons affected by the sale, are not parties, and which is not recorded by the Court, does not result in setting the sale aside. 85 I.C. 529 (2)=1925 C. 779. Failure by prior mortgagee-decree-holder to implead third party purchaser in execution of a decree (obtained by a puisne mortgagee) and subject to the prior mortgage is no irregularity or fraud in conducting the sale. 1933 M.W.N. 77. Purchaser of one of mortgaged properties made defendant—Preliminary decree not specifying order of sale—No objection by purchaser to preliminary or final decree—No irregularity in selling them in any order. 150 I.C. 733=1934 P. 329. Failure to follow the order entered in the list by the sale officer is not such an irregularity. 1931 A.L.J. 62=1931 A. 159; 55 A. 519=1933 A.L.J. 1273. The sale of property consisting of numerous plots of land situated in various villages in one lot does not by itself constitute a gross irregularity. 107 I.C. 295; 37 L.W. 188=1933 M. 225.

decree-holder amounts to fraud. 2 O.W.N. 297=1925 O. 381. Mere want of diligence is not fraud. Facts must be stated. 2 P.L.T. 401=6 P.L.J. 319. Mis-statement of value in a sale proclamation does not necessarily amount to fraud; but in particular circumstances may justify the inference of fraud. 2 Pat.L.T. 501=2 P. 65. See also 56 C.L.J. 570=1933 C. 339. Where decree-holder colludes with strangers in purchasing the property for much less than the decretal sum, it amounts to fraud. 15 I.C. 888=16 O. C. 86.

INJURY.—The word "injury" means loss which is wrongful. When a man loses what he had been in the habit of wrongfully gaining it is not substantial injury. 7 C.W.N. 439. Substantial injury is essentially necessary. 83 I.C. 1028=1924 A. 698. See also 20 C. 599; 7 C. 730; 12 M. 19; 18 A. 37; 7 C. 466; 20 M. 159; 24 C. at 295; 30 C. at 9; 104 I.C. 196=1927 C. 873; 7 Pat.L.T. 468=93 I.C. 935=1926 P. 202; 96 I.C. 196=1926 L. 587; 50 L.W. 867. Party must prove such an irregularity as resulted in substantial injury. 25 I.C. 18; 45 I.C. 212; 5 L.L.J. 30=1923 L. 213; 37 I.C. 964=1917 M.W.N. 89; 33 I.C. 692=(1916) 1 M.W.N. 256; 32 I.C. 990; 70 I.C. 900=1 Bur.L.J. 234. See also 39 C. 26=38 I.A. 200=16 C.W.N. 1 (P.C.). A denial of opportunity to purchase the property put up for sale by auction constitutes a "substantial injury" within the meaning of R. 90. 1933 A.L.J. 92=1933 A. 161. Unless otherwise prescribed, a sale under the Code is a public sale to be held at a public place and after notice to the public. Where a sale in which the bid of the decree-holder was the highest was not concluded and subsequently the Court accepted a private offer by another person and concluded the sale in the absence of the decree-holder, held, that there was material irregularity resulting in substantial injury and that the sale should be set aside. 1933 A.L.J. 92=1933 A. 161; 36 P.L.R. 183. Although the price realised is grossly inadequate, the Court must be "satisfied upon the facts proved" that it was caused by material irregularity in publishing or conducting the sale. See 20 M. 159; 30 C. at 9; 18 A. 37; 18 A. 141. But see also 31 C. 815 (818). See also 24 L.W. 406=97 I.C. 574=1926 M. 959 and 6 C.W.N. 836. An adjournment of sale by bailiff without Court's sanction and the absence of a fresh proclamation is not a sufficient ground in the absence of substantial injury. 20 I.C. 192=6 Bur.L.T. 65. Absence of publication of sale is not a sufficient ground without proof of loss. 5 Pat.L.W. 15=46 I.C. 84. Mere omission of publication in the Gazette is not ground to set aside sale in the absence of proof of substantial injury. 53 I.C. 794. Where only a part of the property advertised was sold without a fresh proclamation, proof of substantial loss is necessary to set aside the sale. 11 L.W. 477. Mere omission to state value is not a serious irregularity. Proof of substantial loss in addition is necessary. 4 Lah.L.J. 441=1922 L. 35. The circumstance that the decree-holders offered to return the properties to judgment-debtor at the price for which they brought the offer not being accepted may be taken into consideration in judging whether judgment-debtor has suffered injury by the sale. 32 C.W.N. 309=1928 C. 328.

PROOF OF INJURY.—Injury can be proved not necessarily by direct evidence but by circumstantial evidence also. 144 I.C. 414=56 M. 356=64 M.L.J. 439. Gross undervaluation must deter intending purchasers from bidding at the sale and offering reasonable value. When such under-valuation is proved and the properties are actually sold for a very low price, it must be held that substantial injury has occurred and the sale should be set aside. 157 I.C. 251=41 L.W. 309=1935 M. 459. From the failure at complying with even the elements of the prescribed procedure an irresistible presumption of substantial injury would arise sufficient to justify the cancellation of the sale, even without any affirmative proof of substantial injury, e.g., where the notice required under O. 21, R. 22, has not been served, no proclamation of sale issued at all, sale was held within 30 days of the order, less property was put up for sale than was contained in the application and the sole bidder was the decree-holder. 144 I. C. 14=1933 Pesh. 41.

SUIT TO SET ASIDE SALE.—A suit does not lie to have an execution sale set aside on the ground of any fraud in the conduct and proclamation of sale. The remedy is under O. 21 only, 159 I.C. 299=60 C.L.J. 584=39 C.W.N. 510=1935 C. 356. When an application under this rule is dismissed, no suit under R. 92 will lie. 5 R. 606=105 I.C. 706; 1929 N. 130. When a person seeks to set aside a sale by reason of a title adverse to that of the judgment-debtor at the date of attachment the proper remedy is a regular suit. 16 M. 476. A sale after proclamation notifying a decree giving prior charge, can be set aside only by a regular suit, if the decree giving prior charge was set aside subsequent to sale. 1925 M. 325. The rule does not apply when the fraud alleged is that a minor defendant was represented as major. A regular suit three years after his majority is the only remedy. 38 M. 1076=28 M.L.J. 525. When fraud is alleged, this rule applies before confirmation of sale. After confirmation a suit is the only remedy. 51

(a) no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity or fraud unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or fraud ;

(b) no such application shall be entertained upon any ground which could have been taken by the applicant on or before the date on which the sale proclamation was drawn up.”

In a suit to set aside sale, fraud need not be specifically alleged; an inference or suggestion is sufficient. 63 I.C. 425=19 A.L.J. 530. APPEAL.—An order dismissing an application under R. 90 for default is appealable under O. 43, R. 1 (f). The fact that a distinct order confirming the sale was not passed is no ground for refusing to entertain the appeal. 56 C. 969=33 C.W.N. 392=1929 C. 407 (2); 1931 P. 97. An appeal lies from an order refusing to set aside a dismissal for default of an application under this rule. 33 I.C. 581=20 C.W.N. 1203; 131 I.C. 533=1931 P. 97; 27 N.L.R. 339. See also 38 C. 622=15 C.W.N. 875. If property is purchased by a third person and an application is made by judgment-debtor against decree-holder to set aside the sale on the ground of irregularity or fraud in conducting the sale, the application would still be treated as one under S. 47, if purchaser is not formally made a party to such an application. 150 I.C. 611=1934 N. 21. An appeal lies from an order of dismissal on the ground that the application was time-barred. There is no second appeal even when the purchaser is the decree-holder and the applicant is the judgment-debtor. 6 L. 250=1925 L. 624; 152 I.C. 776=1934 P. 627. But want of notice of sale proclamation and under-valuation are objections under S. 47 and therefore a second appeal lies. 87 I.C. 413=1925 M. 1142. Mere defect in notice and publication does not give room for second appeal. 145 I.C. 731=1933 A. 654. See also 60 C.L.J. 584=39 C.W. N. 510. Objections based on the ground of non-compliance with R. 66, such as defects in mentioning the value of the property, the encumbrances on the property and the description of the property proclaimed for sale, must be raised before the sale is held; when they have not been so raised or even mentioned in the lower Court, they cannot be considered as grounds for setting aside the sale in appeal. 19 N.L.J. 282.

SECOND APPEAL.—No second appeal lies in view of the provisions of S. 104 (2), from an order passed in appeal dismissing the application of the judgment-debtor under R. 90, even where the purchaser is the decree-holder himself. 165 I.C. 654=1936 A.L.J. 959=1936 A. 763=17 Pat.L.T. 712; 1935 L. 962; 1935 R. 521; 163 I.C. 765=38 P.L.R. 839=1936 L. 969; 18 C. 422 (F. REVISION.—Where application under this rule is rejected wrongly on the ground that the applicant had no locus standi to apply, that amounts to a failure to exercise a jurisdiction vested in the Court by law, and the High Court will interfere in revision under S. 115. 40 C.W.N. 1338=63 C.L.J. 560.

REVISION.—See 9 M. 145; 130 I.C. 265=1931 P. 63. Revision by High Court is not generally possible because revision of a dismissal order will be confirmation, and as such, that will be open to appeal under R. 92. 41 C.L.J. 286=1925 C. 510. But see 48 A. 286. Confirmation of a sale in execution of a decree before decision of application under this section is a material irregularity which adversely affects the judgment-debtor and High Court can interfere in revision. 1933 A. 137=145 I.C. 732. Where any immovable property has been sold in execution of a decree, the decree-holder, or any person entitled to share in a rateable distribution of assets or whose interests are affected by the sale, may apply to the Court to set the sale aside on the ground of material irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting it:—

Provided that the Court may, before admitting the application, call upon the applicant either to furnish security to the satisfaction of the Court for an amount equal to that mentioned in the sale warrant or that realised by the sale, whichever is less; or to deposit such amount in Court :

Provided also that the security furnished or the deposit made as aforesaid, shall be liable to be proceeded against only to the extent of the deficit on a re-sale of the property already brought to sale :

R. 90 is dismissed and sale confirmed the aggrieved party can apply under S. 144. 133 I.C. 622=1931 A. 655.

CALCUTTA.—Per Mukherjea, J.—O. 21, R. 90, Proviso (ii), C. P. Code, is inapplicable if the particular defect in the sale proclamation that is complained of is no part of the order of the Court in drawing up the sale proclamation and it finds a place in the sale proclamation that is actually issued despite the direction of the Court to the contrary. 42 C.W.N. 661.

O. 21, R. 90 (Madras Amendment).—Under the first proviso to R. 90 of O. 21 as amended in Madras, the power of the Court to call upon the applicant to furnish security is confined to a time anterior to admitting the application to set aside. The Court has no power to do so after the admission, i.e., after notice is given to the opposite side. The proviso specifically excludes the right of a decree-holder to apply to the Court for an order calling for security, although such order may be for the protection of the decree-holder. 191 I.C. 29=1940 M.W.N. 121=51 L.W. 256=A.I.R. 1940 Mad. 624=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 350. See also 53 L.W. 719. The first proviso to O. 21, R. 90, added by the Madras High Court by the amendment of 1937, must be held to be intra vires the rule-making powers of the High Court under S. 122, C.P. Code. An applicant seeking to set aside a sale under O. 21, R. 90, C.P. Code, as amended in 1937, on the ground of material irregularity or fraud, must be given an opportunity of showing cause before an order is made, against him requiring security before admitting the application. The subsequent amendment of the rule and the re-framing of the first proviso put this beyond all controversy. 1940 M.W.N. 1260=1941 Mad. 28=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 972 (F.B.).

"(2) In case the application is unsuccessful the costs of the opposite party shall be a first charge upon the deposit referred to in proviso (i) (b), if any."

[RANGOON.] R. 90.—Substitute the following proviso :—

"Provided that no application to set aside a sale shall be admitted unless—

(a) it discloses a ground which could not have been put forward by the applicant before the sale was conducted, and

(b) the applicant deposits with his application the amount mentioned in the sale warrant or an amount equal to the amount realised by the sale whichever is less; and in case the application is unsuccessful the costs of the opposite parties shall be a first charge on the amount so deposited:

Provided further that no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity or fraud unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity or fraud."

NOTES.

Omission of details in—Omission to publish in Collector's office and Tahsil—If ground for setting aside sale. 19 N.L.J. 312. The amendment made in the Central Provinces to R. 90, govern all the proceedings in Collector's cases in those Provinces. The Collector under the rules contained in the Revenue Book Circular is merely undertaking the execution of the decrees of the Civil Courts as the agent of the Civil Courts and has to observe the provisions of O. 21, including R. 90. 19 N.L.J. 282. See also 19 N.L.J. 318.

O. 21, R. 90 (as amended in Patna).—The amended rule applies only to applications made after date of coming into force of the rule and not to applications which have been already admitted. The rule, therefore, forbids a Court to admit an application but cannot have the effect of setting aside the previous admission of an application. 1937 P. 260. Proviso 1 (b) which has been added by the Patna High Court to O. 21, R. 90 in exercise of its rule-making powers under S. 122, is not ultra vires. The amended proviso added by the Patna High Court is only a rule of procedure and does not take away any substantive right. It is nothing more than putting the party on terms and is not an obstacle in the way of the applicant. 19 Pat. 531=21 Pat.L.T. 294=1940 Pat. 264 (F.B.).

Under O. 21, R. 90 (1), C.P. Code, as amended in Patna, the Court in an application to set aside an execution sale, has a discretion to accept landed property as security instead of a cash deposit in a proper case. If the Court refuses to dispense with cash deposit and to accept landed property as security and then dismisses the application for failure to make the deposit, the latter order is appealable under O. 43, R. (1) (j), C.P. Code, though the order refusing to accept security is not appealable. But the order refusing to accept security can be set aside in revision, if it does not apply its mind to the facts of the case and does not judicially determine the application for permission to give landed property as security. 17 Pat. 107=19 Pat.L.T. 402=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 240. Proviso (1) (a) and (1) (b), substituted to O. 21, R. 90 (1), C.P. Code, by the Patna High Court only contemplates that after an application to set aside sale has been presented an inquiry must be made by the Court by admitting it, to see whether the requirements of the proviso has been satisfied. The proviso places conditions not upon the presentation of an application to set aside a sale, but upon its admission. The application cannot be admitted unless the provisions of Cls. (a) and (b) of proviso (1) are complied with. There is nothing in the rule to suggest that the admission of the application must take place within the period of limitation of thirty days prescribed by Art. 166 of the Limitation Act. All that the proviso requires is that before admission the necessary sum of money or security, unless dispensed with, must be deposited. The applicant can then be said to have deposited with his application such deposit or security within the meaning of the proviso. The date of admission is not governed by the Limitation Act. Where no deposit accompanies an application to set aside a sale, the Court has no power to reject such application forthwith. It must give the applicant an opportunity to urge that the deposit should be dispensed with or to deposit the full or lesser amount or other security before some date fixed for admission. If the orders of the Court are complied with the application must be admitted and heard on the merits provided that it complies with proviso (1) (a) as well. 18 Pat. 327. Quaere: Whether the amendment made by the Patna High Court to O. 21, R. 90, C.P. Code, is ultra vires the rule-making powers of the Court. 18 Pat. 327=1939 P.W.N. 232=20 P.L.T. 275=A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 248 (F.B.). See also 1940 Pat. 264. Where before the conclusion of a sale the Bihar Money Lenders Act of 1938 had come into force but no application was made to the Court under Ss. 16 and 17 of that Act and no objection was taken to the sale proceeding on the old proclamation of sale, an application under O. 21, Application by purchaser to set aside sale on ground of judgment-debtor having no saleable interest.

91. The purchaser at any such sale in execution of a decree may apply to the Court to set aside the sale, on the ground that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in the property sold.

NOTES.

R. 90, C.P. Code, cannot be admitted on the ground that the Court did not proceed with the sale as directed by Ss. 16 and 17 of the Bihar Act, as such a ground could have been put forward before the sale. When it is not open to the judgment-debtor to raise the matter in the Court below he cannot raise it in appeal before the High Court. 193 I.C. 124.

O. 21, R. 90 (Lahore Amendment).—Where an objection to a sale of immovable property is taken under S. 60 (1) (c) after sale, but before sale is confirmed, objection falls under O. 21, R. 90, as amended by the Lahore High Court and is not entertainable. 1937 Lah. 309. See also 1939 Lah. 113. Proviso 2 to O. 21, R. 90 only precludes objection to a sale being entertained at a later stage if it could have been put forward earlier, but if the judgment-debtors were never served with a notice as regards sale it is obvious that the objection could not have been preferred earlier and hence the Proviso does not apply. 41 P.L.R. 553=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 222. Proviso 2 to O. 21, R. 90 only relates to what lies within O. 21, R. 90, that is, to matters in connexion with publishing or conducting the sale. It has and can have no application to a question raised under S. 47. Where, therefore, an objection under S. 60 (1) (c) which falls under S. 47, is raised after the sale and before its confirmation, it is the duty of the Court to decide it and to see if it has jurisdiction to sell the property. If it has no jurisdiction, it is its duty to end the execution proceedings by refusing to confirm the sale which so far has not become absolute. I.L.R. (1939) Lah. 103=41 P.L.R. 436=A.I.R. 1939 Lah. 113. Objections to a sale on the ground that the value or the rent of the houses which were to be sold was not given in the proclamation of sale and that the dimensions of the houses were not stated in the proclamation and the houses were not otherwise sufficiently described, ought to be raised before the sale and cannot be considered after the sale under the proviso to R. 90 of O. 21, added by the Lahore High Court. Even according to the law as it stood before the amendment, a sale could not be set aside merely because of the omission to give the approximate value or rental of the properties. 177 I.C. 558=11 R.L. 336=40 P.L.R. 201=A.I.R. 1938 Lah. 508.

O. 21, R. 90, Proviso (b) (Rangoon): If ultra vires.—O. 21, R. 90, proviso (b), which has been cancelled by an order of the Rule Committee dated 27th January, 1937, is ultra vires the Rule-making Committee of the High Court. The only valid rules which can be made by the High Courts under the provisions of S. 122, must regulate the mode of proceeding to enforce a legal right and cannot stray beyond it. Proviso (b) to R. 90 does not regulate procedure but lays down an indispensable preliminary before any proceedings take place at all. It seeks to take away an existing right, namely, the right of being heard to impeach a sale in execution subsisting in a person whose interests are affected by it, unless he is able and willing to deposit with his application the amount mentioned in the sale warrant or an amount equal to that realized by the sale whichever is less. 1937 Rang.L.R. 268=A.I.R. 1937 Rang. 419 (F.B.). See also (1940) 2 M.L.J. 972. Scheduled Notification No. 44 of 27th January, 1937, has removed the necessity of a deposit under O. 21, R. 90, C.P. Code. 1938 Rang. 292.

O. 21, Rr. 91 to 93.—Whatever may have been the position under the Code of 1882, the law is now clear that a purchaser at a regular execution sale cannot obtain a refund of his purchase money on the ground that the judgment-debtor has no saleable interest unless the sale is set aside. The purchaser is restricted to his remedy by an application under O. 21, R. 91, which must be made within thirty days from the date of the sale, followed by an application under R. 93. He cannot maintain a suit, nor an application under S. 151, C.P. Code, especially when the sale has been properly held in regular execution proceedings in connection with which no fraud on the part of the decree-holder or judgment-debtor has been established. An unilateral mistake cannot avoid a contract or Court sale. 1932 A.L.J. 392=1932 A. 403; much less a suit against decree-holder lies for refund of purchase-money to the auction-purchaser when the latter was aware of the possession by a third person of the property put to sale and failed to make inquiry thereunto before sale, and allowed it to be confirmed. 20 N.L.J. 111=1937 N. 140. There is no implied warranty of title either by the decree-holder or the Court in execution sales and the statutory right recognized by R. 93 is confined to the case where the sale of the property is set aside under R. 92. 134 I.C. 269=1931 N. 116. Where decree-holder purchased and after entering satisfaction discovered defect in judgment-debtor's title, the only remedy of the purchaser was to set aside the sale under this rule within limitation time under Art. 166. (Ibid.) He cannot bring a suit to challenge the same or apply under R. 91, except in the case of fraud or misrepresentation, in which case it may be open to him to apply for review or such relief by a separate suit. (Ibid.) Before the objection application of the judgment-debtor under O. 21, R. 92 is adjudicated upon it is mandatory on the execution Judge to send notice to the auction-purchaser and his omission to do so makes the order illegal. 174 I.C. 233=A. I. R. 1938 Pesh. 14. There is at present no right either in law or in equity for an auction-purchaser to recover by suit, from the decree-holder, the purchase price paid, in case of the property sold turning out to be not the property of the judgment-debtor. As regards the decree-holder auction-purchaser his rights are limited to those granted by C. P. Code, O. 21, Rr. 91 and 92, and if the auction-sale is confirmed that becomes res judicata between him and the judgment-debtor and hence he cannot re-open the matter by an application for further execution or by any other means unless he can get the order confirming the sale set aside. CONFIRMING SALE.—Once a sale has taken place the Court has no jurisdiction to refuse to confirm it unless the specified objections are taken and sustained. 161 I.C. 752=1936 Lah. 191. O. 21, R. 92 applies to a sale, that is, a sale held in accordance with the provisions of O. 21. But a 'sale' that consists merely of the receipt of an offer by post in the absence of any bidders and its acceptance, is not a sale at all. Such 'sale' proceedings could not be confirmed. 1939 N.L.J. 226. There is no provision in the Code of Civil Procedure for an application by the auction-purchaser for confirmation of the sale; confirmation follows automatically under R. 92 (1) and the setting aside follows automatically under R. 92 (2) of O. 21. 1938 M.W.N. 656=47 L.W. 51=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 307. Its finality, in the absence of confirmation, may also be inferred by conduct of the executing Court. 81 P.R. 1915=31 I.C. 254. See also 20 N.L.J. 222; 1938 N.L.J. 10. A sale cannot be said to be automatically conferred merely because no application had been made under R. 89, 90 or 91 of O. 21, or such application had been made and disallowed. Something had to be done by the Court, namely, to make an order confirming the sale and unless it is done the sale cannot be said to be confirmed. 1938 A.W.R. (C.C.) 119=A.I.R. 1938 Oudh 221. Order dismissing application to set aside sale merely on default of appearance of parties cannot be regarded as confirmation of sale. 53 C. 679=96 I.C. 705=1926 C. 773. See also 29 O.C. 86=1925 O. 622. But order confirming sale should automatically be passed. 13 L. 761=142 I.C. 686=1933 L. 99. An order against a pre-emptor in confirmation as he did not appear before Collector, in a sale held by him, is final. 45 A. 203=21 A.L.J. 53 (F.B.). The legal effect of a sale depends on the decree-holder's status at the commencement of proceedings and not at the time of sale. 45 C. 294=21 C.W.N. 847. The title of purchaser dates only from confirmation and not from sale. 9 I.C. 25=8 A.L.J. 32. But where delay in confirmation is due to quarrel between rival bidders, interests should be paid up to confirmation on the sale amount. 22 I.C. 946=19 C.L.J. 358. Absence of decree-holder on the day fixed for confirmation of execution sale—Duty of Court to confirm sale—Dismissal for default—Inherent power to restore. 120 I.C. 405. In construing the meaning of words "when the sale becomes absolute" in Art. 180, Limitation Act, regard must be had not only to the provisions of R. 92 (1) but also to the other material sections and orders of the Code including those which relate to appeals from orders made under R. 92 (1). Where, therefore, there is an appeal from an order of Judge disallowing the application to set aside the sale, the sale will not become absolute within the meaning of Art. 180 until the disposal of the appeal, even though the Subordinate Judge may have confirmed the sale, as he was bound to do when he decided to disallow the abovementioned application. (1932 C. 75, Reversed; 56 C. 608, Overruled; 56 C.L.J. 520=1933 C. 311, Appr.; 43 M. 185, Ref.) 61 C. 945=61 I.A. 248=38 C.W.N. 901=67 M.L.J. 79 (P.C.) [Reversing 56 C.L.J. 574]. There is no provision in the Code of Civil Procedure for the cancellation of a sale in execution merely because of the cancellation of the decree in execution of which it has been held, and though it be in accordance with justice that a person who has succeeded in appeal should get from the opposite party such restitution,

(2) Where such application is made and allowed, and where, in the case of an application under rule 89, the deposit required by that rule is made within thirty days from the date of sale, the Court shall make an order setting aside the sale :

as is possible, there is no principle of justice whereby an innocent third party who has purchased in a valid auction held by the Court should be deprived of his property merely because the decree under which the sale was held has been cancelled in appeal. Consequently the executing Court has power to confirm the sale notwithstanding that on the date of the confirmation the decree had been set aside on appeal and had ceased to have a judicial existence. 53 L.W. 167= (1941) 1 M.L.J. 193.

Sub-R. (2).—The provisions of this rule are mandatory. The deposit should be made within 30 days from the date of sale. 33 I.C. 998=3 L.W. 271. See also 1938 N.L.J. 10. Proceedings under sub-R. (2) are not final and a third party is not bound by it. 24 I.C. 44=1 L.W. 412. The proviso to cl. (2) of R. 92 only lays down that a sale should not be ordered to be set aside unless notice is given to the persons affected thereby. It is not necessary that they should be made parties to the application and arrayed in the categories of plaintiffs and defendants. 62 Cal. 286=39 C. W.N. 186=1935 C. 502. Sale in execution of a decree cannot be set aside merely on the ground that after the date of the sale in fact more than thirty days after the date of the sale but before its confirmation the judgment-debtor was declared to be a member of an agricultural tribe whose land cannot be sold. (1931 P.C. 33 and 1933 L. 99, Rel. on.) 161 I.C. 752=1936 L. 191. Where a final mortgage-decree was passed pending an appeal from a preliminary decree and a sale is held, the fact that in the appeal the preliminary decree was varied cannot be a ground for setting aside a sale to a third party. Further under O. 21, R. 92 (1) the Court is bound to confirm a sale unless there is a successful or effective application under R. 89, 90 or 91 of O. 21. It is quite clear that the proviso to R. 92 (2) does not relate to R. 92 (1). 1938 N.L.J. 303= I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 302=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 525.

PROVISO—NOTICE.—The only three classes of persons affected by a petition under R. 89 are the judgment-debtor, the creditor executing the decree and the purchaser who has advanced cash. The other decree-holders who have applied for rateable distribution of the sale proceeds have no such direct or proximate interest as to make them affected thereby, and therefore not entitled to notice under R. 92. 132 I.C. 141=1931 M. 465= 61 M.L.J. 909. Where the judgment-debtor is dead, notice must issue to his representative. 7 B. 424. Sec. contra 98 I.C. 69=1927 O. 23. Formal notice is not necessary if there is actual notice otherwise. 1925 C. 157; 1928 C. 267=107 I.C. 476.

Notice itself need not be served within 30 days. 37 B. 387=19 I.C. 475; 68 I.C. 238=1922 O. 129; 69 I.C. 745=1922 A. 282; 107 I.C. 494. Service of notice under this rule on all persons affected by the sale is not compulsory. 67 I.C. 286; 37 C. W. N. 84=144 I.C. 814=1933 C. 464. But any order passed behind the back of persons who had obtained orders for rateable distribution will not bind them as they are affected by the application to set aside the sale. 35 M. L. Otherwise the order is one without jurisdiction. 32 I.C. 891. See also 111 I.C. 895=1929 L. 778 (1). Auction-purchaser is not a necessary party in the sense that in the application he should be described as one of the parties. 104 I.C. 148=1927 L. 681.

LIMITATION.—The thirty days under sub-rule (2) is to be computed from the date of deposit under R. 84. 50 I.C. 914. An execution sale of immovable property is not complete until the officer conducting the sale has accepted the final bid. Consequently, the period of 30 days prescribed by R. 92 does not begin to run against a person applying to set aside the sale if, for any reason, the final bid remains for a time unaccepted by the officer conducting the sale. 118 I.C. 900. It is not legal to pass an order confirming the sale under R. 92 of O. 21, till 30 days have elapsed from the date of the sale, and if the 30th day is a holiday, the confirmation could only be made at the end of the next day. 1939 N.L.J. 598. The auction-purchaser may not be a party in the execution proceedings until the confirmation of the sale but on the date of the confirmation he acquires a title in the property purchased by him and if it is sought in appeal to obtain an order to his detriment by having the sale set aside, he must be made a party to the appeal before such an order can be obtained. On 11th August, 1927, the judgment-debtor submitted an application under R. 92 to have the sale set aside and the 26th October, 1927, was fixed for hearing it. Meanwhile on 1st September, 1927, the judgment-debtor and the decree-holder informed the Court that they had come to a settlement and the Court, without issuing notices to the auction-purchaser or passing any order about the sale which was awaiting confirmation ordered the execution proceedings to be sent to the record room treating the decree as satisfied. On 28th October an application was made for confirmation of the sale but the same was rejected. An appeal against the order was dismissed. Held, in further appeal that the order dated 28th October, 1928, was one under R. 92 and was appealable under O. 43, R. 1 (j). Held, further, that the order dated 1st September, 1927, had no effect on the auction-purchaser's right and the fact that it was not appealed against did not preclude the later appeal. 149 I.C. 445=35 P.L.R. 375=1934 L. 508. tive of the question whether an application for setting the sale aside has been made or not. The sub-rule however has no application to a case where what is prayed for in the suit is not the setting aside of the order confirming the sale but certain declarations and injunction as regards the taking of possession. 35 C.W.N. 877. Unsuccessful applicant under R. 90, even if neither party to suit or to execution proceedings, is debarred from bringing suit. Even if suit by unsuccessful applicant under R. 90 is held unentertainable, Court must consider, if there is such prayer, whether he alone is entitled to surplus sale-proceeds—Practice. 119 I.C. 431=1929 L. 618. Applicability and scope—Suit to recover property sold in excess—Maintainability. 119 I.C. 852=1929 A. 673. No suit lies to set aside order under this rule on the ground that judgment-debtor had no saleable interest. It is immaterial that the judgment-debtor did not apply at all under R. 91, or applied and failed. 157 I.C. 33=1935 A.L.J. 261=1935 A. 470. But where a decree in execution of which the sale took place is itself found to be invalid, or where it is found that the sale officer had no authority to sell the property, the remedy of a separate suit would not be barred. (Ibid.)

O. 21, Rr. 92 and 93.—Where a purchaser had withdrawn the price on the sale being set aside, but the sale was confirmed by the appellate Court, and where the judgment-debtor's application for re-sale on the ground of the absence of the deposit under O. 21, R. 85 was negatived, he cannot in appeal from that order agitate the question as to the absence of a deposit, for it is a matter which ought to have been raised and fought out before the Court which confirmed the sale. 1938 N.L.J. 207.

O. 21, R. 93: SCOPE OF RULE.—A right to claim refund in restitution is recognized against the decree-holder in R. 93. In principle there is no difference in this liability of the decree-holder whether the sale is set aside under R. 92 or under S. 47. 1936 L. 497. See also 1938 Pesh. 66=177 I.C. 906; 1938 Cal. 203. The rule clearly implies that the purchase-money may be paid to the decree-holder before the date of the confirmation of sale. 12 C. 255; 8 M. 101; 1 A. 568 (F.B.); 6 W.R. 147; also 28 O.C. 136=1925 O. 404; 3 P. 947=88 I.C. 219. Under the old Code a suit will lie for the refund of purchase-money when the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in the property. Under the present Code, the only remedy is under this rule. See 42 I.C. 453; also 65 I.C. 230; 37 I.C. 763; 1920 M.W.N. 736=60 I.C. 66. But see 1926 C. 297; 53 C. 758=96 I.C. 64=1926 C. 971. Compare 41 I.C. 924; 36 A. 529=26 I.C. 59 with 43 A. 60=58 I.C. 105. To such a suit Art. 120 of the Limitation Act will apply. 35 A. 419=19 I.C. 986. See also 30 C.W.N. 79=91 I.C. 768=1926 C. 297. O. 21, R. 93 is intended to arm the Court with power to order the return of the money to the purchaser in case the same has been paid to any person in the meantime. It should not be read as containing an implication that the decree-holder is entitled to withdraw the purchase money before confirmation of sale, during the execution proceedings in the executing Court. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 456=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 54.

Per B. K. Mukherjea, J.—A suit for refund of purchase money on the ground that there is no saleable interest of the judgment-debtor in the property sold, does not lie at the instance of the auction-purchaser. The auction-purchaser has now got under the C. P. Code to set aside the sale under O. 21, R. 91, by an application made within 30 days from the date of sale, before he can apply for refund under O. 21, R. 93. Where however the invalidity of the proceeding is due to fraud, carelessness, or neglect of duty on the part of the decree-holder, the auction-purchaser can sue to recover the purchase money on the ground of failure of consideration and such right is unaffected by any provision of the C.P. Code. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 512=67 C.L.J. 16=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 263. Where the Court-sale is not vitiated by

A.I.R. 1941 Pesh. 41. See also 1939 Rang.L.R. 649. Purchaser of immovable property in an auction held by the Court in execution of a decree is entitled to maintain a suit for recovery of the price paid by him if he is deprived of the property subsequent to the confirmation of the sale in his favour on the ground that judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in it. In every case where the property of a third person in which judgment-debtor had no saleable interest, has been sold at the instance of the decree-holder, both the parties, i.e., the auction-purchaser and the decree-holder must at least be deemed to be labouring under a mistake on an essential fact and therefore the suit would lie to recover the purchase price on the auction-purchaser being deprived of the property by the rightful owner as for recovery of money had and received on total failure of consideration. The right to maintain such action has been given to the purchaser on equitable grounds; he must therefore bring his case within the rules of equity and his right to recover would be subject to any equitable defence that the decree-holder might be able to advance on the ground of laches, knowledge of true state of affairs, fraud, etc., on the part of the purchaser. Object of R. 93 stated. 13 L. 618=138 I.C. 47=1932 L. 401 (F.B.). After purchase-money has been returned by order of Court, a separate suit lies for interest on the purchase-money and the expenses of sale. 5 A. 364. Judgment-debtor is a necessary party to the suit. 10 C.W.N. 274. If purchaser was misled by carelessness of Court in permitting a mistake in sale proclamation, he can either sue for refund of proportionate part of purchase-money or can set aside the sale. 9 Bur.L.T. 169=33 I.C. 1003. Purchaser can sue the judgment-debtor in cases of fraud. 46 B. 833=1922 B. 205. If sale is not set aside, purchaser who finds that judgment-debtor had no title to a portion of the property cannot sue to recover a proportionate part of the purchase-money. 51 I.C. 595=52 P.R. 1919. But see 79 P.L.R. 1913=18 I.C. 795; 50 M.L.J. 232; 50 M. 639; 53 A. 496. Where an execution sale turns out to be futile by a finding in another suit, in which the decree and the sale in execution are declared void, the auction-purchaser has a right of action to get his purchase-money back under the general law, though not under the Code. But his remedy is not an application under R. 93 but a regular suit. 159 I.C. 625=42 L.W. 866=69 M.L.J. 750 (F.B.). See also 1930 O. 148 (F.B.).

by Art. 181 of the Limitation Act; and time begins to run from the date of the passing of the original order setting aside the sale, and not from the order of the final Court of appeal, confirming the order setting aside the sale. The right to make the application accrues immediately the order setting aside the sale is made. Art. 182 has no application to an application under O. 21, R. 93. 46 L.W. 280=1937 M.W.N. 749=A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 779.

APPEAL.—No appeal lies from an order refusing a refund. 12 A. 397; 14 A. 201. But see 16 C. 535; 42 Bom.L.R. 367.

REVISION.—See 9 M. 437 and 17 M. 228.

O. 21, R. 94: SCOPE OF SECTION.—See 4 M. 172. The grant of certificate is ministerial, not judicial. 4 P. 760=90 I.C. 501. A sale certificate is only a formal document confirming what was purchased in the Court auction and cannot confer title on the purchaser to property which was never included in the proclamation of sale or put up for sale, though included in the sale certificate. The purchaser can only base his title to the property by virtue of his purchases and not on the certificate of sale. 1937 M.W.N. 1267=A.I.R. 1938 Mad. 232. See also 1940 A. 121. The rule imperatively requires the Court to grant a certificate and does not impose on the purchaser the duty of making an application, as a condition precedent. 4 M. 172. Also 1 P.L.J. 446=38 I.C. 576. It is the purchaser's duty to bring in a proper stamp for sale certificate. Judge after issuing sale certificate becomes functus officio and cannot order deficiency of stamp to be supplied later on. 32 Bom. L.R. 1084=1930 B. 392 (F.B.). A sale certificate is not a title-deed. It is merely evidence of title. 24 C.W.N. 1011=47 C. 1108. Under the Code a sale certificate should bear the date of confirmation of sale. 1936 M. 733. The sale certificate is the document of title in cases of sales in execution, and as such it cannot be lightly ignored by reference back to other documents and it cannot be argued that the property could not have been sold and so must be taken not to have been sold. 1939 A. L.J. 1079=1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 920=A.I.R. 1940 All. 121. See also 1938 Mad. 232. The law recognizes only the method under which a man can sell his property to another and that is by a registered sale deed. There is, however, one exception and that is about transfers created by operation of law. In case where property is purchased by a person at a Court sale, no sale deed is necessary. The sale certificate which the Court will issue will show that the purchaser got a title and the property vested in him from the date of the sale. The sale certificate will not be a title deed but would be statutory evidence of transfer in place of the mode of transfer by a registered sale deed. Having regard to the provisions of R. 94 of O. 21, the Court will issue the sale certificate only in the name of auction-purchaser or if he dies in the name of his legal representative. But the Court is incompetent to recognize any transfer or arrangements made by the auction-purchaser with a third person. 1938 A.L.J. 625=A.I.R. 1938 All. 471.

TO WHOM CERTIFICATE IS GRANTED.—The certificate is to be issued in the name of the actual purchaser. 54 I.C. 726=24 C.W.N. 27. If the purchaser is dead, the certificate may be granted to his legal representative. 24 B. 120; 11 C.W.N. 158. There is nothing whatever in R. 94 to prevent an assignee from the auction-purchaser applying for the sale certificate, nor to prevent the Court granting it to him. 161 I.C. 740=38 Bom.L.R. 104=1936 B. 137. Where in a mortgage suit an interim Receiver was appointed and the properties were sold in execution, sale made absolute and certificate granted to the purchaser, it is the purchaser and not the Receiver who is entitled subsequently to sue for possession of the property. 9 R. 565. The purchaser so long as he is not in possession of the property will be open to objections as to his title to the property. 45 B. 1186=23 Bom.L.R. 514. The purchaser gets only the rights of the vendor. 21 C.W.N. 854=41 I.C. 511. Also 29 I.C. 17; 12 I.C. 831=4 Bur.L.T. 135. See also 32 P.L.R. 759. The vendee even in the absence of a deed has a good title. 41 I.C. 850=22 C.W.N. 522. A certificate of sale issued in respect of property not attached is invalid. It cannot be treated as a misdescription of the property. The proper procedure is to commence execution proceedings over again. 41 C. 590=41 I.A. 38=26 M.L.J. 89 (P.C.). If certain items in the joint family property of a coparcener are sold and if subsequently at a partition other items are allotted to the coparcener, the purchaser cannot ask for a substitution of the properties. 37 M.L.J. 620=54 I.C. 515. An application for a sale certificate need not be in writing, and, if in writing, need not be stamped. 13 B. 670. Undisclosed principal of auction-purchaser—Right to sale certificate. 105 I.C. 880 (1).

LOC. AMS.—[NAGPUR.] R. 94.—In r. 94 add a comma after the word "sold" and insert the words "the amount of the purchase-money" between the word "sold" and the word "and".

[RANGOON.] In O. 21, the following shall be inserted as rr. 94-A and 94-B:—

"94-A. A copy of every sale certificate issued under r. 94 shall be sent forthwith to the Sub-Registrar within whose sub-district the land sold or any part thereof is situate.

94-B. If in execution of a decree any interest in land is sold, the names and addresses of the purchaser or purchasers and the interest thereby acquired shall be certified to the Superintendent of Land Records as soon as the sale has been confirmed under r. 92 (1)."

95. Where the immovable property sold is in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor or of some person on his behalf or of some person claiming under a title created by the judgment-debtor subsequently to the attachment of such property and a certificate in respect thereof has been granted under rule 94, the Court shall,

Entries in sale certificates are not binding on strangers. 20 I.C. 753. Parties to sale cannot question title of the purchaser. 50 I.C. 157=21 O.C. 400. When the certificate recites that the right of redemption is sold, the right to redeem of any other coparcener of the defendant is also barred. 41 B. 357=19 Bom. L.R. 75.

CONSTRUCTION OF.—Mere inaccuracy of language or misdescription will not vitiate a sale certificate. 7 W.R. 245; 15 W.R. 490. In certificates, boundaries prevail over areas, mentioned therein. 22 I.C. 26=18 C.L.J. 541. But area as detailed by survey and paimash numbers prevail over a sweeping general boundary. 11 M.L.T. 15. A purchaser is not bound by a wrong description regarding situation of land. 52 I.C. 739. Also 11 I.C. 395=13 C.L.J. 660. Extraneous evidence might be received to identify the property comprised in the sale certificate. 25 W.R. 401. Sale certificate—Identity of property in doubt—Prior mortgage bond can be referred to. 33 C.W.N. 1211. Evidence to counteract terms of a certificate is inadmissible. 22 I.C. 280=19 C.L.J. 182. Evidence cannot be adduced to prove that more than what the certificate actually gives was purchased. 26 W.R. 104.

AMENDMENT OF.—A certificate granted by Court can be amended on an application for review under S. 114. 26 C. 530. Amendment cannot be made ex parte. 23 W.R. 301. See also 23 I.C. 811=19 C.L.J. 209; 20 I.C. 588. An amendment showing a larger purchase is without jurisdiction. 18 I.C. 725. Notice to judgment-debtor is necessary. When an amendment is asked for, without notice, it is an irregularity. 16 L.W. 760=1925 M. 63. Where a plaintiff claims after an interval just short of 12 years to take a technical advantage of mistake in the number of the house sold and entered in the sale certificate and to insist that he is now entitled to have the property of the exact description which he bought, irrespective of what the real intention of the parties may have been and of any equities between them, Courts in India, in their application of principles of justice, equity and good conscience, would refuse to give him the relief prayed for. 1940 A.W.R. (H.C.) 539=1941 All. 9=1940 A.L.J. 762.

CANCELLATION OF CERTIFICATE.—When certificate issued on a rent sale is cancelled, the decree for rent remains unaffected. 35 I.C. 339=20 C.W.N. 819. The auction-purchaser derives his title from the Court's act. Where the Court's act is induced by mistake it may be set aside. 38 M. 387=26 M.L.J. 198. The onus of proving fraud is on the judgment-debtor when the certificate is sought to be cancelled. 34 I.C. 911.

REGISTRATION.—A sale certificate requires registration. 4 B. 155; 3 M. 37. See 7 M. 248; 7 M. 418; 11 B. 588.

GRANT OF FRESH CERTIFICATE.—See 9 B. 526.

DATE OF CERTIFICATE.—5 A. 84. When the mortgage decree-holder is the purchaser the title relates back to the date of the mortgage. 9 I.C. 840. A certificate issued during the pendency of a maintenance suit begun after sale is not affected by lis pendens and is complete. 1915 M.W.N. 15=28 M.L.J. 666.

LIMITATION.—The provisions of the Limitation Act relating to applications do not extend to applications to obtain a sale certificate. 4 M. 172. See also 6 B. 586.

APPEAL.—No appeal lies against an order refusing to amend a certificate. 23 A. 476. Also against an order granting an amendment. 26 C. 529. An application for delivery of possession by an auction-purchaser under R. 95, has to be made within three years of the date of confirmation of the sale and not from any later date such as the date of the issue of the sale certificate. 54 C. L.J. 241=134 I.C. 1188.

O. 21, R. 95: SCOPE.—A purchaser of Nankar rights need not apply for possession. 36 I.C. 768=3 O.L.J. 436. In execution, delivery must be either under this or the next rule. 55 I.C. 946. Any person claiming under the "purchaser" can also apply. See S. 146. See 28 M. 89; also 38 I.C. 338. A decree-holder entitled to possession cannot forcibly remove judgment-debtor from possession. 5 Bom.L.R. 977. An order for delivery of possession is not a mere general order to be worked in subsequent execution proceedings. 43 I.C. 155=7 L.W. 16. Delivery of possession need not be taken through Court—If auction-purchaser is let into possession by judgment-debtor amicably, application to Court under this rule is unnecessary. 34 C.W.N. 1059=1930 C. 586. R. 95 has no application to a case in which the property sold in execution is claimed by a person in his own right and independently of the judgment-debtor. 1936 M.W.N. 1369=44 L.W. 698=71 M.L.J. 725. Where purchase was under a mortgage decree passed against executors in their representative capacity, application cannot be made for possession under this rule against the beneficiaries. The beneficiaries do not claim under executors, and they are not "judgment-debtors" or some persons on their behalf under R. 95 or any person bound by a decree under R. 35. 1937 C. 301. Auction-purchasers who are decree-holders do not cease to be parties to a suit, and even if they ask relief as auction-purchasers they are still decree-holders coming under the provisions of S. 47. Therefore an application under Rr. 95 and 97 by decree-holder auction-purchaser is an application in execution of a decree and the removal of obstruction to the decree-holder auction-purchaser is in execution of the decree even though the decree be only for sale. 30 S. L.R. 290=161 I.C. 524=1936 S. 11. Property in Karachi Court's jurisdiction sold in execution by Bombay High Court—Decree-holder auction-purchaser obstructed from obtaining possession—Decree sent for execution to Karachi Court—Power of Karachi Court to remove obstruction. (Ibid.)

"POSSESSION".—Means such possession as the nature of the property is capable of. 5 O.W.N. 372=1927 O. 251 (F.B.). Under the law there are two modes of delivery of possession of a property both when there is a decree for possession and when the auction-purchaser is to be given possession. These two modes do not depend upon the discretion of the Court but depend upon the nature of the property of which possession is to be given. If the property is in occupation of the judgment-debtor or of some person on his behalf, etc., the possession is to be given under one mode, namely, by removing the judgment-debtor and putting the auction-purchaser or decree-holder in possession of it; vide O. 21, Rr. 35 and 95. On the other hand, if the delivery of possession is of a property which is not in occupation of the judgment-debtor, but it is in occupation of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same, delivery of possession is to be given by proclaiming the possession of the decree-holder or auction-purchaser; vide O. 21, R. 36 or R. 96. 148 I.C. 905=15 P.L.T. 615=1934 P. 119. House purchased by auction-purchaser locked—Power of Court to direct breaking open lock. (Ibid.) Even though a writ under R. 95 does not particularly mention delivery of huts or removal of huts, still the auction-purchaser is entitled to get the property after the removal of the huts. 57 C.L.J. 41=144 I.C. 817=1933 C. 469. See also 100 I.C. 301=1927 R. 82. Delivery of possession—Demolition of structure on land covered by decree—Not necessary. 152 I.C. 433=38 C.W.N. 1051=1934 C. 751. When actual possession is applied for under this rule, it may be granted or refused, but the Court has no jurisdiction to order symbolical delivery under R. 96 in such a case. 156 I.C. 551=1935 R. 159. As to effect of delivery of vacant site under this rule, when objected to by tenants, see 1936 M. 733. Where there was no opposition by the judgment-debtors and the obstruction was only by a third person to a limited extent, the portion as to which there was no obstruction by the third person and no opposition by the judgment-debtor should be delivered. 58 M. 893=42 L.W. 375=1935 M. 803=69 M.L.J. 821 (F.B.). As to different effects as to limitation and adverse possession created by formal and actual delivery, see 27 C.W.N. 24=1923 C. 138. Also 23 I.C. 811=19 C.L.J. 209; 43 A. 520=19 A.L.J. 469; 39 A. 460=15 A.L.J. 361; 24 Bom.L.R. 232=46 B. 710; 43 B. 559=21 Bom.L.R. 357. But see 43 I.C. 268=34 M.L.J. 97 (P.C.), which decides that symbolical possession will interrupt title by adverse possession. As between the purchaser and judgment-debtor, the property vests in the purchaser. 34 C. 199. Where possession is delivered under R. 95 there is no necessity for making a proclamation which is only prescribed in cases where delivery of immovable property in possession of a tenant is made by symbolical possession under R. 96. So where the possession was given by beat of drum and the process-server's report showed that possession was given without crops. Held, that only symbolical possession was given. 150 I.C. 1028=1934 N. 172. A purchase of right, title and interest of a co-sharer, passes title to what was in exclusive possession of the co-sharer. 38 I.C. 338. chaser of an usufructuary mortgage debt, whether or not he be also the decree-holder, cannot get anything more from the executing Court than his sale certificate. He cannot apply for delivery of possession under R. 95, the mode of delivery contemplated in such a case being that prescribed by R. 79 (3). 138 I.C. 819=1932 M. 283. Mortgage with possession—Decree for sale—Suit by purchaser for possession—Right of mortgagor's heir to resist. 122 I.C. 475. Where it is decided in a suit for partition by Hindu sons against their father, that a mortgage executed by the father on the footing of which the mortgagee has obtained a decree, was executed for legal necessity and for purposes binding on the family and that the father fully represented the family in the said transaction, and that the sons are bound by the decree passed thereon, it must be taken that the sons as members of the family were also parties to the mortgage decree, and not "persons other than the judgment-debtor" within the meaning of O. 21, R. 99. The decree-holder may in such a case apply for possession under O. 21, R. 95 and need not file a suit for possession. A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 582=45 L.W. 568= (1937) 1 M.L.J. 667.

AFTER GRANT OF SALE CERTIFICATE it is not incumbent on Court to put a purchaser into possession until he has obtained a sale certificate. 5 B. 206. The right of a purchaser to apply for possession accrues when certificate has been granted, that is to say, when it has been issued to him. 17 B. 228.

LIMITATION.—An order under this rule on an application by decree-holder auction-purchaser is an order under S. 47 and is governed by Art. 182 of the Limitation Act. 103 I.C. 335=1927 N. 294. See also 54 C.L.J. 241=134 I.C. 1188. A second application for delivery of possession under O. 21, R. 95, can be made by the auction-purchaser, if it is otherwise within time. The period of 30 days under Art. 167 of the Limitation Act is to be counted from the date of the resistance or obstruction of which complaint is made and not from the date of the first resistance in respect of which an application for delivery of possession was made and dismissed for default. 42 C.W.N. 478=A.I.R. 1938 Cal. 352.

SUIT.—It is not necessary in every case where an application for delivery under R. 95 is made that a complete inquiry is necessary. Where the questions raised are questions for decision in a regular suit and not in summary proceedings, the proper course is to leave the aggrieved party to his remedy by way of a regular suit. 156 I.C. 551=1935 R. 159. Auction-purchaser may sue for possession without proceeding under this rule and R. 96. 9 C. 602; 14 C. 644; 10 M. 55; also 89 I.C. 134. A suit brought by decree-holder auction-purchaser for recovery of possession of the property purchased in execution of his decree is not barred by the provisions of S. 47, the question relating to the delivery of the property purchased by him, not being a question relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree. 140 I.C. 683=1932 N. 140. A suit will lie when an attempt by auction-purchaser to obtain possession in execution proceeding has proved unsuccessful. 12 C. 169. Also when possession given under the rule has been infructuous. 10 C. 402. He can also file a suit when his application under this rule is rejected as being beyond time. 29 A. 463; 19 A. 499; 7 C. 418; 4 A. 184; 8 M.L.J. 193; 18 A. 36. But see 90 I.C. 952=1925 M. 1198. If possession may be obtained by purchaser of joint interest except in the case of purchaser of interest of an undivided coparcener, see 102 I.C. 311=1927 S. 199. When a person other than judgment-debtor resists purchaser from getting possession, he cannot again apply under this rule. He can only apply under R. 97 or file a suit. 26 A. 365. But see 13 M. 504 and also 24 I.C. 512. When once possession is given, decree cannot be re-executed on plaintiff being dispossessed. 6 W.R. 108. Judgment-debtor's possession after delivery of possession to purchaser is trespass. 3 Pat. L.T. 335=66 I.C. 817. Subsequent ouster gives rise to a fresh cause of action. 5 B. 387; and a fresh start for computation of limitation. 43 A. 520=19 A.L.J. 469. Delivery of symbolical possession when actual possession should have been delivered puts an end to adverse possession. 1930 L. 823. But see 35 C.W.N. 12. Several mortgage suits—Execution sales—Priority. As between competing auction-purchasers the principles governing priority are the same as those which regulate the claims of priority among the mortgagees. 32 Bom.L.R. 431=1930 B. 221. The puisne mortgagee's right, when he is not a party to the first mortgagee's suit, is limited to a right of redemption or sale of the mortgaged properties subject to the lien of the first mortgagee or auction-purchaser on a decree by the latter and he cannot in execution of his decree under R. 95 compel the first mortgagee to part with possession without redeeming the first mortgage. 1934 Pat. 215.

APPEAL.—No appeal lies from an order allowing auction-purchaser's application. 29 A. 207. See 18 A. 36; 6 C.L.J. 749; 40 A. 216=16 A.L.J. 150; 20 C.W.N. 829; 1 Pat.L.J. 232. An application under R. 95 or 97, will not be a proceeding relating to the execution, discharge, or satisfaction of the decree and the order passed thereon is not appealable. 11 Pat.L.T. 331=1930 P. 311 (F.B.). An appeal under S. 47 and no suit lies from an order rejecting an application under this rule. 90 I.C. 952=1925 M. 1198. On this, see 53 C. 781=95 I.C. 494=1926 C. 798 (F.B.).

sion to the decree-holder or auction-purchaser fall under an order relating to the execution of decrees and orders. When a question arises as to the kind of possession to be delivered, it is a question relating to the execution of the decree. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 583=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 212.

O. 21, Rr. 95 and 96: SCOPE OF.—The summary procedure for obtaining possession under Rr. 95 and 96 does not bar a suit by a purchaser to obtain possession of the property. The two remedies are concurrent. Purchaser can at his option avail himself of the one or the other. For this purpose there is no distinction between a decree-holder purchaser and a third party purchaser. 10 P. 670=133 I.C. 337=1931 P. 241 (F.B.).

O. 21, Rr. 95 and 97.—R. 97 of O. 21 merely gives the auction-purchaser the right to complain to the Court of the resistance offered to him. If he does so, he must do so within 30 days from the time of such resistance under Art. 167, Limitation Act; but if he fails to so apply, that does not take away his right to apply again under R. 95 for delivery of the property, in which case he must apply within three years of the date of sale becoming absolute, under Art. 181. Art. 167 cannot take away the right to apply under R. 95 of O. 21. 1941 N.L.J. 494.

O. 21, R. 96.—21 A. 269; 17 M.L.J. 598. This rule will not apply to property in the hands of a Receiver, and he can be sued only with leave of Court. 63 I.C. 685=14 S.L.R. 137. As to distinction between symbolical and paper delivery, see 44 I.C. 839. An order under this rule is a judicial order. 45 I.C. 608. And thereafter the warrant for delivery cannot be stopped. 103 I.C. 695 (1)=1927 O. 304. Symbolical possession does not of itself effect a transfer of possession by a person not a party to the decree. 42 I.C. 449=3 P.L.W. 133. A formal possession under this rule does not affect strangers at all. 45 I.C. 606=20 O. C. 70. When such third person is in actual possession, he, not being dispossessed at all, is not bound or entitled to start proceedings under R. 100; when the purchaser who has got symbolical possession therefore removes crops grown on the land by the third person in actual possession, he is guilty of theft under S. 379, I. P. Code. The fact of symbolical possession to the purchaser is no answer to the charge. Nor can the act be said to have been done under a bona fide claim of right. 39 C.W.N. 1306. The remedy of purchaser of an undivided share is a suit for partition, when he is obstructed by one entitled to possession of the whole. 25 M.L.T. 153=49 I.C. 629. Formal delivery gives right to demand possession of share by metes and bounds—Right lost by inaction for 12 years. 129 I.C. 767. But see also 40 I.C. 605. Purchaser buying with knowledge of subsisting tenancy will be deemed to know of its duration as well. 100 I.C. 1014 (1)=1927 R. 127 (2). There is no period of limitation under this rule for an application for delivery of possession after confirmation. 40 I.C. 605. But see also 129 I.C. 767.

O. 21, Rr. 96 and 97: PRACTICE.—O. 21, R. 58 does not contemplate the investigation of a claim by a tenant of the judgment-debtor to occupancy rights in the property advertised for sale and an order on that claim directing it to be notified and stating that the sale shall not prejudice the rights of the claimant is not conclusive under R. 63. When the purchaser applies under R. 97 for delivery of the property sold to him in execution the Court should investigate the merits of the claim and even if it finds the claim of the tenant to be bona fide, it should at least order symbolical delivery under R. 96. 41 L. W. 550=68 M.L.J. 518.

O. 21, R. 97: SCOPE OF RULE.—R. 97 applies only where the decree-holder, having obtained a general order of the character specified in R. 96, meets with resistance from any particular person. Merely because an amicable delivery of the property is refused, the summary procedure under R. 97 cannot be resorted to. 36 C.W.N. 965. See also 35 C.W.N. 1132. R. 97, O. 21 would apply equally to a person who was entitled to an order for possession in the same way as it, in terms, applies to the holder of a decree for possession. An order which has been made for a receiver to obtain possession is in effect, and for the purpose of execution, the same as a decree for possession, and application under O. 21, R. 97, though not made by the receiver in person is proper if it has been made on behalf of the receiver. A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 494. Proceedings under this rule whether execution proceedings. See 1926 M. 412=92 I.C. 533=50 M.L.J. 200. It is only the decree-holder or auction-purchaser who can make an application under R. 97, regarding obstruction to possession. 132 I.C. 844 = 1931 L. 686. Where decree-holder's counsel was present when report of the bailiff complaining of the obstruction by the petitioner was placed before the Court, it is reasonable to hold that the further proceedings were taken at the instance of the decree-holder. 149 I.C. 1059 = 36 P.L.R. 89 = 1934 L. 193 (2). Oral application for action under this rule is sufficient. 1931 L. 13 = 130 I.C. 520. Person obstructing need not be physically present. 23 L.W. 157 = 92 I.C. 61 = 1926 M. 359. The executing Court has no jurisdiction to start upon an inquiry under R. 97 either suo motu or upon the application of a prospective objector in absence of a complaint by the decree-holder under R. 97 about resistance or obstruction of delivery of possession to him. [1931 L. 686; 60 C. 8 and 1924 A. 495 (F.B.), Foll.; 1925 R. 374; 1923 L. 145 and 1934 L. 193, Dist.] 31 N.L.R. 408 = 159 I.C. 584 = 1935 N. 212. A decree-holder is not bound to pursue his remedies under this rule. 8 B. 602; 10 M. 53. Application by decree-holder auction-purchaser for possession—Obstruction by judgment-debtor—Application was one under R. 97 and not under R. 95. 32 Bom.L.R. 619. This rule is solely for the benefit of a purchaser at a sale in execution. 13 M. 506. But see 26 A. 365. Also 1926 M. 353. The enquiry into objections is not confined to cases where the order is for possession only but also where the order is for demolition as well. 4 Bur. L.J. 178 = 1925 R. 374. See also 1932 A. L.J. 1036. When the decree is silent regarding the building, the executing Court cannot order its demolition. 5 Bur.L.J. 201 = 100 I.C. 301 (1) = 1927 R. 82. See also 92 I.C. 667 (1) = 1925 R. 374; 57 C.L.J. 41. O. 9 of the Code does not apply to such proceedings under R. 93 or 100 as do not also fall within S. 47; and the Court has no inherent power to set aside, on sufficient cause being shown, either an order dismissing for default an application under R. 97 or 100, or an order allowing such an application ex parte. 30 L.W. 424 = 1929 M. 757 = 57 M.L.J. 381 (F.B.). The action of the Court in entertaining an application made by the obstructor for stay of proceedings on the ground that he was prosecuting a suit or appeal with respect to property in dispute, cannot be justified under S. 151. 119 I.C. 488 = 1929 L. 694. If the judgment-debtor and a third party both obstruct, the decree-holder purchaser has to complain against the judgment-debtor and, if he chooses, against the third party also under R. 97 and the complaint can then be disposed of. But if the judgment-debtor is quiescent, raises no objection and makes no opposition either before the Amin or before the Court, but a third party objects and on account of the third party's objection physical possession of the property cannot be given, it is the duty of the Court to note the fact and to order delivery of such possession as the matter may then be capable of so far as the judgment-debtor is concerned. 58 M. 893 = 42 L.W. 375 = 1935 M. 803 = 69 M.L.J. 821 (F.B.). Scope—Comparison with Rr. 58 to 63 of O. 21—Principles applicable to one whether applicable to proceeding under other set of rules. 53 B. 668 = 31 Bom.L.R. 765 = 1929 B. 379.

DECREE FOR POSSESSION OF PROPERTY.—A decree for partition is a decree for possession of property. 16 M. 127. The rule applies to a decree for possession under S. 2 of the Specific Relief Act. 23 L.W. 157 = 92 I.C. 61 = 1926 M. 353. A sub-tenant cannot resist. He is not in possession on his own account. 23 Bom.L.R. 1316 = 1922 B. 449 (2). Neither can a sub-lessee of a sub-tenant of the judgment-debtor. 23 Bom.L.R. 1251 = 46 B. 526. As to when symbolical delivery is effective, see 1925 M. 1140 = 49 M.L.J. 303. The first mortgagee of certain property was appointed a receiver and obtained possession in execution of her decree to which the second mortgagee was not a party. The second mortgagee brought a suit on his mortgage without impleading the prior mortgagee and the property was sold in execution of the decree in that suit. In an application by the auction-purchaser for possession which was resisted by the earlier mortgagee, the first mortgagee was held to be a bona fide claimant and as he was in possession prior to the purchase by the auction-purchaser, he was entitled to be maintained in possession. 56 M. 846 = 1933 M. 583 = 65 M.L.J. 108 (F.B.).

FRESH APPLICATION.—When an application by an auction-purchaser not being the decree-holder is rendered infructuous on account of obstruction, he need not apply under this rule but can put in another application if within time fixed by Art. 167 of the Limitation Act. 4 Pat.L.J. 94 = 49 I.C. 150 (F.B.). See also 1928 M.W.N. 236; 1933 A. L. J. 113 = 1933 A. 201 = 55 A. 235; 1933 N. 369 = 147 I. C. 582; 146 I. C. 11 = 35 Bom.L.R. 1033 = 1933 B. 457 (F. B.). When once a delivery has been complete, a second application is not maintainable. 43 M.L.J. 179 = 1923 M. 25. After resistance a fresh application for possession can be made under R. 95. 13 M. 504. But see 26 A. 365. Obstruction to decree-holder getting possession—Application taking objection not filed—Subsequent obstruction—Fresh application lies. 1928 M. W. N. 236. ject of a complaint under this rule. 13 W. R. 418.

LIMITATION.—There is no limitation for applying for delivery of possession after confirmation of sale. 40 I.C. 605. A minor is to apply within a month after coming of age. 11 B. 173. See 13 M. 504. As to effect of order upholding claim of sons of judgment-debtor in their own right, see 83 I.C. 923=1924 A. 495. An application under R. 97 for delivery of possession by an auction-purchaser may be treated as an application in an execution proceeding, but it cannot be treated, as an application for execution. S. 15 of the Limitation Act does not therefore apply to such an application. 62 C. 66=158 I.C. 191=1935 C. 333.

SUIT.—In execution of a decree for possession against lessee in favour of lessor, if the sub-lessee obstructs, the remedy is by suit. 60 I.C. 969=47 C. 907. When obstruction is by members of an undivided family to whom the property belonged but who were not parties to the suit, the remedy is by suit only. 14 I.C. 282. Where decree-holder was resisted in trying to obtain possession by the wife of the judgment-debtor who claimed in good faith to be in possession of the property on behalf of her minor son not bound by the decree obtained against the father, an order passed under R. 99 dismissing the application of the decree-holder is not one falling within the scope of S. 47 and so not appealable. The remedy of decree-holder in such a case is that indicated in R. 103. 58 C. 808=133 I.C. 335=35 C.W.N. 286=1931 C. 574. A suit by auction-purchaser for possession is maintainable even if the express words are absent in the decree. 57 I.C. 177. When an application under this rule is rejected, the applicant can file a regular suit. 8 B. 481. When an application by mortgagee decree-holder under this rule is dismissed, the remedy is by suit and not an appeal against the order of dismissal. 53 I.C. 923. A purchaser of immovable property sold for arrears of Abkari revenue is entitled to be put in possession by the Civil Court by removal of obstruction if any. 1 M.L.J. 594; 13 W.R. 467.

APPEAL.—Property subject to charge—Charge under surety bond—Independent suits to enforce mortgage and charge—Rival purchasers—Application by purchaser in surety proceeding against the other purchaser—Order of dismissal—Held, that the order against the surety was appealable, even though it was made by the Court not under S. 145, but under its general powers. 56 M. 909=145 I.C. 871=1933 M. 780=65 M.L.J. 407. Where the decree for restoration is resisted by a third person and the decree-holder applies under R. 97, the mere fact that the application is dismissed and is unappealable does not make the order of dismissal the less a refusal of restitution under S. 144 and as such it is appealable. 13 P. 108=15 P.L.T. 491=146 I.C. 1045=1934 P. 109. An order made under R. 97 between the decree-holder-auction-purchaser and another person who had been impleaded as a defendant in the suit is appealable, because the dispute comes under S. 47. O. 21, Rr. 97 and 103: DISMISSAL OF APPLICATION UNDER R. 97 OF O. 21—APPEALABILITY—SCOPE OF R. 103 OF O. 21.—An order dismissing an application as barred by time is not an ‘order made under R. 98, 99 or 101’ of O. 21, within the meaning of R. 103 of O. 21, but it is a decree within the meaning of S. 2 (2) and is hence appealable. What R. 103 prevents is an appeal, not from ‘an order on an application under O. 21, R. 97’ but from ‘an order . . . under R. 98, R. 99 or R. 101 . . .’ 1940 A.L.J. 785=A.I.R. 1940 All. 525.

O. 21, R. 98: SCOPE.—The rule applies only to obstruction by judgment-debtor or some other person at his instigation. 31 I. C. 799. The condition precedent to the Court putting the decree-holder into possession in the exercise of its power under O. 21, R. 98, is that the resistance or obstruction should have been occasioned without any just cause by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation or on his behalf. The word “judgment-debtor” in R. 98 must be interpreted in the light of session, the Court may also, at the instance of the applicant, order the judgment-debtor, or any person acting at his instigation, to be detained in the civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days.

LOC. AMS.—[ALLAHABAD.] In O. 21, r. 98, after the words "or by some other person at his instigation" add "or on his behalf"; after "or any person acting at his instigation" add "or on his behalf"; after "for a term which may extend to thirty days" add "and may order the person or persons whom it holds responsible for such resistance or obstructions to pay jointly or severally in addition to costs, reasonable compensation to the decree-holder for the delay and expense caused to him in obtaining possession. The order to pay costs and compensation [vide Court's Notification No. 6376/35 (a), dated the 12th November, 1926] made thereon shall have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree."

[CALCUTTA.] O. 21, r. 98.—Insert the words "or on his behalf" after the words "at his instigation" occurring twice in r. 98, O. 21.

[LAHORE.]<sup>1</sup> O. 21, r. 98.—After the words "at his instigation" where they occur first add the following words:—

"or on his behalf."

Add the following proviso:—

"Such detention shall be at the public expense and the person at whose instance the detention is ordered shall not be required to pay subsistence allowance.

[NAGPUR.] Rule 98. In r. 98—

The order made thereon shall have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree."

[N.-W.F.P.] After the words "at his instigation" wherever they occur, add the words "or on his behalf," and after the words "in the civil prison" add the words "at the expense of the Crown."

Dispossession by decree-holder or purchaser. of immovable property by the holder of a decree for the possession of such property or, where such property has been sold in execution of a decree, by the purchaser thereof, he may make an application to the Court complaining of such dispossession.

NOTES.

SCOPE.—The rule cannot apply where S. 47 is applicable. 17 A. at 481. See also 70 C.L.J. 111. Nor where the execution has been transferred to the Collector. 37 B. 488=15 Bom.L.R. 389. As to applicability to proceedings under the Agra Tenancy Act, see 23 A.L.J. 23. See also 36 C.W.N. 790. An application under O. 21, R. 100, by a private purchaser from the recorded tenant of a non-transferable holding, in the course of execution of a rent decree obtained by the landlord against the recorded tenant, is incompetent when such purchase has not been recognized by the landlord. 189 I.C. 240=A.I.R. 1940 Pat. 670. A tenant who has been wrongfully dispossessed in execution of a decree obtained by his landlord against another person has a right to apply for restoration of possession to the Revenue Court under R. 100, and such a right is not barred on account of his alternative remedy by a suit under S. 108, Cl. (10) of the Oudh Rent Act. 155 I.C. 1082=1935 R.D. 346=1935 O.W.N. 698=1935 Oudh 462. No declaratory order can be made under this rule. 103 I.C. 231=1927 N. 300. Questions such as validity or collusiveness of the decree, lis pendens, whether opposite party derives title by kabala or compromise decree, are outside the scope of proceedings under R. 100. 1930 P. 416. The scope of enquiry under R. 100 is the same as that of an enquiry under R. 58. 36 C.W.N. 1034=56 C.L.J. 250; 157 I.C. 86=16 Pat.L.T. 220=1935 P. 230. The judgment-debtor has no right to apply under R. 100. A.I.R. 1932 L. 658. An unsuccessful applicant under R. 58 is not competent to apply under R. 100. His only remedy is by way of suit under R. 63. 35 C.W.N. 1034=56 C.L.J. 250; 148 I.C. 334; 17 Pat.L.T. 812 (F.B.); 1937 O.W.N. 690=1937 Oudh 400. But see also 98 I.C. 541=1927 C. 339. It is only when a person has been dispossessed that he can apply under R. 100; when no possession has been given to the decree-holder or purchaser, there is no dispossession as contemplated by the rule. The Court, therefore, has no jurisdiction to determine the matter in the form of an anticipatory application or make an order under R. 101. 155 I.C. 93=1935 P. 253.

APPLICABILITY.—A representative of the judgment-debtor under S. 47 cannot apply under this rule. 65 I.C. 476. The sons of a judgment-debtor are prima facie bound by the decree made against their father and cannot be regarded as persons other than the judgment-debtor within the meaning of R. 100. 155 I.C. 93=1935 P. 253. A co-owner who is only entitled to joint possession can invoke the provisions of O. 21, R. 100 and claim restoration of possession. 1938 N.L.J. 223=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 442. Joint possession is not a sufficient ground to maintain an application under this rule. 83 I.C. 599=1924 P. 1198. But see contra 58 C. 55=132 I.C. 631=1931 C. 385; 144 I.C. 147=1933 P. 132. Rule only applies where there is actual dispossession and a person whether holding under a judgment-debtor or any one else is not entitled to apply under this rule in a case where there has been only symbolical delivery of possession. 142 I.C. 152 (1)=1933 C. 144; 18 C.L.J. 138=18 C.W.N. 695; 68 I.C. 394=1923 N. 52. Where an applicant under O. 21, R. 100 contended that he was in possession in spite of a symbolical delivery and in the alternative prayed that if it was found that he was not in possession, he should be restored to possession, such an application is not improper, for when a party is in doubt as to his legal right to apply under O. 21, R. 100 he can well invite the Court to pronounce its opinion and his competency to apply would depend upon the nature of the Court's opinion. 1938 N.L.J. 223=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 442. A usufructuary mortgagee in possession can apply under this rule. 70 I.C. 306=1 P. 159. See also 1941 Rang. 298. Where an applicant under O. 21, R. 100 had been found to be in possession, but subject to the mortgage right of the decree-holder to whose mortgage suit the applicant had not been a party, the application should be allowed, as it is immaterial in an application under O. 21, R. 100 whether or not his possession was subject to the mortgage right of the decree-holder. 177 I.C. 382=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 90. The purchaser of a holding not transferable by custom cannot claim under this rule. 43 I.C. 969. See also 95 I.C. 146=1926 C. 956; 10 Pat.L.T. 242=117 I.C. 308=1929 P. 227; 171 I.C. 665=1937 Pat. 562. But see contra 53 C. 913=99 I.C. 718=1927 C. 156. See also 132 I.C. 301=1931 M. 534. Mortgagee objecting to attachment under R. 58 and failing—Omission to sue under R. 63—Subsequent application under R. 100 after delivery of possession to decree-holder purchaser—If barred. 17 Pat.L.T. 812 (F.B.). See also 1939 Pat. 263. A purchaser of a part of a transferable holding of a judgment-debtor is not the representative of the judgment-debtor, and therefore prima facie has a right to apply under O. 21, R. 100. A.I.R. 1939 Pat. 253. Transferee of property from a person against whom an order under O. 21, R. 58 has been made can apply under this rule. 98 I.C. 541=1927 C. 339. See also 36 C.W.N. 1034=56 C.L.J. 250. In case of excessive execution proper remedy of judgment-debtor is to apply for restoration under S. 47 and not under this rule. 38 A.

(2) The Court shall fix a day for investigating the matter and shall summon the party against whom the application is made to appear and answer the same.

101. Where the Court is satisfied that the applicant was in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor, it shall direct that the applicant be put into possession of the property.

Bona fide claimant to be restored to possession.

NOTES.

339=34 I.C. 231. In a claim of an exonerated party enquiry should be confined to possession only and not extended to title. 40 M. 964=38 I.C. 297=32 M.L.J. 532. On this rule, see also 58 C. 55=132 I.C. 631=1931 C. 385. Rr. 100 and 101 are not confined to cases of exclusive possession alone, but are applicable to joint possession also. Where an application under O. 21, R. 100 has been dismissed for default, the party aggrieved has a direct remedy by way of regular suit under O. 21, R. 103 and the ex parte order cannot be set aside and the application restored under S. 151. (47 C.L.J. 87, Dist.; 31 C.W.N. 576 and 45 C.L.J. 557, Ref.) 152 I.C. 24=59 C.L.J. 218=1934 C. 653. Alternative reliefs.—In a petition deliberately filed under R. 100, the alternative prayer for relief under S. 47 cannot be entertained. 145 I.C. 174=1933 M. 482. R. 101 is applicable to proceedings under the Madras Estates Land Act by reason of S. 192 of the Estates Land Act. 157 I.C. 1066=1935 M.W.N. 633=41 L.W. 623=1935 M. 309=68 M.L.J. 324.

Suit.—A person can file a regular suit without proceeding under this rule. 10 M. 53. A person dispossessed in execution of a decree against another is not bound to institute proceedings under this. 27 M. 262. See also 5 M.L.J. 252. When dispossessed under this rule a mortgagee decree-holder purchaser cannot claim compensation. 63 I.C. 126=25 C.W.N. 756. Equities in favour of purchaser could be considered in the suit and not under this rule. 24 L.W. 389=97 I.C. 605=1926 M. 1127.

Appeal.—No appeal lies from an order under this rule. 41 I.C. 891=57 P.R. 1917. But where the question is between the parties to the suit or their representatives, an appeal lies. 41 M.L.J. 54=63 I.C. 730; 144 I.C. 472=38 L.W. 199=1933 M. 569; 60 C. 832=37 C.W.N. 671=1933 C. 680.

Practice and procedure.—In a petition under R. 100 it is a serious irregularity to ask decree-holder to begin his case and examine his witnesses and then to examine the witnesses of the claimant. It justifies interference in revision. 1931 M. 534=132 I.C. 301. An order on an application under R. 100 without allowing any oral evidence to be led by the parties, on the ground that there was sufficient documentary evidence on record, is illegal and is liable to be set aside in revision. Court should dispose of the matter only after allowing the parties to produce whatever evidence they desire, oral or documentary. 1935 A. 457=1935 A. L.J. 419=158 I.C. 33=1935 A.W.R. 328. Subsequent events after application can be taken notice of by Court and relief granted on the basis of such events. 37 C.W.N. 339=60 C. 685=145 I.C. 663=1933 C. 534. Mortgage suit—Third party impleaded—Omission to raise available plea—Plea whether cannot be raised in execution. 60 C. 832=37 C.W.N. 671=1933 C. 680.

Limitation.—See 58 C. 55=132 I.C. 631=1931 C. 385.

O. 21, R. 101.—An order under this rule is conclusive until displaced by a suit. 27 I.C. 29=1914 M.W.N. 897. But it does not affect a party's right to possession upon redemption. 54 I.C. 276=17 N.L.R. 33. When the execution is transferred to Collector, the Court has no power to act under this rule. But when Collector's power is exhausted, the Court which made the decree should act. 38 B. 673=26 I.C. 266. No question of title can be investigated under this rule. 22 I.C. 707=19 C. L.J. 13. R. 101 is applicable to proceedings under the Madras Estates Land Act by reason of S. 192 of Act. 68 M.L.J. 324.

On his own account.—A claimant in possession on his own account though without title is entitled to succeed under this rule. 98 I.C. 541=1927 C. 339. See also 65 C.L.J. 416. A mortgagee in possession is in possession on his own account. 2 A. 94. Appeal.—S. 104 of the Code read with O. 43 shows that no appeal lies against an order under R. 101. Such an order may however be made the subject of revision. 16 R.D. 160.

Revision.—An order under this rule cannot be rectified in revision as a remedy lies under R. 103. 129 P.L.R. 1911=10 I.C. 183. But see 58 C. 55, infra; 34 C.W.N. 577. See also 16 R.D. 160; 65 C.L.J. 416. 102. Nothing in rules 99 and 101 shall apply to resistance or obstruction in execution of a decree for the possession of immovable property by a person to whom the judgment-debtor has transferred the property after the institution of the suit in which the decree was passed or to the dispossession of any such person.

Rules not applicable to transferee pendente lite.

103. Any party not being a judgment-debtor against whom an order is made under rule 98, rule 99 or rule 101 may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the present possession of the property, but, subject to the result of such suit (if any), the order shall be conclusive.

Orders conclusive subject to regular suit.

NOTES.

powers to correct the errors or illegalities of subordinate Courts in proceedings under R. 101. See 58 C. 55=132 I.C. 631=1931 C. 385. An investigation under Rr. 100 and 101 of O. 21 is restricted to the question of possession only and even though the applicant may not have good title to the property, if he can show that he was not in possession on behalf of the judgment-debtor but on his own account, he must, under R. 101, be put in possession of the property. 1937 O.W.N. 690=A.I.R. 1937 Oudh 400. O. 21, R. 102.—See 42 I.C. 523=6 L.W. 568; 1926 M. 963=51 M.L.J. 256. The rule of lis pendens is expressly recognised in O. 21, R. 102, as regards transfers in the course of execution proceedings. The language of the rule is sufficiently wide to cover both voluntary alienations on the part of a judgment-debtor and transfers by a Court sale or a sale under the Public Demands Recovery Act. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 63=43 C.W.N. 692=A.I.R. 1939 Cal. 709. R. 102 does not in terms apply to an involuntary sale. 157 I.C. 86=16 Pat.L.T. 220=1935 P. 230. When a party raises the question of lis pendens before the Court and wants the Court to decide the matter not upon the plain language of R. 102, but upon the general doctrine of lis pendens, the Court has to find out whether the decree is collusive or not. And if the Court decides that the decree was collusive, it cannot be interfered with in revision as being without jurisdiction. 157 I.C. 86=16 Pat.L.T. 220=1935 P. 230.

O. 21, R. 103.—The rule is intended to deprive the claimant of his remedy by way of an appeal or application for revision to a higher Court, and to declare that the adverse order shall be conclusive against the claimant, subject however to the result of any suit which he may file to establish his claim to the 'present possession of the property' which is the subject-matter of the order passed against him. The rule goes no further than that and the claimant is not required to file a suit for setting aside the adverse order passed against him, but to establish his right. 156 I.C. 702=1935 S. 129. The object of O. 21, R. 103 is to have a speedy settlement of questions of title raised in execution sales. But the institution of a suit by the unsuccessful party is not the only remedy for getting the adverse order superseded. What is contemplated as necessary to supersede the order is the establishment of a right to the property. Consequently if the unsuccessful party is able to get his right declared or established within a year, though in a suit instituted not by him but against him, the order under R. 103 must be held to have been superseded by the later adjudication. What makes the order conclusive is not the failure to institute a suit but the failure to have the right established. If therefore the unsuccessful party's title is declared or established within a year of the adverse order in a suit wherein he is a defendant, it is not obligatory on him to institute a suit within a year to establish his title to the property. 1937 M.W.N. 258=A.I.R. 1937 Mad. 582=45 L.W. 568=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 667. It is not correct to hold that in a suit under O. 21, R. 103, the Court has merely to ascertain whether the plaintiff was in possession at the date of the order against him, which has given rise to the suit. The rule requires the plaintiff to establish the rights which he claims to the present possession of the property. 17 Pat. 164=A.I.R. 1938 Pat. 433. This rule applies only where an order under R. 98, 99 or 101 has been passed. 69 I.C. 557=1923 L. 145. See also 132 I.C. 844=1931 L. 686. The orders referred to do not refer to those passed without investigation and not on the merits. 23 N.L.R. 94=97 I.C. 178=1926 N. 423. The rule is confined to suits for possession by purchaser under his purchase. It does not bar suits based on other causes of action. 30 C.W.N. 163=42 C.L.J. 578. But see 53 B. 668=31 Bom.L.R. 765=1929 B. 379. This rule applies where strangers are involved and S. 47 where the parties in the suit are involved. 41 M.L.J. 54=63 I.C. 730. See also 39 M.L.T. 281. The word "party" means party to the petition and to the execution. 43 M. 696=39 M.L.J. 456. See also 102 I.C. 446=8 Pat.L.T. 654. Where the manager of a joint Hindu family obstructs delivery of property to a purchaser, and the obstruction is ordered to be removed, the Court holding that the manager was not in possession, it must be taken that the manager is acting on behalf of the entire family. If no suit is filed to set aside that order within one year, it becomes final and conclusive not only as against the manager but against all the members of the family.

Right of suit—Plaintiff purchasing property during pendency of partition suit—Defendants subsequently purchasing same property from party to whom it is allotted by final decree—Dismissal of plaintiff's objection under R. 100 in execution proceedings by defendants. Held, in suit by plaintiff under R. 103, that his proper course was to proceed under S. 47, and the plaintiff had no locus standi to maintain an application under R. 100 and his suit under R. 103 was also not maintainable. 148 I.C. 731=1934 L. 457. Symbolical delivery does not amount to dispossession. 1 L.W. 31=24 I.C. 771. A transfer by vendee from the defendant is valid in the absence of an order preventing the vendee from disposing of the property pending the suit. 89 I.C. 990=1925 B. 413. Where during the pendency of a suit under O. 21, R. 103, the plaintiff loses possession of the property, an order for restoration of possession would be justified, if the suit is ultimately decreed. 1939 O.W.N. 876=1939 A.W.R. (C.C.) 193.

SUIT.—The scope of a suit under R. 103 is not the determination of merely the question of possession, but the establishment of the right or title by which the plaintiff claims present possession of the property. 36 Bom.L.R. 1074. See also 1939 Pat. 7. In a suit under this rule the claimant is not confined to a mere declaration of his right it is open to him to seek consequential relief by way of possession. 156 I.C. 702=1935 Sind 129. See also 1939 Pat. 7. A person who, claiming through the judgment-debtor, resists the decree-holder purchaser in taking possession cannot be heard to say that the decree on which the suit under R. 103 is based was without jurisdiction. 64 C.L.J. 115=41 C.W.N. 396=1937 Cal. 88. A person whose application under R. 100 is dismissed has a statutory right of suit under R. 103, and it makes no difference that he did not prefer an objection under R. 58. 132 I.C. 201=1931 L. 598. In a suit under this rule the plaintiff's title alone and not the mode in which or the point of time at which the ouster took place is material. 16 I.C. 741=18 C.W.N. 473. Where a claim was not treated as a suit, but the question was treated as an interlocutory proceeding, an order will not operate as res judicata in any subsequent proceeding. 44 M.L.J. 443=72 I.C. 582=1923 M. 514. Suit under O. 21, R. 103—If continuation of claim under O. 21, R. 11—Special oath in claim not necessarily conclusive in suit under S. 103. 51 L.W. 449=1940 Mad. 627=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 685. Where the decree-holder sells his own property by mistake, his only remedy is by suit. 15 L.W. 272=1922 M. 63. On this rule see also 132 I.C. 844=1931 L. 686; 18 Pat.L.T. 833=1938 Pat. 615; 19 Pat.L.T. 80.

PARTIES.—R. 103 does not purport to lay down what may or may not be included in a suit filed for the purpose indicated therein, or what persons may be impleaded as parties to such a suit. 156 I.C. 702=1935 Sind 129; judgment-debtor is not a necessary party to a suit under this rule (Ibid.). As it is essential for the plaintiffs in a suit under O. 21, R. 103, to establish their right not only against the decree-holder, but also against the judgment-debtor, in such cases, the judgment-debtor would be a proper if not a necessary party. 1938 N.L.J. 107=A.I.R. 1938 Nag. 300.

FORUM.—The suit can be instituted only in the Court within whose jurisdiction the property lies. 6 Bom.L.R. 301. The proof required in the suit is not that of actual present possession merely, but includes a right to present possession as well. 44 M. 227=39 M.L.J. 626.

MATTERS TO BE DETERMINED IN SUIT.—In a suit by the execution purchaser for partition and separate possession of the property purchased by him, the defendant resister is precluded from re-agitating the questions which he has put forward and which have been adjudicated upon in the obstruction proceedings. So far as the conclusiveness enacted in the final part of R. 103 is concerned, it makes no difference whether the questions are sought to be re-agitated by a person as plaintiff or as defendant. But it will be going too far if it were held that every issue sought to be raised must be taken to be precluded by R. 103. Issues which could not be raised in the obstruction proceedings such as one which attacks the validity of the decree in execution of which the proceedings arose, can be raised in the suit and are not precluded by R. 103. 45 L.W. 91=1937 Mad. 366=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 122. See also 41 C.W.N. 396=1937 Cal. 88; 1938 P.W.N. 455=1938 Pat. 558=19 Pat.L.T. 916; 1939 Pat. 7.

PROPERTY ATTACHED AND SOLD JOINTLY OWNED BY JUDGMENT-DEBTOR AND HIS WIFE—PURCHASER'S RIGHT TO POSSESSION.—The property attached was joint property of the judgment-debtor and his wife and only the judgment-debtor's interest therein was attached and sold in execution proceedings and the extent of that interest was not determined. Held, it was not possible to hand over any portion of the property to the decree-holder-purchaser as being the share of the judgment-debtor. The judgment-debtor's interest must first be divided off. 1935 R. 11=154 I.C. 1045.

APPEAL.—In a suit under R. 103, C. P. Code, against the Official Receiver representing the estate of an insolvent, a decree was passed in favour of the plaintiff. The Official Receiver did not prefer an appeal. The appellant, who was one of the creditors of the insolvent, represented by the Official Receiver in the trial Court, presented an appeal against the decree in so far as it related to the Official Receiver and in applica-

LOC. AM.—[ALLAHABAD.] Add the following Rules to O. 21 :—

104. When the certificate prescribed by S. 41 is received by the Court which sent the decree for execution, it shall cause the necessary details as to the results of execution to be entered in its register of Civil Suits before the papers are transmitted to the record room.

105. Every attachment of movable property under r. 43, of Negotiable Instruments under r. 51 and of immovable property under r. 54, shall be made through a Civil Court Amin, or Bailiff, unless special reasons render it necessary that any other agency should be employed ; in which case those reasons shall be stated in the handwriting of the presiding Judge himself in the order for attachment.

106. When the property which it is sought to bring to sale is immovable property within the definition of the same contained in the law for the time being in force relating to the registration of documents, the decree-holder shall file with his application for an order for sale a certificate from the Sub-Registrar within whose sub-district such property is situated, showing that the Sub-Registrar has searched his Book Nos. I and II and their indices for the past twelve years preceding the mortgage or the attachment as the case may be and stating the encumbrances, if any, which he has found on the property.

107. Where an application is made for the sale of land or of any interest in land, the Court shall, before ordering sale thereof, call upon the parties to state whether such land is or is not ancestral land within the meaning of Notification No. 1887-I—238-10, dated 7th October, 1911, of the Local Government, and shall fix a date for determining the said question. On the day so fixed, or on any date to which the enquiry may have been adjourned, the Court may take such evidence by affidavit or otherwise, as it may deem necessary, and may also call for a report from the Collector of the District as to whether such land or any portion thereof is ancestral land. After considering the evidence and on behalf of himself and the general body of creditors of the insolvent. Held, that appeal was not competent, nor was it a proper case for grant of leave. 57 M. 670=150 I.C. 538=39 L.W. 624=1934 M. 360=66 M.L. J. 532.

REVISION.—Order on application under R. 100—Revision—Competency — Grounds for interference. 44 L.W. 703; 18 Pat.L. T. 833=1937 Pat. 615. If an appeal is wrongly entertained against an order under this rule the appellate Court acts without jurisdiction, and the case is clearly one for revision by High Court, which has power to interfere either under the appellate jurisdiction or revisional jurisdiction. Even if a second appeal is not competent, High Court will interfere in revision. 165 I.C. 986=17 Pat.L.T. 815=1937 Pat. 136.

LIMITATION.—The suit must be filed within one year from the date of the order. Art. 11, Limitation Act, applies. See 9 M. L.J. 131; 44 A. 607; 10 B. 604; 26 B. 730; 19 Pat.L.T. 781=1938 P.W.N. 836; 1 L. 57; 34 C. 491; 27 M. 23; 103 P.L.R. 1916=36 I.C. 211. Not only is a suit barred, but defence will also be barred after the prescribed time. 38 I.C. 216. But if an order for delivery was not enforced, the defence can be raised at any time to such a suit. 45 I.C. 24=23 M.L.T. 233. A mortgagee whose claim has been rejected can sue after the lapse of one year. 29 C. 25. Dismissal for default of an application under R. 101 is not an order on merits and so limitation for suit does not start from the date of the dismissal. 45 I.C. 102=14 N.L.R. 66. As to appeal, see 90 I.C. 952=1925 M. 1198.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE—AMENDMENT OF PLAINT.—The suit to establish the right to possession contemplated by R. 103 is not one under S. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Where suit is erroneously framed under the latter provision, the Court may in a proper case permit the party to amend the plaint so as to convert it into an ordinary suit for possession. 1932 A.L.J. 812=139 I.C. 366=1932 A. 703. The proviso to S. 42 Specific Relief Act, does not take away special right conferred by this rule. Plaintiff suing under this rule for declaration of his title need not ask for possession also. 151 I.C. 59=17 N.L. J. 24=1934 N. 169. Suit by a vendee under O. 21, R. 103—Nature of—Plaintiff can claim rights under S. 53-A, T.P. Act, under principle of part-performance. 1939 O.W.N. 876=1940 Oudh 1.

COURT-FEE.—O. 21, R. 103 enables a suit to be filed on a Court-fee of Rs. 20 for possession, by a person who has been dispossessed in execution of a decree to which he is not a party, and whose application under R. 100 has been disallowed. Though the plaint does not purport to be filed under R. 103, when the plaint contains the necessary allegations the suit can be held to be one under the rule. It is the substance rather than the form of the suit which should be considered in determining the nature of the suit. 1935 A.M.L.J. 107. See also 1938 N.L.J. 107. The view that in a suit under O. 21, R. 103 the plaintiffs would have to pay Court-fees on that part of the claim which amounts to a prayer for recovery of possession is erroneous. 174 I.C. 630=1938 P.W.N. 307=19 Pat.L.T. 250=1938 Pat. 321.

O. 21, R. 105 (All.).—The provision in R. 105 for recording the reasons for employing an agency other than an amin or bailiff for making an attachment is not mandatory but directory. An order, therefore, for the appointment of a vakil to make an attachment is a good order and the attachment is not illegal or without jurisdiction, notwithstanding the fact that the Court has omitted to record the reasons in the order appointing him. 154 I.C. 631=1935 A.L.J. 367=1935 A.W.R. 206=1935 A. 490.

the report, if any, the Court shall determine whether such land, or any, and what part of it, is ancestral land. The result of the enquiry shall be noted in an order made for the purpose by the presiding Judge in his own handwriting.

108. When the property which it is sought to bring to sale is revenue paying or revenue free land or any interest in such land, and the decree is not sent to the Collector for execution under S. 68, the Court, before ordering a sale, shall also call upon the Collector in whose district such property is situate to report whether the property is subject to any (and, if so, to what) outstanding claims on the part of Government.

109. The certificate of the Sub-Registrar and the report of the Collector shall be open to the inspection of the parties or their pleaders, free of charge, between the time of the receipt by the Court and the declaration of the result of the enquiry. No fees are payable in respect of the report by the Collector.

110. The result of the enquiry under r. 66 shall be noted in an order made for the purpose by the presiding Judge in his own handwriting. The Court may in its discretion adjourn the inquiry, provided that the reasons for the adjournment are stated in writing, and that no more adjournments are made than are necessary for the purposes of the enquiry.

111. If after proclamation of the intended sale has been made any matter is brought to the notice of the Court which it considers material for purchasers to know, the Court shall cause the same to be notified to intending purchasers when the property is put up for sale.

112. The costs of the proceedings under rr. 66, 106 and 108 shall be paid in the first instance by the decree-holder; but they shall be charged as part of the costs of the execution unless the Court, for reasons to be specified in writing, shall consider that they shall either wholly or in part be omitted therefrom.

113. Whenever any Civil Court has sold, in execution of a decree or other order, any house or other building situated within the limits of a Military cantonment or station, it shall, as soon as the sale has been confirmed, forward to the Commanding Officer of such cantonment or station for his information and for record in the brigade or other proper office, a written notice that such sale has taken place, and such notice shall contain full particulars of the property sold and of the name and address of the purchaser.

114. Whenever guns or other arms in respect of which licences have to be taken by purchaser under the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878) are sold by public auction in execution of decrees by order of a Civil Court, the Court directing the sale shall give due notice to the Magistrate of the district of the names and addresses of the purchasers, and of the time and place of the intended delivery to the purchasers of such arms, so that proper steps may be taken by the police to enforce the requirements of the Indian Arms Act.

115. When an application is made for the attachment of livestock or other movable property, the decree-holder shall pay into Court in cash such sums as will cover the costs of the maintenance and custody of the property for fifteen days. If within three clear days before the expiry of any such period of fifteen days, the amount of such costs for such further period as the Court may direct be not paid into Court, the Court, on receiving a report thereof from the proper officer, may issue an order for the withdrawal of the attachment and direct by whom the costs of the attachment are to be paid.

116. Livestock which has been attached in execution of a decree shall ordinarily be left at the place where the attachment is made either in custody of the judgment-debtor on his furnishing security, or in that of some landholder or other respectable person willing to undertake the responsibility of its custody and to produce it when required by the Court.

117. If the custody of livestock cannot be provided for in the manner described in the last preceding rule, the animals attached shall be removed to the nearest pound established under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871, and committed to the custody of the pound-keeper, who shall enter in a register—(a) the number and description of the animals; (b) the day and hour on and at which they were committed to his custody; (c) the name of the attaching officer or his subordinate by whom they were committed to his custody and shall give such attaching officer or subordinate a copy of the entry.

118. For every animal committed to the custody of the pound-keeper as aforesaid, a charge shall be levied as rent for the use of the pound for each fifteen or part of fifteen days during which such custody continues according to the scale prescribed under S. 12 of Act I of 1871. And the sums so levied shall be sent to the Treasury for credit to the Municipal or District Board, as the case may be, under whose jurisdiction the pound is. All such sums shall be applied in the same manner as fines levied under S. 12 of the said Cattle Trespass Act.

119. The pound-keeper shall take charge of, feed and water animals attached and committed as aforesaid until they are withdrawn from his custody as hereinafter provided and he shall be entitled to be paid for their maintenance at such rates as may be, from time to time, prescribed under proper authority. Such rates shall, for animals specified in the section mentioned in the last preceding rule, not exceed the rates for the time being fixed under S. 5 of the same Act. In any case for special reasons to be recorded in writing the Court may require payment to be made for maintenance at higher rates than those prescribed.

120. The charges herein authorised for the maintenance of livestock shall be paid to the pound-keeper by the attaching officer for the first fifteen days at the time the animals are committed to his custody, and thereafter for such further period as the Court may direct, at the commencement of such period. Payments for such maintenance so made in excess of the sum due for the number of days during which the animals may be in the custody of the pound-keeper shall be refunded by him to the attaching officer.

121. Animals attached and committed as aforesaid shall not be released from custody by the pound-keeper except on the written order of the Court, or of the attaching officer, or of the officer appointed to conduct the sale; the person receiving the animals, on their being so released, shall sign a receipt for them in the register mentioned in r. 118. [See 134 I.C. 836=1931 A.L.J. 865=1931 A. 567 (F.B.).]

122. For the safe custody of movable property other than livestock while under attachment, the attaching officer shall, subject to approval by the Court, make such arrangements as may be most convenient and economical.

123. With the permission of the Court the attaching officer may place one or more persons in special charge of such property.

124. The fee for the services of each such persons shall be payable in the manner prescribed in r. 116. It shall not be less than four annas, and shall ordinarily not be more than six annas per diem. The Court may, at its discretion, allow a higher fee; but if it does so, it shall state in writing its reasons for allowing an exceptional rate.

125. When the services of such person are no longer required the attaching officer shall give him a certificate on a counterfoil form of the number of days he has served and of the amount due to him and on the presentation of such certificate to the Court which ordered the attachment, the amount shall be paid to him in the presence of the presiding Judge: Provided that, where the amount does not exceed Rs. 5, it may be paid to the sahna by money order on requisition by the Amin, and the presentation of the certificate may be dispensed with.

126. When in consequence of an order of attachment being withdrawn or for some other reason, the person has not been employed or has remained in charge of the property for a shorter time than that for which payment has been made in respect of his services, the fee paid shall be refunded in whole or in part, as the case may be.

127. Fees paid into Court under the foregoing rules shall be entered in the Register of Petty Receipts and Re-payments.

128. When any sum levied under r. 119 is remitted to the Treasury, it shall be accompanied by an order in triplicate (in the form given as Form 9 of the Municipal Account Code), of which one part will be forwarded by the Treasury Officials to the District or Municipal Board, as the case may be. A note that the same has been paid into the Treasury as rent for the use of the pound, will be recorded on the extract from the pass-book.

129. The cost of repairing attached property for sale, or of conveying it to the place where it is to be kept or sold, shall be payable by the decree-holder to the attaching officer. In the event of the decree-holder failing to provide the necessary funds, the attaching officer shall report his default to the Court, and the Court may thereupon issue an order for the withdrawal of the attachment and direct by whom the costs of the attachment are to be paid.

130. Nothing in these rules shall be deemed to prevent the Court from issuing and serving on the judgment-debtor simultaneously the notice required by O. 21, rr. 22, 66 and 107.

Garnishee Orders.

131. The Court may, in the case of any debt due to the judgment-debtor (other than a debt secured by a mortgage or a charge or a negotiable instrument, or a debt recoverable only in a

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 122 (Allahabad).—Where a Commissioner appoints a supurdar and entrusts him with custody of movable property and the action taken by the Commissioner meets with the approval of the Court, the responsibility for the safe custody of the property shifts on to the supurdar, notwithstanding the fact that the Commissioner did not obtain the previous permission of the Court to appoint him. 154 I.C. 711=1935 A.L.J. 824=1935 A. 737.

O. 21, R. 124 (Allahabad).—An order by the executing Court calling upon the decree-holder to pay a certain sum of money to a custodian or supurdar by way of fees payable under R. 124, as amended by the Allahabad High Court, is not without jurisdiction. It is the execution Court only which can settle the fee which is to be paid to the custodian under the rule, and it is only the decree-holder, as the person who has got the property attached, that can be called upon to pay the fee. 1937 A.W.R. 141=1937 A.L.J. 160.

O. 21, R. 125 (Allahabad): SCOPE.—There is no provision in R. 125 or in any other part of O. 21, authorising the executing Court to adjudicate on a dispute between the decree-holder and his shahnas. It has to be decided in a separate suit. 152 I.C. 932=1935 A.L.J. 78=1935 A. 102.

O. 21, R. 131 (Allahabad).—Mortgage money left by the mortgagor with the mortgagee, out of the consideration for a possessory mortgage deed executed by him for payment to his creditor, is not a debt as contemplated in R. 131, and cannot be attached in execution of a decree against the mortgagor. 1934 A.L.J. 893=1934 A. 954. There is nothing in the words of R. 131 of O. 21, or anything in the principle underlying the garnishee orders which would justify a construction restricting the word "charge" in R. 131 to a charge created by act of parties only. A charge created by operation of law is equally within the purview of R. 131. 1940 A.W.R. (H.C.) 470=1940 A.L.J. 744=I.L.R. (1940) All. 881=A.I.R. 1940 All. 500.

Revenue Court) or any movable property not in the possession of the judgment-debtor, issue a notice to any person (hereinafter called the garnishee) liable to pay such debt or to deliver or account for such movable property, calling upon him to appear before the Court and show cause why he should not pay or deliver into Court the debt due from or the property deliverable by him to such judgment-debtor, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree and the cost of the execution.

[For form of notice under this rule, see p. 983.]

132. If the garnishee does not forthwith or within such time as the Court may allow, pay or deliver into Court the amount due from or the property deliverable by him to the judgment-debtor, or so much as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree and the cost of execution, and does not dispute his liability to pay such debt or deliver such movable property or if he does not appear in answer to the notice, then the Court may order the garnishee to comply with the terms of such notice and on such order execution may issue as though such order were a decree against him.

133. If the garnishee disputes his liability the Court, instead of making such order, may order that any issue or question necessary for determining his liability be tried as though it were an issue in a suit; and upon the determination of such issue shall pass such order upon the notice as shall be just.

134. Whenever in any proceedings under these rules it is alleged, or appears to the Court to be probable, that the debt or property attached or sought to be attached belongs to some third person or that any third person has a lien or charge upon, or interest in it, the Court may order such third person to appear and state the nature of his claim, if any upon such debt or property and prove the same, if necessary.

135. After hearing such third person, and any other person who may subsequently be ordered to appear or in the case of such third or other person not appearing when ordered, the Court may pass such order as is hereinbefore provided or make such other order as it shall think fit, upon such terms in all cases with respect to the lien, charge or interest, if any, of such third or other person as to such Court shall seem just and reasonable.

136. Payment or delivery made by the garnishee whether in execution of an order under these rules or otherwise shall be a valid discharge to him as against the judgment-debtor, or any other person ordered to appear as aforesaid, for the amount paid, delivered or realised although such order or the judgment may be set aside or reversed.

137. Debts owing from a firm carrying on business within the jurisdiction of the Court may be attached under these rules, although one or more members of such firm may be resident out of the jurisdiction: Provided that any person having the control or management of the partnership business or any member of the firm within the jurisdiction is served with the garnishee order. An appearance by any member pursuant to an order shall be sufficient appearance by the firm.

138. The costs of any application under these rules, and of any proceedings arising therefrom or incidental thereto, or any order made thereon, shall be in the discretion of the Court.

139. (1) Where the liability of any garnishee has been tried and determined under these rules, the order shall have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree.

(2) Orders not covered by clause (1) shall be appealable as orders made in execution.

Illustration.—An application for a garnishee order is dismissed either on the ground that the debt is secured by charge or that there is no prima facie evidence of debt due. This order is appealable as an order in execution.

140. All the rules in this Code relating to service upon either plaintiffs or defendants at the address filed or subsequently altered under O. 7 or O. 8 shall apply to all proceedings taken under O. 21 or S. 47.

NOTES.

O. 21, R. 139 (Allahabad): ORDER AGAINST GARNISHEE—NATURE OF COST—RIGHT TO SET OFF.—The conjoint effect of Rr. 19, 132, 133 and 139 is that if the garnishee is ordered to pay a certain sum of money to the decree-holder, such order is a decree which virtually becomes part and parcel of the original decree passed in the suit. It cannot be said that the two decrees are decrees in separate suits, because the order against the garnishee which ex hypothesi amounts to a decree, has been passed in execution proceedings in the same suit. When an order of payment is passed against a garnishee, such order supplements the decree passed in the original suit. In these circumstances, the garnishee has a right under R. 19 to obtain a set-off in respect of costs awarded to him under the original decree. 152 I.C. 96=1934 A. 1056. Sub-R. (2) of R. 139 of O. 21 is intended to cover the case where the decision is that the application should be dismissed and sub-R. (1) is intended to cover the case where the application is allowed. The object of the distinction may be to exempt a decree-holder who has already paid court-fee on his plaint from a further ad valorem payment, where he has to appeal from a dismissal of a garnishee application. But where the appeal has to be brought by a garnishee when his liability is held to exist, the garnishee may have been intended to pay ad valorem court-fee, as he has not paid any court-fee in the lower Court. Where the liability of a garnishee has been held to exist and an appeal is preferred, it is on account of the special provision in O. 21, R. 139 (1). The words refer to those conditions of an appeal as if it were a decree—and one of such conditions of an appeal from a decree for money is the payment of ad valorem court-fees. 1938 A.L.J. 232=A.I.R. 1938 All. 254.
